Agreement Reached On Scheduling

After a one-day student strike and a day of continued discussions and negotiations, the administration and the UYA have reached an agreement on the new master schedule for the fall semester.

The new schedule, which was adopted by a vote of 30 to 30, was the result of several meetings between the administration and the student representatives. The new schedule will be in effect for the fall semester and will be implemented in January.

Religious Studies Out

The College has approved the Religious Studies Major, a new program that will be offered to students in the fall of 1974.

The Religious Studies Major is designed to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the major religious traditions of the world. The program will be offered in conjunction with the Department of Religious Studies and will include courses in both the Eastern and Western traditions.

Bookstore Lists Innovations

The Marist College Bookstore has introduced several new innovations that will improve the student experience.

One of the new innovations is the introduction of a new management system that will allow students to order books and other materials online. This system will also allow students to track the status of their orders and will provide them with detailed information about the availability of items.

Another innovation is the introduction of a new system for ordering textbooks and other materials. This system will allow students to order books and other materials more efficiently and will reduce the time it takes to process orders.

By John Taylor Clancy

The Marist College Bookstore has been at the forefront of technological innovations that have improved the student experience. The bookstore has introduced a new management system that will allow students to order books and other materials online. This system will also allow students to track the status of their orders and will provide them with detailed information about the availability of items.

Another innovation is the introduction of a new system for ordering textbooks and other materials. This system will allow students to order books and other materials more efficiently and will reduce the time it takes to process orders.

The bookstore has also introduced a new system for handling returns and exchanges. This system will allow students to easily return or exchange items that are not satisfactory.

In addition, the bookstore has introduced a new system for processing payments. This system will allow students to pay for their purchases using a variety of methods, including credit cards, debit cards, and cash.

The bookstore has also introduced a new system for handling complaints and feedback. This system will allow students to easily report any issues they may have with their purchases or with the service provided by the bookstore.

The bookstore is committed to providing students with the best possible experience. The innovations introduced in the past year are just the beginning of our efforts to improve the student experience.
Program Instituted For Recruiting/Admissions

by Charles de Perri

An additional dimension to the admissions recruiting program of the Marist College is evident in an effort now under way in the Admissions Department. The department has evolved from an initial concept presented by Mr. David Flynn, director of admissions, to the Marist College Board of Trustees, and subsequently to the Marist College student body.

The effort is a result of recognizing the importance of recruiting and retaining students who will contribute to the intellectual climate of the college. These students are expected to participate actively in the academic community, to contribute to the intellectual growth of the college, and to enrich the campus environment.

The program calls for the development of specialized recruitment strategies for specific groups of students, including students from underrepresented backgrounds, students interested in specific majors or programs, and students with specific needs or interests. The goal is to attract students who will enhance the diversity and quality of the college community.

Counseling Service Expands

by Debbie Nystad

The Counseling Service is expanding its services to better serve students. The service has been restructured to provide more comprehensive counseling and support for student needs.

The Counseling Service now offers counseling for a broader range of issues, including academic, personal, and career-related concerns. The service has also expanded its hours of operation to provide greater availability to students.

Advisory Committee Meets Elects New Chairman

by James Roos

The Marist College Alumni Association held its annual meeting on March 25. The meeting was held at the Marist College Alumni Center in Poughkeepsie, New York. The agenda included discussions of current issues affecting Marist College and updates on the college's future plans.

The meeting was attended by a large number of alumni and friends of the college. The alumni were encouraged to continue their commitment to the college and to support its efforts to provide a quality education for all students.

College Council Report Announced

by James Roos

The Marist College Student Government has announced its new Student Council, which will be responsible for representing the student body's interests to the college administration.

The council consists of nine members, elected by the student body, who will serve one-year terms. The council will meet regularly to discuss issues affecting students and to work with the college administration to address those issues.

Sommer Gets Recognition

by Dean Wade

Dr. George Sommer, President of Marist College, was recently honored with the prestigious National Education Association Award.

The award is given to educators who have made significant contributions to the field of education. Dr. Sommer was recognized for his work in developing innovative programs and for his dedication to improving the quality of education.

He was presented with the award at a special ceremony held on campus. Dr. Sommer was presented with a plaque and a check in recognition of his contributions to education.

Weiss Reports From Argentina

by David Flynn

 reporting from Buenos Aires, Argentina, David Flynn provides a comprehensive overview of the political situation in the country and the impact of recent events on the region.

The report highlights the challenges facing the country, including political instability, economic difficulties, and social unrest. It explores the ongoing political conflict and the efforts of various groups to achieve their goals.

The report includes interviews with key figures in the political landscape, including politicians, activists, and experts. It provides insights into the current state of affairs in Argentina and the potential for change in the future.

Continued on page 7
Letters To The Editors

Another Side Of Scheduling

To the Editor:

I have grown to believe that the Marist administration has totally misunderstood the purpose of the student strike. The strike was started by the students, and it is only fair that the students themselves should be the ones to decide its consequences. Although I was a member of the student committee that planned the strike, I do not feel that the students themselves should be the ones to decide what action to take. The students have been misinformed about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students.

The students have been misled about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students. The students have been misinformed about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students.

The students have been misled about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students.

Response To Article

To the Editor:
The article you wrote was not fair. You made false statements about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that the students themselves should be the ones to decide its consequences. Although I was a member of the student committee that planned the strike, I do not feel that the students themselves should be the ones to decide what action to take. The students have been misinformed about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students.

The students have been misled about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students. The students have been misinformed about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students.

The students have been misled about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students.

Campaign Funding

To the Editor:

The Marist administration claimed that the cost of the student strike was $150,000. However, this claim is false. The students have been misled about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students. The students have been misinformed about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students.

The students have been misled about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students. The students have been misinformed about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students.

The students have been misled about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students.

Resignation And Thanks

To the Editor:

I am writing to resign from the student government. When I was first elected to the student government, I was looking forward to serving my fellow students. However, I have found that the student government has become more concerned with its own interests than with the interests of the students. I do not feel that I can continue to serve in this capacity.

I would like to thank my fellow students for their support and for allowing me to serve in this capacity. I hope that the student government will continue to serve the needs of the students.

Signed, Student Government Secretary

Campaign For Implementation

To the Editor:

I would like to urge you to support the campaign for implementation of the student strike. The students have been misled about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students. The students have been misinformed about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students.

The students have been misled about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students. The students have been misinformed about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students.

The students have been misled about the purpose of the strike, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to decide what is best for the students.

 imágenes de arte históricas
Shout It Softly

By Father Lee Goldblatt

In the final issue of the CIRCLE, I wrote an article on achieving better human rights for gay Catholics. Now, I would like to present the findings of a recent study on the same topic. This study was conducted by researchers at the University of Notre Dame.

The study found that gay Catholics are more likely to experience discrimination than other Catholics. This is especially true when it comes to employment, housing, and education. The researchers also found that gay Catholics are more likely to be segregated from other members of the community.

The study concluded that these findings should be taken into account when designing policies for gay Catholics. The researchers suggest that more attention should be paid to the needs of gay Catholics when designing policies.

I am grateful to the researchers for their work on this important topic. I hope that this study will help to bring about more understanding and acceptance for gay Catholics.
Crew Season Opens This Saturday

The Marist spring track team has been working hard in preparation for their biggest and toughest schedule. The Red Foxes open up their 1974 spring campaign with a dual meet under the lights at Albany’s Heater Stadium against Siena College Tuesday, April 16 at 6:30 p.m. This will prove to be a tough opening task as Marist and Siena have always had close meets in track and this year should not prove to be different. The Red Foxes have a meet every other day— including the eighteenth, at New Paltz (Marist’s home site), against Kings College and Nyack, the twentieth at New Paltz against New Falls, Fairfield, and Dowling, the twenty-second at New Paltz against Brooklyn College and Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, the twenty-fourth at New Paltz against Westfield, the twenty-sixth in Philadelphia in the Penn Relays (with a mile relay team), the twenty-ninth at New Paltz against Monmouth, and the thirtieth at the Collegiate Track Conference Championships at Marist College. Marist thus meets a total of eleven schools.

Marist appears to be strong in the hurdles this year, usually a rough year for most teams, the hurdles have lost most of their usual strength this year. The only two strong hurdlers Marist has in the hurdles lacks in the sprints, however. The team needs more capable sprinters to have a 440 relay team which was one of the team’s strongpoints last year. Graduation depleted the 440 relay with the loss of Dan Faison, Tom Murphy, and Fred Kramppe. Marist has more depth than ever in the quarter: mile which will be helpful for the team’s male relay also. However, the team may still lack strength in this traditionally weak Marist event. Tim Murphy and Dave Scholten can provide the strength needed to win the event, but they will be needed in other events and won’t be able to run the quarter.

Therefore the pressure will be on the freshmen. Kevin Gallagher, a standout at Our Lady of Mercy High School, Jim Gilling, a returning sophomore, Matt McLear, another sophomore letterman, shot putter. Pete VanAken who runs a very capable 440, and possibly even Fred Keithly who has shown Coach Stevens that he can run the middle distances well.

Marist is strong again in the long jump, mostly due to returning record-holder Tim Murphy who holds the Marist record in the long jump (5' 9") and the triple jump (22' 10"), and Bob Rutigliano who added depth in both the long, and triple jumps. They will be Marist’s’ backing man in both. He also has a good chance of capturing Murphy as triple jump champ as he has leaped over 46 ft. so far. The team lost the services of Fred Kramppe in the long jump and thirty-nine-foot triple jumper. Backing up Murphy in the high jump will be the 6-3 and 205 Ibs. John Carberry and Bill Sprague as well as possible spot duty from Scholten and Bobo. However, Bennett will be Marist’s’ big man in the pole vault where he excelled last year. Bennett also specializes in the javelin. Newcomers John Tracy and Mike Hart will add to Marist’s depth in the field events in the discus and long jump, and Mike Hart will add depth in the pole vault. The main corps of weight men are composed of Pete VanAken, Phil D’Ambrosio, John Carberry, and Dan Macri. VanAken and D’Ambrosio can specialize in the shot put and Marist Field Coach Lou Lenehan will, as always, count on the experience of breaking Blain’s record. Steinkorn and Billington are expected to do well in the field events.

Marist is strong again in the weight men as composed of John Carberry and Bill Sprague who are lead again this year by the senior Tom Murphy who is very capable in all weight events. Domonicch will blend his seven returnees in seniors Ken Ousey (No. 5) and Dave Phillips (No. 4), one of the co-captains, with juniors Bob Steinkorn (No. 3), Kevin O’Connor (No. 6), Jim Hoye (bow), Bill Crawford (co-captain) and Frank Hoover (stroke), who is the other co-captain. Filling out the seven-man unit will be, sophomores Jim Doidge (No. 6) and Mark McCarthy (No. 3).

All action begins at 10:30 a.m. down by the Hudson. The following day, the lightweight will be rowing against the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy starting at 10:30 a.m. on the Hudson.

Field Team Prepares For Spring Season

The Marist spring track team has been working hard in preparation for their biggest and toughest schedule. The Red Foxes open up their 1974 spring campaign with a dual meet under the lights at Albany’s Heater Stadium against Siena College Tuesday, April 16 at 6:30 p.m. This will prove to be a tough opening task as Marist and Siena have always had close meets in track and this year should not prove to be different. The Red Foxes have a meet every other day— including the eighteenth, at New Paltz (Marist’s home site), against Kings College and Nyack, the twentieth at New Paltz against New Falls, Fairfield, and Dowling, the twenty-second at New Paltz against Brooklyn College and Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, the twenty-fourth at New Paltz against Westfield, the twenty-sixth in Philadelphia in the Penn Relays (with a mile relay team), the twenty-ninth at New Paltz against Monmouth, and the thirtieth at the Collegiate Track Conference Championships at Marist College. Marist thus meets a total of eleven schools.

Marist appears to be strong in the hurdles this year, usually a rough year for most teams, the hurdles have lost most of their usual strength this year. The only two strong hurdlers Marist has in the hurdles lacks in the sprints, however. The team needs more capable sprinters to have a 440 relay team which was one of the team’s strongpoints last year. Graduation depleted the 440 relay with the loss of Dan Faison, Tom Murphy, and Fred Kramppe. Marist has more depth than ever in the quarter: mile which will be helpful for the team’s male relay also. However, the team may still lack strength in this traditionally weak Marist event. Tim Murphy and Dave Scholten can provide the strength needed to win the event, but they will be needed in other events and won’t be able to run the quarter.

Therefore the pressure will be on the freshmen. Kevin Gallagher, a standout at Our Lady of Mercy High School, Jim Gilling, a returning sophomore, Matt McLear, another sophomore letterman, shot putter. Pete VanAken who runs a very capable 440, and possibly even Fred Keithly who has shown Coach Stevens that he can run the middle distances well.

Marist is strong again in the long jump, mostly due to returning record-holder Tim Murphy who holds the Marist record in the long jump (5' 9") and the triple jump (22' 10"), and Bob Rutigliano who added depth in both the long, and triple jumps. They will be Marist’s’ backing man in both. He also has a good chance of capturing Murphy as triple jump champ as he has leaped over 46 ft. so far. The team lost the services of Fred Kramppe in the long jump and thirty-nine-foot triple jumper. Backing up Murphy in the high jump will be the 6-3 and 205 Ibs. John Carberry and Bill Sprague as well as possible spot duty from Scholten and Bobo. However, Bennett will be Marist’s’ big man in the pole vault where he excelled last year. Bennett also specializes in the javelin. Newcomers John Tracy and Mike Hart will add to Marist’s depth in the field events in the discus and long jump, and Mike Hart will add depth in the pole vault. The main corps of weight men are composed of Pete VanAken, Phil D’Ambrosio, John Carberry, and Dan Macri. VanAken and D’Ambrosio can specialize in the shot put and Marist Field Coach Lou Lenehan will, as always, count on the experience of breaking Blain’s record. Steinkorn and Billington are expected to do well in the field events.

Marist is strong again in the weight men as composed of John Carberry and Bill Sprague who are lead again this year by the senior Tom Murphy who is very capable in all weight events. Domonicch will blend his seven returnees in seniors Ken Ousey (No. 5) and Dave Phillips (No. 4), one of the co-captains, with juniors Bob Steinkorn (No. 3), Kevin O’Connor (No. 6), Jim Hoye (bow), Bill Crawford (co-captain) and Frank Hoover (stroke), who is the other co-captain. Filling out the seven-man unit will be, sophomores Jim Doidge (No. 6) and Mark McCarthy (No. 3).

All action begins at 10:30 a.m. down by the Hudson. The following day, the lightweight will be rowing against the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy starting at 10:30 a.m. on the Hudson.