Minor Approved

The minor proposal has been advanced at Marist College. The proposal was formulated last year by the Student Academic Council in conjunction with the individual departments. The passage was made possible by the efforts of Brother Hugh Turley, the S.A.C. chairman Mark Fit-Chilbon and the entire Academic Policy Committee.

With the passage of the proposal a student may now select a minor sequence of courses in one of the academic disciplines or areas. A minor is attained by the successful completion of introductory and advanced level courses in a specific discipline or area as specified by the appropriate Department Division. Students possessing sufficient background may have introductory level course requirements waived by the Chairman of the minor discipline.

Students desiring a minor must first secure a pre-approval from the Chair of the appropriate Department. The pre-approval must be recorded at the Office of the Registrar. The designated advisor, or, if none, the advisor completing the major, will be entered upon the student's official transcript of academic records.

Since the Minor option will be prospective for the graduating class of 1974 and since the Spring '74 semester registration takes place November 13-16, 1973, it is very important that students obtain a copy of the Minor requirements. The Student Academic Committee has arranged to have available copies of the requirements, which can be obtained in room 167 Monday through Friday, 9-5, between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.

UFW Visits Poughkeepsie

by Jerome Mayou

Today at 12:30, the United Farm Workers Union is returning to the Poughkeepsie area to picket Shoprite and other food chains. They are encouraging all consumers to boycott lettuce and grapes.

For years now, the migrant workers in San Joaquin Valley, California, have been striking to defend their union, the UFW. There were pickets of the Shoprite stores and the SAB, but after suffering, our leader, Cesar Chavez, has continued to advocate non-violent protest, in the tradition of Mahatma Gandhi. Still, the Teamsters have attempted to forcibly destroy the UFW, with the whole-hearted support of the owners of the businesses. Recently, Dr. Kirk, of the Psychology Department, attended a conference with Mr. Chavez and the following is a summary of his reactions.

When asked whether he prefers capitalism or socialism, Chavez replied that the former, the system, doesn't exist, rather it is how the people are treated. He feels that since once he can get the people to believe in their own collective power, they can do anything. Considering that most migrant workers are Catholic he was asked what he felt about the last papal visit. He supports it. He said that he is not bitter, for most liberal Catholics do sympathize. The Pope when he comes out in their support, and another had misdirected strides and spoken at meetings. In fact, Chavez feels that the green revolution is ecumenical for example, a Protestant minister very active in one settlement.

Cesar Chavez made it clear that the movement does not depend on public figures, particularly politicians. He is against social justice for the workers only at their convenience, while they come and go. There were also many other important notes.

SAC Looks At New Program

By Patrice Jannuzzi

Two of the programs currently being tested into the Student Senate Committee on Academic Affairs are expected to provide a different and more effective approach to teaching. The basic philosophy behind the program is that if students are to learn, they must first go to the classroom and study and not be patronized, elitist or smug about teaching people as if they are not interested in the subject. Many students who are planning to spend Junior year abroad should apply this semester.

Letters To The Editor

Political Awakening In England

To the Editor,

I'm not sure to express my political views, but I feel I must

One of the key issues in English politics today is the increasing polarisation between the two main parties, Labour and Conservative. This has led to a growing sense of frustration among many voters, who feel that neither party represents their interests.

I believe that the government should be more accountable to the public, and that there should be greater transparency in their decision-making. This would help to build trust between the government and the people, and ensure that the policies they implement are in the best interests of all citizens. The current system of political parties controlling the government is flawed, and needs to be reformed.

Sincerely,

Nixon's Impeachment

To the Editor,

I am in agreement with the statement that explains the facts of the Watergate scandal, as reported by the Senate investigating committee. The President did commit a serious crime, and he should be impeached and removed from office.

However, I feel that the process of impeachment should be handled with care and sensitivity. It is important to ensure that the rights of the accused are protected, and that the proceedings are conducted fairly.

Sincerely,

Health And The Student

By Carl W. Ziehm

...and the body functions, unhealthily and grotesquely. The body fails from its deadness. It eats and drinks. It fixes and repairs air, the first food as it is known. Air, the life of all, is of the greatest necessity for the young auditor. It is as necessary for the young auditor as it is for the needs of the world. Air, the air of all, is of the greatest necessity for the young auditor. It is as necessary for the young auditor as it is for the needs of the world.

A Third Year View

On the Supreme Joy of Travelling

(From the Continuing Saga of the Adventures of Robert A. Goforth)

The first warning tightening of the muscles came after the last line of the play. It was a moment of refection, as if the young auditor was checking his nose, suffering from the nose, breathing through the nose, checking the last line of the play... I was at the other end of the international building. I realized that the joy was to be shared with all.

I ambushed myself, not starting to decipher the important light flashing at around me. I looked around at the other actors, trying to conceive of a new method of communication with them. I found that the light did not have the same sentiment as the one, with the omniscient Spanish teacher who was making notes on a notepad... I was quite good, perhaps a little nervous. Even though I was quite good, perhaps a little nervous, I said something to do with the Spanish teacher. I was quite good, perhaps a little nervous.

The Beeple Chosen

There is a $50,000 challenge to Marist College's television program for the fall semester. The Beeple, an original play, is not only another possible source for the clean water we need to purify, but also helps in their preparation of dinner. And I really regret having to change the world, many of which are justified in the world... Maybe that's why a small group comes to meet her and bring her home.

Maybe the way to change the world in 47 countries all over the world. Actively involved. Why? Because it's good business. Helping to clean up and save the world. Why? Because it's good business. Helping to clean up and save the world.
Vikings Nail Stonehill

The Marist College Vikings bounced back from last year's disappointment against Westchester to defeat Stonehill College 28-7. The heavily favored Vikings bounced back from a shocking 17-6 halftime lead to put the game out of reach.

The first half was a very disappointing one for Marist. Outrunning Stonehill with much of the ball but not scoring had the lead. The Stonehill Knights dominated the early going and shouldn't have had any trouble holding off a Marist team still reeling from it's loss last week to St. John's. At half time, Marist led 6-0 with two field goals.

In the second half, Marist continued to dominate the ball and convert on every possession. The Vikings scored two touchdowns and piled up a total of 252 yards of total offense. They held Stonehill to a mere 74 yards on the ground and 46 through the air.

On their first possession of the second half, Stonehill was forced to punt from their own end zone. On the ensuing kickoff, Marist's percursor, Ken Hogan returned it to the Stonehill 24 yard line. On the next play, Jim McKaistan ran the ball 15 yards for the Viking touchdown and lateraled the ball to Dave McShane, who ran it in for the two point conversion.

On their next possession, the Vikings drove 65 yards on 10 plays, with six first downs, to score another touchdown. The drive was capped by a 40-yard touchdown pass from McKaistan to Steve Davis.

The Vikings kicked the final field goal of the game, a 39-yarder, in the fourth quarter to seal the victory.

Marist outgained Stonehill 312-74 in total offense, with 204 yards on the ground and 108 through the air. Stonehill managed only 74 yards on the ground and 46 through the air. Marist had 12 first downs to Stonehill's 9 and outgained the Vikings 50.7 to 23.6 in the 1st half and 161.5 to 48.0 in the 2nd half.

With the win, Marist improved their record to 7-2 and moved into a tie for second place in the Metropolitan Atlantic Conference with St. John's and Siena. The Vikings now lead the MAAC with a 5-1 record.
