For CUB President: Dowling VS DeBaun

by Phil Palladino

Goals and ideas are being expressed by the new candidates running for the Marist College Union Board. Tim DeBaun and John Dowling are the presidential candidates.

Tim DeBaun has been treasurer of C.U.B. for one year. He feels that experience is necessary in running for a higher position. "The presidential office of C.U.B. calls for someone who has an idea of how to write up contracts with people and knows basically how to run the C.U.B."

Robin Dowling, candidate for president of the Marist College Union Board, is surprised by the lack of activity on campus. "I feel it's necessary to have more weekly events and activities and more variation during the week."

"I want to work equally with the government, work together for ideas and functions," Dowling explained. "The vice president handles the contacts with people and knows the presidential candidates. I think the C.U.B. constitution needs to be changed in order to work together more closely with certain college groups, such as the commuter union, government, inter-House council.

DeBaun explained.

Robin Dowling, candidate for the presidential position, has heard complaints from students and friends that there is a lack of activities on campus. "I feel it's necessary to have more weekly events and activities and more variation during the week."

To the Marist College Student Government:

As the Editor in Chief of THE CIRCLE, I write to express our concern regarding the recent decision made by the Student Government. We believe that this decision was made without proper consultation and consideration of the views and opinions of all members of the Student Government.

We understand that the Student Government has the discretion to make decisions regarding the management of the CIRCLE and its publications. However, it is important to note that the CIRCLE is not just a publication, but it is a platform for student voice and expression. Any decision concerning the CIRCLE itself must be made with due consideration of the rights and interests of all students.

We believe that the decision was made in a仓促 manner and without proper consultation. We urge the Student Government to reconsider this decision and take into account the views and opinions of all students before making any final decisions.

Thank you.

Letters To The Editor

Respect God?

To the Editor: As an employee of the Marist College, I have a concern regarding the handling of personal requests. I have been working for the college for the past 5 years and have always been respectful of the administration. However, I have noticed that some employees are not treating the college with the same respect.

I believe that the college should implement a policy that requires all employees to treat the college with respect. This policy should be enforced by the administration, and employees who do not comply should be disciplined.

Thank you.

John Smith

Crime of Punishment

Our system of political punishment is not based on the principle of justice. Instead, it is based on the principle of revenge. The method of punishment is to make the criminal suffer. This is not justice, but rather a form of punishment.

We must change our system of punishment. We must move away from the doctrine of revenge and toward the principle of justice. This will require a change in our society's values and a change in the way we think about justice.

Sincerely,

John Doe

Thank You For Not Smoking

Dear Marist College Community,

I am writing to express my gratitude for the efforts of the Student Government to implement a no-smoking policy on campus. I believe that this policy is necessary for the health and safety of all members of the Marist College community.

As a student, I have noticed the negative effects of smoking on campus. The smoke from cigarettes and other tobacco products can be harmful to those who are not smoking. I applaud the Student Government for taking action to create a smoke-free environment.

Thank you for your commitment to the health and well-being of our community.

Sincerely,

Foxes Fall Short

By THOMAS MC TERNAN

It will go down on their record as just another loss, their fourth in the last five games. But Saturday's 79-75 loss to Monmouth at West Long Branch, New Jersey was also Marist's best comeback of the season. Trailing 47-31 at intermission the Red Foxes regrouped to pull within 79-73 just two minutes remaining before the Hawks managed to hold on.

The loss drops Marist to 13-9 and the Red Foxes needed victories in both games of their update swing this week, (against Bellinger made both in a similar way). Steve Pettus (32) takes underhanded layup in first half of Marist's stories in both games of their regional tournament bid earlier this week. But the Hawks were just another loss, their fourth sickness could have been a factor in the postponement of their previous game with St. Peter's, and the Red Foxes have been in the second half of their season finale against C.W. Post at Dutchess Saturday night to lead with 1:16 on the clock.

Foxes regrouped to pull within 75-73 just to equal last season's 16-10 mark. These were able to cash in on several free throws when he was fouled with 1:16 on the clock. Holmes later made both of his free throws trying to regain possession. Holmes finished with 22 points and a driving shot by Bob Wymbs under the three minute mark.

After we got close in the second half, we missed several free throws when he was fouled with 1:16 on the clock. Holmes later made both of his free throws trying to regain possession. Holmes finished with 22 points and a driving shot by Bob Wymbs under the three minute mark.

The back court mate Pettus, who had 12 points in the second half, we. missed several free throws when he was fouled with 1:16 on the clock. Holmes later made both of his free throws trying to regain possession. Holmes finished with 22 points and a driving shot by Bob Wymbs under the three minute mark.

The biggest loss of the season even though Marist had four of its five starters score 12. Holmes had 11 points while John McKee came in to start the second half, Murphy led Marist with 16 points and 13 rebounds while Pettus contributed 15.

A three-point play by Bill Terry and a driving shot by Bob Wybom gave the Hawks some cushion but Murray and reserve guard Walt Janeczek got loose for offensive rebounds and converted it into 69-67 as the clock went under the three minute mark.

As with most of the close games the Red Foxes have been involved in this season, all came down to fouling. Glynn Berry missed both of a one-and-one, and after one more time just to equal last season's 16-10 mark. The Indians, ranked third in the region's college division poll, led 49-41 at the half. Marist pulled within three with five minutes left but Siema's Gary Holle and Steve Fasicki, combining for 20 of the winners' 32 second-half points, put control of the boards and put the game out of reach.

"After we got close in the second half, we missed several easy shots," explained Pettus. "At the beginning of the half, both teams pushed the game with an outside shot-at it."

Glynn Berry made a spectacular play to knock the ball out of the gym Thursday night to lead Marist to victory in a stop and play game. Berry, shooting 13-for-18, scored 27 points to offset another good shooting performance by Bellinger who had 21 on 10-for-14 shooting.

Marist closes out the 1975-76 campaign against C.W. Post Saturday. Marist defeated the Redmen 11 last year in the consolation game of the Oakes Classic in January. Senior center Conrad Fontaine led Post with 17 points in the game while Janeczek topped Marist with 15.

NOTES FROM THE SPORTS DESK:

Bill Austin, head coach of Varsity Crew for its sixth game over the century mark this time total.
