Dear Co-Editors,

In reply to your editorial of February 12th, "What's a Security Guard Doing?"

The Marist College Security Department is responsible for maintaining a secure environment on campus. The department is staffed by trained professionals who are dedicated to ensuring the safety and security of students, faculty, and staff. The position of a security guard is not a role that is meant to be abolished completely. Instead, it is intended to be replaced by improved security measures and protocols.

One very strong point in favor of maintaining the role of a security guard is the presence of this person in the physical plant. This individual is responsible for overseeing the continuous presence of security throughout the campus, which is essential for maintaining a safe and secure environment.

Furthermore, the presence of a security guard is critical in ensuring the smooth operation of the security department. This individual is responsible for coordinating with other members of the security team to ensure that all security protocols are being followed and that any potential security issues are addressed in a timely manner.

In conclusion, the Marist College Security Department is committed to providing a safe and secure environment for all members of the Marist community. The presence of a security guard is an integral part of this commitment. We encourage all members of the Marist community to support the continued presence of security guards on campus.

Sincerely,
