Rockwell's fined; liquor license challenged

by Gina Disanza

students, has been fined $600 for aims to save customers money received three tickets for excessive commissions will decide the ap­
Also, Joseph Runza, first­ man from the City of Poughkeepsie, has requested a with the Alcoholic Bev­
Besides the noise, disruptive behavior and ser­ that Rockwell's customers are
by Dave Rakowiecki

Rockwell's fined; liquor license challenged

by Gina Disanza

Volume 31, Number 8
Marist College, Poughkeepsie, N.Y.
November 14, 1985

Tony Dangelo, manager of the campus bookstore, tries out a new computer system designed to give the bookstore better access to used books. (Photo by Laurie Barraco.)

The bookstore's new computer aims to save customers money

by Dave Rakowiecki

Anthony Dangelo wants to be your friend.

To the average Marist College student that name may not mean anything, but to the average Marist student's checkbook, it may mean a lot.

Anthony Dangelo is the manager of the Marist College Bookstore, and has been at Marist since 1964, longer than most current Marist students have been alive.

In his twenty years as manager, he has turned the bookstore around from being $7,000 in the red to being $32,000 and $19,000 systems, un­
the computer in fact is

The bookstore's new computer aims to save customers money

by Dave Rakowiecki

Anthony Dangelo wants to be your friend.

To the average Marist College student that name may not mean anything, but to the average Marist student's checkbook, it may mean a lot.

Anthony Dangelo is the manager of the Marist College Bookstore, and has been at Marist since 1964, longer than most current Marist students have been alive.

In his twenty years as manager, he has turned the bookstore around from being $7,000 in the red to being $32,000 and $19,000 systems, un­
the computer in fact is

Tony Dangelo, manager of the campus bookstore, tries out a new computer system designed to give the bookstore better access to used books. (Photo by Laurie Barraco.)

The bookstore's new computer aims to save customers money

by Dave Rakowiecki

Anthony Dangelo wants to be your friend.

To the average Marist College student that name may not mean anything, but to the average Marist student's checkbook, it may mean a lot.

Anthony Dangelo is the manager of the Marist College Bookstore, and has been at Marist since 1964, longer than most current Marist students have been alive.

In his twenty years as manager, he has turned the bookstore around from being $7,000 in the red to being $32,000 and $19,000 systems, un­
the computer in fact is

Tony Dangelo, manager of the campus bookstore, tries out a new computer system designed to give the bookstore better access to used books. (Photo by Laurie Barraco.)

The bookstore's new computer aims to save customers money

by Dave Rakowiecki

Anthony Dangelo wants to be your friend.

To the average Marist College student that name may not mean anything, but to the average Marist student's checkbook, it may mean a lot.

Anthony Dangelo is the manager of the Marist College Bookstore, and has been at Marist since 1964, longer than most current Marist students have been alive.

In his twenty years as manager, he has turned the bookstore around from being $7,000 in the red to being $32,000 and $19,000 systems, un­
the computer in fact is Newman's career began in 1941 as a dispatch boy for the International News Service. He worked for the United Press in 1941, and then for the United Press until 1969. Newman's first major assignment was in the war zone, where he spent 18 months reporting from the front lines.

While working for the Associated Press, Newman covered a range of stories from around the world, including the Korean War, the Cold War, and the Vietnam War. He later became a foreign correspondent for the New York Times, where he covered a number of major events, including the Arab-Israeli conflict and the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

Newman was also decorated a Chevalier Legion of Honor in 1966, recognizing his work on a series of stories that exposed the activities of the National Security Agency. He was also a Pulitzer Prize winner for his reporting on the Watergate scandal.

Newman's career at the New York Times came to an end in 1976, when he was fired for aiding the Watergate investigation. Despite the controversy, Newman continued to work as a freelance journalist and author, publishing several books and articles on a variety of topics.

Newman was born in New York City on July 1, 1924, and died on August 9, 2008, in New York City.
To the editor:

Interrelation of judicial board and the student body is an issue that needs to be addressed. The judicial board, which is responsible for hearing student appeals, is often seen as an organization that is remote from the concerns of the student body. This is due to the nature of the judicial process, which is often seen as a formal and somewhat intimidating system. The judicial board, however, is an important part of the Marist College community, and its actions and decisions have a direct impact on the lives of students.

The judicial board is composed of students who are elected by their peers to serve on the board. These students are responsible for hearing appeals brought by students who feel that they have been treated unfairly by the college. The board members are trained to handle appeals in a fair and impartial manner, and they are bound by the principles of due process, which require that all students are treated equally and have the opportunity to present their case.

The judicial board is also responsible for enforcing the code of conduct at Marist College. This code includes rules on academic integrity, student conduct, and other areas of student life. The board members are responsible for ensuring that these rules are followed and that students who violate them are held accountable.

The judicial board is an important part of the Marist College community, and its actions and decisions have a direct impact on the lives of students. It is important that students understand the role of the judicial board and how it operates. This will help them to understand how the judicial board makes decisions and how they can appeal a decision if they feel that they have been treated unfairly.

To the editor:

One of the benefits of being on the Judicial Board is the opportunity to work with other students and to learn more about the legal system. The board members are responsible for listening to cases and deciding whether the student has been treated fairly. This involves listening to both sides of the argument, and then making a decision based on the evidence presented.

The judicial board is also responsible for setting the standards of conduct at Marist College. The board members are responsible for enforcing the code of conduct, and for ensuring that students are aware of the rules and regulations that govern their behavior.

The judicial board is an important part of the Marist College community, and its actions and decisions have a direct impact on the lives of students. It is important that students understand the role of the judicial board and how it operates. This will help them to understand how the judicial board makes decisions and how they can appeal a decision if they feel that they have been treated unfairly.
null
Student cleared in robbery

Charges have been dropped against the man who was arrested last month in connection with a holdup at the VougYikeepsie

The clerk later identified the man as Christine R. Nolan, 19, as the robber. He is still facing possible charges of robbery, grand larceny in the second degree and criminal possession of a weapon.

Negotiations go on for SCA, college

The courses were instituted as part of the college’s Special Academic Programs, said Nolan. "Marist's problem is symptomatic of the world and the facilities afforded don't care."

In a statement to students, the administration said: "We are deeply concerned with the plight of the poor and we are committed to the development of a world in which all people can live and have the opportunity to contribute to society."

The courses were instituted as part of the college's Special Academic Programs, said Nolan. "Marist's problem is symptomatic of the world and the facilities afforded don't care."

Within the last two years a non-profit organization has been trying to solve this problem, and is gathering input from the house families and clergy, including input from the house families and clergy.

The Hospice Team, comprising various professionals, works closely with patients and families to provide the highest quality of care for terminally ill patients. Hospice is one of the places where there is an ongoing need to educate nurses, social workers, chaplains, and others who work with those in the dying process.

November has been designated national Hospice Awareness Month. The purpose of the designation is to raise awareness about hospice care and to encourage people to learn more about it. Hospice care is an important aspect of the care that people need as they near the end of their lives.

It's going to be a really tough time for the families, the house families, and the community, said Nolan. "Marist's problem is symptomatic of the world and the facilities afforded don't care."

Within the last two years a non-profit organization that is dedicated to the development of a world in which all people can live and have the opportunity to contribute to society has been trying to solve this problem, and is gathering input from the house families and clergy, including input from the house families and clergy.

The Hospice Team, comprising various professionals, works closely with patients and families to provide the highest quality of care for terminally ill patients. Hospice is one of the places where there is an ongoing need to educate nurses, social workers, chaplains, and others who work with those in the dying process.

November has been designated national Hospice Awareness Month. The purpose of the designation is to raise awareness about hospice care and to encourage people to learn more about it. Hospice care is an important aspect of the care that people need as they near the end of their lives.

It's going to be a really tough time for the families, the house families, and the community, said Nolan. "Marist's problem is symptomatic of the world and the facilities afforded don't care.

Within the last two years a non-profit organization that is dedicated to the development of a world in which all people can live and have the opportunity to contribute to society has been trying to solve this problem, and is gathering input from the house families and clergy, including input from the house families and clergy.

The Hospice Team, comprising various professionals, works closely with patients and families to provide the highest quality of care for terminally ill patients. Hospice is one of the places where there is an ongoing need to educate nurses, social workers, chaplains, and others who work with those in the dying process.

November has been designated national Hospice Awareness Month. The purpose of the designation is to raise awareness about hospice care and to encourage people to learn more about it. Hospice care is an important aspect of the care that people need as they near the end of their lives.

It's going to be a really tough time for the families, the house families, and the community, said Nolan. "Marist's problem is symptomatic of the world and the facilities afforded don't care."

Within the last two years a non-profit organization that is dedicated to the development of a world in which all people can live and have the opportunity to contribute to society has been trying to solve this problem, and is gathering input from the house families and clergy, including input from the house families and clergy.

The Hospice Team, comprising various professionals, works closely with patients and families to provide the highest quality of care for terminally ill patients. Hospice is one of the places where there is an ongoing need to educate nurses, social workers, chaplains, and others who work with those in the dying process.

November has been designated national Hospice Awareness Month. The purpose of the designation is to raise awareness about hospice care and to encourage people to learn more about it. Hospice care is an important aspect of the care that people need as they near the end of their lives.

It's going to be a really tough time for the families, the house families, and the community, said Nolan. "Marist's problem is symptomatic of the world and the facilities afforded don't care."

Within the last two years a non-profit organization that is dedicated to the development of a world in which all people can live and have the opportunity to contribute to society has been trying to solve this problem, and is gathering input from the house families and clergy, including input from the house families and clergy.

The Hospice Team, comprising various professionals, works closely with patients and families to provide the highest quality of care for terminally ill patients. Hospice is one of the places where there is an ongoing need to educate nurses, social workers, chaplains, and others who work with those in the dying process.

November has been designated national Hospice Awareness Month. The purpose of the designation is to raise awareness about hospice care and to encourage people to learn more about it. Hospice care is an important aspect of the care that people need as they near the end of their lives.

It's going to be a really tough time for the families, the house families, and the community, said Nolan. "Marist's problem is symptomatic of the world and the facilities afforded don't care."

Within the last two years a non-profit organization that is dedicated to the development of a world in which all people can live and have the opportunity to contribute to society has been trying to solve this problem, and is gathering input from the house families and clergy, including input from the house families and clergy.

The Hospice Team, comprising various professionals, works closely with patients and families to provide the highest quality of care for terminally ill patients. Hospice is one of the places where there is an ongoing need to educate nurses, social workers, chaplains, and others who work with those in the dying process.

November has been designated national Hospice Awareness Month. The purpose of the designation is to raise awareness about hospice care and to encourage people to learn more about it. Hospice care is an important aspect of the care that people need as they near the end of their lives.

It's going to be a really tough time for the families, the house families, and the community, said Nolan. "Marist's problem is symptomatic of the world and the facilities afforded don't care."

Within the last two years a non-profit organization that is dedicated to the development of a world in which all people can live and have the opportunity to contribute to society has been trying to solve this problem, and is gathering input from the house families and clergy, including input from the house families and clergy.

The Hospice Team, comprising various professionals, works closely with patients and families to provide the highest quality of care for terminally ill patients. Hospice is one of the places where there is an ongoing need to educate nurses, social workers, chaplains, and others who work with those in the dying process.

November has been designated national Hospice Awareness Month. The purpose of the designation is to raise awareness about hospice care and to encourage people to learn more about it. Hospice care is an important aspect of the care that people need as they near the end of their lives.

It's going to be a really tough time for the families, the house families, and the community, said Nolan. "Marist's problem is symptomatic of the world and the facilities afforded don't care."

Within the last two years a non-profit organization that is dedicated to the development of a world in which all people can live and have the opportunity to contribute to society has been trying to solve this problem, and is gathering input from the house families and clergy, including input from the house families and clergy.

The Hospice Team, comprising various professionals, works closely with patients and families to provide the highest quality of care for terminally ill patients. Hospice is one of the places where there is an ongoing need to educate nurses, social workers, chaplains, and others who work with those in the dying process.

November has been designated national Hospice Awareness Month. The purpose of the designation is to raise awareness about hospice care and to encourage people to learn more about it. Hospice care is an important aspect of the care that people need as they near the end of their lives.

It's going to be a really tough time for the families, the house families, and the community, said Nolan. "Marist's problem is symptomatic of the world and the facilities afforded don't care.

Within the last two years a non-profit organization that is dedicated to the development of a world in which all people can live and have the opportunity to contribute to society has been trying to solve this problem, and is gathering input from the house families and clergy, including input from the house families and clergy.

The Hospice Team, comprising various professionals, works closely with patients and families to provide the highest quality of care for terminally ill patients. Hospice is one of the places where there is an ongoing need to educate nurses, social workers, chaplains, and others who work with those in the dying process.

November has been designated national Hospice Awareness Month. The purpose of the designation is to raise awareness about hospice care and to encourage people to learn more about it. Hospice care is an important aspect of the care that people need as they near the end of their lives.

It's going to be a really tough time for the families, the house families, and the community, said Nolan. "Marist's problem is symptomatic of the world and the facilities afforded don't care."

Within the last two years a non-profit organization that is dedicated to the development of a world in which all people can live and have the opportunity to contribute to society has been trying to solve this problem, and is gathering input from the house families and clergy, including input from the house families and clergy.

The Hospice Team, comprising various professionals, works closely with patients and families to provide the highest quality of care for terminally ill patients. Hospice is one of the places where there is an ongoing need to educate nurses, social workers, chaplains, and others who work with those in the dying process.

November has been designated national Hospice Awareness Month. The purpose of the designation is to raise awareness about hospice care and to encourage people to learn more about it. Hospice care is an important aspect of the care that people need as they near the end of their lives.
Giving a helping hand to battered women

By Sue Herman

There was a time when women fought off for the courage to talk. A time when it was difficult to discuss the difficulties of living. A time when the only way to really talk was to work with a group. A group that would never share the pain of the other.

That time is over. Now, women are talking about their problems and sharing their experiences with others. Women are helping each other.

But there is still a long way to go. Women are still being battered. Women are still being forced to stay in abusive relationships. Women are still being treated unfairly.

The issue of domestic violence is a real one. It affects millions of women every year. It is a problem that needs to be solved.

It is important to remember that not all women are batterers. Some women are victims of battering. Some women are survivors of battering. Some women are helping others.
Men's basketball team looks toward youth in second year under Coach Matt Furjanic

by Brian O'Connor

Last year's men's basketball team was relatively young and inexperienced. But now that an entire season has passed, the younger is younger and less experienced. With the graduation of team leaders and starters, Bruce Johnson, Steve Eggink and Ted Taylor, the Red Foxes are now only slightly more than half of the Red Foxes' .634 points per game, there are no seniors on this year's squad and only three juniors in Mark Shamy, Alain Forester and newcomer Ross McCann. But youth and inexperience led the Red Foxes to their first winning season in nine years with a 17-12 overall record and an ECAC Metro Conference regular season title with an 11-5 mark, it could very well do even more this year. Head Coach Matt Furjanic begins his second season at the helm sporting a .567 field goal percentage and a team high 75 blocked shots. Smits averaged 11.1 points and 5.6 rebounds per game, Davis, with the responsiveness of running the offense and handling the ball, ranked second in assists made (99), steals (65) and assists (123) for the entire season. He is the starting center for the team. The team leader in blocked shots, averaging 5.9 points and 2.6 rebounds per game, according to Torza. Torza, the bench will have a nice blend of experience and young talent. Leading the team in scoring, averaged 11.4.5 points and 6.7 points and 4.2 rebounds per game, and his abilities to match the leadership hole left by his classmates. The Foxes have lost three players, who all left for personal reasons. Ken Gallaway, Bob Francini and Reggie McNeil existed before practice really got underway.

Changes this year include a 45-second shot clock, which was made mandatory by the NCAA. This pressures the team into facing two opponents on the court—the other team and the clock. The new rules also call for 2-3 man to man defense tactics at the end of a game. Also the starting time of the Saturday home games is set at 2 p.m. This scheduling move will help increase the media coverage the Foxes would receive, according to Brian Collery, the director of athletics. Collety figures the games would be competed in plenty of time for the newspaper deadlines in November.

The men's schedule is tougher this season with NCAA Champion, Villanova, on Jan. 4 and the addition of Big East powerhouse, St. John's University on Dec. 11. Marist lost to Villanova in the second game last year by the score of 56-31.

The Red Foxes will play 11 home games at the McCann Center this season, with the opener on Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. against Suffolk University, new on the schedule this year.

The pre-season starts this Thursday evening with an exhibition match against Partizan Belgrade of Yugoslavia at 7:30 p.m.

The men's schedule is tougher this season with NCAA Champion, Villanova, on Jan. 4 and the addition of Big East powerhouse, St. John's University on Dec. 11. Marist lost to Villanova in the second game last year by the score of 56-31.

The Red Foxes will play 11 home games at the McCann Center this season, with the opener on Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. against Suffolk University, new on the schedule this year.

The pre-season starts this Thursday evening with an exhibition match against Partizan Belgrade of Yugoslavia at 7:30 p.m.

The men's schedule is tougher this season with NCAA Champion, Villanova, on Jan. 4 and the addition of Big East powerhouse, St. John's University on Dec. 11. Marist lost to Villanova in the second game last year by the score of 56-31.

The Red Foxes will play 11 home games at the McCann Center this season, with the opener on Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. against Suffolk University, new on the schedule this year.

The pre-season starts this Thursday evening with an exhibition match against Partizan Belgrade of Yugoslavia at 7:30 p.m.

The men's schedule is tougher this season with NCAA Champion, Villanova, on Jan. 4 and the addition of Big East powerhouse, St. John's University on Dec. 11. Marist lost to Villanova in the second game last year by the score of 56-31.

The Red Foxes will play 11 home games at the McCann Center this season, with the opener on Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. against Suffolk University, new on the schedule this year.

The pre-season starts this Thursday evening with an exhibition match against Partizan Belgrade of Yugoslavia at 7:30 p.m.

The men's schedule is tougher this season with NCAA Champion, Villanova, on Jan. 4 and the addition of Big East powerhouse, St. John's University on Dec. 11. Marist lost to Villanova in the second game last year by the score of 56-31.

The Red Foxes will play 11 home games at the McCann Center this season, with the opener on Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. against Suffolk University, new on the schedule this year.

The pre-season starts this Thursday evening with an exhibition match against Partizan Belgrade of Yugoslavia at 7:30 p.m.

The men's schedule is tougher this season with NCAA Champion, Villanova, on Jan. 4 and the addition of Big East powerhouse, St. John's University on Dec. 11. Marist lost to Villanova in the second game last year by the score of 56-31.

The Red Foxes will play 11 home games at the McCann Center this season, with the opener on Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. against Suffolk University, new on the schedule this year.

The pre-season starts this Thursday evening with an exhibition match against Partizan Belgrade of Yugoslavia at 7:30 p.m.

The men's schedule is tougher this season with NCAA Champion, Villanova, on Jan. 4 and the addition of Big East powerhouse, St. John's University on Dec. 11. Marist lost to Villanova in the second game last year by the score of 56-31.

The Red Foxes will play 11 home games at the McCann Center this season, with the opener on Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. against Suffolk University, new on the schedule this year.

The pre-season starts this Thursday evening with an exhibition match against Partizan Belgrade of Yugoslavia at 7:30 p.m.

The men's schedule is tougher this season with NCAA Champion, Villanova, on Jan. 4 and the addition of Big East powerhouse, St. John's University on Dec. 11. Marist lost to Villanova in the second game last year by the score of 56-31.

The Red Foxes will play 11 home games at the McCann Center this season, with the opener on Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. against Suffolk University, new on the schedule this year.

The pre-season starts this Thursday evening with an exhibition match against Partizan Belgrade of Yugoslavia at 7:30 p.m.

The men's schedule is tougher this season with NCAA Champion, Villanova, on Jan. 4 and the addition of Big East powerhouse, St. John's University on Dec. 11. Marist lost to Villanova in the second game last year by the score of 56-31.

The Red Foxes will play 11 home games at the McCann Center this season, with the opener on Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. against Suffolk University, new on the schedule this year.

The pre-season starts this Thursday evening with an exhibition match against Partizan Belgrade of Yugoslavia at 7:30 p.m.

The men's schedule is tougher this season with NCAA Champion, Villanova, on Jan. 4 and the addition of Big East powerhouse, St. John's University on Dec. 11. Marist lost to Villanova in the second game last year by the score of 56-31.

The Red Foxes will play 11 home games at the McCann Center this season, with the opener on Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. against Suffolk University, new on the schedule this year.

The pre-season starts this Thursday evening with an exhibition match against Partizan Belgrade of Yugoslavia at 7:30 p.m.

The men's schedule is tougher this season with NCAA Champion, Villanova, on Jan. 4 and the addition of Big East powerhouse, St. John's University on Dec. 11. Marist lost to Villanova in the second game last year by the score of 56-31.

The Red Foxes will play 11 home games at the McCann Center this season, with the opener on Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. against Suffolk University, new on the schedule this year.

The pre-season starts this Thursday evening with an exhibition match against Partizan Belgrade of Yugoslavia at 7:30 p.m.

The men's schedule is tougher this season with NCAA Champion, Villanova, on Jan. 4 and the addition of Big East powerhouse, St. John's University on Dec. 11. Marist lost to Villanova in the second game last year by the score of 56-31.

The Red Foxes will play 11 home games at the McCann Center this season, with the opener on Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. against Suffolk University, new on the schedule this year.

The pre-season starts this Thursday evening with an exhibition match against Partizan Belgrade of Yugoslavia at 7:30 p.m.

The men's schedule is tougher this season with NCAA Champion, Villanova, on Jan. 4 and the addition of Big East powerhouse, St. John's University on Dec. 11. Marist lost to Villanova in the second game last year by the score of 56-31.

The Red Foxes will play 11 home games at the McCann Center this season, with the opener on Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. against Suffolk University, new on the schedule this year.

The pre-season starts this Thursday evening with an exhibition match against Partizan Belgrade of Yugoslavia at 7:30 p.m.