Policy Board Accepts; All Budgets Trimmed

By Tom Page

Presently, the Financial Board of the Student Government has drawn up its budget to a close. It is in time for the Policy Board to review the budget recommendations and pass judgement. This task was begun on Thursday, October 4 in the Firestone Lounge of the Campus Center.

The Financial Board has drawn up some information for the Policy Board members which contained the budget request of the various organizations in one column, and in the other column, the budget recommendation of the Financial Board. To some members of the Policy Board, this was insufficient information.

Free University: Perspective

By Mitchell Williams

Free University, what are its aims and goals? —

The first budget to be reviewed was that of the Black Student Union. The Policy Board accepted the recommendation of $1,250. Although this was considerably less than the $2,500 which was requested, it is an increase from last year’s budget of $1,350.

University, what are its aims and goals? —

Another vital concept of the Free University, therefore, is that personal commitment is required from the participants. At the same time, it is felt that the Free University should be flexible in its approach to those who are willing to become involved. Education Department Announces Programs

Applications are now being accepted for admission into the Education Department's Special Education Program for the Spring semester 1974.

The Special Education Program was begun this year under an agreement between Mount St. Mary College in Newburgh and the Free University. Mount St. Mary College students admitted to the program will receive twenty-one credit hours in education and psychology on the Mount St. Mary campus; in the second semester of their junior year, these students will enroll at Mount St. Mary pursuing a course sequence in either Mental Retardation or Learning Disabilities. In the first semester of their senior year, these students will enroll again at Mount St. Mary for their “teaching experience.” They will return to Mount St. Mary for their final semester. Upon successful completion of their course work, these students will be certified in elementary and special education.

Black Students React To Marist Attitudes

By Mitchell Williams

By Deborah Yurash

Concerning the black students at Marist College, it appears in many cases that a serious rift has developed between the black students and the college administration. The reason for this conflict is the treatment of the black students, especially the first years. The black students feel that they are being treated unfairly and that their concerns are not being addressed by the administration.

The black students have stated that they feel isolated from the rest of the student body and that they are not given the same opportunities as other students. They have also expressed concern about the lack of minority faculty and the lack of minority representation on the faculty and administration.

The black students have also expressed frustration with the lack of support from the administration. They feel that their concerns are not being taken seriously and that they are not being given the resources they need to succeed.

The black students have asked for more support from the administration and for more minority faculty. They have also asked for more opportunities for black students to be involved in campus activities and for more representation on the faculty and administration.

The black students have stated that they are willing to work with the administration to find solutions to these problems. They have asked for more open communication and for the administration to take their concerns seriously.

The black students have also stated that they are willing to work with other students and faculty to find solutions to these problems. They have asked for more involvement from the student body and for the administration to take their concerns seriously.

When this 25-year-old researcher wanted to investigate a possible cancer treatment, we gave him the go-ahead.

We also gave him the right to fail.

At Kodak, it's not unusual for a 25-year-old like Jim Carroll to win the title of senior research physicist. Like any company involved in a lot of basic research, Kodak has felt the pressure of constant technology and the need for years of research. So we hire the best talent we possibly can, and then give them as much responsibility as they can handle.

Quarterback Ed Bonnett led the Marist College Vikings to a 20-6 win over the Norwalk C.C. Cougars with a dazzling display of running and passing. Bonnett's obvious fakes off the triple option play helped set up the Marialo offensive attack that accounted for 200 yards and two touchdowns.

The Vikings went ahead early in the first quarter on a drive marked by overpowering running and pinpoint accuracy in the air.

Bonnett sweeps end for big yardage

The Marist offense was to drive deep into Cougar territory twice more in the half with one of these drives resulting in a touchdown. A second drive ended in an interception.

Fred Kramer and a 36 yard touchdown pass to tight end Mike Cassidy. This put the Vikings up 7-0 at halftime.

The second half proved a defensive battle with each team maintaining only one successful drive. Marist drove first blood on a 30 yard drive early in the third quarter. This drive was a perfect example of the effectiveness of the triple option as Bonnett mixed the plays beautifully, using Nigel Davis up the middle, Bill Lee and himself around end and hitting his receivers for long gains. The touchdown was scored by Tim Murphy on a 9 yard pass with Kramer adding the conversion for a 14-0 Marist lead.

Norwalk finally got on the board in the fourth quarter when Cougar quarterback Chico Rodrigues scrambled in from the ten yard line on a broken play. Two long passes and two fifteen yard penalties gave the drive. This was all the scoring for the afternoon as both defenses had a strong second half. Each defense gave up the short "yardage" but shut off any effective drives. The final was Marist 20 - Norwalk 6.

The win was the second consecutive victory for the Vikings as they start to roll for the championship. The offense rolled up 490 total yards while the defense held Norwalk to 10. Fullback Nigel Davis gained 100 yards for the second week in a row gaining 101-17 carries and quarterback Bonnett hit 12-20 for 290 yards.

Running Red Foxes Continue With Victory Streak

The Marist Running Red Foxes extended their undefeated season to 8-0 this past week in smashing seven new school records in the Marist College Vikings to a 20-6 win over the Norwalk C.C. Cross Country-option play helped set up the Marist's perfect record.

Jordan, and Jim McCasland finished sixth for Marist and seventh overall, while the rest of the runners (Kings' and Marist were quite impressed with the VanDewater (16th), and Jim Costine won his third race completing Marist's perfect score. The team was 1-4 and was being fired right at the last Saturday is when all the races were over for the conference matches.
