Marist College is 'presently affecting physical changes in the campus under the direction of the McCann Foundation. These changes are being made not only to benefit the college, but also the surrounding community.'

Why are they helping Marist? The McCann -Foundation was formerly a Catholic institution, and since the college was Catholic element of Dutchess County, and since the college was a Catholic, the foundation is concerning itself with improving other facilities for the community.

According to President Linus Foy, the foundation is assisting college in three areas: it is helping in the building of the new road on the north-south route 9, the construction of the new road out to the light on route 8, and a project known as 'operation cosmetic.'

The funds which are needed for this last project are coming from the McCann Foundation, ASDA, etc. Transportation, NASA, National Science Foundation, and the Medical Society. The funds are being used to complete the 530,000 dollar project in the year 75. The reason for this set back was that the college would have had to borrow money to complete the $500,000 dollar project. Now, through donations, the school has the money to make the move.

All students from the Bridge Year Program are to participate in the program. These students will be willing to put in hard work and be interested in this program, with a view to participate in the program. These students will be willing to put in hard work and be interested in this program.

There is no one factor that the Faculty Policy Committee, the Academic Affairs Committee (AAC) is comprised of five elected faculty members, and two students. The curriculum is the responsibility of this committee.

The program is designed to help career oriented students. Any student of this college who needs more information may contact Dr. Linus Foy, chairman of the facility.打电话 to Dr. Linus Foy, chairman of the faculty department.

Research Institute Earns Students College Credit

by Gary Norman

Marist students can now earn college credit by doing research for the Marist College Research Institute located in Donnelly Hall. According to Dr. Vincent Ladato, director of the institute, the institute is a non-profit organization which has two purposes for being developed. The first purpose is to pursue research topics which have a relation to the community and secondly to train outstanding undergraduates in the methods of research. This goal is achieved by actively allowing junior and senior level students to participate in the program. These students will be awarded the title of Research, Institute Scholar and will be offered scholarships at the college.

The program is open to freshman and sophomore students who like challenge and will be reviewed from time to time to obtain college credit. The research being done by any of these students will culminate in a publishable thesis and shall be available at the library of the college. Students from the Bridge Year Program also participate in some of the institute's programs.

The Institute uses the campus computer for its simulation studies. The reason for this is that the cost for actual research is too much and the use of the computer can cut these costs.

Some of the research areas being studied are: a bus simulation study being done by Peter Gordon, a junior on campus, who is doing research to see if route 5 north and south is in need of a continuous bus run and parking spaces will be needed where they will be needed, if they will be utilized. Also being studied is the numerical simulation for the study of bone's and cells being done by a team consisting of Martin Soyka, a junior on campus who is a medical doctor, a cell biologist and a mathematical physicist. The study to find where bone loss in the human body occurs is being done by Dr. James Boyd and cancer cells and the effects of radiation on these cells is being done by the Institute.

Most of these studies are done on a multidisciplinary approach. Some of these studies are done on the bone's and cells, some are done on the bone's and blood cells, some are done on the bone's and cancer cells, and the effects of radiation on these cells is being done by the Institute.

The Institute is now in the process of sponsoring a lecture program. The Jacobi method is to be discussed.

Group Organized To Improve Marist

The Marist Environmental Association, a group of students associated with the Marist Environmental Board, is being formed this semester to organize and coordinate environmental activities on campus. The group will be under the direction of President O'Hare and is expected to receive the support of the Marist Environmental Board. The group will be formed to provide a more organized approach to environmental issues on campus and to coordinate efforts with other environmental groups on campus.

MC CANN FOUNDATION

MC CANN, a foundation, recently announced its support of a new environmental project on campus. The project, which is being funded by a grant from the Marist Environmental Association, will focus on the development of an environmental education program for students. The program will include workshops, seminars, and lectures on environmental topics, as well as the development of an environmental curriculum for students. The project is expected to begin in the fall of this year.

"Arts" Announces Future Plans

The Performing Arts Committee has announced its plans for the upcoming academic year. The committee will be hosting a variety of events, including concerts, plays, and lectures. The committee is also planning to expand its programming to include more variety in the types of events offered. The committee is looking forward to a successful year and is working hard to ensure that the events will be of interest to a wide range of students.

St. Francis to Close Maternity Service

By Bill Russell

St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie, New York, has announced that it will close its maternity service. The service, which has been in operation for over 50 years, will be shutting down on October 15th.

The decision to close the service was made after a thorough review of the hospital's financial situation. The hospital is facing significant financial challenges and has been struggling to meet its obligations.

State of College

As one passed through various parts of the campus last Tuesday when the State of the College was made, he would hear many different conversations about it. This, we feel, proves the need for faculty, students, and administrators to get together more often in order to discuss its contents.

Many questions were raised during the school year. Is the library being expanded to fit the requirements of the student body? Is there a need for new physical education centers? Is the school cutting down on the number of courses offered? Were there any new opportunities available to the students? All of these questions and many more must be answered in order to improve the state of the college.

According to Janice Colleran, Pete Provost, Bob Baulch, Brian Morgan, Bob Morris, and Gregory House's article, Marist does not lie in her politics. It is a necessity of active grievance to engage in physical struggle against the forces of life. It is a necessity of active grievance to engage in physical struggle against the forces of life. It is a necessity of active grievance to engage in physical struggle against the forces of life.

The survey reports that one in seven high school students smoke marijuana, one in five drink at least once a week, and two "problem drinkers" drink at least once a week. These findings are alarming and should be taken into consideration.

The state of the college is a reflection of the state of the students. It is important to have people stand up in front of the college and speak their minds. Our student body is strong and we should be proud of it.

LEO ART GALLERY
There are many different kinds of art there. I would like to see the work of people who participate in this show. The work of the artists is not done for the sake of art, but for the sake of art itself. Nancy Donofrio, one of the organizers of the show, says that the show is for artists who work all the time that they don't feel a bit "self-neglect of people. When they can't even watch the news to the people, be aware of people. They give me much more working as a person who identifies with the people.

I have no TV in my house. The machines have separated him from the electronic world. I hope not to see the electronic world. I hope not to see the electronic world. I hope not to see the electronic world. I hope not to see the electronic world. I hope not to see the electronic world.

What is the referral process in the Marist College Counseling Services? A Look At Some Symptoms

Counseling Services: A Look At Some Symptoms

Several factors block this direct path to the counselor. One is a Harvard study which indicates that a third of the students who seek counseling are not ready to talk about their problems or are not ready to talk about their problems. Another factor is the fact that many students are not ready to talk about their problems. Some students are not ready to talk about their problems. Some students are not ready to talk about their problems. Some students are not ready to talk about their problems. Some students are not ready to talk about their problems.

What do the counseling services at Marist College offer? A Look At Some Symptoms

The counseling services at Marist College offer a variety of services to students. These services include individual counseling, group counseling, and couples counseling. The services are designed to help students cope with a variety of issues, including academic problems, personal problems, and family problems. The services are offered on a confidential basis and are available to all students, regardless of their academic performance or personal circumstances.

The counseling services at Marist College are staffed by qualified counselors who are trained to help students deal with a wide range of issues. These issues may include academic problems, personal problems, family problems, and career problems.

Marist Hosts Involuntary

This Saturday Marist College will be the site of one of the most exciting track meets in the state as 10 teams come to the campus to compete in the annual track and field meet. The meet will feature the best athletes from the state and will be open to the public.

The track meet will feature a variety of events, including the 100-meter dash, the 200-meter dash, the 400-meter dash, the 800-meter run, the 1500-meter run, the 3000-meter steeplechase, the 5000-meter run, the 10,000-meter run, and the marathon. The meet will also feature a variety of field events, including the long jump, the triple jump, the high jump, the pole vault, and the discus.

Lee Swope, the meet director, is looking forward to the meet and is confident that it will be a great success. "This is one of the best track meets in the state," Swope said. "We have a lot of strong competitors and I am confident that the meet will be a success."

The meet will begin at 1:00 PM and will continue until 4:30 PM. The meet will be held on the Marist College campus and will be free to the public.

Quarterback Ed Bonnett enjoyed his finest passing game of the season, as he directed a 29-6 victory over top-ranked Rival Mattatuck at Van Cortlandt Park yesterday. This is the third time in three years that Marist has defeated Mattatuck for the final place in the fourth quarter of the season.

While the Vikings switched from their usual heavy running attack to offense, defensive line and linemen Marty Tervillinger and Jerry Dimetman forced the visitors to follow suit and defensive backs Bill Pfeiffer and Mike Ignafo allowed the team to take advantage of their opponents.

Kolthay was the race winner, setting the new Marist record for the 27:06.4 finish line. Also recorded three shutout victories Saturday in the New York City to seven and their VanCortlandt College to put their 1974 record continued to set records as they defeated four teams last...

X-COUNTRY Extends Winning Streak

The Marist Running Red Foxes extended their victory streak to seven and their VanCortlandt Park streak to eight as they defeated four teams last Saturday in the New York City park. The Long Red Line also continued to set records as they recorded three shutout victories (18-30) over New York Maritime, Yank College, and Brooklyn College to put their 1974 record shutout number seven. Marist also topped Hunter College 11-0.

Kolthay captured nine of the first ten spots in the five-team meet and eleven of the first thirteen across the line also.

Women's Crew Becomes Permanent Activity

by Frank Schiavi

Marist Colleges' newly formed women's crew team is on its way to becoming a permanent activity. According to William Austin of the athletic department, the enthusiasm of the members has grown steadily since the team's conception in early September, and because of this enthusiasm, the team itself has grown in the past two months - from 11 to 18 women. This alone, indicates to Austin that a women's crew team is not a temporary whim. To further indicate the team's permanence, Austin said that many high school students have expressed their interest in a women's college crew team.

Initially, Austin came up with the idea for the team. He said it was an idea he'd had for a number of years, and that he wasn't able to see the idea become a reality until this year. It was wise, he said, "to see the idea become a reality this year, as it was wise to do so in 1974 when the team was first established." Austin also said that the team is now ready for the season as he guided Marist to a 29-6 triumph over top-ranked Rival Mattatuck at Van Cortlandt Park yesterday.

High On Sports

WOMEN IN SPORTS AT MARIST-FACT OR FICTION?

There has been a number of comments concerning Women and Athletics here at Marist, some positive and others negative. Before reading any further, let's look at the total picture and find out what is available.

Women's Intramural Sports

"There are currently three intramural sports on campus available exclusively to women: Co-Ed Soccer, Co-Ed Basketball, and 2 Tennis. Turnouts for both crew and basketball have been fantastic but initial reaction to tennis has been slight. Tennis coach Ron Petro said that he is very interested in starting a women's tennis team and that with the availability of the newly opened tennis courts maybe the interest will increase. Right now we are interested in competing in intercollegiate tennis. We would like to see this happen here at Marist but are looking for women who are interested in this opportunity. We are not as strong as the men's team so we are looking for women who are interested in the game and just want to enjoy it."

Women's Intercollegiate Sports

Speaking as the intramural director here at the college, I must say that I am currently satisfied with the amount of women who participate in intramural sports but I am always looking for improvements. It is important to point out what is available in the way of intercollegiate sports for women. Here is a complete list of available events for the remainder of the academic year: Women's Interscholastic Tennis, Women's Interscholastic Soccer, Women's Interscholastic Badminton, Women's Interscholastic Sailing, Women's Interscholastic Softball, Women's Interscholastic Co-Ed Badminton, and Women's Interscholastic Cross Country.

Every Tuesday night has been set aside for Women's night in the Rec Room at the hotel. Any woman who is not a member at Marist, has assured me that equipment, such as volleyball nets or badminton raquets will be made available to anyone who might request their use.

KOLTHAY NAMED MARIST ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Fred Kolthay, a sophomore from New Hamburg, New York, has been named Marist College Athlete of the Week for the week ending October 13. This marks the third time this year that Kolthay has been named Marist College Athlete of the Week.

Kolthay, a member of the cross-country team, was first in a five-school meet at Van Cortlandt Park on Saturday. Kolthay is a veteran of the Van Cortlandt Park meet and has always shown great improvement and moved into our lineup.
