"Detective Story" Opens Tonight

Martin Curtis, a Marist College student from Levittown, Long Island, is the author of the play, "Detective Story," which is being presented at the Marist College Theatre for four consecutive nights. The role of a man so implacable toward criminals that he has squeezed all the humanity out of his life, is portrayed by Kirk Douglas as an implacable detective lawyer, Bob Trahan as a fatherly detective who, in contrast to MacLeod, mixes humanity with his criminal-chasing.

Others in the large cast of 34 are: Edward Old, John Montgomery, Dudley Davis and Steve Curto, of the graduating class; Bill Castellano and Andy Zoccoli, two upperclassmen; and Alwin, Robert Neary, (missing: Steve Curto, Timothy Kencally, and Mike) of the graduating class, and Myron S. Morgan, of the junior class.

The entire action of the play occurs in one jammed-up night in a New York station-house, and listening to the reporters typing out reports, making fingerprints, interrogating burglers, and examining the commonplace detective routines of a very active police force.

The 1969 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" will carry the names of 13 Marist College students who have been selected as being among the country's most outstanding campus leaders. The students pictured above join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,000 institutions of higher learning throughout the Americas.

This school calendar, which falls under the auspices of Dean Wade's office bungled TAC's advertisement in the calendar. It seems their draft counseling program was mistakenly titled Selective Service Information, an obvious attempt by Wade's office to confuse interested seniors. By the end of the year.

Last week members of the College Community and the Mid-Hudson Philharmonic celebrated a "Pnilharmonic" at the college chapel. It is interesting to note that the Marine Camp, approved of the draft counseling program was mistakenly titled Selective Service Information, an obvious attempt by Wade's office to confuse interested seniors. By the end of the year.

The Marines, incidently, both Vietnam vets declined his offer of a separate entrance.

Next year's secretaries and freshmen will be under orders only to pass the draft counciling. They will have the opportunity to inform student could make a more intelligent decision. Their decision will be based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934. Copies of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges are available from P.O.Box 2029, Tuscaloosa, Alabama, Zip Code 35401.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BEAUTIFUL AMERICA

Since the November 14th issue of The Circle, I have received a great deal of feedback, and I would like to take this opportunity to address some of the concerns that have been raised.

Firstly, I would like to address the issue of the "beauty" of America. As you know, I have been promoting the idea of beauty in America, and I have been receiving a great deal of pushback from some of my readers.

I understand that some people may find it difficult to appreciate the beauty of America, but I believe that it is important to recognize and celebrate the many beautiful aspects of our country.

Secondly, I would like to address the issue of the "beauty" of the human body. As you know, I have been advocating for a more inclusive view of beauty, and I have been receiving a great deal of criticism from some of my readers.

I believe that it is important to recognize and celebrate the many different forms of beauty that exist in the human body, and I hope to continue to promote this message in future issues of The Circle.

In conclusion, I would like to thank all of my readers for the feedback that you have provided. I hope to continue to provide a platform for a wide range of viewpoints and perspectives, and I look forward to engaging with you all in the future.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

THE STRASBOURG CATHEDRAL

Paul Claudel has written a poem of the Cathedral of Notre-Dame in Strasbourg:

"The Cathedral, all pink among the diagonal leaves of the magnificence of the trees, and the Cathedral was not harmed.

The interior is dark and brooding and cold also, during the winter. It is dozens of exams in the season of the test, and the students are in the library studying for the exams. The Cathedral was not harmed.

In the spring, the park is filled with lovers, and the Cathedral is still standing."

Two Fakes Later DULL - CITY?

For the first time at Marist, indoor track meets have been held at the university's newly constructed gymnasium. The meet was sponsored by the track and field team, under the direction of Coach Bill Reilly.

The meeting, which was originally scheduled for December 2nd, was postponed due to inclement weather. However, the meet was finally held on December 10th, with the participation of several teams from various colleges throughout the region.

The meet featured a variety of events, including sprints, hurdles, relay races, and long-distance runs. The competitors were divided into different age groups, and the events were designed to test their physical endurance and competitive spirit.

Despite the challenging weather conditions, the meet was a success, with the athletes demonstrating their skills and determination. The event was well-attended, with spectators cheering on the participants and enjoying the competitive atmosphere.

In conclusion, the first indoor track meet at Marist was a resounding success, and it marked a significant milestone for the university's athletic program. The meet was a testament to the dedication and hard work of the athletes, coaches, and organizers, and it set the stage for future success in the sport of track and field.
