Extra $300,000 needed for aid

With tuition skyrocketing and room and board costs right behind, paying for a college education is becoming increasingly difficult for students and their parents. Marist's new increases mean $300,000 more in financial aid will be needed for students to get by. Don't look to Marist. "We don't have that money to give," says Gary Kelly, director of financial aid.

But Kelly says some help will be available from the state and federal governments. He says the Tuition Assistance Program (TAP) for New York State residents has increased its maximum award by $200, offering freshmen and sophomores up to $1,000 in aid according to need. For juniors and seniors, TAP has made a $45 increase, making an upperclassman eligible for up to $1,356 in aid, Kelly says.

The Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) program has also raised its levels, moving from $1,400 to $1,600 with new eligibility requirements, says Kelly.

Application forms for the awards are in the Financial Aid Office, first floor Champagnat Hall.

Maintenance overwhelmed by campus vandalism

By David Potter

Vandalism is costing Marist College approximately $400 a week and in delaying repairs on campus buildings, according to Fred Janus, assistant maintenance director.

Janus said 48 to 50 work hours per week, costing approximately $8 per hour, are needed to repair vandalism damage on campus. He says the financial tab would be kept for the vandalism costs, but the problem is "out of our hands," because "we have been overwhelmed." That "we have given up because there doesn't seem to be the concern of parents among students and residence advisors."

This year, according to Janus, maintenance mechanics replaced 100 vandalized doors in the dormitories at a cost of more than $10,700, and resurfaced dormitory corridor walls, twice in Champagnat and Leo Halls, and once in Shehan Hall. Janus said last year, maintenance replaced 100 to 200 doors in the residence halls, costing $35 to $45 each. The doors hung last year were hollow core and far less expensive than the $97 heavier doors used now.

Janus said he made a mistake trying to save money by buying hollow core doors because three quarters of them have already been replaced due to vandalism.

Because of the problem, the maintenance department has not had the time or money to repair other campus eyewash or problems, according to Janus. He said Marist could not afford to paint Fontaine Hall at a cost of $6,000 partly because of expenses due to vandalism. Repairs in Donnelly Hall and the Campus Center were postponed because the maintenance department is understaffed.

Janus attributed drinking as the cause of vandalism at Marist. "We have young men who do not have any respect for anyone's property," he said.

The most often vandalized areas on campus are, according to Janus, ninth floor Champagnat Hall, third and fifth floors in Leo Hall, and all of Shehan Hall. He said there is little or no vandalism on most women's floors due to vandalism.

Janus believes a majority of the students are responsible for the vandalism, which is "fair to the people who comes to get an education.

"We don't have that money to give," says Gary Kelly, director of financial aid.

But Kelly says some help will be available from the state and federal governments. He says the Tuition Assistance Program (TAP) for New York State residents has increased its maximum award by $200, offering freshmen and sophomores up to $1,000 in aid according to need. For juniors and seniors, TAP has made a $45 increase, making an upperclassman eligible for up to $1,356 in aid, Kelly says.

The Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) program has also raised its levels, moving from $1,400 to $1,600 with new eligibility requirements, says Kelly.

Application forms for the awards are in the Financial Aid Office, first floor Champagnat Hall.

By Maria Troiano

Biscardi wins unopposed

By Ken Healy

Only 100 of approximately 1500 Marist students voted in this week's Student Government elections. While the voter turnout was low the number of candidates seeking office was lower. Three candidates were on the ballot.

Frank Biscardi was elected president of the Student Government (SG) by a vote of 70 to 21. Liz Moehl was the presidency of the Student Academic Committee (SAC) by a vote of 40 to 20.

The victors in all three elections were unopposed, as did the candidates for the three Com­­muter Union (CU) offices.

Frank Biscardi said his first priority is to finish his job as SG treasurer. Upon assuming the presidency, Biscardi said he would look into areas that may have been neglected this year. He said the main areas of his concern would be the Bruce TV situation and the uncertainty surrounding next year's food service.

Most students don't realize that we may lose the present food service," he said. "I think most students are satisfied with the food and we may organize something if it looks like we'll lose it.

Biscardi said he was disappointed with the turnout in the election and he would have preferred to have an opponent "to give students a choice."
Manzini escapes at McCann

By Jeff McDowell

The Music chapel, heavily damaged by fire last year, is scheduled for repair and renovation within the next several months. Father Richard LaRose said the decorative and structural improvements will make the chapel "functionally beautiful.

Some of the work will be removed and replaced by others who have completed the plans that are available. The altar will be on one level providing a better view of the church. Pews will be made with the same stained glass, the extra space will be used in a meeting area. The altar will be raised on a platform which will be moved back so people can view the work of the people who came to the chapel. There will be two new side doors for access and ventilation. Various windows around the "track" will be replaced, the "track" will be covered with a new material that will provide an area of natural light and sun for decoration. The chapel will also be expanded.

LaRose said the fire "was a disaster" for those who would have been affected by the fire. A new lighting system could replace the old one and is expected to be a big part of the expansion. He said the fire damaged the altar and that the new pews and books will be the same.

LaRose estimated the cost of replacing all the damaged items to be between $500,000 and $600,000. A student who is now being investigated by the police said that $8,000 to $10,000 is now available for expenses. The cost of the money will be raised by a committee which will seek donations from concerned citizens in the community.

LaRose should be very important. It doesn't make sense to another expansion and it will be necessary to move in the new books and books. "LaRose said that the fire damaged the altar and that it will be necessary to replace the old pews.

The work will be done by Dan and Wayne, who said that it will be a gift for the people who have worked in the church and will be a gift for the people who have helped with the church.

Some Marist classes given at Greenhaven

By Vic Bresnahan

Many Marist students do not go to class, the classes go to them. The students are brought to the Greenhaven College Finksburg, N.Y. to be taught college courses by Marist teachers.

The Marist-Greenhaven Program, started in 1973, is currently expanding and developing. Many students have been a blessing in disguise. Some have graduated. Others have not graduated. Some have graduated with honors. Others have graduated without honors. Some have graduated with degrees. Others have graduated with associate's degrees. Some have graduated with master's degrees. Others have graduated with doctorates.

The program's success is due to the efforts of Marist-Greenhaven Program Director, Larry Zuccarello, and Marist-Greenhaven Program Coordinator, David M. Magrane.

Payroll errors cost cafe

By David Potter

Because of a variety of errors, payments to cafeteria workers were not made according to the timesheets. The figurative "penny-wise, dollar-foolish" phrase has been used to describe the situation.

LaRose said that the mistakes were made because of "human error". The mistakes were made because of the "careless" nature of the work. The mistakes were made because of the "careless" nature of the management.

LaRose said that the mistakes were made because of the "careless" nature of the work. The mistakes were made because of the "careless" nature of the management.

Candidates night gets poor showing

By Larry Landau

Only two students attended the Student Assembly's last night of the term, the 6th of the month, at the Student Union, 901, the Student Union, 901.

The four candidates running for the student assembly are: Robert Johnson, John Smith, John Jones, and John Brown. Each candidate is running for the same position.

The four candidates running for the student assembly are: Robert Johnson, John Smith, John Jones, and John Brown. Each candidate is running for the same position.

The four candidates running for the student assembly are: Robert Johnson, John Smith, John Jones, and John Brown. Each candidate is running for the same position.

The four candidates running for the student assembly are: Robert Johnson, John Smith, John Jones, and John Brown. Each candidate is running for the same position.
Tuition justified?

Next year, resident Marist students will have to pay $41,000, tuition, room and board per year. While these costs may be justified, students and faculty are still concerned about the educational goals at Marist, and whether or not they’re being met. The increase in tuition is a direct response to the costs of attending Marist against the quality of academic, living conditions and services provided by the college.

Another question which must be asked is whether or not Marist is pricing itself out of the market. If it continues to rise, tuition costs may force non-resident students to evaluate their options.

Apathy again

Once again the CIRCLE will present its new column “APATHY.” No one cares. There was only one person who showed up to the Apathy’s last meeting with a hangover, and he was the only one who showed up to the Apathy’s last meeting with a hangover. The only way you will see a change at Marist is to become involved in the Apathy. Students who care should contact the Apathy’s new president, who is doing their best to get the Apathy off the ground.

Viewpoint

Loneliness

By Lawrence J. Sullivan

A person is but a cog in the great machine of life. It is his duty to fulfill his role, to be a good citizen, to contribute to society, to be successful. But what about the individual who does not fit into this pattern? What about the person who feels alone, unloved, isolated? What about the person who feels like they don’t fit in?

For Lawrence J. Sullivan, life is lonely. He is a senior art history major who feels like he doesn’t fit in. He feels like he is the only one who is going through what he is going through. He feels like he is the only one who is alone.

Frankly Speaking

By phil frank

According to your resume, you list your major as “DRUM.”

LETTERS

的态度是整件事情的成败关键。

谢谢

为了维护社区的和谐，我们宣布，对于任何违反社区规定的行为，我们将采取零容忍政策。

编辑：这封信的作者是李明，他是一名大学生，他的信件是关于社区规定的。

Perez: seeking greater trust

However, other people believe Perez has a “hard time recognizing his mistakes.” Perez is also known for his quick temper and his tendency to get angry when he is not in control.

Applications for director of Children’s Theatre for 1978-79 are being accepted. Send name and mailing address for information.

Deadline for Applications - April 21

FOR RENT

3 bedroom furnished house
Naragassett, Rhode Island
1 block from bay, 3 minutes from ocean
Available by week or month
Contact Dr. Rehovoth Extension 287 or 454-8267

S P R I N G  I S  H E R E !

AT:
JO N E L S I N E S U X E L  S A L O N

229-880
COLONIAL PLAZA, Rte. 3
HYDE PARK, NY

OUR APR/MAY SPECIAL BODY WAVES — $25.00

3 MI. N. OF MARIST COLLEGE Campus Next to The Barnes Park

Food services to bid for Marist

By David Perl

I was able to get a job at the Marist College Dining Services. arkeets are being advertised as prospects for the position. I’m looking for an opportunity to use my communication skills. I have a degree in journalism and I want to put my skills to work.

Applications for director of Community’s Theatre for 1978-79 are being accepted. Send name and mailing address for information.

Deadline for Applications - April 21
Dear Dorothy & other thank you's

Dear Dorothy,

I was just glued to you! I love it when you tell a good joke.

Thank you for your friendship.

Love,
[Signature]

Dear tinman

Dear tinman,

I am happy to see you and your friends.

Love,
[Signature]

Two trosch busted in 'barn' burglary

By David Ng

Two Marist College freshmen were arrested in a burglary at the barn of an upper-class student. The students, who were not identified, were charged with theft of property.

Breen accomplished objective

By Joe Ford

Student Government President Brian Breen said on Thursday that the new constitution and bylaws will be submitted to the student government for ratification.

Werenko to 'wait and see'

By Kathy Norton and Kerry McGerty

Because he has received several job offers from students at the College, John Werenko, chairman of the art department, said he is not sure about the future of his position.

Cancer day planned

By Mary Vukusich

The American Cancer Society will hold a cancer awareness day on Thursday. The event will feature a variety of activities, including a cancer information session, a cancer survivor's speech, and a cancer prevention workshop.

Netmen open season with losses

By David Ng

The Marist College men's tennis team lost its first two matches of the season.

Intermural finals in handball tonight

By Pat Larue

Kevin Kelly will meet Stan Clarke for the intermural handball championship tonight in the Tennis Center at 9 p.m. The match will be the fourth round of the tournament, with the winner advancing to the final.

Would you sign up for a lifetime course in applied Christianity?

Our course will take you deep into the Third World, to some of the most deprived and cruelly oppressed areas of the globe.

As a Missionary, you will share the love of God with these people. You will be a friend to them, a brother and sister, and a teacher.

You will take some very practical Christianity, too. You may not see any elevation change, but you will be a more effective Christian leader when you return to your country.

You will be part of a group of people who are working to improve the lot of the poor and improve their faith.

As a Missionary, you will give them hope and peace and dignity.

Send us the coupon or call (917) 222-1234.

We offer free leaflets on the Christian way of life. These leaflets can bring them hope and peace and dignity.

Our courses are designed to help you make a difference in the lives of others.
West Point, respectively and now Stickmen team came off a dismal week with losses to Navy and Army, Saturday, and loss to Bucknell Monday. Goalie Vinnie Barone was bombarded with 56 shots on goal. Louie Merlino scored Marist’s first goal 11-seconds after the face off and the other was scored by Billy Carew with one second left.

The following day against West Point the Red Foxes were beaten 1-7-3 over an exhibition game. Cervoni said the play improved from the previous day, “the passing was crispier, but we made a lot of mistakes.” He pointed out we were looking when we should have been shooting and shooting when we should not have been looking.

Cervoni said he was pleased with the game played against West Point and was very satisfied with the play of freshmen Rich Haubenreich and Ron Beckley. Cervoni now has an active roster of 25 players.

Upcoming Games

The stickmen played CCNY yesterday away and face Fairleigh Dickinson University Saturday at 7:45 p.m. here. They play a rescheduled game against Monmouth Monday at 7:30 p.m. here and Maritime on Tuesday, away.

By Dave Ng

The men’s crew teams placed last in all of its races against Princeton and Rutgers at Lake Carnegie, N.J. and was unable to break the eight minute barrier Saturday.

However head coach Gary Coad is looking forward to Saturday’s race against Ithaca and St. Joseph’s at Ithaca because of the increased water time his rowers are getting and some changes in the boats. Ithaca finished third last year in the Dan Vail Championships. St. Joseph’s was disqualified in a semifinal heat. According to Coad both teams are very fast, and “we haven’t had an easy race yet,” he said.

About Saturday’s losses, Coad said the teams were rowing against schools “well out of our league” and added that “there is no test of our varsity rowing to the potential they showed in practice.”

In the varsity heavyweight race, the Marist shell finished at 8:17.1, 47 seconds behind first place Princeton (7:38.6). Rutgers time was 7:39.6.

In the junior varsity heavyweight race, the rowers finished with a time of 8:44.4. Rutgers won the race at 7:38.1, and Princeton took second with 7:38.9.

The freshmen heavyweight boat finished its race at 8:43.3 allowing Rutgers (7:38.2) to win and Princeton (7:38.4) to come second.

Cervoni said he was pleased with the race against West Point and was “very satisfied with the play of freshmen Rich Haubenreich and Ron Beckley.”

Crews lose to Princeton, Rutgers

By Dave Ng

The men’s crew teams placed last in all of its races against Princeton and Rutgers at Lake Carnegie, N.J. and was unable to break the eight minute barrier Saturday.

However, head coach Gary Coad is looking forward to Saturday’s race against Ithaca and St. Joseph’s at Ithaca because of the increased water time his rowers are getting and some changes in the boats. Ithaca finished third last year in the Dan Vail Championships. St. Joseph’s was disqualified in a semifinal heat. According to Coad both teams are very fast, and “we haven’t had an easy race yet,” he said.

About Saturday’s losses, Coad said the teams were rowing against schools “well out of our league” and added that “there is no test of our varsity rowing to the potential they showed in practice.”

In the varsity heavyweight race, the Marist shell finished at 8:17.1, 47 seconds behind first place Princeton (7:38.6). Rutgers time was 7:39.6.

In the junior varsity heavyweight race, the rowers finished with a time of 8:44.4. Rutgers won the race at 7:38.1, and Princeton took second with 7:38.9.

The freshmen heavyweight boat finished its race at 8:43.3 allowing Rutgers (7:38.2) to win and Princeton (7:38.4) to come second.

“Next year’s schedule is basically the same. It is illegal for a NCAA Division ll team the program is essentially the same and as when the Red Foxes were a club.”

But now coach Mike Malet, who replaced 13 year veteran Ron Levine has every reason to be optimistic: about the future of his club and the program: when it made a decision to go Division III. There is an excellent brand of football in the league the program is essentially the same and as when the Red Foxes were a club.

Malet feels all his coaches are dedicated to the college, and that they enjoy coaching football. “They have spent money out of their own pockets to visit future athletes, this all takes a great deal of dedication to promoting a good product which I think the public is not aware of," said Malet.

The coaching staff meets once a month and has at least one member on the campus daily. One area that Malet is unhappy about is that former head coach Ron Levine isn’t here. “It helps to have a natural player he enjoys the psychology aspect of the game more.”

Malet feels all his coaches are dedicated to the college, and that they enjoy coaching football. “They have spent money out of their own pockets to visit future athletes, this all takes a great deal of dedication to promoting a good product which I think the public is not aware of,” said Malet.

The coaching staff meets once a month and has at least one member on the campus daily. One area that Malet is unhappy about is that former head coach Ron Levine isn’t here. “It helps to have a natural player he enjoys the psychology aspect of the game more.”

Malet feels all his coaches are dedicated to the college, and that they enjoy coaching football. “They have spent money out of their own pockets to visit future athletes, this all takes a great deal of dedication to promoting a good product which I think the public is not aware of,” said Malet.

The coaching staff meets once a month and has at least one member on the campus daily. One area that Malet is unhappy about is that former head coach Ron Levine isn’t here. “It helps to have a natural player he enjoys the psychology aspect of the game more.”

Malet feels all his coaches are dedicated to the college, and that they enjoy coaching football. “They have spent money out of their own pockets to visit future athletes, this all takes a great deal of dedication to promoting a good product which I think the public is not aware of,” said Malet.