Lambert Appointment Has All-Encompassing Duties

By Julie Schott

Mr. Fred Lambert has recently been appointed to the position of Director of Campus Life. Previously, Director of Residence, which meant supervision of all campus housing, Lambert's new position is all-encompassing.

The director of campus life is responsible for campus residence and its staff, the campus center and its staff, the health services, food services, and religious services, as well as student activities and governance. The student activities include all coffee houses, house parties, and nights in the Rathskellar.

Mrs. Dolly Russell, a graduate of Vassar College, who is a new member of Lambert's staff, is the Coordinator of College Activities. She will supervise all school clubs, the student yearbook and all social affairs.

The purpose of the two new appointments is to relieve Dean Dosen's responsibilities of all campus life, since he is also in charge of counseling services, financial aid, and the Higher Education Opportunity Program.

Lambert reports that there is a new addition to the student government this year as a result of the Leadership Workshop held over the summer. It is called the common council and operates as a student senate whose function is to unify the different interest groups. These groups include the Inter-House Council, the Student Academic Committee, the Black Student Union, the College Union Board and the Consumer Union.

With the changes made in the supervision of campus life, Mr. Lambert feels that the tone of the campus environment will be improved. He hopes that activities will be more mature and adult-oriented. "I'm very pleased with the way the campus has reacted thus far to the establishment of the norms and in the keeping of the norms."

"Because the various components of the campus life will now be organized under one head, I feel that we can work as a team, and a team effort will definitely be strengthening to the student body."

Free University Begins; Reaches All-Time High

By Ernest A. Royal

It is the general sentiment of the members of FREE UNIVERSITY that the university is now at an all time high. Bob Sammon and Jim Elliot are coordinating the "Free University" this year. When questioned about the aspirations of Free University, Sammon replied, "It will be a year for us, and we'll prove it."

The curriculum is set up with 7 major courses which are not offered in the regular curriculum at Marist. It is the general sentiment that Marist offers only a limited academic experience to its students. The Free University is described as a living, learning, and experience and offers those who partake a definite learning experience and offers those who partake a definite learning experience and experiences during the move.

The curriculum offers workshops, a lecture series, a dialogue seminar, a film program, a cooperative extension program and the academic quarter.

Sammon feels that there is a communication gap and that a bridging of the dormitory and residence halls will enrich the academic experience at the college. The University staff this year is geared to itself towards sophistication, as well as a tighter organizational body.

Sammon described the Free University as being a publicity mechanism, and feels that to dispel the general threat posed by the college the Free University will have a good time.

A recent opinion poll taken by the University showed that its curriculum is a favorable one. Students, faculty, administrators and many different campus groups have expressed attitudes toward Free University. Education being a positive thing, Free University is none the less positive. There curriculum entails different courses as well as workshops and an interesting film series. All members of the student body are urged to partake in the learning of Free University.

Due to the attitudinal change of the Marist philosophy, Free University seeks to bridge the widening gap between personal and social awareness. In order to better prepare Marist students for the fast paced society, new institutions such as Free University must become effective here at Marist.

The library has acquired this "new look" due to recent innovations.

Relocation Predicted For Fall Of 1975

By Gary Norman

Expenses for upgrading Fontaine with the necessary electrical, mechanical and constructional repairs in order to house the Library were added to the academic quarterly.

The estimated cost of relocating the campus library from Donnelly Hall to Fontaine Hall is $390,000. According to President Linus R. Foy, $530,000 could be added to future tuition costs but the college is going to try to avoid this. A funding campaign is now being formed to raise the necessary money with good results expected.

The reasons given for the move is that the library will need more room for more books and to prevent better use of the library concrete action taken to get a day care center started.

The administration explained that one of the major reasons for this new schedule was the effect the gas shortage might have on commuting students. This new plan would make it possible for a student to plan his schedule so he could come to school from two to four days a week rather than five days a week.

According to Sammon, not only is the commuter being affected by this new schedule, so is the resident who only has classes three days a week. "Is Tuesday night becoming a party night on campus? Is the schedule damaging the academic atmosphere on campus?" Bob Sammon suggested that one action the subcommittee might take is to conduct an opinion poll of the students to get their views on the continuation of the schedule.

Review Slated For New Schema

By Rhoda Crispell

The new time schedule will be reviewed this semester in order to decide whether the experimental schedule will be continued or terminated next year. The Student Academic Committee is forming a sub-committee to evaluate the effectiveness of the new schema. According to S.A.C. President, Bob Sammon; this sub-committee will look into why the schedule has been inaugurated, and then see if these reasons have not been followed through. Sammon suggested that maybe some of these reasons have not been carried out.

The new schedule was supposed to attract mothers to Marist by having two instead of three classes a week, and by making plans to provide a day care center for their children. At this point, there has not been any Problems Identified For Marist Women

By Eleanor Hart

Marist women have problems. According to the Committee on Women, the men's report, delivered by James Hearst, president of the Board of Trustees, and presented at the 19th annual meeting of the left-wing association, it was revealed that the women are not as satisfied with the institution as the men. The report, which was presented at the meeting, indicated that a large number of women are dissatisfied with the living conditions, and that they feel that they are being discriminated against. The report also noted that the women are not as satisfied with the academic program as the men. The report recommended that the college should take steps to improve the living conditions for the women, and that the administration should make changes in the academic program to meet the needs of the women.

Bridge Year Program Offers Opportunities For Students

By Marianne D'Angelo

The Marist "Bridge Year Program" offers students of Lourdes and Spackenkill High School the opportunity to complete a freshman college year while they are seniors in high school. The program is named after the bridge between the two schools.

The idea for the program was conceived by an interview with Ronald T. Gasper, director of college and career guidance. The program was designed to provide a smooth transition for students from high school to college. The program is sponsored by the Marist College Bridge Year Program Committee.

Last year the Marist Bridge Year Program was held on campus, and the students were able to attend classes and live on campus. The students were able to take advantage of the facilities and resources of the college, including the library, computer labs, and cafeteria. The students were also able to take part in the extracurricular activities of the college, including sports teams, fraternities, and sororities.

In selecting the students for the program, the college looked for students who had good academic records and who were interested in attending college. The college also looked for students who were interested in participating in the extracurricular activities of the college.

The program will be held on campus this year, and the students will live on campus. The students will be able to attend classes and live on campus, and they will be able to take part in the extracurricular activities of the college.

The program is designed to help students make a smooth transition from high school to college, and to provide them with a head start on their college education. The program will be held from September 28 to December 20, and it will be held on campus.

The program is open to all high school seniors who are interested in attending college, and who are interested in participating in the extracurricular activities of the college.

The program will be held on campus, and the students will live on campus. The students will be able to attend classes and live on campus, and they will be able to take part in the extracurricular activities of the college.

The program is designed to help students make a smooth transition from high school to college, and to provide them with a head start on their college education. The program will be held from September 28 to December 20, and it will be held on campus.

The program is open to all high school seniors who are interested in attending college, and who are interested in participating in the extracurricular activities of the college.
Letters To The Editors

OCTOBER 3, 1974

The Martit College CIRCLE is the weekly newspaper of the students of Martin College. The paper is published by The Student Publications Committee of the Student Senate of Martin College. A subscription to CIRCLE for one year is $3.00. Letters to the Editor should be addressed to CIRCLE, Martin College, Overland, New York 11759.

To the Editor:

In the 1974 Democratic primary, as with most previous Democratic primaries, the candidates ran on promises of reform. Some of this reform was mind-blowing in its characteristics, and many of our candidates were the only people to whom we voted. There were a number of candidates who ran on promises of reform, and many of these candidates were the only people to whom we voted. The number of candidates who ran on promises of reform was very small, and many of these candidates were the only people to whom we voted.

We are writing to the Editor to express our concern about the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College. We feel that the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College is a serious problem, and we believe that something must be done to address this problem. We are writing to the Editor to express our concern about the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College. We feel that the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College is a serious problem, and we believe that something must be done to address this problem.

We are writing to the Editor to express our concern about the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College. We feel that the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College is a serious problem, and we believe that something must be done to address this problem. We are writing to the Editor to express our concern about the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College. We feel that the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College is a serious problem, and we believe that something must be done to address this problem.

We are writing to the Editor to express our concern about the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College. We feel that the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College is a serious problem, and we believe that something must be done to address this problem. We are writing to the Editor to express our concern about the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College. We feel that the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College is a serious problem, and we believe that something must be done to address this problem.

We are writing to the Editor to express our concern about the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College. We feel that the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College is a serious problem, and we believe that something must be done to address this problem. We are writing to the Editor to express our concern about the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College. We feel that the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College is a serious problem, and we believe that something must be done to address this problem.

We are writing to the Editor to express our concern about the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College. We feel that the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College is a serious problem, and we believe that something must be done to address this problem. We are writing to the Editor to express our concern about the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College. We feel that the lack of involvement in the political process by the students of Martin College is a serious problem, and we believe that something must be done to address this problem.
Commentary

By Gregory Conneffich

The following column will be a regular weekly feature of the Brown Derby column. It will be written by Gregory Conneffich and will reflect the views of the editor of the Brown Derby column. The views expressed并不代表 the positions of the Brown Derby column.

Free University

By Richard White

This month, the Gregory House Free University will again be held at the Gregory House in this community. This month's program will be on the topic of social theory, focusing on the relationship between social theory and social action. The program will be presented by a social theorist who will discuss the relationship between theory and action in the context of social movements and social change.

Leader Speaks On Prison Reform

By Olga Rosen

An accomplished lawyer in the field of prison reform, Olga Rosen spoke last week to a group of students at the Brown Derby. She discussed the problems of prison overcrowding, the lack of rehabilitation programs, and the need for change in the prison system.

Children's Theatre To Meet

Marist College Children's Theatre has announced the first general meeting for the upcoming 1973-74 season. The meeting will be held on Tuesday, October 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Marist College Center for Performing Arts.

Free Park

A free park area will be available to the public on weekends at the Marist College Center for Performing Arts. The park will feature a playground, picnic area, and a basketball court.

PARK CONCESSIONS

PARK CONCESSIONS

PARK CONCESSIONS

PARK CONCESSIONS
Winning Streak Stopped; Red Foxes Meet Match

The Marist Running Red Foxes met their match this past week as three powerful New Jersey schools topped three Marist winning streaks. First on Wednesday, the undefeated Monmouth harriers were only twenty-four seconds behind the Marist record on a poor day for running and was only twenty-four seconds behind the Marist record on a poor day for running. John Skislak and Steve Foster, both cross country scholarship recipients, turned in by Jim McCasland, Mike Sommar, Steve VanKeuren, who had both a sprained ankle; or Steve

Jim McCasland running for Marist in recent meet.

High On Sports

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

This Sunday, October 6, the Annual Intramural Bike Race will be held. The event is open to all Faculty, Staff and Students. Starting time will be 2:00 p.m. in front of Champlain Hall. This event is being coordinated with the College Union Board. There will be two races, a male and female race. Prizes will be awarded to winners in both races. The College Union Board has been gracious enough to offer a one-year token of beer to be enjoyed by all contestants. This may be consumed before or after the race, depending on your biological preference.

For further information contact either the College Union Board Office or the Intramural Office.

DAVIS NAMED ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

DAVIS NAMED ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Any interested student may obtain free travel information in the form of booklets, brochures, or posters by writing to SOS, 22 Ave. E, New York, 6-00.