Marist awarded $4 million by U.S. government

Marist College has been awarded a four million dollar Title III grant by the U.S. Department of Education, according to Dennis J. Murray, Marist College president. The grant is one of the largest ever awarded to Marist and is the third Title III grant that Marist has received in the five years since the program was introduced.

Mr. Murray said that the grant will support activities over the next five years, including approximately 30 new computer terminals, said Murray.

Murray also said that studies will be done in the community to determine the feasibility of adding new bachelor degree programs in health-related fields, such as nursing and physical therapy. Murray said he would like to see Marist become a major center for medical education as well as computer science instruction.

An additional 30 full-time faculty and staff members will be hired to implement these programs, according to Murray. Murray said that there will be some further increase in student enrollment, but "nothing to change the small-college nature of Marist."

According to John L. Labey, vice president for college advancement, the grant application for $6 million was submitted to the U.S. Department of Education last February.

Title III grants were awarded to institutions with quality programs and who were financially stable, according to U.S. Department of Education officials. This is the third Title III grant that Marist has received.

Employment shortage hursst frosh

by Bernadette Grey

Many students will not be using their employment allocations this semester due to the lack of on-campus work, according to Marist's Placement Coordinator Ray Wells.

"We will do what we can to get them involved," he said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

All Marist students looking for work are referred by Wells to Marge Palmer, the job locator. Mrs. Palmer, who began her job in the Career Development and Placement Office just last week, still has many jobs available.

"There are plenty of jobs in the area," she said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

Many students will not be using their employment allocations this semester due to the lack of on-campus work, according to Marist's Placement Coordinator Ray Wells.

"We will do what we can to get them involved," he said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

All Marist students looking for work are referred by Wells to Marge Palmer, the job locator. Mrs. Palmer, who began her job in the Career Development and Placement Office just last week, still has many jobs available.

"There are plenty of jobs in the area," she said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

Many students will not be using their employment allocations this semester due to the lack of on-campus work, according to Marist's Placement Coordinator Ray Wells.

"We will do what we can to get them involved," he said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

All Marist students looking for work are referred by Wells to Marge Palmer, the job locator. Mrs. Palmer, who began her job in the Career Development and Placement Office just last week, still has many jobs available.

"There are plenty of jobs in the area," she said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

Many students will not be using their employment allocations this semester due to the lack of on-campus work, according to Marist's Placement Coordinator Ray Wells.

"We will do what we can to get them involved," he said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

All Marist students looking for work are referred by Wells to Marge Palmer, the job locator. Mrs. Palmer, who began her job in the Career Development and Placement Office just last week, still has many jobs available.

"There are plenty of jobs in the area," she said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

Many students will not be using their employment allocations this semester due to the lack of on-campus work, according to Marist's Placement Coordinator Ray Wells.

"We will do what we can to get them involved," he said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

All Marist students looking for work are referred by Wells to Marge Palmer, the job locator. Mrs. Palmer, who began her job in the Career Development and Placement Office just last week, still has many jobs available.

"There are plenty of jobs in the area," she said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

Many students will not be using their employment allocations this semester due to the lack of on-campus work, according to Marist's Placement Coordinator Ray Wells.

"We will do what we can to get them involved," he said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

All Marist students looking for work are referred by Wells to Marge Palmer, the job locator. Mrs. Palmer, who began her job in the Career Development and Placement Office just last week, still has many jobs available.

"There are plenty of jobs in the area," she said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

Many students will not be using their employment allocations this semester due to the lack of on-campus work, according to Marist's Placement Coordinator Ray Wells.

"We will do what we can to get them involved," he said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

All Marist students looking for work are referred by Wells to Marge Palmer, the job locator. Mrs. Palmer, who began her job in the Career Development and Placement Office just last week, still has many jobs available.

"There are plenty of jobs in the area," she said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

Many students will not be using their employment allocations this semester due to the lack of on-campus work, according to Marist's Placement Coordinator Ray Wells.

"We will do what we can to get them involved," he said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

All Marist students looking for work are referred by Wells to Marge Palmer, the job locator. Mrs. Palmer, who began her job in the Career Development and Placement Office just last week, still has many jobs available.

"There are plenty of jobs in the area," she said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

Many students will not be using their employment allocations this semester due to the lack of on-campus work, according to Marist's Placement Coordinator Ray Wells.

"We will do what we can to get them involved," he said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

All Marist students looking for work are referred by Wells to Marge Palmer, the job locator. Mrs. Palmer, who began her job in the Career Development and Placement Office just last week, still has many jobs available.

"There are plenty of jobs in the area," she said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

Many students will not be using their employment allocations this semester due to the lack of on-campus work, according to Marist's Placement Coordinator Ray Wells.

"We will do what we can to get them involved," he said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

All Marist students looking for work are referred by Wells to Marge Palmer, the job locator. Mrs. Palmer, who began her job in the Career Development and Placement Office just last week, still has many jobs available.

"There are plenty of jobs in the area," she said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

Many students will not be using their employment allocations this semester due to the lack of on-campus work, according to Marist's Placement Coordinator Ray Wells.

"We will do what we can to get them involved," he said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

All Marist students looking for work are referred by Wells to Marge Palmer, the job locator. Mrs. Palmer, who began her job in the Career Development and Placement Office just last week, still has many jobs available.

"There are plenty of jobs in the area," she said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

Many students will not be using their employment allocations this semester due to the lack of on-campus work, according to Marist's Placement Coordinator Ray Wells.

"We will do what we can to get them involved," he said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.

All Marist students looking for work are referred by Wells to Marge Palmer, the job locator. Mrs. Palmer, who began her job in the Career Development and Placement Office just last week, still has many jobs available.

"There are plenty of jobs in the area," she said and that there will be students with allocations that will not get jobs.
By Brian Kelly

The Marist College 1982 Fall freshmen class enrollment was the largest ever, according to college officials.

"It was a very good year," said William S. Picone, director of admissions. "We are pleased to report that the college has accepted almost 3000 students for the fall of 1982, approximately 2000 students at the incoming undergraduate level, and approximately 1000 graduate students. This figure includes college-level student and non-degree student status. Applications from Marist increased by about 10 percent over last year, and about 5 percent of the students who were accepted decided to come, which is an increase of 10 percent over most other years.

Lambert said he does not think the rise in enrollment will affect the freshman program now being used.

The college has four residence halls. The dormitories are closed, but in the classrooms and in the laboratories, all classes are open for enrollment.

But who are all these people?

"We welcome over 600 freshmen to the

By Carol Lane

This year the Learning Center will have many academic review sessions, expand its program of professional workshops, and students will pay for on-line programming.

The weekly academic review sessions, scheduled at the request of the instructor, will be conducted by tutors supervised by a professional.

The college staff will coordinate the weekly academic review sessions, expand its program of professional workshops, and students will pay for on-line programming.

The college also offers a program of student support services, which include academic advising, tutoring, and counseling.

In response to this issue, Marist has introduced new tutoring program.

Attention TAP holders

Dear Editor:

The Marist College 1982 Fall freshmen class enrollment was the largest ever, according to college officials.

"It was a very good year," said William S. Picone, director of admissions. "We are pleased to report that the college has accepted almost 3000 students for the fall of 1982, approximately 2000 students at the incoming undergraduate level, and approximately 1000 graduate students. This figure includes college-level student and non-degree student status. Applications from Marist increased by about 10 percent over last year, and about 5 percent of the students who were accepted decided to come, which is an increase of 10 percent over most other years.

Lambert said he does not think the rise in enrollment will affect the freshman program now being used.

The college has four residence halls. The dormitories are closed, but in the classrooms and in the laboratories, all classes are open for enrollment.

But who are all these people?

"We welcome over 600 freshmen to the..."
THE HUDSON VALLEY'S HOME FOR GREAT ENTERTAINMENT

IN THE 15 MONTHS WE'VE BEEN IN BUSINESS, THE CHANCE HAS PRESENTED MORE GREAT SHOWS THAN ANY CLUB IN THE COUNTRY. HERE IS THE RIGHT NIGHT IN YOUR BACKYARD!

OUR UPCOMING PERFORMERS INCLUDE:

- The B-52's
- Blue Oyster Cult
- David Bromberg
- Eric Burdon
- Robert Gordon
- Bob Dylan
- English Beat
- Tom Waits
- The Romantics
- Taj Mahal
- Steve Forbert
- Dr. John
- More artists to be announced

AND THE LEGEND CONTINUES TO GROW...

by Dorothy Davis

"Do you think that's weird?" "Come on, Cladine!" "Non si capisce."

Our first full day in Rome was found out for a walking tour of the city's main attractions. In the morning, we set out with our tour guide to make a full day of it, exploring a number of sites and enjoying the beautiful architecture and history of the city. The experience of being fully immersed in the culture was a unique and rewarding experience, as we were able to appreciate the beauty of the city's many landmarks.

The tour included stops at the Colosseum, the Roman Forum, and the Pantheon, among other famous sites. We were able to learn about the history and significance of each location, and were struck by the beauty and grandeur of the ancient structures.

In the afternoon, we took a break to enjoy a delicious meal at a local restaurant, where we were able to sample traditional Italian cuisine and drink some delicious wine. The food was amazing, and we were grateful for the opportunity to experience the local culture in this way.

Overall, our full day in Rome was a memorable and rewarding experience, and we look forward to exploring more of the city's attractions on our next visit.

The Marist Singers — To Europe on a song

The Marist Singers embarked on a tour of Europe, taking part in several concerts and performances. They performed at venues such as the Marist College Catholic Church, where they sang with other guests, and the Marist College Chapel, where they sang with other performers.

The tour also included stops at places such as the Vatican, where they sang with the Pope, and the St. Peter's Basilica, where they sang with other performers. The group also sang in various locations throughout Europe, including in the churches of St. Francis and St. Peter's Basilica, where they sang with other performers.

The tour was a testament to the fact that music and spirit can bring people together, and we are grateful for the opportunity to have been a part of it.

Our American friends could not believe how much better the music sounded. After a difficult journey, the American tour was a success, and the audience was very impressed. The group performed several concerts in different locations, and were able to share their love of music with a wide audience.

We are grateful for the opportunity to have been a part of this tour, and are looking forward to future opportunities to perform and share our love of music.
Oakwood School to show film on Hiroshima bombing

The atom bomb devastated the cites of Hiroshima and Nagasaki 37 years ago. Actual film footage of these cities immediately after the bombings is presented in the documentary "Hiroshima and Nagasaki: The Harvest of Nuclear War" to be shown at Oakwood School in Poughkeepsie on September 27 at 8:00 p.m.

Dr. Motoharu Kimura, a nuclear scientist who was sent by the Japanese government to Hiroshima and Nagasaki one week after the bombing and then one month later to survey the effects of radiation on the cities and their survivors, will present the film and answer questions.

While in Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Dr. Kimura collaborated with the Nippon Movie News Co. to take pictures of the disasters. The film was confiscated by the United States government and held for many years until a Japanese group raised the money to buy it back. It is the footage of these pictures that is shown in the film, along with interviews of survivors, which give the documentary its impact.

The film also features a full description of the after effects of radiation on the human body that have continued until today and the hope of a new tomorrow that once a nuclear weapon is used, modern medicine has no means to deal with the results.

"The Harvest of Nuclear War" was produced in March 1982 by the cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki to show that the tragedy of the past is more than ever a warning for the future. According to Takeshi Araki, the Mayor of Hiroshima, the film "is our wish that through this film the terrible experiences of Hiroshima and Nagasaki will be remembered for all time in the history of mankind. . . . The rest of this will be growth of spirit, for the abolition of nuclear weapons and the restoration of armaments."

Dr. Kimura, a retired professor of physics of Tohoku University, was a Fulbright Exchange Scholar at Cornell, and was consultant for the Intense Neutron Project at Argonne National Laboratory in Chicago. He continues research at the Laboratory of Nuclear Science which he founded in 1967 at Tohoku University, and travels and shows films for the Miyagi Prefecture Association to Appeal for the Abolition of Nuclear Weapons.

1982-83 CUB activities highlighted

by Ivan V. Naves

A Homecoming In October and a Mardi Gras in February, both sponsored by the College Union Board will highlight events at Marist College this year.

Bernadette Cosner, President of CUB, said the homecoming would be in conjunction with the Alumni weekend during the first half of the year. The second half brings the first Mardi Gras to Marist.

The Mardi Gras will have casino-type games in which participants can play for money. This money can be exchanged for prizes available during this special event.

Other events for the year include a "Beatles" Lecture, the CUB Intramural Softball Tournament, the Broadway play "Evita", as well as the familiar coffeehouses, club/organization presentations, mixers and movies.

This past week CUB sponsored the movie "Taps", a comedy/acrobatic act called "Locomotion IV audville", "the CUB Welcome Back Mixer".

--- LUNCH ---

The Pub is now open for lunch Monday thru Friday from 10:00-2:30

- Cold Sandwiches
- Hot Sandwich Platters
- Hot & Cold Heroes
- Soup & Salad Bar

BRANDY'S TWO

Thursday Night COLLEGE NIGHT
Free Admission with College ID.
FREEDRINKS 9-10:30

Friday and Saturday
Free Admission before 10 p.m. with Valid College I.D.

Sunday Night Party Night
Free Drinks for All
8 - 10 p.m.

Live Entertainment 6 Nites a Week

Dress Code Free Parking Proper I.D.

33 Academy Street Poughkeepsie 471-1133
MCDISt

Caputo's RESTAURANT & Pizza Take Out

11-12 Daily — 11 to 2 Weekends
Closed Mondays
Delivery starts at 5 p.m.

Delivery FREE with Purchase of $5.00 or More 473-2500

ONE FREE TOPPING with Large Pie Purchase

Caputo's — across the street from Marist
Expires 9/30/82

THE CUTTERY

13 new proffs join Marist faculty

by Meg Adamski

Thirty full-time instructors have been added to the payroll at Marist College this fall.
The growth of hiring new faculty is due to the resignation of some faculty members, the retirement of others, and the new faculty added to the Division of Science.

Instructors have been added in Communications, Computer Science, Environmental Science, Mathematics, Behavioral Law, Art, and Social Work.

According to all of the division chairs, there are no plans to add faculty.\n
The Humanities Division has added "Young Boys" and the title cut "Stand in Line."

805 sounds like a modern Genesis and, informatically, some of their songs have a similar pattern. Overall, on my scale of one to ten I would give 805 and David Porter (led by Paul) an 8.05. On the other hand, 805 sounds like a modern Genesis and, informatically, some of their songs have a similar pattern. Overall, on my scale of one to ten I would give 805 and David Porter (led by Paul) an 8.05. On the other hand, 805 sounds like a modern Genesis and, informatically, some of their songs have a similar pattern. Overall, on my scale of one to ten I would give 805 and David Porter (led by Paul) an 8.05. On the other hand, 805 sounds like a modern Genesis and, informatically, some of their songs have a similar pattern. Overall, on my scale of one to ten I would give 8.05 and David Porter (led by Paul) an 8.05. On the other hand, 805 sounds like a modern Genesis and, informatically, some of their songs have a similar pattern. Overall, on my scale of one to ten I would give 8.05 and David Porter (led by Paul) an 8.05. On the other hand, 805 sounds like a modern Genesis and, informatically, some of their songs have a similar pattern. Overall, on my scale of one to ten I would give 8.05 and David Porter (led by Paul) an 8.05. On the other hand, 805 sounds like a modern Genesis and, informatically, some of their songs have a similar pattern. Overall, on my scale of one to ten I would give 8.05 and David Porter (led by Paul) an 8.05. On the other hand, 805 sounds like a modern Genesis and, informatically, some of their songs have a similar pattern. Overall, on my scale of one to ten I would give 8.05 and David Porter (led by Paul) an 8.05. On the other hand, 805 sounds like a modern Genesis and, informatically, some of their songs have a similar pattern. Overall, on my scale of one to ten I would give 8.05 and David Porter (led by Paul) an 8.05. On the other hand, 805 sounds like a modern Genesis and, informatically, some of their songs have a similar pattern. Overall, on my scale of one to ten I would give 8.05 and David Porter (led by Paul) an 8.05. On the other hand, 805 sounds like a modern Genesis and, informatically, some of their songs have a similar pattern. Overall, on my scale of one to ten I would give 8.05 and David Porter (led by Paul) an 8.05. On the other hand, 805 sounds like a modern Genesis and, informatically, some of their songs have a similar pattern.

An excellent haircuttery. Now featuring CELLOPHANES, the new non-peroxide haircolor/conditioning system with unlimited color choices and excellent sheen.

Hours:
Tuesday through Saturday 10-6
Thursday 11-9

3 Liberty St., Main Mall, Poughkeepsie
454-9239
By Appointment Only

DRINKS-FOOD-MUSIC 11:00 a.m.-4:00 a.m.
SANDWICHES 11:00 a.m.-8:30 p.m.

Skinners Welcomes You Back
Rte. 9 Poughkeepsie
914-473-4725
Continued from page 2

Dear Editor:

Car club

Student Editor: There is a new club forming here this semester that is not your traditional organization. Based on college campuses across the country called the Auto Club. Marist. It is the same club that you might have felt the U.S. Auto Club here.

The Auto Club was chartered last month by the Council of Student Leaders. The purpose of this club is to promote the interest of antique or classic car enthusiasts at Marist. It is the first of its kind on campus as well as any other campus across the country.

Some of the activities that the club plans to sponsor and promote are: local car shows, car repair seminars at the monthly meetings, weekly car shows in the "Circ", and the possibility of sponsoring a car show to the public.

We currently have eight members in the Auto Club and some of them are the owners of cars such as a 1935 Studebaker, a 1957 Dodge Rebel, a 1957 Chevrolet Bel Air and a 1966 Mustang. You do not need an antique/classic car to belong. Anybody who is interested in antique and classic cars is welcome to join.

Our first meeting is on Thursday, September 9th at 9:15 in the Campus Center Room 248-A. Hope to see the car enthusiast of Marist there!!

Don Bresee

Circle meeting

Sunday — 7:00 p.m.
Rm. CC168

 Writers, photographers and salespersons needed.

Circle meeting

Sunday — 7:00 p.m.
Rm. CC168

Writers, photographers and salespersons needed.

LIFE ISN'T CHEAP.

TOUR GUIDES NEEDED

To show prospective students and their families the Marist campus. Tours will leave daily at:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Time</th>
<th>On the Hour</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>10:00</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12:00</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If you'd like to help out, please call Sue Grunenwald in the Admissions Office at ext. 227.

COMMUTERS: SAVE 20%

Check out meal ticket plan—good in Dining Hall Only

COMMUTERS & RESIDENTS: SAVE 10%

Check out coupon booklet. Good in Coffee Shop, Deli and Dining Hall

PURCHASE OF BOOKLETS MAY BE MADE IN Food Service Office

COMMUTER TEAM READY DEFEATS ENGLISH TEAM 2-0

by Andrea Hallock

The Marist College Soccer team had a date of confrontation with the English team. The game was held on September 9th.

Although the Red Foxes lost eight graduating seniors in May, they utilized the talent of the returning players to win against the English team.

The team is looking forward to the addition of Allen and the opportunity to compete in the Ivy League.

The coach is excited about John Cheetham who is expected to make a major contribution to the team. He feels that the team is well-balanced with the veterans and the new talent.

The team will play the first home game of the season against St. Francis on Saturday, September 9th at 1:30 p.m. They are looking forward to a successful season.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM LOOKS TO ITS FRESHMEN

by Matthew McNamara

The Marist College Cross Country team began its season with a team that features many returning players from the previous year.

Senior Mike McGuire and the seniors of this year’s team have high hopes for the season. McGuire has high expectations for himself, and he is expected to lead the team.

The coach is also excited about John Lovelace, a returning performer. His presence in the team will help to keep the team in good condition over the season.

The team is rebuilding with the addition of many new faces for the Foxes’ third year in competition.

The team is playing against several teams from around the country, including teams from England.

The team is looking forward to the opportunity to compete against some of the best teams in the country.

The team is scheduled to play against several teams from different countries, including teams from Colombia and Canada.

The team is practicing hard to prepare for the upcoming season. They are looking forward to a successful season.

Now comes Miller time.
Maliet ecstatic over gridders’ attitude change

by John Petechi

If you take a look at the 1982 Marist Red Fox football schedule, you will notice that it is the most difficult schedule ever undertaken by a Red Fox squad, according to head coach Mike Malet. The 15 returning players from last year’s squad fell woefully short of expectations, giving Marist a final 2-7 record. The question mark again this fall lies on offense, the Red Foxes.expect to replace Huber as punter and kicker. Homola allowed only 21 goals in 20 games last season, Tim Buchanan and their associate "The backfield, not the defense, that will have to prove every week," he says. "It’s really going to be a dogfight for the Metropolitan Conference championship," he added.

The hope for the soccer team is that it can duplicate its 12-6-2 record of last year, which was the best season in New York City and set a team record in New York College. He says that some parents push their kids too hard, not letting them relax for a minute. She says that parents have been very good to her, “supporting me in whatever I want.” She says they don’t push her because she is their only daughter.

What does this racquetball expert say about Marist courts? She says she does not enjoy playing on the Marist courts because the floor is spongy and the lights cast shadows all over the court. She says that the soft floors in the Marist courts are bad for players’ knees and ankles. She prefers the wooden floors like the ones at All-Sport.

Tammy’s success in racquetball proves that hard work pays off. Beginning in April, she will be commuting to a new direction — a 80,000 mile bike ride from coast to coast and back to raise funds for cystic fibrosis. "To me, this is more important than the racquetball story," she says.

The season of hope

by Louise Seiff

Racquetball is an enjoyable way to exercise. You can hit the ball with the short little racket and see it bounce all over the court as we attempt to agilely chase it. It has become her main interest, and as she says, "I’d like to see more racquetball players trying out for All-Sport."

Racquetball became such a big part of her life that it even influenced her choice of college. She says one of the main reasons the chose Marist was the fact that Jim Winterton, her present coach, was at the All-Sport club just across from the campus. Tammy says Winterton is "the best coach on the East Coast."

Winterton, her present coach, was at the college. She says one of the main reasons of playing racquetball was the opportunity, she’s been traveling on the U.S. Open and playing in a few tournaments a month that take her away for whole weekends. She says that this fall she is going to play as much on the East Coast as she can, which may prove to be tiring as she tries to juggle six classes.

Though she is a very positive one, Tammy hopes to bring some winning attitude to the team this fall. The defense was hit the hardest by the loss of over half the starting defense due to the loss of starting seniors, but according to Malet, "It’s really going to be a dogfight for the Metropolitan Conference championship," he added.

The hope for the soccer team is that it can duplicate its 12-6-2 record of last year, which was the best season in New York City and set a team record in New York College. He says that some parents push their kids too hard, not letting them relax for a minute. She says that parents have been very good to her, “supporting me in whatever I want.” She says they don’t push her because she is their only daughter.

What does this racquetball expert say about Marist courts? She says she does not enjoy playing on the Marist courts because the floor is spongy and the lights cast shadows all over the court. She says that the soft floors in the Marist courts are bad for players’ knees and ankles. She prefers the wooden floors like the ones at All-Sport.

Tammy’s success in racquetball proves that hard work pays off. Beginning in April, she will be commuting to a new direction — a 80,000 mile bike ride from coast to coast and back to raise funds for cystic fibrosis. “To me, this is more important than the racquetball story,” she says.