Urban ORE And Marist

BY SAL PIAZZA

Dr. Malvin Michelson is an associate professor of Chemistry at Marist. He has been involved in the ORE and re-form activities in the Midwest area and is presently the chief draft representative of ORE.

Dr. Michelson started our conversation with a brief outline of his philosophy of education. He feels that it is necessary. That the college must function as a co-ed institution and become involved with the educational topics of its surrounding area. Also, he feels that it is necessary to be able to function as a first pedagogue second. Also, he feels that sociological studies are important for educational institutions have failed by not persuading municipal state and federal agencies to adopt them into the working of government.

Michelson is teaching a course in Chemistry for non-science majors this semester and has incorporated his philosophy of education into the course. He states that the course is being taught as an education in ecology. He plans to discuss population control and pollution in its various forms. However, he has established as the class project the adoption of Dr. Robert Rehwoldt’s plan for waste management by the city of Poughkeepsie. (Reprinted in entirety.) The plan was submitted to the Common Council this past summer and received the bureaucratic run-around of municipal government.

The city of Poughkeepsie is divided into eight wards. Michelson plans to divide his classes (about eighty students) into teams of two which will petition each ward for the approval of Rehwoldt’s plan. The teams will educate the residents of the wards as to the immediate dangers of pollution and the benefits of Rehwoldt’s plan. When enough signatures are gathered they will be submitted to the Common Council and action will be taken on the proposal.

In talking about attitudes towards the entire ecology “movement” Michelson regards it as having a great deal of significance if carried to its potential. He said it would fail if people considered it a large scale anti-litter campaign. Industry must be held liable for their failure to make adequate provisions for environmental protection. Automobile owners are not responsible for auto pollution; the manufacturers are. If industries are forced to control pollution the movements will be a success. Michelson sees educating the general public as to who is responsible for the type of the environment as a matter of primary concern.

Dr. Michelson regards the waste management plan be estimated. The daily circulation of the Poughkeepsie Journal is approximately 35,000. An experimentally determined two week average daily paper weight is 4.5 lbs. for each Monday through Saturday paper or 57 tons/week. The Sunday paper which has a circulation of approximately 40,000 and an average weight of 3 pounds/week would be 120 tons/week bringing the average up to 177 tons/week. This figure could most likely be doubled when new buildings and magazines are added, let us assume a weekly average of 140 tons/week or 20 tons per day.

It now becomes obvious that approximately 1/3 of all material dumped and land fills operation is paper.

1) Increase dump life.
2) The cost of pick up would be offset by the sale of paper, even if it became necessary to run an extra pick up.
3) Cost of pick up, labor and equipment - $394/Income from a bimonthly pick up 280 tons x $35/ton = $10,000 CONCLUSIONS

While this proposal does not suggest that papers will positively make money for the City it will certainly have a number of desirable effects. It should at least be a cost operation for the City. It will also extend the life of the land fill site another 10 years. Finally, it is good practice to recycle. If the City of Poughkeepsie could be extended another 10 years, the benefits should outweigh the opposition.

Security At Marist:
Mission Impossible

BY GEORGE BYRNES

It is quite obvious from the happenings of the last few weeks that "security" at Marist College leaves much to be desired. It was stated in a recent interview with Mr. Arnold Adolfsen that the basic aim or philosophy of the Security Department is to supervise and protegs from vandalism the buildings per se and the equipment therein. Also, to provide safety for the students as far as their needs require. Meanwhile, television, movies, music, radio, paintings, stereo, albums, and anything else that is not nailed down are disappearing faster than the security office can write up their reports. Last year alone, over five thousand dollars in paintings, and pictures were stolen from the gallery. Thus, further proving the point that better education of our security system is not only necessary but inevitable.

To illustrate, let us consider an incident that happened last week. A sizeable amount of money was robbed from a room in one of the houses. It was reported to the floor proctor. Mr. Pitzky, who informed the police. The student involved was never informed of the incident, and he was never found. This is the responsibility of Security. The next step is for the Security Director to speak to the students involved and set if they would like to press charges or do anything else about the matter reported to the police. It if is to be reported, a formal statement is taken and submitted to the authorities with the probability of no action being taken. There is a small possibility that the thieves will talk of their actions and be reported to the Security Director. If this does not happen, the matter is referred to Dean Wade who will take appropriate measures to see the money recovered. If not, the thieves plan their next move to help bolster their "get rich
September 17, 1970

ATTITUDES: OUTRAGEOUS

BY BILL O'BRIEN

"Good advice..."

Lord Kelvin had a good advice for one of the social affairs..."

"If you make this perfectly clear, every social affair at Marist will be absolutely sensational."

"It all depends on whether the guests are a little less."

"That's why they are in the light weight sweater who..."

"No problem getting in the club;..."

"It's very wonderful, especially with..."

"You know who think the Marine College Chapel is full of so much..."

"Protest or, if possible, be a real activist.""
John Dow On Viet Nam

The following are excerpts from a speech delivered on the steps of the Federal Building in New York City by John Dow on May 3, 1967. Mr. Dow is a Governor of the AFL-CIO, and a Teacher and Writer.

"Our country is not in a war. It has been in a war for over 20 years. The war is not against a nation, nor is it against a group of nations. It is a war for ideas, values, and goals. It is a war for the future of our country and the world."

The Inexpediency of Violence

BY ROBERT CASSELL

I feel that I am speaking to the world about a world that is wrong. I feel that I am speaking to the world about a world that is wrong. I feel that I am speaking to the world about a world that is wrong. I feel that I am speaking to the world about a world that is wrong. I feel that I am speaking to the world about a world that is wrong.

Ocean Dumping Not Unusual

The mid-August furor over dumping of sewage and nuclear wastes into the ocean was just the latest in a long series of incidents that have raised questions about the impact of human activities on the marine environment. The issue of ocean dumping has been a source of concern for scientists and environmentalists for many years, and there is growing recognition that the marine environment is a fragile and easily disrupted system.

Student Budgeting Committee

BY JOE ORTON

The Student Governance Board has recently created a committee to study the budgeting process at NYU. The committee, known as the Student Budgeting Committee, will consist of eight student members, including one from each of the 10 residence halls.

La Frontera

The American Challenge

J.J. Boman, Smith College

The challenge facing the United States is not only to achieve economic growth and social development, but also to promote peace and stability in Latin America. This challenge is particularly acute in the context of the current political instability and economic difficulties in the region.

liberals & the mid-east

With the increasing violence and terrorism occurring in the Middle East, it is clear that the United States and its allies must take steps to address the underlying causes of these conflicts. One important area that deserves increased attention is the issue of Palestinian rights.

petty politics

One of the more notable campus controversies in recent years has been the conflict between the administration and the Student Government. This conflict has centered around issues of budgeting, autonomy, and the role of student government in university governance.

PAGE 4
Movie Review

Which Way To The Front

By Mr. Jackson Turner

Last Thursday afternoon Jerry Lewis was wailing from my eye, and there was a warm sweat by those seated within the theater. In a short time, however, the audience began to laugh. Gags and some of the most entertaining moments in the Lewis film were the culmination of the silent treatment. The movie itself is a satire on war, as it is a commentary on the realities of today's world. The Lewis film is not a political statement, but rather an insight into the human condition. The film is a masterpiece of satire, and a must-see for anyone interested in modern film.
On Saturday September 12, the soccer team traveled to Albany, New York, for a quadrangular scrimmage with Albany State, Colgate and Williams Colleges. Each team played three games, each game consisting of two, twenty-two minute halves.

The Red Foxes opened the afternoon against the Great Danes of Albany State. This was a very closely fought affair with neither team taking a decided edge in the first half of play. The offensive play of Marist in this period was the better they were able to produce all day, bringing the ball on field nicely on several occasions, yet failing to cash in on any scoring opportunities they had.

The second half was a completely different story, however, as Albany controlled the tempo and flow of the game slowly on the ocean bottom. There is considerable evidence such evidence as that found at Station 59, ought to be the rule among the teams, Colgate and Williams, were by far the

The Vikings, preparing for their opener against Flushing Sept. 26, had their first intra-squad scrimmage last Saturday on the lower soccer field. It was the first time this season that the team has scrimmaged under game conditions. It was a big test for the Vikings defensive squad. They have shifted from their regular 2-3 defense to the 3-4 used at Penn State. Tom Levine, defensive coach for the Vikings, is responsible for the move.

Henry Blum and Dean Gestal have been moved from their regular positions on defense to the inside linebacker spots. The change has been made in order to take advantage of the speed which Blum has displayed at defensive tackle for the past two years. Dean Gestal was shifted to the new spot because of his aggressive play and leadership capabilities. Both Gestal and Blum seem to have made the shift with no trouble. Jack McDonnell will remain at the defensive halfback position along with Bill Rooney. Dan Faison will take over at Safety replacing Gestal. Dan Hinchey and Terry Nash will be at the defensive end positions with Russ Haune and Paul Lacombe at the tackle spots.

The prospects for this year are looking good. It looks like another tough year for Viking opponents and a great year for the Viking defensive unit. Next week: the Viking offense.