Champagnat residents shiver in cold showers

by Jennifer Grego

Four weeks ago Champagnat Hall began experiencing boiler problems that have resulted in a continuing, periodic absence of hot water in that building. However, Champagnat residents will not receive any communication regarding this problem until sometime this week.

Jack Shaugnessy, assistant director of the physical plant office, reported to Housing Director Geoff Seeger at the April 27 meeting of the Student Affairs Committee that repairs were being done on the two Champagnat boilers. At this time, Shaugnessy indicated that the boilers would have to be shut down for these repairs. "The rear tube sheet cracked," said Shaugnessy, "thereby requiring the need for immediate attention. Both boilers had to be shut down for repairs."

Seeger said, "Not being a boiler mechanic, this didn't indicate to me that there would be no hot water."

According to Seeger, he was not really aware that there was no hot water until some students came to him to discuss the problem. "Housing was completely oblivious to what has to happen," said Shaugnessy. "It's not my job to inform students."

According to Seeger, more communication is needed between maintenance and housing. "We do want to notify the students, but they will be systems right away," said Seeger. "I've charged Champagnat Resident Director Bob Kaminski with that task."

To avoid problems like this, Seeger would like communication arranged so that maintenance notifies the appropriate R.D. directly. "Then the R.D. can get the message to the students as it is originated," said Seeger.

"The boiler breakdown was an inconvenience with a building full of students," said Seeger. "We've tried to work around it and shut down for repairs at non-peak shower times."

The boilers can only produce a certain amount of hot water per hour. According to Shaugnessy, the Champagnat system is not always able to meet with the demand.

Shaugnessy indicated that there are factors that may have led to the breakdown. The system was built about 19 years ago, according to Shaugnessy, to accommodate a small number of students by comparison to the amount that now reside in the building. Shaugnessy indicated that the problem is augmented because much of the hot water produced is wasted when showers do not shut the showers off correctly.

Repairs are still being done by an outside contractor.

"Also involved to perform the function were an insurance underwriter and a licensed welder," said Shaugnessy. This complicates the process and has added to the delay in the completion of work.

"I hope we can have the boilers fixed by the end of the week," said Seeger.

Accreditation for Social Work major begins

by Fran McDermott

Marist College's most recent step in transition has been the procedure involving the anticipated accreditation of its Social Work programs.

This past week, according to Margaret Gold, director of social work, professional social work educators at Marist reviewing the administration, students, faculty, library facilities and Dutchess County agencies for an evaluation required for accrediting the social work curriculum.

The process began with self-study of the major, according to Gold. In June of 1981, the two-volume study was completed by faculty in the social work department.

Gold went on to further explain the process. The second stage is the site-visit evaluation. A report is made on the program and is sent back to Marist when completed. At this time Gold said, "Marist can respond and add on anything it feels is not always accurate."

The final step is when the report is sent to the National Commission on Accreditation Council on Social Work Education. The Commission makes the decision to approve or disapprove the program," said Gold. In October of this year a decision will be made. Gold says she has received "favorable approval and a positive feeling from the educators while they were reviewing the program."

"The educators were very impressed with the students that they interviewed," said Gold, adding that the field placement programs were also very impressive to the educators.

Gold said that accreditation of the program will be "extremely beneficial" to the students currently enrolled and future students majoring in social work. Gold cited the advantages of accreditation, saying, "It will give our program recognition and will eliminate a sense of second class status that comes from not meeting professional standards."

She listed the benefits that tie in with the advantages saying, "Graduates from these programs will be recognized as professionals. They will be able to join the professional organization for social workers, The National Association of Social Workers. Advanced standing for graduate school in Social Work is possible," says Gold. "Students with a degree from an accredited school will be eligible for jobs requiring state and federal social work degrees."

President of the Social Work Association Terri Tobin, a junior, said she is very happy that the accreditation process is in effect. Tobin says, "It's a good program, each student has high standards that must be met. The program is small and allows a tremendous amount of interaction with the faculty."

Junior Donna Butler, vice-president of the social work association, said that the accreditation will be a "positive factor" in the future when she goes to look for a job. Butler currently does field work at the Task Force for Child Protection at St. Francis Hospital. She says of her experience there, "It's very encouraging to have a chance to apply what I've learned at Marist through the Social Work program in assisting others."

The final step is when the report is sent to the National Commission on Accreditation Council on Social Work Education. The Commission makes the decision to approve or disapprove the program," said Gold. In October of this year a decision will be made. Gold says she has received "favorable approval and a positive feeling from the educators while they were reviewing the program."

"The educators were very impressed with the students that they interviewed," said Gold, adding that the field placement programs were also very impressive to the educators.

Gold said that accreditation of the program will be "extremely beneficial" to the students currently enrolled and future students majoring in social work. Gold cited the advantages of accreditation, saying, "It will give our program recognition and will eliminate a sense of second class status that comes from not meeting professional standards."

She listed the benefits that tie in with the advantages saying, "Graduates from these programs will be recognized as professionals. They will be able to join the professional organization for social workers, The National Association of Social Workers. Advanced standing for graduate school in Social Work is possible," says Gold. "Students with a degree from an accredited school will be eligible for jobs requiring state and federal social work degrees."
Spring has finally arrived bringing the warm weather and pleasant activities but took the time to help out with others who are lacking these feelings after the past year. A great many students enjoy this type of social activity but get bored after a while and a few students have complained that this is so much. If you want to help others who are bored, you should look for that opportunity. The Circle is always looking for students who are willing to help others who need attention. This edition of the Circle is also special. It is the last issue of the Circle for the year, as well as my last issue as editor. In preparing this issue, I gave a great deal of thought to what I wanted to say. The circle is a group of students who are interested in social and political issues and who want to share their ideas and opinions. I have tried to write in a way that is fair and open, and I have tried to present a wide variety of viewpoints. The circle is a group of students who are interested in social and political issues and who want to share their ideas and opinions. I have tried to write in a way that is fair and open, and I have tried to present a wide variety of viewpoints.

Reflections

So I'm finally going out into the real world to try and make a serious living for myself. College was fun, but it's all behind me now... wouldn't it be? I'll have to sell this! How could I have been so stupid?

More women and minorities needed among Marist faculty

Recently, when Dean Gerard Cox presented the annual editorial of the College Union Council of Student Leaders, there were a number of problems. He pointed out 1) the lack of incoherent, accepted form of representation, 2) the lack of standards for faculty members, and 3) the lack of leadership. This issue was also raised at the Advisory Council of Student Leaders meeting. According to the minutes, the students expressed great concern that in the future students will be represented by faculty members who are not trained to handle student concerns.

Concerning last week's Met Game I and Met Game II, students and staff were shocked to see a semester's work go down the drain. The events were marred by an unusually high number of problems for the sponsoring Committee of Students. The events were run without much substance since you can probably sit in your room complaining while the activities are going on. The Council of Student Leaders has been run without much substance because of the lack of help from a number of the students who have been involved in it. Due to the lack of help from a number of the students who have been involved in it, the Council of Student Leaders has not been able to function properly.

Tom Dolan, a sophomore finished in first place in the 5K run, which he beat all previous records for without much substance. The event was run without much substance because of the lack of help from a number of the students who have been involved in it. The event was run without much substance because of the lack of help from a number of the students who have been involved in it. The event was run without much substance because of the lack of help from a number of the students who have been involved in it.

In closing, I hope you realize that we are behind the times and that we need to change. We need to change for the betterment of the students. If you are interested in contributing to this change, please contact the Council of Student Leaders. They are always looking for new members.

Muzikowski looks back on year in office

Working as a year with the Learning Disabilities Program this year, Muzikowski has been involved with many students. With many students, Muzikowski has had to deal with a wide range of situations and attitudes from the people that he has worked with. The time in office gave him the opportunity to work with many students. Muzikowski took the time to help out with others who are lacking these feelings after the past year. A great many students enjoy this type of social activity but get bored after a while and a few students have complained that this is so much. If you want to help others who are bored, you should look for that opportunity. The Circle is always looking for students who are willing to help others who need attention.

More women and minorities needed among Marist faculty

Concerning last week's Met Game I and Met Game II, students and staff were shocked to see a semester's work go down the drain. The events were marred by an unusually high number of problems for the sponsoring Committee of Students. The events were run without much substance since you can probably sit in your room complaining while the activities are going on. The Council of Student Leaders has been run without much substance because of the lack of help from a number of the students who have been involved in it. Due to the lack of help from a number of the students who have been involved in it, the Council of Student Leaders has not been able to function properly.

In closing, I hope you realize that we are behind the times and that we need to change. We need to change for the betterment of the students. If you are interested in contributing to this change, please contact the Council of Student Leaders. They are always looking for new members.

Muzikowski looks back on year in office

Working as a year with the Learning Disabilities Program this year, Muzikowski has been involved with many students. With many students, Muzikowski has had to deal with a wide range of situations and attitudes from the people that he has worked with. The time in office gave him the opportunity to work with many students. Muzikowski took the time to help out with others who are lacking these feelings after the past year. A great many students enjoy this type of social activity but get bored after a while and a few students have complained that this is so much. If you want to help others who are bored, you should look for that opportunity. The Circle is always looking for students who are willing to help others who need attention.

Muzikowski looks back on year in office

Working as a year with the Learning Disabilities Program this year, Muzikowski has been involved with many students. With many students, Muzikowski has had to deal with a wide range of situations and attitudes from the people that he has worked with. The time in office gave him the opportunity to work with many students. Muzikowski took the time to help out with others who are lacking these feelings after the past year. A great many students enjoy this type of social activity but get bored after a while and a few students have complained that this is so much. If you want to help others who are bored, you should look for that opportunity. The Circle is always looking for students who are willing to help others who need attention.

Muzikowski looks back on year in office

Working as a year with the Learning Disabilities Program this year, Muzikowski has been involved with many students. With many students, Muzikowski has had to deal with a wide range of situations and attitudes from the people that he has worked with. The time in office gave him the opportunity to work with many students. Muzikowski took the time to help out with others who are lacking these feelings after the past year. A great many students enjoy this type of social activity but get bored after a while and a few students have complained that this is so much. If you want to help others who are bored, you should look for that opportunity. The Circle is always looking for students who are willing to help others who need attention.

Muzikowski looks back on year in office

Working as a year with the Learning Disabilities Program this year, Muzikowski has been involved with many students. With many students, Muzikowski has had to deal with a wide range of situations and attitudes from the people that he has worked with. The time in office gave him the opportunity to work with many students. Muzikowski took the time to help out with others who are lacking these feelings after the past year. A great many students enjoy this type of social activity but get bored after a while and a few students have complained that this is so much. If you want to help others who are bored, you should look for that opportunity. The Circle is always looking for students who are willing to help others who need attention.
Business interns face tough guidelines

by Barbara Mahar

The Division of Management Studies has announced tough new guidelines for Marist's internship program.

"Interns should be an extremely high achiever in order to propagate their good name in the business circle," said Kelly.

Kelly also pointed out that he tries to carefully select companies that interns will be sent to. "Many firms were uneasy about accepting interns, so we didn't even send them to some," he said.

The former guidelines for business interns differed from those of other schools in that a 3.0 is mandatory as opposed to a 3.5 in these programs.

A business intern must prepare for a job, locating the boss in a predetermined way, and he's supposed to meet the major projects and be prepared to study them later, said Kelly.

It is vital, he said, that the change in guidelines be carefully selected companies that interns will be sent to. "Many firms were uneasy about accepting interns, so we didn't even send them to some," he said.

The former guidelines for business interns differed from those of other schools in that a 3.0 is mandatory as opposed to a 3.5 in these programs.

In addition, an intern should be an extremely high achiever in order to propagate their good name in the business circle," said Kelly.

An intern should be an extremely high achiever in order to propagate their good name in the business circle," said Kelly.

"Kelly said that he tries to carefully select companies that interns will be sent to. "Many firms were uneasy about accepting interns, so we didn't even send them to some," he said.

The former guidelines for business interns differed from those of other schools in that a 3.0 is mandatory as opposed to a 3.5 in these programs.

In addition, an intern should be an extremely high achiever in order to propagate their good name in the business circle," said Kelly.

"Kelly said that he tries to carefully select companies that interns will be sent to. "Many firms were uneasy about accepting interns, so we didn't even send them to some," he said.

The former guidelines for business interns differed from those of other schools in that a 3.0 is mandatory as opposed to a 3.5 in these programs.

In addition, an intern should be an extremely high achiever in order to propagate their good name in the business circle," said Kelly.

"Kelly said that he tries to carefully select companies that interns will be sent to. "Many firms were uneasy about accepting interns, so we didn't even send them to some," he said.

The former guidelines for business interns differed from those of other schools in that a 3.0 is mandatory as opposed to a 3.5 in these programs.

In addition, an intern should be an extremely high achiever in order to propagate their good name in the business circle," said Kelly.

"Kelly said that he tries to carefully select companies that interns will be sent to. "Many firms were uneasy about accepting interns, so we didn't even send them to some," he said.

The former guidelines for business interns differed from those of other schools in that a 3.0 is mandatory as opposed to a 3.5 in these programs.

In addition, an intern should be an extremely high achiever in order to propagate their good name in the business circle," said Kelly.

"Kelly said that he tries to carefully select companies that interns will be sent to. "Many firms were uneasy about accepting interns, so we didn't even send them to some," he said.

The former guidelines for business interns differed from those of other schools in that a 3.0 is mandatory as opposed to a 3.5 in these programs.

In addition, an intern should be an extremely high achiever in order to propagate their good name in the business circle," said Kelly.

"Kelly said that he tries to carefully select companies that interns will be sent to. "Many firms were uneasy about accepting interns, so we didn't even send them to some," he said.

The former guidelines for business interns differed from those of other schools in that a 3.0 is mandatory as opposed to a 3.5 in these programs.

In addition, an intern should be an extremely high achiever in order to propagate their good name in the business circle," said Kelly.

"Kelly said that he tries to carefully select companies that interns will be sent to. "Many firms were uneasy about accepting interns, so we didn't even send them to some," he said.

The former guidelines for business interns differed from those of other schools in that a 3.0 is mandatory as opposed to a 3.5 in these programs.

In addition, an intern should be an extremely high achiever in order to propagate their good name in the business circle," said Kelly.

"Kelly said that he tries to carefully select companies that interns will be sent to. "Many firms were uneasy about accepting interns, so we didn't even send them to some," he said.

The former guidelines for business interns differed from those of other schools in that a 3.0 is mandatory as opposed to a 3.5 in these programs.

In addition, an intern should be an extremely high achiever in order to propagate their good name in the business circle," said Kelly.

"Kelly said that he tries to carefully select companies that interns will be sent to. "Many firms were uneasy about accepting interns, so we didn't even send them to some," he said.

The former guidelines for business interns differed from those of other schools in that a 3.0 is mandatory as opposed to a 3.5 in these programs.

In addition, an intern should be an extremely high achiever in order to propagate their good name in the business circle," said Kelly.

"Kelly said that he tries to carefully select companies that interns will be sent to. "Many firms were uneasy about accepting interns, so we didn't even send them to some," he said.

The former guidelines for business interns differed from those of other schools in that a 3.0 is mandatory as opposed to a 3.5 in these programs.

In addition, an intern should be an extremely high achiever in order to propagate their good name in the business circle," said Kelly.

"Kelly said that he tries to carefully select companies that interns will be sent to. "Many firms were uneasy about accepting interns, so we didn't even send them to some," he said.

The former guidelines for business interns differed from those of other schools in that a 3.0 is mandatory as opposed to a 3.5 in these programs.

In addition, an intern should be an extremely high achiever in order to propagate their good name in the business circle," said Kelly.
Inaccessibility hinders disabled Students at Marist

by Thomas Sullivan

You're on the second floor in Donnelly Hall and have a class on the first floor in five minutes. You push your wheelchair to the freight elevator, press and hold the buttons and hope the patron who was ahead of you doesn't make you hold the button longer than the 30 seconds it takes to get to the first floor.

If you do the above, you are one of the lucky disabled students at Marist. John Maga, a freshmen who just transferred from the second to the first floor in Donnelly Hall, "(The elevator is so condensed that the buttons are too high," he said. "I have to strain to reach the but­ tons."

Graduate student Emery Giovannoni, a quadriplegic, added, "The freight elevator is Donnelly's cruelest obstacle to his in­ dependence. "I have to have somebody comes with me to open the door," said Giovannoni.

According to students in wheelchairs, the Campus Center in Champagne Hall is also difficult to get to. Students in wheelchairs have two options when entering the center from the second floor; pushing the button and holding it until the door opens or using the freight elevator. If they choose to enter through the freight elevator, they must first push the heavy steel door back, slide the wheelchair into the elevator and hold the door. It is then they must find someone to unlock the door.

Paralyzing the student is the dust that covers the floor, which makes the wheelchair feel drooped with lead. I need someone to help me over the curb," Giovannoni said. "I've been fighting my wheelchair during this."

The freight elevator, according to Giovannoni, isn't absolutely necessary, I completely, wasn't absolutely necessary, I completely,

According to students in wheelchairs, the Campus Center in Champagne Hall is also difficult to get to. Students in wheelchairs have two options when entering the center from the second floor; pushing the button and holding it until the door opens or using the freight elevator. If they choose to enter through the freight elevator, they must first push the heavy steel door back, slide the wheelchair into the elevator and hold the door. It is then they must find someone to unlock the door.

Paralyzing the student is the dust that covers the floor, which makes the wheelchair feel drooped with lead. I need someone to help me over the curb," Giovannoni said. "I've been fighting my wheelchair during this."

The freight elevator, according to Giovannoni, isn't absolutely necessary, I completely wa
Summer workshop at Marist held for young children

by Joanna Gasparovic

"Duck, duck, goose," populate milk bottles as the children unpack their bags and arrange their sleeping areas in Acacia and Cypress halls. This is their first time away from home and the inevitable skinned knee or two. Time will be spent on crafts, activities, and exercise.

The program, which was established by the Marist College Summer Programs Office, aims to give children an opportunity to explore their creative side.

"I enjoy working with the kids on a one-to-one basis," said Theresa Bastien, a graduate student in education. Bastien is a volunteer at the camp and helps with a variety of activities.

The program includes various activities on the Marist campus. Paper-mache claymobs, painting, and nature walks are some of the activities that are offered.

"We are back to bring you two more additions to our menu," said Tom Varrillo, director of the Summer Session Office. "We have added new items to our menu and we are looking forward to welcoming you back.

One item that we are excited to offer this year is our new menu item, "Summer Sessions." This menu item will feature a variety of dishes, including a selection of salads, soups, and sandwiches.

"We are proud to offer this new item to our customers," said Varrillo. "We believe that it will be a great addition to our menu and we are looking forward to seeing how it is received by our customers.

The Summer Sessions will be available from 11:30 am to 1:00 pm on weekdays. We encourage you to come and try it out!

In addition to our new menu item, we are also excited to offer a special Summer Sessions promotion. For every order of $25 or more, we will offer a free beverage of your choice.

We hope that you will come and try our new menu item and take advantage of our special promotion. We look forward to seeing you!

Acadia WINE & LIQUOR

28 Academy St.
POCUPSE, NY, 12081
Tel. 452-9400

NUNZIO'S PIZZA

530 MAIN STREET
OPEN: 11:30 am-3:00 am Weekdays
11:30 am-4:00 am. Weekends
Fast Delivery

471-0223

Eat, Drink, and Be Merry
at
FOOLISH FOX PUB

MON.-THURS.
8:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m.
FRI. & SAT.
8:00 p.m. to 2:00 a.m.

NON-ALCOHOLIC DRINKS & FOOD 2 AM to 3 AM

WMCR would like to THANK YOU for helping us raise over $1,000 for the American Heart Association

Summer Sessions at Marist

Two Mini Sessions:
(dawn)
June 27-28
June 29-July 16

Seven-Week Evening Session:
June 7-July 23

By enrolling in Marist's Summer Sessions you can:
- Earn up to 9 credits
- Satisfy major and elective requirements
- Accelerate your program of study
- Satisfy prerequisite requirements for Fall courses
- Live off campus
- Make the most of your Summer

The Summer Schedule of classes is available in the Marist Continuing Education Office (Donnelly Hall Room 202). Registration begins March 29.

Matriculated Marist College students enrolled for at least 6 credits may apply for financial aid. Apply early!
More Letters

To the Editor:
I enjoyed the book by my favorite philosopher, "What Everyone Should Know About Philosophy," and I recommend it to anyone interested in the subject. Thank you for providing such an informative and thought-provoking read.

Sincerely,
[Signature]

Met Game III

To the Editor,

I am writing to address a recent incident that occurred during the Met Game III. On the third play of the game, a player from the opposing team made an illegal tackle, which caused an injury to one of our players. This action is not in line with the ethical principles that guide our team, and I urge all players to avoid such behavior in the future.

Sincerely,
[Signature]

Classifieds

Women

Seeking: Boston area student with easy access to phone or send.
For: help learning French.

Men

Wanted: Experienced, healthy people 18-25 for group activities.

For: students interested in exploring various interests and developing new skills. Meetings will be held weekly at a convenient location.

Rent

2 bedroom/2 bath, $500 per month, near campus. Call Mr. Smith at 234-5678.

C.U.R. - Miss you next year but we'll see ya at the house. Get embarassed much? More...

Carol

Bike Stolen: 12 speed, black fuji royal. If found contact Boonie S-307.

Monica -

Can I borrow your curling iron? You're the best RA!

IT

Manage a' tois can be confusing but never dull. FACE

Lorena A. Kennedy

Men's varsity eight boat, who had won the President's Cup once you weeks ago, did not row a good race in Conn, and thus missed winning. "We'll win it next year," said Dave in consolation.

The women's varsity eight boat, who had won the President's Cup once you weeks ago, did not row a good race in Conn, and thus missed winning. "We'll win it next year," said Dave in consolation.

Roster for the Hudson Valley Women's Basketball Camp will be held at the center are announced. The camp will be held from 9-3, July 3-7, for girls ages 8-14. Over 50 will be offered.

Roster for the Hudson Valley Women's Basketball Camp will be held at the center are announced. The camp will be held from 9-3, July 3-7, for girls ages 8-14. Over 50 will be offered.

McCann to host first girl's basketball camp

MaryE. McCann, President of the Hudson Valley Women's Basketball Camp, announced that the camp will be held at the center in the Hudson Valley. The camp will be open to girls ages 8-14, and will offer instruction in all aspects of the game.

First girl's basketball camp will be held at the center in the Hudson Valley. The camp will be open to girls ages 8-14, and will offer instruction in all aspects of the game.

Roster for the Hudson Valley Women's Basketball Camp will be held at the center are announced. The camp will be held from 9-3, July 3-7, for girls ages 8-14. Over 50 will be offered.

Roster for the Hudson Valley Women's Basketball Camp will be held at the center are announced. The camp will be held from 9-3, July 3-7, for girls ages 8-14. Over 50 will be offered.

McCann to host first girl's basketball camp

MaryE. McCann, President of the Hudson Valley Women's Basketball Camp, announced that the camp will be held at the center in the Hudson Valley. The camp will be open to girls ages 8-14, and will offer instruction in all aspects of the game.

First girl's basketball camp will be held at the center in the Hudson Valley. The camp will be open to girls ages 8-14, and will offer instruction in all aspects of the game.
Lacrosse team ends conference play at 4-2

Loss to Dowling ends hope of Championship by Joe Parvi

The Marist lacrosse team lost the only chance it had to repeat as Knickerbocker Conference champions on Saturday, losing to Dowling 10-9 at Marist. A Marist victory would have assured at least a playoff for the conference title. Marist ended the 1982 season with an overall record of 9-7-1.

With the score tied 9-9, Dowling scored the winning goal with just about two and a half minutes left in the game. "They came up with the big plays when they needed it," said Marist coach Ted Peterson.

Marist, however, came up with some big plays of its own. Trailing 9-7, Marist defensive specialist Steve Boeckelstrand scored a crucial goal on a penalty shot. "I think that goal kind of gave us a little bit of hope," said John Petacchi, Marist goalie. "We had the momentum and I think we were able to put it together."

"Dowling talked about the big plays when they needed them," said Marist defender Steve Runyon. "I think we wanted to give them one last shot."

The score tied 9-7 and the third quarter ended with Dowling up 9-7. In the second half, Dowling once again took the only two-goal lead it had used to boast to my friends that I cleared the centerfield wall at Shea Stadium. What I didn't tell them was that Deer.

In the second half, Dowling once again took the only two-goal lead it had used to boast to my friends that I cleared the centerfield wall at Shea Stadium. What I didn't tell them was that Deer.

Marist battles for possession in recent loss against Dowling.

Hayes to Assist Women Foxes as Graduate in September by Deborah M. Valantine

For most Marist College seniors, once the long-awaited day of graduation arrives, it will mean the end of their stay and Marist and many of the beginning of their introduction into the working world.

Like her fellow classmates, Lois Ann Fitzblad will be graduating this month, but instead of leaving Marist she may be remaining as student assistant coach of the women's basketball team.

According to Sue Dee, head coach of the Marist College women's basketball team, Hayes will be returning as a graduate assistant coach next fall. "I started looking for a job in September if the position is approved."

"It will be great because of her leadership qualities." said Dee.

Hayes, a transfer from Orange County Community College, played for the Red Foxes for two years. During the '81-'82 season she contributed 241 points and 116 rebounds.

According to Hayes, Dee recruited her for the team after she graduated from Stonybrook College and was about to begin a job. Hayes explained that Dee recruited her one afternoon after a long conversation in a parking lot. "Instead of walking around parking lot, she has a degree," said Dee.

When asked what her favorite memory as a player was Hayes said, "Beating Seton Hall was the greatest victory of my life." "They beat us by 40 points last year," Hayes said.

What about the future of the Marist college women's basketball program? "At this point, it can only grow, they have to beat us now," said Hayes.

Mets Mania

In a city where the Yankees steal many of the headlines, being a Mets fan is looked down upon. Mike McCarthy is one diehard Mets fan and is not about to admit it.

"Being a Mets fan is like the age old story of routing for the little guy," said McCarthy. "Instead of walking around parking lots, she has the Yankees logo than you do for individual players."

In the beginning of every year the team change. There is no consistent "all star" player. All this is good because the Yankees logo than you do for individual players.

"My biggest puff and blow. I did, and I won't tell you how much I won, but I can say 'no' and they led me inside. I saw a table full of $20 dollar bills and about a dozen players. Krane said showed me a French hot dog but had the onion and mustard around. The players, it seemed, were betting whether I had the wind to get a sound out of it. Krane said told me not to blow a big puff and blow, I did, and falafel powder blew all over my head and face." said McCarthy.

"McCarthy's father's house in Floral Park, Long Island has a room that is overflowing with Mets memorabilia from the team's inception, from the World Championship and right up to the present day. McCarthy doesn't have as much memorabilia as his father, but his room is still covered with Mets posters and pennants to the point of being fanatical. He owns a Mets uniform and an authentic Mets jacket which he acquired from working on the ground crew the past two summers."

"McCarthy, his three uncles and the rest of the crew arrive at 2 p.m. for an 8 p.m. ballgame. They manicure, mow, rake and close-check game was over, the Marist team was unusually quiet.

"I'm disappointed for the seniors," Petacchi said later, "But we gave 100% and I feel bad about it. Dowling came to play."

"Girls don't have that many sports to choose from," said Colagrossi. "Crew was the only sport to play here in the spring and I wanted something to do.

With the score tied 9-9, Dowling scored the winning goal with just about two and a half minutes left in the game. "They came up with the big plays when they needed it," said Marist coach Ted Peterson.

Marist, however, came up with some big plays of its own. Trailing 9-7, Marist defensive specialist Steve Boeckelstrand scored a crucial goal on a penalty shot. "I think that goal kind of gave us a little bit of hope," said John Petacchi, Marist goalie. "We had the momentum and I think we were able to put it together."

"Dowling talked about the big plays when they needed them," said Marist defender Steve Runyon. "I think we wanted to give them one last shot."

"Marist ended the 1982 season with an overall record of 9-7-1," said Marist coach Ted Peterson. "Marist battles for possession in recent loss against Dowling."