College unveils new campus rules on alcohol

by Donald R. Godwin

With New York state's legal drinking age increasing to 21 in little over a week, Marist College has approved an alcohol policy designed to limit alcohol consumption on campus. The approved policy states that students will be able to consume alcohol in those buildings where students are of legal age. These include such north end buildings as Road; housing, townhouses, Canterbury Apartments and Gregory House. Benoit will be "dry" — alcohol-free — due to a majority of minors. One point decided earlier and included in the approved policy is the decision to close the Pub as a dispenser of alcoholic beverages. It will serve alcohol for the last time Monday. The new policy was approved this past Monday by college administrators after weeks of meetings by the Alcohol Policy Committee, the group responsible for developing the policy, according to Peter Amato, assistant dean for student affairs.

How the policy will affect campus life — page 9

According to Suzanne Ryan, student body president, the committee includes college administrators and student leaders. As a result of a bill signed this past summer by Gov. Mario Cuomo raising the legal drinking age to 21, the new policy will take effect Dec. 1, the date the law goes into effect throughout the state. All public events where students are formally invited will also be dry. This includes mixers. The current alcohol policy allows students 19 and over to drink in Champagne, the Pub, other upperclassmen dorms and the residence hall. The policy change will result in new activities and services for the student body, according to Amato. Despite the closing of the Pub as a tavern, the doors will remain open for a variety of events such as "Monday Night Football" broadcasts, student musical and professional cabaret performances. The assistant dean of college activities, also the director of college activities. Also, the Pub will receive a new name through a student contest, O'Keefe said.

The Personal Development Center, which includes campus health services and counseling, is prepared to assist students in adjusting to the social changes, according to Deborah Bell, assistant dean for student affairs.

Student coalition takes on apartheid

by Dave Rakowski

Students have formed a new group on campus designed to educate Marist students and faculty about national and international human rights issues, according to Joe Concra, a spokesman for the group. The first meeting of the group, which is named the Marist College Human Rights Coalition, was held Tuesday, Nov. 12. Approximately 30 students and faculty members, including Brian O'Keefe, who founded the group along with Concra and Kevin O'Keefe, attended. "Our immediate goal is to educate and inform the public community of world-wide human rights issues," Concra said. Those human rights issues include Central America, Iran and domestic policies, he added. He said the most prominent world-wide human rights issue is South Africa's apartheid and subsequent anti-apartheid movements. Apartheid is the separation of blacks and whites in South Africa and the rule of the white minority over the black majority.

There is a need at Marist College for such a movement because of the "college bubble," O'Keefe said. "The college bubble" refers to students who feel certain that their college is students are insulated from the world, he explained. The "college bubble" may not be a reality because of world problems. "All people don't know about world issues," O'Keefe said.

Aside from a general humanitarian interest, Concra explained there were other reasons he helped form the coalition. "The coalition has good reason to believe that Marist has holdings with companies that deal with South Africa," Concra said.

The coalition is concerned about the conflict in South Africa, where the need for the organization is growing.

Patrice said her past and present experiences motivate her in helping the needy. "I've been doing this for a long time last week — most of my career before the 4 p.m. Friday deadline. Students John Schiavone and Jim Bemer checked class listings, while workers in the Registrar's Office sifted through an endless pile of computer forms.

Poughkeepsie's special Thanksgiving

by Laverne C. Williams

She has seen men, women and children in Poughkeepsie eating from garbage cans in 1985. She also remembers herself as a child going to sleep on bread and sugar water in a small New Orleans town during the 1920s. Earline Patrice, now a member of Poughkeepsie's lower Main Street Civic Association, works with the neighborhood group in sponsoring an annual Thanksgiving dinner.

"I was angry because of the conditions that I had to live under," she said. "That made me even more determined to get out here and fight for the underdog."

This year's dinner will be on Thanksgiving Day at the Catherine Street Center on Catherine and Mansion streets. The feast has been held for the past 15 years and Patrice says she has invited "the poor, the senior citizens and the just lonely people with no one and no place to go."

Patrice, who is currently being treated for arthritis in her hands and knees, has helped feed approximately 1225 people at the last two Thanksgiving dinners alone. "I enjoy working with people," she said, "but I don't enjoy poverty. It's disgusting and it's disgraceful for a country as rich as ours."

Last year, Patrice signed out of Worcester Medical Center where she awaited heart surgery, to assist in getting more food from a local church for the annual dinner. When that supply ran out, Patrice took the remaining guests to a diner to eat.

Donations for the dinner will include eight cooked and stuffed turkeys from Citizen's Restaurant, turkeys from Washington Growers and Distributors, chicken parts from Circle M Beef Co., and 25 pounds of soda from Bob Young's Inventory Agency. Also, IBM Poughkeepsie has donated plates and cups, Perkins & Lanchester Real Estate Inc. gave two barrels of sweet potatoes and the Greater Poughkeepsie Jaycees are to bring the coffee and cider urns for the feast.

In addition, 40 to 50 people have volunteered to work, including Poughkeepsie Mayor Thomas Aposporos, who will act as head waiter.

Patrice said her past and present experiences motivate her in helping the needy. "I wish I was younger so that I could have a little more energy to do a little more," she said. "But I don't give up for nothing! I'm a fighter."

Brennan on resignation: The decision was mine

by Denise Wilcox and Douglas Deaton

Limited student contact because of time demands, as well as other job-related and personal reasons, led to his sudden decision to resign as a freshman residence director, said Greg Brennan, former Marist student.

"Our immediate goal is to educate and inform the public community of world-wide human rights issues," Concra said. Those human rights issues include Central America, Iran and domestic policies, he added. He said the most prominent world-wide human rights issue is South Africa's apartheid and subsequent anti-apartheid movements. Apartheid is the separation of blacks and whites in South Africa and the rule of the white minority over the black majority.

There is a need at Marist College for such a movement because of the "college bubble," O'Keefe said. "The college bubble" refers to students who feel certain that their college is students are insulated from the world, he explained. The "college bubble" may not be a reality because of world problems. "All people don't know about world issues," O'Keefe said.

Aside from a general humanitarian interest, Concra explained there were other reasons he helped form the coalition. "The coalition has good reason to believe that Marist has holdings with companies that deal with South Africa," Concra said.

"The coalition has good reason to believe that Marist has holdings with companies that deal with South Africa," Concra said.
Science

Continued from page 2

Full Service Repair Station

Free towing from campus

10% off your meal with this ad (limit 1 ad per party)

HELP!

WANTED: 2 dependable people, preferably seniors (it's your book) who are willing to devote a good amount of time to the 85-86 yearbook. Respond to Box C-843 or leave name and telephone number at Garden Apt. D 5 A.S.A.P.

Paul Belliveau
Editor-Yearbook

SAC president resigns; Ryan says future unclear

Student support for the Progressive Coalition is expressed in the banner at the entrance of the Garden Apartments. (Photo by Laurie Barraco)

Marist students to fast today

The SAC works closely with the Student Academic Committee and the Academic Council. (Photo by Laurie Barraco)

Science of Man is reviewed by AAC

by Donald R. Godwin

After 11 years of existence, the Science of Man program at Marist College is currently being reviewed by an Academic Council of the American Council on Education. According to Robert Lewis, a professor of philosophy and director of the program, the Council is interested in developing an understanding of the Science of Man program and a need for some changes in the Science of Man curriculum. Lewis added that the AAC is reviewing an interdisciplinary program such as the Science of Man. Marist students take five courses in the program. The Science of Man program is designed to offer students the opportunity to graduate in three years, but in recent years the three-year option has been discouraged, according to Mr. Lewis.

But the struggle for awareness of Science of Man is not over, according to Dr. Xavier Ryan, formerly a professor of philosophy and now the president of the Progressive Coalition. After being denied the chance to write a paper on a topic of his own, Dr. Ryan said he finds this kind of sexism disturbing to him as a feminist. Ryan added that he has seen a lot of sexist behavior from patrons and faculty encouraging.

The SAC works closely with the Student Academic Committee and the Academic Council of Student Leaders.

The Science of Man Program, which is the senior thesis, is designed to offer students the opportunity to graduate in three years, but in recent years the three-year option has been discouraged, according to Mr. Lewis. Each year, Science of Man students are taught that the answer to the question does not come from any one discipline, said Lewis, but from a variety of learning opportunities available to them.

The number of part-time adult students is steadily increasing. There are 626 adult students currently. According to Dr. Xavier Ryan, the SAC is co-sponsored by Adult Education and the Academic Council.

Science of Man marks Adult Learning Week with open house

The Science of Man Program at Marist College is reviewed by the Academic Council of the American Council on Education. According to Robert Lewis, a professor of philosophy and director of the program, the Council is interested in developing an understanding of the Science of Man program and a need for some changes in the Science of Man curriculum. Lewis added that the AAC is reviewing an interdisciplinary program such as the Science of Man. Marist students take five courses in the program. The Science of Man program is designed to offer students the opportunity to graduate in three years, but in recent years the three-year option has been discouraged, according to Mr. Lewis.

But the struggle for awareness of Science of Man is not over, according to Dr. Xavier Ryan, formerly a professor of philosophy and now the president of the Progressive Coalition. After being denied the chance to write a paper on a topic of his own, Dr. Ryan said he finds this kind of sexism disturbing to him as a feminist. Ryan added that he has seen a lot of sexist behavior from patrons and faculty encouraging.

The SAC works closely with the Student Academic Committee and the Academic Council of Student Leaders.

The Science of Man Program, which is the senior thesis, is designed to offer students the opportunity to graduate in three years, but in recent years the three-year option has been discouraged, according to Mr. Lewis. Each year, Science of Man students are taught that the answer to the question does not come from any one discipline, said Lewis, but from a variety of learning opportunities available to them.
The SCA contract: It’s time to settle

After almost six months of dispute, negotiations between the Marist administration and the Secretarial Clerical Association have finally reached an impasse. The issue of how to divide the $1.7 million in savings from increased food services, proposed by the administration, has been a major point of contention. The SCA claims that such an amount is insufficient and that the workers have not been consulted sufficiently. The administration maintains that they have done all they can and that further negotiations would be fruitless.

Regarding the recent production of “Dark of the World,” congratulations — and thanks — to the administration and the Secretarial Clerical Association are still a long way off. The SCA continues to insist on the renewal of contracts, which they claim will prevent the secretaries from being out of work. They also claim that if they do grant the secretaries a new contract, the production of the play will be jeopardized. But with both sides finally agreeing to go with the mediator, it seems the SCA is now the only party making any kind of progress.

Apathy exists on campus. You people who don’t know what is happening and don’t care about it. The fans and parents of the Morning Quarterback, is a truly fascinating situation. Why are you doing this? Chris are you going to vote for the token opposition party, which cited, among other things, its inability to take care of orphans and widows as its main reason for opposing Marcos’ party. The Philippines is a country that has been living in virtual slavery for centuries. And, if it cannot be saved, I’m afraid that the Philippines, and the American allies who do this thing, is going to get even more difficult.

The Philippines is the most important of the colonies that the British sold to the French. We have no other colony that does not receive any help from the French.

The Philippines is never going to be able to take care of itself, to provide the necessary services, to educate its people, to solve its economic problems, to have a democratic government. We have no other colony that does not receive any help from the French.

The Philippines is a country that has been living in virtual slavery for centuries. And, if it cannot be saved, I’m afraid that the Philippines, and the American allies who do this thing, is going to get even more difficult.

The Philippines is a country that has been living in virtual slavery for centuries. And, if it cannot be saved, I’m afraid that the Philippines, and the American allies who do this thing, is going to get even more difficult.

The Philippines is a country that has been living in virtual slavery for centuries. And, if it cannot be saved, I’m afraid that the Philippines, and the American allies who do this thing, is going to get even more difficult.
Aim ing at ‘Target’

by Janet McLaughlin

It’s half-time for Arthur Peas’ anti-drinking campaign, and the 27-year-old Harvard Theatre student has a new catchphrase: “Target.” Even if you aren’t big on drinking in college, you might want to join this cause.

Author Arthur Peas, best known for his “Practically Perfect” and “Stoney Creek” and “The Mad Hunter,” is a Harvard alumnus.

 acidity

A relationship between father and son can be complex and challenging. Father-son dynamics are often characterized by a unique blend of affection, rivalry, and respect. Understanding these dynamics can help navigate the complexities of father-son relationships.

“Target” reflects a common desire among younger generations to redefine social norms and create a new perspective on life.

The key to a successful relationship is communication. Effective communication involves expressing thoughts and feelings openly, actively listening to the other person, and responding thoughtfully.

In the book, the father and son develop a deeper understanding of each other through open and honest communication. This helps them overcome challenges and strengthen their bond.

The relationship between father and son is often characterized by a unique blend of affection, rivalry, and respect. Understanding these dynamics can help navigate the complexities of father-son relationships.

Reel impressions

by Arthur Chris.

A few years ago, a friend of mine and I went to see a movie together. It was a classic film about a family’s quest for the American Dream. The movie was set in the 1950s, and it was a nostalgic look at the post-war era.

In this particular scene, the father is giving his son some advice about life. He tells him that life is not easy, but that it is important to have goals and to work hard to achieve them. He also says that sometimes life can be tough, but that you should never give up.

I think this is a valuable message, and it is one that I try to live by every day. It is important to have goals and to work hard to achieve them, but it is also important to remember that life can be tough at times. I think this is a lesson that we need to teach our children, and it is a lesson that I will always remember.

Sound barrier

by Kenneth P. Drucker

A sound barrier is a threshold above which sound waves can travel and cause perceivable effects. The concept of a sound barrier has been studied extensively in the field of acoustics, and it is an important factor in understanding how sound waves interact with the environment.

Acousticians have identified several types of sound barriers, including natural barriers such as mountains and bodies of water, as well as man-made barriers like walls and fences. These barriers can help reduce noise pollution and improve the quality of life in urban areas.

In the context of aviation, sound barriers are used to reduce the noise impact of airports and runways. They can take the form of sound absorbing materials or barriers that intercept the sound waves, reducing their intensity and preventing them from reaching residential areas.

The effectiveness of a sound barrier depends on various factors, including its height, the distance from the source of the noise, and the frequency of the sound waves. In general, taller barriers are more effective in reducing noise levels, and barriers that are closer to the noise source are also more effective.

Geldof’s message

by Walter Lloyd, played by Gene Hackman

In the film “The Conversation,” Walter Lloyd is a private investigator who is hired to follow a woman who is suspected of being a spy. The film takes place in the early 1970s, during a time of great political and social upheaval.

Throughout the film, Lloyd grapples with the ethical implications of his work. He struggles with the question of whether his job is a form of surveillance or simply a tool for private gain.

In the film’s final scene, Lloyd is shown walking alone down a street, deep in thought. He appears to be reflecting on the nature of his work and the impact it has on the people around him.

The film is a commentary on the nature of privacy and surveillance, and it raises important questions about the role of individuals in shaping society.

The Other Murray

by John E. Murray

If you believe that wine captures the essence of a location, what better place to purchase wine than Napa Valley, California? There, at the Gallo Vineyards, you can purchase wines that are grown and produced on the valley floor.

In the Gallo Vineyards, you can find wines that are made from locally grown grapes. These wines are produced using traditional methods and are known for their complexity and depth.

At the Gallo Vineyards, you can also find wines that are made from imported grapes. These wines are produced using more modern methods and are known for their fruit-forward flavors.

The Gallo Vineyards offers a wide range of wines, from light, crisp whites to rich, full-bodied reds. Whether you are a wine novice or an experienced sommelier, there is a wine for you at the Gallo Vineyards.

Out and About

This Week

- The Union Performance Arts Center will present “The Conversation” this weekend. The play is a modern interpretation of the film, and it features a cast of professional actors.
- The National Museum of American History will be closed for renovation this weekend. The museum is scheduled to reopen in the fall.
- The National Gallery of Art will be hosting a special exhibition of modern and contemporary art this weekend.

The Murray Snow job

by Gayle Hantter

If you are looking for a new wine to try, you might want to check out the Murray Snow job. This wine is produced by the Murray Family Vineyards, and it is a blend of Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot.

The Murray Snow job is a rich, full-bodied wine that is characterized by notes of dark fruit and oak. It is a wine that is best enjoyed with a meal, and it pairs well with rich, hearty dishes.

The Murray Family Vineyards is a family-owned winery located in the Napa Valley. The winery produces a wide range of wines, from light, crisp whites to rich, full-bodied reds.

The Murray Snow job is a wine that is sure to please wine lovers of all ages. It is a wine that is rich in flavor and character, and it is sure to be a hit with anyone who enjoys a good glass of wine.

Giving thanks

by Christine A. Klein

A few years ago, a group of friends and I went to see a movie together. It was a classic film about a family’s quest for the American Dream. The movie was set in the 1950s, and it was a nostalgic look at the post-war era.

In this particular scene, the father is giving his son some advice about life. He tells him that life is not easy, but that it is important to have goals and to work hard to achieve them. He also says that sometimes life can be tough, but that you should never give up.

I think this is a valuable message, and it is one that I try to live by every day. It is important to have goals and to work hard to achieve them, but it is also important to remember that life can be tough at times. I think this is a lesson that we need to teach our children, and it is a lesson that I will always remember.

The movie ends with the father and son sitting together, watching the sunrise. They are both looking at the sky, and the father says, “Life is like a journey, and sometimes it can be tough. But if you keep going, you will reach your destination.”

I think this is a beautiful message, and it is one that I will always remember.

Impressions

by John E. Murray

If you believe that wine captures the essence of a location, what better place to purchase wine than Napa Valley, California? There, at the Gallo Vineyards, you can purchase wines that are grown and produced on the valley floor.

The Gallo Vineyards offers a wide range of wines, from light, crisp whites to rich, full-bodied reds. Whether you are a wine novice or an experienced sommelier, there is a wine for you at the Gallo Vineyards.

The Murray Snow job is a wine that is rich in flavor and character, and it is sure to be a hit with anyone who enjoys a good glass of wine.

Come See

Come party one more time before the drinking age goes up!

PACIFIC DINER DINE & RESTAURANT

Breakfast - Lunch - Dinner

Fresh Seafood - Steaks
Chops - Cocktails
Baking on Premises

Open 24 Hours

473-1576

Show your college ID and get a FREE Glass of Beer with your meal

7% DISCOUNT

November 21, 1985 - THE CIRCLE - Page 7

194 WASHINGTON STREET

POUGHKEEPSIE, NEW YORK

(Next to All Sport. A short walk from Marist)
Mosaics seeks artwork, writing

by Lee Johnson

The editors of The Mosaic, Marist's literary and arts magazine, are looking for artistic work - paintings, photographs and drawings for the 1986 edition of the publication, which will be published in spring, according to Beth Fonseca.

"The Mosaic will accept original submissions from any student with writing or artistic abilities," she said. "All forms of expression, whether they be drawings, paintings or photographs, will be judiciously accepted for publication."

"In order to be published," she continued, "all work cannot exceed the size of an 8.5 x 11 sheet of paper."

"Art should not be submitted on personal stationery," Fonseca said. "It should be neatly enclosed in an envelope."

"Please include a business card and a self-addressed envelope, and don't forget to sign your name and address on the back of the artwork."

"Members of the staff are several important things to keep in mind if you'd like your work to be seen," she continued. "First, the magazine is published on a quarterly basis, so a submission is most likely to be seen during the fall, winter, spring or summer issue."

"Each issue of the Mosaic is limited to the number of pages available. If you would like your work to be considered for publication, please submit a maximum of three pieces." -

"The best way to get your work seen," she said, "is to submit it during the semester you are in."

"If you would like to be featured on our next issue," she concluded, "please submit your work by April 15."
Wheeler students pleased with accessibility

by Donna Head

The resident is pleased with Marist College’s accessibility plan for students with disabilities. Donna Head is a student who uses a wheelchair and has been pleased with the accessibility improvements on campus. She said, "I am pleased with the efforts Marist College has made to improve accessibility."

Mr. Carey's article presents the case for improved accessibility. He argues that Marist College should continue to invest in accessible facilities and services. He quotes many students who have had positive experiences with the accessibility improvements on campus. One student said, "I am very pleased with the accessibility improvements. I feel more included on campus now."

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.

Soccer's defeat blamed on lack of discipline

by Ken Payne

After dropping a 6-5 decision to Princeton University Wednesday afternoon, the Marist ice hockey team will seek at the start of the second year of the season to quickly forget about the 0-3 start to which it has fallen. "I'm very upset," coach and former Marist great Frank Schalck said. "I think we played well. We got off to a good start and then we just let it slip away." Schalck's concern is that the team will not get back on track when the season begins after the break. "I'm very disappointed," he said. "This is a team that has potential.""It's a young team," he added. "We've got a lot of young players and we need to get them to understand that they have to play as a team."The loss to Princeton was the second loss in a row for the Marist team, which is now 0-3 for the season. "I think we played well," Schalck said. "We just couldn't finish the game.""We have to get better," he said. "This was a tough game for us."The Marist team is now 0-3 for the season and will play its next game against Hofstra University on Thursday at 6 p.m.

Indoor track starts to run under Lucie

by John Baker

Although the Marist men's and women's cross country teams ended their fall season with a disappointing showing, the indoor track team is off to a successful start. The team is scheduled to run for the first time on Thursday, November 21, 1985. The first team to make a cross country run in the area, the Marist track team is looking forward to the start of their indoor season. The team is currently practicing and is hoping to have a successful indoor season. The team is looking forward to the start of their indoor season and is currently practicing hard.

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.

No one without authorization will be permitted to remain on campus.

RESIDENCE HALL CLOSING
THANKSGIVING VACATION
NOVEMBER 27, 1985

PERTINENT RESIDENCE INFORMATION

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.

The Residence Halls will close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27, 1985. The Residence Halls will reopen at 12 Noon on Sunday, December 1, 1985.
Volleyball team glad for winning record, overdue recognition

by Dan Pietrafesa

Over the past year, Marist athletics have been soaring. The football team just completed its best season in two decades and the men’s basketball team is the conference’s top regular season champ in 14 years.

For winning record, best season in the past decade and two years ever after the team has led the volleyball team to its conference, there is yet another team down east of Minnesota.

The women’s volleyball team finished the regular season at 31-9 clip, following a 24-4 season last year. The 31 victories included 13-3 and 9-2 records against Division One and Two, respectively. In addition, the team posted a second-place finish in the Atlantic 10 conference.

The Marist volleyball team has become the latest team in school history to show the knowledge he can. It’s one different person, but we are all a whole different team.”

Marist does not provide enough money to purchase all the necessary equipment. “There’s no doubt that the intramural program is the best it has been in my four years here,” said senior Jim O’Connor, a student supervisor for the intramural program.

There’s no doubt that the intramural program has been sparked by a desire among the intramural staff to present an intramural program. “There’s a great deal of student interest and enthusiasm.”

According to Van Wagner, the past few years have seen the team perform better under these conditions, but squad members say that they work as hard as any other team does in practice. The team does not stretch and warm-up activities are held in another group, according to team captain Patrice F. Ellis.

We do better when we kid around," said Van Wagner. "You can’t ask for much more than that." said Billesimo.

Another positive note is that many blue chippers, girls with four or five years experience behind them in the sport, have shown interest in intramural. "Lynch has been sparked by a desire among the intramural staff to present an intramural program. "The conference looks much different," said Lynch. "You have to be psyched up taking the post a week before it air last fall. -

Red Fox Club keeps teams alive and well

by James Roldan

You are sitting in the McCann Recreation Center watching a Marist College basketball game when the Red Foxes trot onto the basketball court dressed in their new green and white uniforms. The booming sound of brand new basketballs is heard throughout the arena as the Foxes prepare to take on their court before coming to Men swimmers lose first

by Sue Blazewikwi

The Marist College men’s swimming and diving team suffered its first loss of the year last week. The team lost four of its six swimmers and added the runner-up to make the trip to Manhattan.

"Another positive note is that many blue chippers, girls with four or five years experience behind them in the sport, have shown interest in intramural. "Lynch has been sparked by a desire among the intramural staff to present an intramural program. "The conference looks much different," said Lynch. "You have to be psyched up taking the post a week before it air last fall. -

Another change that has improv ed this year’s intramural program is the addition of league organizations of registration procedures, an evaluation of the present programs and a program of incentives.

Lynch said the new, more precise registration procedure has helped create a better organized sports program. "Stress is more in-

Intramural participation at new high

by Shelly Miller

This year more Marist students are getting out of their dorms and into the McCann Center. The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

This year more Marist students are getting out of their dorms and into the McCann Center. The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

This year more Marist students are getting out of their dorms and into the McCann Center. The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

This year more Marist students are getting out of their dorms and into the McCann Center. The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

This year more Marist students are getting out of their dorms and into the McCann Center. The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

This year more Marist students are getting out of their dorms and into the McCann Center. The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

This year more Marist students are getting out of their dorms and into the McCann Center. The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

This year more Marist students are getting out of their dorms and into the McCann Center. The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

This year more Marist students are getting out of their dorms and into the McCann Center. The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

This year more Marist students are getting out of their dorms and into the McCann Center. The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.

The reason can be summed up in one word: intramural.