For Student Government President:

Green Vs. Woodin

By CANDI DAVIS

Student government elections will be held March 4 and 5. The candidates for president are Andre Green, running for re-election, and John Woodin. Andre Green, said his top priority is the proposed Student Senate. "The goal of the Student Senate is to be as close to the student body as possible, " said Green. John Woodin, a political science major, said his concern is on rewriting the constitution. Woodin thinks the proposed Student Senate is a "lose-lose" situation, he would like to run an another title for it. Woodin, if elected, wants the Constitution Board to be elected by the students. The Constitution Board, under the present constitution, is appointed by the student government.

Green wants a space allocated for the use of students on campus as a building for recreation, study, and offices for the clubs. The space Green would like is the gymnasium. He has been in contact with Dean Waters, chairman of the Executive Committee, which is in charge of space allocations. John Woodin would like to start an Ad Hoc committee from the Student Senate to write the Constitution. "Even if I am not elected, I still have a possibility to carry out this idea," said Green. John Woodin, a political science major, said his concern is on rewriting the Constitution. Woodin thinks the proposed Student Senate is a "lose-lose" situation, he would like to run another title for it. Woodin, if elected, wants the Constitution Board to be elected by the students. The Constitution Board, under the present constitution, is appointed by the student government.

Green hopes to win the referendum. "This will give the students a chance to have their say on the matter," said Green. Woodin wants to use the referendum in the fall to get the students involved in the campus political scene. "I believe students should make their minds up on issues before they are a part of the government," said Woodin.

Dasher Vs. Livshin

By TINA IRACA

David Livshin and James Dasher are the two candidates for Student Government. Dasher, a sophomore communications major, says that he is interested in the position because he wants to make the students aware of the things that are happening on campus. Livshin, a junior communications major, says that he is interested in the position because he wants to help the students. "I believe that the students should be involved in the campus political scene," said Livshin.

Davern, Troiano Unopposed

By CLAUDIA BUTLER

Seeking re-election, unopposed, as treasurer of the Marist student government, is John Davern, a sophomore from Buffalo. "I would like to retain my position," said Davern. "I am very interested in the position, and I would like to continue the work." Davern has set up a system of controls to prevent the misuse of funds. He has a budget for next year and he feels that the money will be spent efficiently.

CIRCLE Asks 'Independence'

By CANDI DAVIS

The Circle editorial board is making a bid to amend the Student government constitution, by taking the power to appoint Circle editors from the president and make the position one of the student government. "Miss Troiano feels she is qualified for the job. She claims her experience as secretary of the student government is more than enough to qualify her for the job. Her experience as a member of the student government is more than enough to qualify her for the job."

The referendum was the result of a meeting of the Circle editorial board and the Student government. "I don't want the secretary position to be a ceremonial one," said Woodin.

Executive Privilege or Free Press?

Editorial

The Student Senate has recently come into conflict with the student government, which has the power of appointment over various student organizations. The student Senate controls the funds of these organizations, and the student government has attempted to exert some control over the student Senate. This has resulted in a conflict of interest that threatens the autonomy of both groups.

Heated Talk Heads Candidates Night

By TINA BAGA
A heated discussion between candidates running for student government occurred Monday night in the Fireside Lounge.

Several students, including candidates running for student government positions outside of the Fireside Lounge, were present and determined to make a decision:

Before the discussion began, both leaders of the student government presented their cases on why they should receive the support of the voters.

The issue was then discussed and the votes were made.

The candidates were then given the opportunity to address the audience.

The discussion was well received and it was decided that the students would vote on the issue the next day.

Campus Suicides: 1,000 Per Year

By RHODA CRISPILL

Each year, hundreds of college students in the United States attempt suicide and seek help. According to a study by Dr. Edward Molaison, in the United States, there are approximately 1,000 suicides per year.

Dr. Molaison said the reason people are seeking help is because there are more cases of depression, anxiety, and other mental health issues. He added that the reason people are seeking help is because they are more aware of the problem, and more people are seeking help.

Dr. Molaison said, "There is a need for more people to be aware of the problem, and more people are seeking help."

Dr. Molaison added, "There is a need for more people to be aware of the problem, and more people are seeking help."

WOMEN LOSE

By THOMAS MCTERAN

The Marist women's basketball team concluded a 4-4 season last Thursday with a 64-46 loss to New Paltz at the Hudson Valley Women's Conference.

For a team which lost 80-14 to St. John's (which had the same 11-14 record as the Red Foxes) it was a season to forget. The team started with a bang, winning its first two games.

The Marist women's basketball team had its worst season since the 1973-74 season when it went 3-31. The 1975-76 season was the team's biggest-in its history.

The team concluded a 4-8 season last Thursday with a 64-46 loss to New Paltz. This year's 12-game slate was the team's biggest-in its history.

The team's top scoring threat and one of the few games. Gregg was one of the team's top scoring threats and despite the injuries and were sidelined for a few games.

Not many people go Dutchess Community College on their way to play basketball on the road. The Red Foxes reached the final game of the 1975-76 season, for the cancellation of the final game on the Red Foxes 1975-76 season. The game was held at the University of Connecticut, 11-14.

There was no mix-up in directions, explained coach Ron Pettus.

"It's unfortunate that problems in our lives could have been solved on the court if we had worked with the team," commented Pettus.

The Red Foxes could have gone up to 12-3 but they were defeated by 12-3. Van Alen had a 38-point effort at New Paltz.
