Students Confront Foy
Troubled group asks for executive help

BULLETIN

College administrators and the group of 21 students are to meet with President Linus R. Foy today to talk about the grievances which were presented to him last Monday.

A group of 21 students who presented a list of grievances to Marist College President Linus R. Foy Monday morning after a two and a half hour meeting with the administration agreed to admit the students. The two administrators left as the students walked into Foy's office.

The 21 students met with Foy for two and a half hours on Monday morning, at 9:00 a.m. According to Foy, the students asked to have the two and a half hours after delaying the meeting with the administration.

Dr. Foy and the students talked about why it has broken up until 10:15, because he told the group that he would not come to the meeting with the administration. "I'd like to talk about some of the things that we had to say with an open mind," said Dr. Foy. He added that the group and the students would meet with him immediately to work on the problems.

Dr. Foy and the students also discussed problems with the administration. "The dorms lack an academic atmosphere and the college is losing two groups because of this," said Dr. Foy. There are 300 students who could succeed in college, but do not attend study habits because of the extra free time which the schedule provides. "We're also losing very bright students who either transfer or move out," he added.

Dr. Foy suggested that as far as the dormitories are concerned, alcohol probably acts as a "triggering device" but the lack of activity on campus and the lack of student voice in administrative decisions causes frustration.

Dr. Foy and the group also discussed problems with the Marist Dining Service, student academic complaints, and decision concerning resident coordinator jobs, and college finance matters.

Dr. Foy said he would start immediately to work on the problems, and would meet with any administrators involved.

Vol. 18, No. 15
February 24, 1977

Students walk to Greystone Hall at 9 a.m. Monday morning. (photo by J. Giglietti.)

The dorms lack an academic atmosphere and the college is losing two groups because of this situation, said Dr. Foy. There are students who could succeed in college, but do not attend study habits because of the extra free time which the schedule provides.

"We're also losing very bright students who either transfer or move out," he added.

The dorms lack an academic atmosphere and the college is losing two groups because of this situation, said Dr. Foy. There are students who could succeed in college, but do not attend study habits because of the extra free time which the schedule provides.

"We're also losing very bright students who either transfer or move out," he added.

The dorms lack an academic atmosphere and the college is losing two groups because of this situation, said Dr. Foy. There are students who could succeed in college, but do not attend study habits because of the extra free time which the schedule provides.

"We're also losing very bright students who either transfer or move out," he added.

The dorms lack an academic atmosphere and the college is losing two groups because of this situation, said Dr. Foy. There are students who could succeed in college, but do not attend study habits because of the extra free time which the schedule provides.

"We're also losing very bright students who either transfer or move out," he added.

The dorms lack an academic atmosphere and the college is losing two groups because of this situation, said Dr. Foy. There are students who could succeed in college, but do not attend study habits because of the extra free time which the schedule provides.

"We're also losing very bright students who either transfer or move out," he added.
Student sues financial aid
by Wanda Glos
Marist College student is contesting the financial aid department for $1,500.

The student, who alleged that the college's financial aid department had misled him from the time he applied to the college in October 1976, said that he was in the remainder of the money. "I said, 'You know, they would have to pay me back the money,'" he said. "I asked for this money back from the college because I felt I was being misled." The student, who said he had been in the process of appealing the decision to the college's financial aid department, had applied to the college in October 1976.

C.B. radio taken
by David My
A citizen's band radio valued at about $40 was taken out of room 308 in the Waters Building. The radio, which was valued at about $40, was taken out of room 308 in the Waters Building.

In summary:

The resident, said that he was in the staircase...and the remainder of the money...

At 6 a.m. on Sunday, a Marist College student is contesting the financial aid department for $1,500. The student, who missed the college's financial aid department had misled him from the time he applied to the college in October 1976, said that he was in the remainder of the money. "I said, 'You know, they would have to pay me back the money,'" he said. "I asked for this money back from the college because I felt I was being misled." The student, who said he had been in the process of appealing the decision to the college's financial aid department, had applied to the college in October 1976.

C.B. radio taken
by David My
A citizen's band radio valued at about $40 was taken out of room 308 in the Waters Building. The radio, which was valued at about $40, was taken out of room 308 in the Waters Building.

In summary:

The resident, said that he was in the staircase...and the remainder of the money...

At 6 a.m. on Sunday, a Marist College student is contesting the financial aid department for $1,500. The student, who missed the college's financial aid department had misled him from the time he applied to the college in October 1976, said that he was in the remainder of the money. "I said, 'You know, they would have to pay me back the money,'" he said. "I asked for this money back from the college because I felt I was being misled." The student, who said he had been in the process of appealing the decision to the college's financial aid department, had applied to the college in October 1976.

C.B. radio taken
by David My
A citizen's band radio valued at about $40 was taken out of room 308 in the Waters Building. The radio, which was valued at about $40, was taken out of room 308 in the Waters Building.

In summary:

The resident, said that he was in the staircase...and the remainder of the money...
Students for Marist

It started with rally...

By Pat Larkin

More than 400 cheering students took to the cold on March 24, 1977, to protest what they perceived as the administration's lack of respect for their concerns. The rally was organized by the newly formed Students for Marist, a group of 21 students and student leaders who had met to discuss the grievances about the administration and its policies. The group had come together after the failure of the previous student administration to address their concerns.

Students march in protest

By Cathy Ryan

Dr. Ralph Beren, philosophy professor, visited the campus on March 24, 1977, to discuss the recent student protest and to address the concerns of the students. Beren, who has a long history of involvement in the student movement, spoke about the importance of dialogue and the need for the administration to listen to the students' concerns.

Commuters agree

by Mike Teles battalion

The rally was organized by the University Students Union, which agreed to hear the demands of the students at Monday's rally.

Teachers give opinions on student rally

by Susan Brown and Rosa Nguyen

Dr. Eugene Best of the psychology department said that the administration was satisfied with the turnout and was glad to see that students were taking an active role in the decision-making process.

Benin comments

by Cathy Ryan

Dr. Ralph Beren, philosophy professor, visited the campus on March 24, 1977, to discuss the recent student protest and to address the concerns of the students. Beren, who has a long history of involvement in the student movement, spoke about the importance of dialogue and the need for the administration to listen to the students' concerns.

The problem is deeper than simply the administration. The students have been frustrated for a long time, and they are demanding a voice in the decision-making process.

The community here is immeasurable. The students are not just frustrated, but they are also angry. They feel that they have no say in the administration's decisions, and they want to be heard.

The administration must listen to the students, and it must act on their concerns. The students are not just asking for change, but they are demanding it. The administration must take their concerns seriously and work to address them.
Letters to the Editor

Another view

The Editors:

I regret that the editors of The Circle misrepresented the events at Marist, following (Feb. 17, 1977) that there is "no evidence to sustain the claim that administration officials have made any intentional policy changes to alter the image of Marist."

That's a bald story that is irresponsible and out of place. The active recruitment of minorities at Marist is against the educational mission of the college. The affirmative action policy must be in place. Nothing can be done to alter the image of Marist. It is a policy that is not in the best interest of the student and the college at Marist.

The active recruitment of minorities is contrary to the educational mission of the college. The affirmative action policy must be maintained. Therefore, the administration officials have made no intentional policy changes to alter the image of Marist.

Sincerely,

[Name]

Bad manners

To the Editor:

This past (Feb. 17) we had to put up with the most obnoxious behavior possible. C.U.B. sponsored a series of oldie films (Beverly Hillbillies, Abbott and Costello, etc.) in the Fireside lounge from 9-12, and we found that the behavior was indicative of the students at Marist, because they spooked in their own hands, yet they spooked for investigation by the faculty and the community.

The film was a failure, and the students should be reported to the community. The film was a failure, and the students should be reported to the faculty. The film was a failure, and the students should be reported to the administration.

Sincerely,

[Name]

Priorities

Dear Editor:

I am writing this to the students at Marist College, and I am requesting the students at Marist College to respect the community. I am writing this to the students at Marist College, and I am requesting the students at Marist College to respect the community. I am writing this to the students at Marist College, and I am requesting the students at Marist College to respect the community.

Sincerely,

[Name]

Drinking again

To the Editor:

After the meeting on Saturday, January 31, 1977, the Marist College administration ordered a series of new alcohol policies. The students at Marist College were asked to respect the community by stopping the drinking. The students at Marist College were asked to respect the community by stopping the drinking. The students at Marist College were asked to respect the community by stopping the drinking.

Sincerely,

[Name]

Notes & Gadgets

Knock, Knock

Who's there?

Kenny Rankin

Kenny Rankin

Kenny Rankin

The album is nice simply stated, the album is nice simply stated, the album is nice simply stated, the album is nice simply stated, the album is nice simply stated.

Sincerely,

[Name]
Cagers conclude Sat.

by Tom McTernan

In beating Trenton State 74-61 Monday night, the varsity basketball team did two things they usually don’t: they won on the road and they maintained a comeback drive until they had the game safe in their victory column.

All three Marist teams this past week were on the road, and each in one the Red Foxes found themselves trying to overcome a halftime deficit. Before they finally beat Trenton to snap their four-game losing streak, they saw rallies fizzle out in losses to Siena (69-59) and Southampton (105-85).

“We have been unable to maintain our intensity and a level of consistency over an entire game,” said coach Ron Petro.

“Once we got back in the game, we were able to get a few shots stopped and commit some turnovers and then it’ll be all over.”

Walt Janeczek, playing his final game as the only senior on the squad, assured Marist’s second win in eleven road games by scoring 16 of his game-high 19 points in the second half.

Trenton had the nightl edge (30-29) in a close first half, but Janeczek scored nine seconds after halftime to get Marist ahead for the first time since it led 17-13 four minutes into the game. Seven minutes of back-and-forth action followed before Janeczek sparked a 13-8 run that gave the Red Foxes a commanding 48-46 advantage with 6:41 remaining. Janeczek got support from Steve Gale and Neil Lajeunesse, who had 12 points and eight rebounds.

Marist connected on 31 of 57 on the free throw line efforts in the second half to finish 54 of 60 (90 percent).

The Red Foxes shot even better at Southampton Saturday, hitting 44 of 62 (71 percent) of its shots.

The Colonnials, however, were simply in a holding pattern with a 25-28 (33 percent) in the second half to erase Marist comeback hopes.

Trenton was even-handed at halftime, the Red Foxes rebounded behind Berry and Walt Brickowski to grab a 36-33 lead that held until halftime. But Marist then led a bit and Southampton capitalized with a 12-2 burst to recapture the lead in the final minutes of the game. Replacing starters, the Colonials continued their hot shooting.

As a result the final score was their biggest lead of the game.

In beating Trenton players reached 30 points, led by Tony Lavin and Lajeunesse. Janeczek was the only one who got 20. Greg Giles poured in 22 points in the losing effort.

“Overall I think we played relatively well,” said early returnee from an injury Neil Lajeunesse, who had 12 points, 10 rebounds and three assists.

Marist continued to battle back in the second half. A 44-44 lead with seven minutes remaining was enough to set off a 13-4 run as the Colonnials starters allowed Concordia to temporarily close the gap.

Dena Knepp, Wanda Glenn and Robin Summerville all found out late in the game and the Red Fox offense faltered as a result. Glenn and Summerville each scored 25 points, and along with Wanda Glenn, they all took full-court press. Ann Goger also placed in double figures for Marist with 14.

Yesterday the women’s basketball team returned to the Bronx against Manhattan. The Red Foxes wrapped up their season with a rescheduled game against Manhattan (7 p.m.) in the Marist gym.

Heart will host the New England Regional playoffs on March 4-5. Hartwick has been selected to the East Regional to be held at Erie, Pa.

A wrestling clinic will be held in the gym next Tuesday and Thursday from 4-6 p.m. All those interested in learning about the sport are invited. The clinic will be conducted by Joe Sabatella, coach at Newburgh High School...Wrestling intramurals are scheduled for the following week.

It is difficult for me to pick a winner for tonight’s intramural basketball finals since I don’t know who the finalists are and what will happen. But just to show that I’m not copping out, I’ll pick “Salt and Pepper” and show up tonight myself.

WOMEN DROP DECISION TO CONCORDIA

by Tom McTernan

Losing games they shouldn’t is nothing new for the women’s basketball team. After 1975-76’s 57-54 loss to Concordia in the first round of the NCAA playoffs in the disappointing of all pre-game hopes, it was assumed that the Red Foxes’ loss was preventable the Red Foxes from fulfilling their role as Heavyweights.

According to coach Eileen Witt, the problem began shortly after the team arrived at 6 p.m. When Witt reached the court at 6:25 p.m. she was informed by the referees that a Marist was a half-hour late for practice. Back at the hotel it was decided to take a pre-game warm-up.

When the 1976-77 basketball season got under way in October, Witt figured that junior center Neil Lajeunesse was going to be a key player for the Foxes midway...through the previous season, would be the key to the team’s chances. As the season reaches its final game, Lajeunesse is averaging 18.2 points and 9.7 rebounds per game. And yet the Red Foxes are not informed the Clipper coach of a change in game plan.

The game had to be completed so the varsity men’s game could begin at 8 p.m.

Once the game got underway, Concordia dominated. Witt had a total of 66 fouls on the two teams. Only 17 fouled out, including three key Red Fox starters.

But it wasn’t the number of fouls alone that upset Witt. “The referees were inconsistent. They were calling the little things but nothing when people were sent flying by obvious fouls. A fight almost broke out because they were not the same control as both teams were upset.”

The Foxes killed a 13-9 lead on the unprepared Red Foxes. All that was cut to 2-4 in the second half on three straight baskets that resulted from their pressing defense.

Marist continued to battle back in the second half, but Concordia’s 44-44 lead with seven minutes remaining was enough to set off a 13-4 run as the Red Foxes offense faltered as a result. Glenn and Summerville each scored 25 points, and along with Wanda Glenn, they all took full-court press. Ann Goger also placed in double figures for Marist with 14.

Yesterday the women’s basketball team returned to the Bronx against Manhattan. The Red Foxes wrapped up their season with a rescheduled game against Manhattan (7 p.m.) in the Marist gym.

FEBRUARY 24, 1977

High On Sports

by Thomas McTernan

Lavin stayed in G.G. quarterfinals

Joey Lavin, a freshman from Yorkville, was eliminated from the New York City College Athletic League men’s basketball tournament last night. Lavin, who had won his three preliminary bouts in the 106-lb. novice division, showed up a step behind and lost his titles hopes when the referee stopped the fight near the end of the first round.

Described in Saturday’s New York Post as “an impressive amateur middleweight”, Lavin deserves our congratulations for his fine showing in the showcase of amateur boxing.

BERRY NAMED ATHLETE OF WEEK

Glyn Berry, a junior from Brooklyn, N.Y., has been named Marist College Athlete of the Week for the week ending February 19.

Berry, a guard on the varsity basketball team, scored 14-14 for 30 points in his 105-60 loss at Southampton on Saturday. He also had 19 points in the 94-89 loss at Siena last Tuesday.

INTRAMURAL ROUNDUP

The finals of the five-man basketball playoffs will be held in the gym tonight at 8:30 p.m., preceded by a triple-elimination consolation game at 5:30 p.m.

The semifinals were played last night with the winners advancing to tonight’s championship game. The “No Mads” and the “Rednecks” were tied for first place after the regular season and both received byes into the semifinals.

Facing the “No Mads” in one semifinal last night were the “Brookeys”, who knocked out “Ace Heads” (8-0-7) in Tuesday’s opening game round. Pat Larkin led the way with 38 points while Dick Feishein added 12. Jim Blackest led the losers with 14.

“Salt and Pepper” advanced to challenge the “Rednecks” in the other semifinal by virtue of a 75-72 win over the “Bullets”. Vieche Crump was the big scorer with 38 points followed by Jack Grennan with Greg Giles poured in 22 points in the losing effort.

COED VOLLEYBALL

Will begin in the gym next Wednesday. Two ten team have filed rosters and schedules will be available shortly.

NOTES FROM THE SPORTS DESK

Poor road conditions due to the heavy snowfall Saturday prevented the Marist indoor track team from competing at the RPI Invitational.

Two members of the team, Jim Nystrom and Steve Delesticius, traveled Saturday and did compete in their meet. The Red Fox team is scheduled to race in the CTC Indoor Championships at Princeton University Saturday.

Several Marist opponents this season are ranked among the top ten in the latest NCAA rankings. In Division II, Sacred Heart (29-1) is second and Hartford (20-4) is ninth, and for Connecticut College. The Red Foxes are tied for first place in the regular season and both received byes into the semifinals.

THIS WEEK IN MARIST SPORTS (Feb. 26-March 2):

Thursday, Feb. 26 - Basketball: at C.W. Post; varsity - 8 p.m., junior varsity - 6 p.m.

Sunday, March 27 - Track: CTC Indoor Championships - at Princeton University.

Monday, Feb. 28 - Women’s Basketball: Pace - at Marist gym - 7 p.m.

DANCERS, SINGERS and MUSICIANS

West Side Story

Auditions: March 1 - Westend; 3.5 p.m.
March 3-3 Thurs.; 3.5 p.m.
March 4-Fri.; 2:30 p.m.
Marist Theatre

Pippin

MUSICAL REVIEW

of BROADWAY HITS

South Pacific

Auditions: March 6-7 - Westend; 3-5 p.m.
March 2-Thurs.; 3.5 p.m.
Marist Theatre

Hello Dolly

Auditions: March 1 - Westend; 3-5 p.m.
Marist Theatre

Camelot

Score of other BROADWAY HITS

West Side Story

Guys & Dolls

Marist Theatre Guild

Pippin

Presentation

“MUSICAL REVIEW”

of BROADWAY HITS

CONTACT Marist College Theatre

Elaine Brusoe 981-6519

and