Compromise Reached By Marist and Saga

By Tom Hudak

Last Tuesday a meeting was held at Marist College to discuss the new Marist College Activities, to let the student body know of the recent compromises made by Marist College with the Saga Food Service.

These compromises had to be made for several reasons. The first being, that the number of people eating in the Rathskellar was less than the expected amount, causing a large loss of up to 85% of the Food Service.

The second reason was due to the many complaints of students about the devaluation of points in the Rathskellar. Saga had lowered the point value on the 24 cents last year to 25 cents in an attempt to try and solve the problem of the overuse of the Food Service. The final reason was the many compromises about the Saga Food Service, as stated by Dean Lambert are listed below.

1. Rathskellar cash prices have been adjusted downward.
2. Points have an approximate cash value of 40 cents each.
3. Cash value will be rounded up to the nearest point value. No change will be issued.
4. Compilations will carry a one point surcharge, with the exception of 10 cents or less.
5. Points will not be redeemable in the Rathskellar during dining hall meal hours.
6. During the first semester, new food programs will be investigated. A new system will be effective at opening of the second semester.

Mr. Louis Greenspan, project director for the McCann Foundation, stated that "Progress is going well, the elevator will be done in 10 days. The wall paneling is 75 percent completed, plumbing and carpentry about 65 percent. If everything goes as planned, the project will be done around March 1st, 1976." Greenspan also stated that "Slow down the process for completing the foundation. Mr. Greenspan gave a small description of what he saw about the new Field House." After Greenspan's description, the students at the meeting were asked their opinions stated that they saw no visible signs of the food service improvement since the meeting on Tuesday, but were optimistic that it would improve once the complaints of the students were heard.

Construction Continues

By Philip Palladino

Mr. Louis Greenspan, project director for the McCann Foundation, stated that "Construction workers are now finishing the Field House located south of Shoemaker Library on the lower level of Field House."

The foundation of the field house will be completed in approximately one week if the men don't run into any problems. The only problem right now is the rock underground. When the construction workers are able to secure the building is going to be one of the main parts to the project, as the rock can't be moved once it's in place. After the men call for delivery on it. Greenspan was asked just how soon they were going to finish the job. "As you walk through the main entrance, the pool will be to your right, while the indoor track, gym and other gymnastic facilities will be on your left. In between the pool and the indoor track will be lockers and bathrooms.

In the background, the second floor gallery, where you will be able to do the daily and intramural practice will be kept clean. The second floor will also hold offices for the various coaches and program directors. If everything goes as planned, the new Marist College Field House will be in operating condition by the spring of 1976."

Another major area of construction on the campus is the building of the new Marist College Library. Mr. Greenspan stated that "Progress is going well, the elevator will be done in 10 days. The wall paneling is 75 percent completed, plumbing and carpentry about 65 percent. If everything goes as planned, the project will be done around March 1st, 1976." Greenspan also stated that "Slow down the process for completing the foundation."

Security Expanded

By Michael O'Shea

In most phases of society, as one area expands, so does another. As the population of students has risen here at Marist, the Security System has risen to meet these changes. The campus Security System is now working hard all summer at this goal. They also have the added burden of watching over the new library in Fontaine which is open at all times. Thus creating a good spot for vandalism and theft. But Philip Palladino, head of Campus Security, said that there have been no real problems with this other than having to keep a good eye on it.

The Security Department has made many changes to carry out its job properly. Among these changes are the addition of a new police radio. With this new, more powerful radio, they are better able to communicate during patrols.
WMCR Begins Pre-School Program

By Winnie Hall

It is fortunate again to see a group of children dancing, singing and playing in the Marist College campus. However, very few students really know why Deyo’s Children’s Village is so important to the children and adults who are served.

This year, the psychology department at Marist College pre-school for children ages three to five. Dr. Dorothy McCauley and Mrs. Margaret Federline are the instructors.

The program is open to the public. The pre-school is carefully planned for the benefit of the children. The classrooms are bright, cheerful and lively. There are two kinds of activities: group and individual. The children are not only taught to share but are also taught to work with other children. The children seem to love these visits and are quite social. The parents seem to enjoy them as well.

A new Campus Ministry team, led by Professor Tina Miller, Assistant Professor of Religion and chair of the Religion Department, and Eliezer Teichman, director of the Jewish Studies Center, has been formed. The new team, "Children of Life," is involved in the planning and preparation of the Children’s Ministry program.

The program is in progress and will continue through the fall semester. It is the first step in the development of a Children’s Ministry program.

Letters To The Editors

Dear SAC Staff,

I have been watching the course of events since you first approached the cafeteria and I want to express my thoughts on the situation.

The cafeteria has been operating under difficult circumstances this semester. The staff has been working extra hours due to the shortage of workers, and the quality of the food has been affected. I believe that it is important for us to address these issues directly with the cafeteria staff and management.

I suggest that we hold a meeting with the cafeteria manager to discuss these concerns. I also believe that we should consider ways to improve the situation, such as increasing the number of staff and providing better training.

Thank you for your hard work and dedication.

Sincerely,

Reasons For Leaving

Dear friends at Marist,

It was a most difficult decision that I made in May to resign from Marist College. I loved the college and all the people there, especially the faculty. I am so sorry that I have to leave.

I am still trying to recover from the shock of being told that I was leaving. I have been going through a lot of stress and anxiety since the decision was made.

I am looking forward to the future, however, and I am excited about the opportunities that lie ahead for me.

Thank you for all your support and understanding.

Sincerely,

Larry Barnes, the first team all-American from Mattleck College, will be out for at least six weeks of this upcoming season. Barnes, who comes from Kennedy High School in Waterbury, Connecticut, broke his ankle while making a tackle during the team’s scrimmage of the season. He was to play a key role position on the team.

Larry, who stands at six-foot-three, weighs forty pounds, and has forty-three points, has had three consecutive winning years in track, including one from the New York State High School Track and Field Association. His junior year in high school was at the San Francisco Giants to play baseball but he turned that down.

Larry’s real desire though, is to play running back with his major here at Marist.
