Young Actors On An Old Stage

by Bill O'Reilly

ATTITUDES: OUTRAGED

I wanted so much to comfort the young actors on Sunday afternoon. I had just walked into the acting area, waiting for the set to be ready. I was weighing the options on a list of things we might do.

As I walked into the set, I saw the young actors sitting around, talking to each other. One of them looked up and saw me. He stood up and walked over to me, still holding his notebook.

"Good evening, gentlemen. We welcome to the set of Andy Warhol, director of our new movie. We will be filming scenes for the movie this evening."

I made a joke to the young actors, trying to lighten the mood. But it didn't work. They just looked at me, and then back at their notebooks.

I asked one of the young actors if he was comfortable with the material. He nodded, and then said something about the script not making sense. I asked him to explain, and he did. I tried to make the jokes again, but they just ignored me.

I finally asked him if he was doing the movie for the money or for the experience. He said he was doing it for the experience, but he was worried about what people would think of him.

I told him that it didn't matter what people thought of him, as long as he was happy with what he was doing. I asked him if he thought the movie would be successful. He said he didn't know, but he hoped so.

I then asked him if he had any questions. He said no, but then he asked me if I had any advice for him. I told him to just enjoy the experience, and to take it one day at a time.

I asked him if he was interested in continuing to work in the acting world. He said yes, but he had never done it before. I told him that it wasn't easy, but that it was worth it. I asked him if he was planning to go to college. He said yes, and I told him that he should be proud of himself for pursuing higher education.

I then left, feeling a bit sorry for the young actors. I had the feeling that they were a bit lost, and didn't know what to expect.

CONT ON 4

GOOD NEWS

by Fr. Leo Galloca

Everyone successful gentleman, welcome to the set of Andy Warhol, director of our new movie. We will be filming scenes for the movie this evening."

I made a joke to the young actors, trying to lighten the mood. But it didn't work. They just looked at me, and then back at their notebooks.

I asked one of the young actors if he was comfortable with the material. He nodded, and then said something about the script not making sense. I asked him to explain, and he did. I tried to make the jokes again, but they just ignored me.

I finally asked him if he was doing the movie for the money or for the experience. He said he was doing it for the experience, but he was worried about what people would think of him.

I told him that it didn't matter what people thought of him, as long as he was happy with what he was doing. I asked him if he thought the movie would be successful. He said he didn't know, but he hoped so.

I then asked him if he had any questions. He said no, but then he asked me if I had any advice for him. I told him to just enjoy the experience, and to take it one day at a time.

I asked him if he was interested in continuing to work in the acting world. He said yes, but he had never done it before. I told him that it wasn't easy, but that it was worth it. I asked him if he was planning to go to college. He said yes, and I told him that he should be proud of himself for pursuing higher education.

I then left, feeling a bit sorry for the young actors. I had the feeling that they were a bit lost, and didn't know what to expect.
The Student Government submits curriculum vote proposal.

The President's Report: Appendix I: Governance

The following are excerpts from President Linens' final plan to the Marist College community. The excerpts concern the role of the new curriculum and the creation of the President's Advisory Committee. The excerpts are as follows:

The creation of this plan will not impose transfer from existing advisory committees. The plan is intended to avoid any transfer of power by showing its ability to influence the curriculum thus the student's role. The committee would have to take into consideration the current policy and its current role, and can manage to focus the committee in its proper role. The plan is an attempt to redress the imbalance in terms of the present model. The plan would then be open to consideration by the existing faculty and administrators. The plan would then be considered by the present college and the board of trustees.

4.1.5 The committee has the right to create ad hoc committees to study specific issues.

4.6.3 The committee may seek advice from experts in the field of governance.

4.6.6.5 The committee may seek advice from experts in the field of governance.

The report and the proposals will be submitted to the student government for consideration and approval.

The Great Escape?

In college, or more particularly, Marist College providing a living learning experience for its students, or it is really "The Great Escape?" What of The Circle don't claim to know the answers.

Letters to the Editors

The Editor of Editors

Greetings:

As the year comes to a close, I would like to reflect on some of the events that have taken place in the student body during the past year. One of the most notable events was the recent strike by the student group on campus. The strike was sparked by a conflict between the administration and the student group regarding the implementation of a new campus-wide policy. The administration had proposed a new policy that would have required students to attend all classes, while the student group opposed this proposal, citing issues of fairness and freedom of expression. Following the strike, a new committee was formed to address the concerns of both parties. The committee had the task of finding a compromise that would satisfy both sides. After months of negotiations, an agreement was reached that would allow students to skip classes if they felt that they were being unfairly treated. The agreement was seen as a victory for the student group, as it allowed them to have a say in the decision-making process.

YOUNG ACTORS

by Chuck Mears

On October 14, the House Intelligence Committee (originally formed under President Richard Nixon's administration) released a list of 40 "likely" candidates for surveillance. The committee, now chaired by Representative James Roosevelt, failed to reach a consensus on the list of candidates. The committee has consistently failed to reach a consensus, even in light of the considerable evidence that has been presented. The committee has been criticized for its failure to provide a clear explanation for its failure to reach a consensus.

CIRCLE EDITORIALS

Equal Time

Equal Time is a program that provides equal representation for all groups on campus. It is designed to ensure that all students have an equal voice in the decision-making process. The program has been in place since 1970 and has been praised for its success in promoting equality.

On October 14, the House Intelligence Committee (originally formed under President Richard Nixon's administration) released a list of 40 "likely" candidates for surveillance. The committee, now chaired by Representative James Roosevelt, failed to reach a consensus on the list of candidates. The committee has consistently failed to reach a consensus, even in light of the considerable evidence that has been presented. The committee has been criticized for its failure to provide a clear explanation for its failure to reach a consensus.

The committee has been criticized for its failure to provide a clear explanation for its failure to reach a consensus. The committee has been accused of being biased in its selection of candidates and of failing to consider the views of all groups on campus. The committee has also been accused of being too lenient in its selection of candidates, as some of the candidates have been found to have ties to extremist groups.

The committee has been criticized for its failure to provide a clear explanation for its failure to reach a consensus. The committee has been accused of being biased in its selection of candidates and of failing to consider the views of all groups on campus. The committee has also been accused of being too lenient in its selection of candidates, as some of the candidates have been found to have ties to extremist groups.

The committee has been criticized for its failure to provide a clear explanation for its failure to reach a consensus. The committee has been accused of being biased in its selection of candidates and of failing to consider the views of all groups on campus. The committee has also been accused of being too lenient in its selection of candidates, as some of the candidates have been found to have ties to extremist groups.

The committee has been criticized for its failure to provide a clear explanation for its failure to reach a consensus. The committee has been accused of being biased in its selection of candidates and of failing to consider the views of all groups on campus. The committee has also been accused of being too lenient in its selection of candidates, as some of the candidates have been found to have ties to extremist groups.
Marmalade and Robots

by George Byrnes

As Time Goes On—Leo House

by George Byrnes

The Election ‘70

Commitment and Elections

by John Bynoe

What A Zoo!

by Tom Hackett

As a result of the disappointment, frustrations, and powerlessness—a after the losses—there exists a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.

The new generation of voters is a new generation of voters who have not been involved in the political process, who have not been exposed to the workings of the government, who have not been aware of the issues, who have not been part of the process, who have not been exposed to the political system, who have not been aware of the problems, who have not been aware of the solutions.
GRIDMEN GORE GAELS 33 - 0 POUND PROVIDENCE; ANNIHILATE ASSUMPTION

MURRAY MULLIGAN, also scored 3 T.D.'s against Iona, taken handoff from Q.B. Jim Wilkins. WILKENS also past in direction of Flanker Chuck Brownes. Q.B. engineered romp of Iona Friday night.

Run Unbeaten Streak To 4-0
Blank Opponents For 14 Quarters

by Kevin Donnelly

The Vikings completed the first half of the season against Iona last Friday and remained unbeaten by crushing their archrivals 33-0. They previously defeated Providence and Assumption 40-0 making it the most successful road trip the club has ever had.

The Vikings met a tough defensive club in Providence and Murray Mulligan scored the only touchdown of the game on a pass from junior quarterback Jim Wilkins. The PAT was blocked. Late in the game Don Hinchey caught the Providence quarterback, in his own end zone giving the Vikings an 8-0 lead as the game came to a close.

It was on to Worcester, Mass. where the Vikings played Assumption. Murray Mulligan opened the scoring with a 63 yard run after only 4 plays. Bob Duris, a senior to the Vikings. scored the second touchdown by darting through middle. Jim Wilkins came up with another good passing game. He hit for four more touchdowns.

The Vikings defeated unit rose to the occasion by not allowing Iona to get on the scoreboard. They have now four points of consecutive scoreless quarters to 14. Filling in is the only team to score against the number one ranked defensive unit in all of club football!

The offensive line of the Vikings have totalled over 95 yards for his first touchdown of the season. Dan Faison was credited with throwing the key block enabling Rooney to turn the corner. Iona was unable to recover as Bill O'Reilly kicked the PAT making it 19-0.

Murray Mulligan kept the Vikings rolling by going 51 yards for his third touchdown of the night. Again it was Chuck Brown and Bob Scott who picked up the key blocks downfield.

Don Hinchey took over for Wilkins in the fourth quarter and guided the Vikings to their fifth touchdown. Mark Rowinski was given the honors from the two. John Yacobelli added the extra point that ended the scoring with Marriott on top 33-0.

This win was the most satisfying win of the season for the Vikings. It brought their season mark to 4-0 and their consecutive string to 7. The defensive unit of the Vikings lead by captains Dean Geralt and Jack McDonnell have allowed just one touchdown this season. The Viking opponents, who have always feared the Viking defensive units in the past, have the finest ever put together, to contend with this season. The defensive unit allowed only 158 total yards, intercepting four Iona passes. Jack McDonnell had two along with one each by Cotton Nash and Lee Gestal.

Henry Blum has found a home at inside linebacker. Blum intercepted a key pass in the Providence game to stop a Frar drive late in the game. Against Iona Blum clogged the middle allowing the Gaels no running room inside.

Don Hinchey along with Cotton Hash, at the defensive end spots have done a fabulous job all year. The outside linebackers, Mike Erts and Bill Owens, have shown that they can cover the pass as well as stopping any opponent running game to the outside. Russ Hames and Paul Lucchese gave the Viking defense the best pass rush the Vikings have ever put together. This has enabled the Viking defensive unit of the Vikings consisting of Jack McDonnell, Ron Levine and Kevin Donnelly to intercept 11 passes.

Ron Levine has built the best offensive unit in Viking history. With Jim Wilkins at the helm the Vikings have totalled over 95 points in 4 games giving them a 24 point average. Murray Mulligan has added a good outside threat along with the finest inside ability of Dick Hadsbrock.

The addition of Chuck Brown has allowed the Vikings to open up their passing game. As of last week Chuck was the second leading pass receiver in club football. Bob Scott and Bill Pacicco give the Vikings the long pass. These fine receivers cause havoc in most defensive backfields.

The offensive line has developed to the finest ever seen at Marist. Mickey Cahill and Emarnott are the only returning starters. Paul Valli, Tom Cardinal, Charles Van Neustadt, Charlie Brown with Frank Vanacore showed what they could do and the Vikings runners to gain close to 500 yards against Iona.

With the big win last Friday the Vikings are looking forward to returning home against Catholic University.

COACH TOM LEVINE, whose defense hasn't allowed a point in 35 games, is carried off field at game's end.