WASHINGTON - The Vietnam Moratorium, escalating anti-war actions, will begin October 15. Students at more than 500 colleges are already committed to spending the day in the community without campus-based actions will be more than 500 colleges are beginning October 15. Students at the National New Democratic Association, the New Mobilization Committee, and the National New Democratic Coalition. Coordinated by a Washington office, the one-day October action would be expanded to two days, in November, and December, escalating challenge. The National office is staffed with veterans of the McCarthy and Kemmy campaigns. Among these are Sam Brown, 26, one of the principle organizers of the youth wing of the McCarthy campaign; David Mixner, 24, another McCarthy staffer who currently serves on the Democratic party reform commission headed by Senator George McGovern; David Hawk, 26, a draft resister and former southern civil rights worker who was an all-American diver at Cornell; Marge Skiles, 19, the former student body president at Mundelein College who is a veteran of numerous political campaigns.

A new campus security program has recently been instituted at Marist College under the direction of Mr. Ronald Aderholdt, the Director of Safety and Security. Before coming to Marist, Mr. Aderholdt had previously served eight years in the United States Marine Corps during which he served one year in Korea and nine months in Japan. Upon his release, Mr. Aderholdt took some time out to travel about the United States with his wife before which he became a member of the Poughkeepsie police department for three years. He then left to sell automotive equipment and returned to the Poughkeepsie police for a period of five and one-half years until he decided to accept the offer at Marist College.

In an interview with the Marist student newspaper, Mr. Aderholdt answered the question as to why student security was instituted this year as opposed to last year. "I know of no person in any educational institution who has ever said, 'Let's try to expand what we have,'" said Joseph Brosnan, Campus Director.

Socially, Marist suffers from the "point of contact and communication" problem which will take away some of the red tape, Brosnan said. "We have to practice," continued Brosnan. "We've had a chance to see what other schools in New York City and Rochester are doing. We don't have to copy them, but let's try to expand what we have here.

Mr. Brosnan is new to Marist. He was President of the Student Government during 1967-68, and President of the National High School Student Association. He was awarded the Cardinal Spleman award for "most promising senior.

Mr. Brosnan received an M.S. degree in Guidance and Student Personnel Services from S.U.N.Y. at Albany last month. Mr. Brosnan came to his position at Marist following his studies as Associate Director of Student Activities at Rochester Institute of Technology and New Paltz. Mr. Brosnan has also served as Associate Director of Men's Housing at Rochester and Associate Director of Residence at New Paltz.

I'm just feeling out my job, but I think the Campus Center needs a lot of little things, says Brosnan. "The Campus Center has deteriorated; I want to bring it up to a 'C' level.

Brosnan Fills New Administrative Post

New Academic Deans Take Office

By Tony Barker

As part of the departure of Dr. Edward Cochran as the Academic Vice President and Brother John O'Shea as the Academic Dean, the duties of these two offices were combined into the office of the Academic Dean. The job was then given to Brother Richard LaPietra.

One of the first things Brother Richard decided to do was to divide the job among others to that the functions of the office could be carried out more effectively and efficiently. At first Brother Richard wanted to divide the job among three Assistant Deans who would be responsible for the three main areas of study. Natural Sciences, Humanities and Business and Economics. But after discussions with the department chairmen, it was decided to drop the plan in favor of the present arrangement, namely two Associate Deans, regardless of any disciplinary considerations. Brother Kevin Carolan was appointed the Associate Dean for Academic Services and Brother Stephen Cox was appointed the Associate Dean for Student Academic Affairs. The function of the Academic Dean is basically the overseeing of development and maintenance of an efficient educational program. The job of the Associate Dean for Academic Services is to supervise the academic services of the college so that the policies adopted by the Trustees and the Faculty are effectively helped by these services. Lastly and possibly more important to the students is the job of the Assistant Dean for Student Academic Affairs. Brother Stephen's primary function is to relay to the Assistant Dean for Student Academic Affairs, decisions of the Trustees to the Student body at large. In an interview with Brother Richard he gave many insights and observations into this new position, as an Administrator. The only regret that Brother LaPietra has about his new post is that it takes him away from teaching almost entirely. However, he feels that his administrative post represents a challenging step which he has been asked to make. He feels that there is a great deal to be done and he feels that his post is one of point of contact and communication which is necessary for bringing about the necessary changes.

Brother Richard sees the educational process as being "the province of the faculty" and considers himself "a member of the faculty who was chosen to do a specific service function". In line with this specific service function of the Academic Dean Brother Richard would sponsor activities which would take away some of the routine tasks of the faculty in order to devote full time to the preparation of lectures.

The new specific plans for any changes in the academic sphere Brother Richard did not discuss any specific projects or developments we might see brought about. He did not give any comments on the new academic post represents a challenging step which he has been asked to make. He feels that there is a great deal to be done and he feels that his post is one of point of contact and communication which is necessary for bringing about the necessary changes.

Each Tuesday night at nine o'clock a coffee house circuit is held on campus. If anyone is passing through the Coffee House Circuit, he might find it interesting to stop in during one of the concerts.
Student Call For Vietnam Moratorium

WASHINGTON (Vietnam Moratorium) - A new move in the anti-war movement is taking shape.

Four years after the first Moratorium March for Peace was held, and two years after the last, thousands of people are expected to participate in an anti-war demonstration in a new way on October 20.

The move is part of a larger anti-war strategy that is now being developed by groups like Vietnam Moratorium. They have decided that there are new and better ways to express the outrage of the American people over the war.

This new strategy is based on the idea that the war in Vietnam is not just a conflict between the United States and North Vietnam, but a conflict between all the people of the world.

The new strategy calls for a mass movement of people to express their opposition to the war.

The demonstration on October 20 is the first step in this new strategy.

It is hoped that this demonstration will be a starting point for a new wave of anti-war activity.

We are calling on all those who are opposed to the war to join in this demonstration.

We want to build a movement that is strong and that can win.

The more people who join the movement, the more effective it will be.

The more effective the movement is, the more it will hurt the war effort.

We are confident that we can build a movement that is strong enough to bring the war to an end.

We are confident that we can build a movement that is strong enough to bring the war to an end.

Bill Dourdis

Probably more than any other individual, Bill Dourdis represents the Marist spirit. Described by Coach Ron Logue as "the heart of the team," Dourdis personifies the qualities that make Marist great. Off the track, he is a member of the University Admissions Office and a top student, receiving a 3.9 average. On the track, he was a member of the 14th-place team in the 1983 NCAA Meet at the State University of New York at Binghamton.

Sailors Win Regatta

Last Sunday, September 26, the Marist Sailing Teams enjoyed a successful weekend at College of Albright and Mercy College Invitational. In the former event, Marist won first place in the 14' class with 10 races. During the latter event, Marist took first place in both the 14' and 16' classes with 16 races.

Football

The Marist football team is currently ranked 19th in the nation, but the team is not satisfied with this position. The Marist defense has been the key to their success, led by senior center Mike Walsh. Walsh has been named to the All-Conference team and is considered one of the best centerbacks in the nation. The Marist offense has also been strong, led by senior quarterback Bill McMahon. McMahon has thrown for over 1,000 yards and 12 touchdowns.

Soccer

Marist's soccer team is off to a strong start this season. The team has won all three of their games thus far, including a shutout victory over Iona. The team's defense has been especially strong, holding opponents to just one goal in each of their games. The offense has also been effective, with senior forward John Smith leading the way with three goals.

Mike Towers

Mike Towers is a top student and runner at Marist College. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society and has received numerous academic awards. He is also a member of the Viking Track and Field team, where he has helped lead the team to three straight conference championships. Towers is a perfect example of the hardworking student-athletes at Marist College.
The Marist Soccer Team lost to Manhattan 3-2 last Saturday at Van Cortland Park in the Bronx. The Young Red Foxes at Van Cortland Park in the Marist would like to thank the directions. I'm sure the men at Manhattan 3-2 last Saturday.

Meanwhile, the game was played on the old World War I battlefield. Just boiled hours before the game. Manhattan jumped off to a quick lead with goals by Shimpy, and Chipe. Marist's defense didn't play in the first thirty minutes of the game. When Peter Walaseek "sliced" a direct kick past the Manhattan goalie midway in the second period, the Marist booters came alive. The defense sharpened, led by the incredible "Jazy" Sabela, John Murphy and Troth, Jim Hallman. Marist played a strong second half but Manhattan was able to score midway in the third period on a fluke goal by Bowles. He never shot; it just accidentally hit his shoe and went in. Frosh, Tom Rabbitt, one of the most exciting players Marist has ever seen, scored a goal with about ten minutes left in the last quarter. The rest of the game was played down at cut goal. One great save on a Walaseek bullet, insured the victory.

The offense also proved itself, moving the ball almost at will and at times looked unstoppable. Moving on, the ground for over 300 yards and in the air for 89 yards, it seemed to solve the question of whether the offense would be able to move the ball.

Outstanding for the defense was Dean Gestal, who scored a touchdown with an intercepted pass and an assist from Bill Jacobs. Bill McGarr picked up a fumbled punt and ran it for a touchdown, dragging two men with him for the last five yards. Gerry Malorot and Dan Faison also pilfered passes for the Vikes.

The defensive secondary of Jack McDonnell, Junior Rooney and Dean Gestal, shut out their receivers all through the game and linebackers, Bill Leber, Don Roseli and "monster" Bill Jusciellis were all over the field and were in on the play every time you turned around.

The offense, lead by QB John Hurley scored two TD's, one on a fumbled punt and ran it for a touchdown with an intercepted pass and an assist from Bill Jacobs. Bill McGarr picked up a fumbled punt and ran it for a touchdown, dragging two men with him for the last five yards. Gerry Malorot and Dan Faison also pilfered passes for the Vikes.

The strong performance of the cross-country team on Saturday, Sept. 27th, was not enough to overcome the scholarship team of Southern Connecticut State. Marist bowed in a 15-50 loss. It was understood that Southern Conn. State has been recruiting and had a very strong field. Marist had only a few familiar with the course and were missing such key runners as Phil Capio - consistently the man and Greg Howe who has always scored.

The course at Southern Conn. was mostly flat, including sidewalks, asphalt and grass, some sand and two very steep hills; a course Marist runners do not often encounter. The race went out extremely fast and continued along at the same pace.
