Huthmacher
& Freidel
Are Speakers

The Fourth Annual Franklin D. Roosevelt Symposium, sponsored by the Marist College History Department in cooperation with the Roosevelt Library and the American Historical Association’s Service Center for History, took place Saturday, in the Campus Center. The theme for this year’s symposium was “F.D.R. As Politician and Campaigner” in keeping with the spirit of this, an election year.

The main speakers this year were Professors Joseph H. Huthmacher of Rutgers University and Frank Freidel of Hartnell College. Professor Huthmacher celebrated a return to Marist in that he delivered one of the addresses in the last symposium held in 1965.

Professor Huthmacher spoke first to the audience of about 200, who were both students of history. He apologized for derailing the planned discussion on Roosevelt’s foreign policy. He then turned to Normandy invasion in 1944 and the lessons to be learned from it. He then covered Roosevelt’s domestic policies and his reform programs: social security, the New Deal, and taxes on the wealthy. He also covered the “New Deal” of 1963 and its relationship to the current policy of the Obama administration. He concluded by highlighting the impact of Roosevelt’s policies and the impact of his legacy on contemporary politics.

Frank Freidel and Harold Connell talked over aspects of F.D.R.’s campaign. It was followed by a discussion led by Professor Charles C. Griffin of Wayne State University, and augmented by three distinguished author and political commentators for The New Yorker. This was followed by a brief question and answer period. The audience was permitted to query, not only Prof. Freidel, but the panel as well.

The afternoons session was highlighted by the address of Prof. Freidel in which he covered “The Ups and Downs of a Champion Campaigner.” Once again, a panel challenged the speakers: Prof. Griffin acted as chairman for three new panels. Professor Bernard Berelson of City University of New York, David Burger of Storck-Burcker and Harold Connell of Howard University. For those who wished, there was a tour of the Roosevelt Library and Home sponsored by the Symposium.

The year, it might be noted that there was an absence of “big” names at the Roosevelt Symposium. In past years we were honor bound with the presence of such names as Justice William O. Douglas and Arthur Schlesinger, Jr. As Mr. Skau, the moderator of the symposium pointed out, every one of the New Delegates was also known on an appearance with MOTHERS were either committed to Campaign ’68 as journalists or campaigners. This was too distant to attend. Instead of having the celebration of the New Deal Era, the planning committee invited the authors. Prof. Freidel is the author of three respected books. The mono, most recent, Sen. Robert F. Wagner and the Rise of Urban Liberalism. Prof. Freidel is now completing work on a multi-volume biography of Franklin Roosevelt.

Students Speak Out Against Wallace

Last Thursday evening, while the Wallace forces were staging a pro Wallance rally at Madison Square Garden, the students for O’Dwyer from the previous night’s debate covered a “Gallup poll on the future of America.” What was billed as “Speak out against George Wallace” night, actually turned into a study of the national political climate.

One of the speakers from the O’Dwyer side, Mr. Balch of Marist College was applauded for his perceptive view of the American situation. Dr. Balch reminded us that George Wallace is only one extreme attack on the American system. “That tradition of two parties willing to work together is something we must see the economic base of Wallace politics.” With this in mind, he went on to say that O’Dwyer was doing a service in recognizing the Wallace movement.

Huthmacher and Freidel in action at Marist College.

Students were invited to express their views on National politics and the campus atmosphere of Alabama. With a short look at George Wallace in the state, we see a “governor not by accident.”

Off-campus Living Considered

“Off-campus Living” is a new and alive topic on campus as of late. Recently, Mr. Frank Masterson, Resident Board Member and Assistant Director of Student Life, opened the floor Champagnat, approached Dean Wade last week in “Off-campus Living” rules. In the course of the evening’s congenial discussion, as Mr. Masterson noted, Dean Wade said that he was not ready to announce his plans, but that he would like to hear from the students what they thought about the plans. The students were encouraged to express their views.

The Marist College Catalogue states that, “All students who do not live at home during the College year are required to reside on campus.” The students who also feel confused about the change felt that new directives right from the top would help. Other colleagues’ waving their hands in the air was met with a few suggested a new poll to gauge the students’ feelings.

The chairman of the APC, Bro. Martin Luther King and co-chairman of Black Citizens for O’Dwyer, pointed out, every one of the New Delegates was also known on an appearance with MOTHERS were either committed to Campaign ’68 as journalists or campaigners. This was too distant to attend. Instead of having the celebration of the New Deal Era, the planning committee invited the authors. Prof. Freidel is the author of three respected books. The mono, most recent, Sen. Robert F. Wagner and the Rise of Urban Liberalism. Prof. Freidel is now completing work on a multi-volume biography of Franklin Roosevelt.

As the conference progressed both proponents were unconvincing. The committee report appeared questionable, but to conservative elements, almost frightening in its radicalism from the present curriculum structure. However, a perceptive look into actual one of the proposals might allay the fears of many students who also feel confused as to what this new orientation, would constitute. Incoming freshmen would face a maximum core requirement of 36 credits in interrelated disciplines. One course would have to be taken. The students would search for the basics of history, enter the role of the Roosevelt Library, and even to question the meaning of life in a human condition course. As much as light situations that, in effect, were profitable in electives. This new role would advance the current trends followed by liberal arts schools.

The faculty in favor of implementing revision clearly recognize the necessity of modernizing the constitution and express their dissatisfaction.
JUSTICE: A View From The Sidelines

By Steve Pollock

The political year 1968 is a flexibly-filling term. What is it really? It is just over, but it is not done. Politics, in some sense, never really seems over, whether it is 1968 or 1948 or 1964. This may be one that is usually thought of as "the turning point" of the decade, or perhaps even of the century. The events in this country that have made history in the political sphere are those that have affected the outcome of the 1968 presidential election. This issue of The Circle is devoted to a discussion of the events of that election, and to the political climate that surrounded it. The articles in this issue reflect the views of the editors and writers, and do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty or administration of Marist College.

Notes From The Files -the Ifman

It seems that each year at graduation ceremonies a Marist diploma is awarded to a student who has made outstanding contributions to the life of the College. This year, two students were chosen: Sr. Margaret Josephus, director of student affairs, and Sr. Rosemary Mary, director of admissions. They were selected because they have shown a high degree of integrity and dedication to their work, and have made significant contributions to the College community.

Students Speak

Continued from page 1

According to O'Connell, if students like Bob Walker on the list of eighty students, the faculty should agree with O'Connell. He believes that students like O'Connell are not as influential as the students in the student government. However, he also acknowledges that students like O'Connell have their own interests and goals.

"HAPPY HALLOWEEN" from the Circle staff

This issue of The Circle is dedicated to the students who have made outstanding contributions to the life of Marist College. We wish them all the best in their future endeavors.

LETTERS

To the Editor:

RE: MR. McHORAN's speech of "contemptuous" comments, I don't think that "attitudes" (September 24 issue) are the root of the problem. Perhaps what is needed is a change in the attitude of those who are involved.

Do you, Mr. McHoran, feel that war is inevitable?

Steve Dorka

Residence Responsibility

Raising at Marist demands student responsibility, and some students do not take it seriously enough. All students must be responsible for their own actions, and this includes the way they live in dormitories. Responsibility is not something that is simply handed down; it is something that must be learned. It is the responsibility of each student to see that their actions are free from damage to themselves and to their fellow students.

The Circle addresses student responsibility in the hands of responsible people - the Marist community.

PROFESSORS ON A MOD-ODYSSEY

By James Mancini

"Don't they all," said Phil Brooks, producer of the new American film "Yellow Submarine." "How many people seen 'Yellow Submarine' - it's a film directed by列夫・曼诺夫, based on the song 'The Yellow Submarine' by John Lennon and Paul McCartney, and written for the screen by George Martin and Al De Lory. The film was directed by George Martin and Al De Lory. The film was produced by Al De Lory and John Lennon.

"Yellow Submarine" is a film that has been called "a masterpiece of animation," and it is well deserving of the title. The film tells the story of a trip to the moon by three submarines, and the adventures that they encounter along the way. The film is a celebration of music, art, and creativity, and it is a work of art that should not be missed.

Shakespeare Unchained

Review of "Romeo and Juliet"

In producing the film, Romeo and Juliet, Stanley Kubrick has created a film that is a true masterpiece. The film is a retelling of the story of Shakespeare's tragedy, and it is a work of art that is both beautiful and poignant. The film is a work of art that should not be missed.

The children's beauty of artistry and the beauty of the human spirit is alive and well in this film. It is a film that is both beautiful and poignant, and it is a work of art that should not be missed.

This film is a true masterpiece, and it is a work of art that should not be missed. It is a work of art that is both beautiful and poignant, and it is a work of art that should not be missed.
Tn6 CyillC has escaped all official notice.

Champagnat Stadium! Where sauntering up the walk, trample tomato around through the popular athletic hotspot - no, something which has never Nowhere fans, nowhere else but a couple of days ago about how generally have a swell time?

Hegel is perfectly relevant in the for a Viking uniform if you want to be left with a simon pure, by itself, will be reviewed by allegations brought against itself, filed into the archives (don't)

Community, has fulfilled its_ too much effort.

inhabitants and transients of the cities, ease reverse eliminate.

The problem I guess, boils down to the Development Office stinks; you just have the proper second place finisher gets two every boat that you beat. *.

I was talking to Mr. Casey a word about the Marist Low point system is very second place finisher gets two every boat that you beat. *.

I was talking to Mr. Casey a word about the Marist Low point system is very second place finisher gets two every boat that you beat. *.

I was talking to Mr. Casey a word about the Marist Low point system is very second place finisher gets two every boat that you beat. *.

Leonidoff Field Dedicated

Dr. Leonidoff's early career was dedicated to the improvement of healthcare and education in Poughkeepsie. After serving as a doctor in Russia, he immigrated to America and eventually became a professor at the University of Utah. Despite his advanced age, he continued to work and volunteer until his death at the age of 98. His legacy lives on through the dedication of Leonidoff Field, named in his honor.

Shepherd College Imposes Intellectual Stress

The administration at Shepherd College has implemented a new policy to ensure that students are exposed to a diverse range of perspectives and ideas. This initiative, known as "Intellectual Stress," has been met with mixed reactions from the student body. Some students are concerned that the policy will undermine their ability to explore and develop their own ideas, while others see it as an opportunity to broaden their horizons.

Capps And Overlays In Education

In an effort to improve the educational system, a new technology called "Capps and Overlays" has been introduced. This technology allows students to engage with course material in a more interactive way, encouraging critical thinking and problem-solving skills.

Two Fakes Later Unbelievable?

The journey of a fake election result from the 2020 U.S. presidential election to the current era of misinformation and disinformation. The story of how fake news spread and how it continues to thrive today.

Conroy And Hurley Perform Professionally

The high school football season is in full swing, and two of the most talented players in the region, Conroy and Hurley, have been dominating the field. Their skills and teamwork have led their teams to victory after victory, earning them the respect of their opponents and the admiration of their fans.

Sailors Take Second

In a thrilling competition, the sailors from the local high school took second place in the regional championships. Their performance was particularly impressive considering the tough competition they faced.

Old Times Revisited

The memories of a bygone era, revisited through the eyes of those who lived through it. The stories of people who have since passed away, but whose legacies live on through the memories of those who knew them.
After losing their first three games, the football club came up with a resounding victory over Niagara University, 26-18.

The teams changed ends of the field for the second quarter, and seconds later, Dourdis, running up the middle, was hit hard, and fumbled. Niagara recovered, but was stymied on a big 3rd and 2, and forced to punt.

With the score 7-6, Tyne took the Niagara short kick-off to the Marist 47. Again it was Dourdis off tackle, but was stopped well behind the line of scrimmage. Speedy Mike Scalzo took the hand-off on the 45, shot through a hole on the right side of his line, forced to punt.

Moments later Hurley rolled out to his right and found Jerry Scalzo down the far sideline for the TD. Niagara tried for two points, but it fell incomplete.

The Marist Cross-Country team virtually walked over their opponents as they breezed.

Booters Outlast Fairfield

The Marist soccer team posted the shutout on the score of 0-0 on Leonidoff Field on Saturday, when they downed Fairfield 3-2. This win was a great inspiration when he made a couple of fantastic saves in front of goalie Bob Krenn who also played well making some seventeen saves.

For a time it was all right defense, Fairfield was able to score in the opening minutes of the second period. The goal, made by Cliff Kwinta, was at 13:50 of the period with an assist by Corbin.

When the two clubs returned for the second half, Fairfield started on the attack almost immediately. Our goalie Krenn threw three efforts through some excellent goal tending. Fairfield did not score at all, even when Wilcox, assisted by Corbin, put one past the diving Krenn at 7:37 of the third period. Although there were some moments of spirit, Marist for the most part looked doggone and still content to play defense. The fourth period was more encouraging but the wrong pass at the wrong time proved very costly just when an attack seemed to be mounting. The Fairfield offense did a fine job of controlling the ball in the last period. The regulation time ended with the score still tied at two-up, forcing the game into two-overtime.

Defensive tightness to protect Marist goal.

The start of the game was expected to be content to sit back and just play defense. In any other game this would have been disastrous, but the type of defense that Marist played was really something to see. Jack Brienbach provided the defensive strength and a couple of fantastic saves in front of goalie Bob Krenn who also played well making some seventeen saves.

Even at all this tight defense, Fairfield was able to score in the opening minutes of the second period. The goal, made by Cliff Kwinta, was at 13:50 of the period with an assist by Corbin.

When the two clubs returned for the second half, Fairfield started on the attack almost immediately. Our goalie Krenn threw three efforts through some excellent goal tending. Fairfield did not score at all, even when Wilcox, assisted by Corbin, put one past the diving Krenn at 7:37 of the third period. Although there were some moments of spirit, Marist for the most part looked doggone and still content to play defense. The fourth period was more encouraging but the wrong pass at the wrong time proved very costly just when an attack seemed to be mounting. The Fairfield offense did a fine job of controlling the ball in the last period. The regulation time ended with the score still tied at two-up, forcing the game into two-overtime.

The start of the game was expected to be content to sit back and just play defense. In any other game this would have been disastrous, but the type of defense that Marist played was really something to see. Jack Brienbach provided the defensive strength and a couple of fantastic saves in front of goalie Bob Krenn who also played well making some seventeen saves.

Even at all this tight defense, Fairfield was able to score in the opening minutes of the second period. The goal, made by Cliff Kwinta, was at 13:50 of the period with an assist by Corbin. The assist came from Cliff Petter. After this second goal, Marist appeared to be content to sit back and just play defense. In any other game this would have been disastrous, but the type of defense that Marist played was really something to see. Jack Brienbach provided the defensive strength and a couple of fantastic saves in front of goalie Bob Krenn who also played well making some seventeen saves.

Even at all this tight defense, Fairfield was able to score in the opening minutes of the second period. The goal, made by Cliff Kwinta, was at 13:50 of the period with an assist by Corbin.

When the two clubs returned for the second half, Fairfield started on the attack almost immediately. Our goalie Krenn threw three efforts through some excellent goal tending. Fairfield did not score at all, even when Wilcox, assisted by Corbin, put one past the diving Krenn at 7:37 of the third period. Although there were some moments of spirit, Marist for the most part looked doggone and still content to play defense. The fourth period was more encouraging but the wrong pass at the wrong time proved very costly just when an attack seemed to be mounting. The Fairfield offense did a fine job of controlling the ball in the last period. The regulation time ended with the score still tied at two-up, forcing the game into two-overtime.

The start of the game was expected to be content to sit back and just play defense. In any other game this would have been disastrous, but the type of defense that Marist played was really something to see. Jack Brienbach provided the defensive strength and a couple of fantastic saves in front of goalie Bob Krenn who also played well making some seventeen saves.

Even at all this tight defense, Fairfield was able to score in the opening minutes of the second period. The goal, made by Cliff Kwinta, was at 13:50 of the period with an assist by Corbin.

When the two clubs returned for the second half, Fairfield started on the attack almost immediately. Our goalie Krenn threw three efforts through some excellent goal tending. Fairfield did not score at all, even when Wilcox, assisted by Corbin, put one past the diving Krenn at 7:37 of the third period. Although there were some moments of spirit, Marist for the most part looked doggone and still content to play defense. The fourth period was more encouraging but the wrong pass at the wrong time proved very costly just when an attack seemed to be mounting. The Fairfield offense did a fine job of controlling the ball in the last period. The regulation time ended with the score still tied at two-up, forcing the game into two-overtime.

The start of the game was expected to be content to sit back and just play defense. In any other game this would have been disastrous, but the type of defense that Marist played was really something to see. Jack Brienbach provided the defensive strength and a couple of fantastic saves in front of goalie Bob Krenn who also played well making some seventeen saves.

Even at all this tight defense, Fairfield was able to score in the opening minutes of the second period. The goal, made by Cliff Kwinta, was at 13:50 of the period with an assist by Corbin.

When the two clubs returned for the second half, Fairfield started on the attack almost immediately. Our goalie Krenn threw three efforts through some excellent goal tending. Fairfield did not score at all, even when Wilcox, assisted by Corbin, put one past the diving Krenn at 7:37 of the third period. Although there were some moments of spirit, Marist for the most part looked doggone and still content to play defense. The fourth period was more encouraging but the wrong pass at the wrong time proved very costly just when an attack seemed to be mounting. The Fairfield offense did a fine job of controlling the ball in the last period. The regulation time ended with the score still tied at two-up, forcing the game into two-overtime.

The start of the game was expected to be content to sit back and just play defense. In any other game this would have been disastrous, but the type of defense that Marist played was really something to see. Jack Brienbach provided the defensive strength and a couple of fantastic saves in front of goalie Bob Krenn who also played well making some seventeen saves.

Even at all this tight defense, Fairfield was able to score in the opening minutes of the second period. The goal, made by Cliff Kwinta, was at 13:50 of the period with an assist by Corbin.

When the two clubs returned for the second half, Fairfield started on the attack almost immediately. Our goalie Krenn threw three efforts through some excellent goal tending. Fairfield did not score at all, even when Wilcox, assisted by Corbin, put one past the diving Krenn at 7:37 of the third period. Although there were some moments of spirit, Marist for the most part looked doggone and still content to play defense. The fourth period was more encouraging but the wrong pass at the wrong time proved very costly just when an attack seemed to be mounting. The Fairfield offense did a fine job of controlling the ball in the last period. The regulation time ended with the score still tied at two-up, forcing the game into two-overtime. After losing their first three games, the football club came up with a resounding victory over Niagara University, 26-18. The teams changed ends of the field for the second quarter, and seconds later, Dourdis, running up the middle, was hit hard, and fumbled. Niagara recovered, but was stymied on a big 3rd and 2, and forced to punt.

With the score 7-6, Tyne took the Niagara short kick-off to the Marist 32. It was Hurley to Tyne for a first down at the 45 of Marist. Then Conroy and Dourdis took over, smashing tackles for a first down on the Niagara 24. Again it was Dourdis and Conroy running for another first at the 13.

The start of the game was expected to be content to sit back and just play defense. In any other game this would have been disastrous, but the type of defense that Marist played was really something to see. Jack Brienbach provided the defensive strength and a couple of fantastic saves in front of goalie Bob Krenn who also played well making some seventeen saves.

Even at all this tight defense, Fairfield was able to score in the opening minutes of the second period. The goal, made by Cliff Kwinta, was at 13:50 of the period with an assist by Corbin.

When the two clubs returned for the second half, Fairfield started on the attack almost immediately. Our goalie Krenn threw three efforts through some excellent goal tending. Fairfield did not score at all, even when Wilcox, assisted by Corbin, put one past the diving Krenn at 7:37 of the third period. Although there were some moments of spirit, Marist for the most part looked doggone and still content to play defense. The fourth period was more encouraging but the wrong pass at the wrong time proved very costly just when an attack seemed to be mounting. The Fairfield offense did a fine job of controlling the ball in the last period. The regulation time ended with the score still tied at two-up, forcing the game into two-overtime.

The start of the game was expected to be content to sit back and just play defense. In any other game this would have been disastrous, but the type of defense that Marist played was really something to see. Jack Brienbach provided the defensive strength and a couple of fantastic saves in front of goalie Bob Krenn who also played well making some seventeen saves.

Even at all this tight defense, Fairfield was able to score in the opening minutes of the second period. The goal, made by Cliff Kwinta, was at 13:50 of the period with an assist by Corbin.

When the two clubs returned for the second half, Fairfield started on the attack almost immediately. Our goalie Krenn threw three efforts through some excellent goal tending. Fairfield did not score at all, even when Wilcox, assisted by Corbin, put one past the diving Krenn at 7:37 of the third period. Although there were some moments of spirit, Marist for the most part looked doggone and still content to play defense. The fourth period was more encouraging but the wrong pass at the wrong time proved very costly just when an attack seemed to be mounting. The Fairfield offense did a fine job of controlling the ball in the last period. The regulation time ended with the score still tied at two-up, forcing the game into two-overtime. After losing their first three games, the football club came up with a resounding victory over Niagara University, 26-18.