Marist, developers discussing plans for shopping mall

By Rick

The Marist Boc. of Trustees and Fisco Development Corp. are currently discussing construction plans for the Marist Village shopping center, according to Edward P. Waters, vice president for administration.

Marist Village, which is to be located at the north end of campus, will be owned by Marist and rented to privately-owned businesses such as book stores, restaurants and clothing stores.

"We are negotiating with Wendy's and another quality food restaurant located on the north of Dutchess Bank," said Samuel Finnerman, president of the college.

"We also would like to see things such as a drug store, a video store, a cleaner's and a barber shop in and give it a 'neighborhood shopping center' type of feeling."

Although Marist will make a profit from Marist Village, the college will be exempted from paying taxes on the revenues.

"The stores in Marist Village should be there for student benefit and should not compete with the privately-owned businesses," said Waters. "Marist must remain an arm's length away from business since it is a nonprofit organization."

Finnerman said he does not anticipate any problems and expects construction to begin in the spring of 1988 and be completed by fall of 1988.

"Negotiations with Fisco Development Corp. officials are underway concerning zoning and site plans, according to Finnerman."

Although Waters stressed that plans for Marist Village are still in the developmental stages, he said the mall will probably be built from about 20 ft. south of the Yonkers Gettys Station on North Rd. to the new just annexed North of Dutchess Bank.

"The Route 9 entrance to the Railroad Common Apartments will remain intact, according to Waters. The bank may undergo some minor changes in design or be torn down, he said.

"The land where the gas station is located is leased by Marist College.

"The land where the gas station is located is leased by Marist College, from Triton Co., the parent company of Fisco."

After 13 years, Gerry Gardner decides to hang up his hoe

By Tim Beuser

Gardner offered him a bit of advice: "You pick one of them flowers and I'm going to put you in a tree somewhere," he said.

"From 1975 until his retirement last month, Gardner was the grounds supervisor at Marist. A New York City native and U.S. Army Ranger in World War II, he was in charge of everything from removing snow from the roads to mowing lawns from the dorms."

"Now, at the age of 62, he and his wife are trading the winters of the Hudson Valley for the warmth of Arizona. Gardner, who grew up in the South Bronx, got his first taste of horticulture while a student at the Bronx High School of Science."

He was walking to school along Jerome Ave. when he stopped to help an elderly man who was selling potted plants. It became a daily ritual and he soon became an approriate to the Italian merchant. He worked for between two and three years for 20 cents an hour during the Depression to perfect his trade."

"He would always ask me what kind of sandwich my mother had given me," Gardner said. "Say I told him ham and cheese, he would go to the garden and pull out a tomato."

Feds to fund philosophers

By Matt Croke

The philosophy program has received a grant of $36,360 from the National Endowment for the Humanities which will provide for the improvement of the foundation course for the Core/Liberal Studies curriculum.

"Some people want results, but we're more interested in asking questions," said Birmingham of the NEH grant. "Birmingham said that she was not sure what the answers to the questions will be, but when the year is over the faculty will have a better understanding of ethics."

"A better understanding translates into a better course for the students, said Birmingham."

"The work of all those involved will be presented in formal papers that explain their findings and propose new reading lists and teaching strategies," according to Birmingham.

"The new course structure will be used during the 1989 spring semester."
Ex-offender reaches out to others

By Mike Graybo

Abdul Lateef Islam, who was released from prison 7 years ago but he keeps going back to prison, is learning to love life. That's what he wants from the people who are interested in prison reform. He has a strong message about the future of American prisons.

In the past, Islam has been an ex-offender who was sentenced to 22 years in prison for murder. He was released from prison in 2011 after serving 7 years, and he has been working to help others who have been through the prison system.

Islam said that he has experienced a lot of challenges while in prison, including discrimination, neglect, and lack of support. He said that he wants to use his story to inspire others and to encourage them to think differently about prisoners.

Islam said that he has been working with a number of organizations to help with prison reform, including the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) and the National Association of Social Workers (NASW). He has also been working with the New York State Bar Association and the New York State Coalition Against the Death Penalty.

Islam said that he wants to use his platform to help others who have been through the prison system and to raise awareness about the issues that affect prisoners. He said that he wants to help others see that there is hope for change and that there are ways to make a difference.

Islam said that he is working with a number of organizations to help with prison reform, including the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) and the National Association of Social Workers (NASW). He has also been working with the New York State Bar Association and the New York State Coalition Against the Death Penalty.

Islam said that he wants to use his platform to help others who have been through the prison system and to raise awareness about the issues that affect prisoners. He said that he wants to help others see that there is hope for change and that there are ways to make a difference.

Islam said that he is working with a number of organizations to help with prison reform, including the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) and the National Association of Social Workers (NASW). He has also been working with the New York State Bar Association and the New York State Coalition Against the Death Penalty.

Islam said that he wants to use his platform to help others who have been through the prison system and to raise awareness about the issues that affect prisoners. He said that he wants to help others see that there is hope for change and that there are ways to make a difference.

Islam said that he is working with a number of organizations to help with prison reform, including the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) and the National Association of Social Workers (NASW). He has also been working with the New York State Bar Association and the New York State Coalition Against the Death Penalty.

Islam said that he wants to use his platform to help others who have been through the prison system and to raise awareness about the issues that affect prisoners. He said that he wants to help others see that there is hope for change and that there are ways to make a difference.

Islam said that he is working with a number of organizations to help with prison reform, including the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) and the National Association of Social Workers (NASW). He has also been working with the New York State Bar Association and the New York State Coalition Against the Death Penalty.

Islam said that he wants to use his platform to help others who have been through the prison system and to raise awareness about the issues that affect prisoners. He said that he wants to help others see that there is hope for change and that there are ways to make a difference.

Islam said that he is working with a number of organizations to help with prison reform, including the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) and the National Association of Social Workers (NASW). He has also been working with the New York State Bar Association and the New York State Coalition Against the Death Penalty.

Islam said that he wants to use his platform to help others who have been through the prison system and to raise awareness about the issues that affect prisoners. He said that he wants to help others see that there is hope for change and that there are ways to make a difference.
The Dankin Viewpoint October 8, 1987-

By Michael Britt

Interaction between faculty and students in a college setting has always been an important aspect of the educational environment. This interaction can be improved by forming a strong bond between students and faculty, by holding class sizes small, for exposure to individuals in college life, and by developing a class on a personal level with students. This would also give students need for more interaction.

A strong bond between faculty and students could easily shorten the gap, but not only the gap need be shortened; it could be made stronger. The bond can be formed by the students attending a professor's class. This would allow for the development of a personal relationship. Furthermore, the professors of a class could teach the students to form a relationship with each other, not just with the professor. This would allow for a new way to develop a bond between students and faculty.

Conclusion

The faculty and students could improve their relationship by forming a strong bond between students and faculty. The bond can be formed by forming a class of students in a college setting. This would allow for the development of a personal relationship. Furthermore, the professors of a class could teach the students to form a relationship with each other, not just with the professor. This would allow for a new way to develop a bond between students and faculty.
The Cult finds its sound in roots of rock

By Ben Hommel

The Cult comes from England, a place where rock has become a means of escape. The band consists of six people who produce rock music that is popular in the U.S. and Canada.

The Cult is a band that is considered to be one of the most successful rock bands of the 1980s. They are known for their unique sound, which is a mixture of rock and punk. The Cult has been influential in the development of the post-punk and gothic rock movements.

The Cult's sound is characterized by its dark and brooding atmosphere, with lyrics that often deal with themes of love, death, and loss. The band's lead singer, Ian Astbury, is known for his powerful and emotive vocals, which are accompanied by the band's distinctive guitar sound.

The Cult's music has been well-received by critics and fans alike, and the band has released several successful albums over the years. Some of their most popular songs include "Love Hurts," "Children of the产," and "Landslide." The Cult's influence can be heard in the music of many other bands and artists, making them an important and enduring presence in the rock music world.

Textbook moviemaking

By Jeff Novice

There were enjoyable moments in the movie, but overall it was a disappointment. The story was weak and the acting was uneven.

The Cult is a band that is known for its unique sound and has been influential in the rock music world. They have released several successful albums over the years and have gained a dedicated following.

The Cult's music has been described as dark and brooding, with lyrics that often deal with themes of love, death, and loss. The band is known for its powerful and emotive vocals, which are accompanied by the band's distinctive guitar sound.

The Cult has been influential in the development of the post-punk and gothic rock movements, and their music has been well-received by critics and fans alike. They have a dedicated following and continue to tour and record new music.

Slightly off campus

By Derek Simon

The Cult is a band that is known for its unique sound and has been influential in the rock music world. They have released several successful albums over the years and have gained a dedicated following.

The Cult's music has been described as dark and brooding, with lyrics that often deal with themes of love, death, and loss. The band is known for its powerful and emotive vocals, which are accompanied by the band's distinctive guitar sound.

The Cult has been influential in the development of the post-punk and gothic rock movements, and their music has been well-received by critics and fans alike. They have a dedicated following and continue to tour and record new music.

Movie

Continued from page 4

The Cult is a band that is known for its unique sound and has been influential in the rock music world. They have released several successful albums over the years and have gained a dedicated following.

The Cult's music has been described as dark and brooding, with lyrics that often deal with themes of love, death, and loss. The band is known for its powerful and emotive vocals, which are accompanied by the band's distinctive guitar sound.

The Cult has been influential in the development of the post-punk and gothic rock movements, and their music has been well-received by critics and fans alike. They have a dedicated following and continue to tour and record new music.
Abroaders reunite to celebrate 25 years

By Allen Sage

Melissa and Patricia Begley will spend Saturday evening reminiscing about their first year abroad, the year they lived together in Paris, France, as students of the Marist Alumni Program, or MAP. It was 25 years ago this year that the MAP was founded.

The MAP was founded in 1963 by Brother Joseph Belanger and his associates, with the goal of providing a hands-on multicultural education and a chance to study abroad. It was the first such program in the United States.

Melissa, 28, is a teacher in the Milford School District in New Jersey, and she was a Marist student in 1982-83. Patricia, 27, is a New York City area physician's assistant and was a Marist student for one year in 1983-84.

They met at a MAP reunion at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1985. "Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate," said Patricia. "I was actually put in a dorm room with another student, a little older and a little richer, but Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate."

The MAP is run by the Marist College Office in New York City, and a study abroad experience is mandatory for all MAP students. The MAP offers a variety of programs, including the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries. The MAP also offers a program called the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries.

The MAP has been in operation since 1963 and has sent thousands of students abroad. The MAP currently has programs in more than 30 countries around the world.

The MAP was founded by Brother Joseph Belanger and his associates, with the goal of providing a hands-on multicultural education and a chance to study abroad. It was the first such program in the United States.

Melissa and Patricia met at a MAP reunion at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1985. "Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate," said Patricia. "I was actually put in a dorm room with another student, a little older and a little richer, but Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate."

The MAP offers a variety of programs, including the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries. The MAP also offers a program called the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries.

The MAP has been in operation since 1963 and has sent thousands of students abroad. The MAP currently has programs in more than 30 countries around the world.

The MAP was founded by Brother Joseph Belanger and his associates, with the goal of providing a hands-on multicultural education and a chance to study abroad. It was the first such program in the United States.

Melissa and Patricia met at a MAP reunion at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1985. "Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate," said Patricia. "I was actually put in a dorm room with another student, a little older and a little richer, but Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate."

The MAP offers a variety of programs, including the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries. The MAP also offers a program called the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries.

The MAP has been in operation since 1963 and has sent thousands of students abroad. The MAP currently has programs in more than 30 countries around the world.

The MAP was founded by Brother Joseph Belanger and his associates, with the goal of providing a hands-on multicultural education and a chance to study abroad. It was the first such program in the United States.

Melissa and Patricia met at a MAP reunion at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1985. "Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate," said Patricia. "I was actually put in a dorm room with another student, a little older and a little richer, but Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate."

The MAP offers a variety of programs, including the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries. The MAP also offers a program called the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries.

The MAP has been in operation since 1963 and has sent thousands of students abroad. The MAP currently has programs in more than 30 countries around the world.

The MAP was founded by Brother Joseph Belanger and his associates, with the goal of providing a hands-on multicultural education and a chance to study abroad. It was the first such program in the United States.

Melissa and Patricia met at a MAP reunion at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1985. "Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate," said Patricia. "I was actually put in a dorm room with another student, a little older and a little richer, but Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate."

The MAP offers a variety of programs, including the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries. The MAP also offers a program called the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries.

The MAP has been in operation since 1963 and has sent thousands of students abroad. The MAP currently has programs in more than 30 countries around the world.

The MAP was founded by Brother Joseph Belanger and his associates, with the goal of providing a hands-on multicultural education and a chance to study abroad. It was the first such program in the United States.

Melissa and Patricia met at a MAP reunion at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1985. "Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate," said Patricia. "I was actually put in a dorm room with another student, a little older and a little richer, but Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate."

The MAP offers a variety of programs, including the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries. The MAP also offers a program called the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries.

The MAP has been in operation since 1963 and has sent thousands of students abroad. The MAP currently has programs in more than 30 countries around the world.

The MAP was founded by Brother Joseph Belanger and his associates, with the goal of providing a hands-on multicultural education and a chance to study abroad. It was the first such program in the United States.

Melissa and Patricia met at a MAP reunion at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1985. "Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate," said Patricia. "I was actually put in a dorm room with another student, a little older and a little richer, but Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate."

The MAP offers a variety of programs, including the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries. The MAP also offers a program called the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries.

The MAP has been in operation since 1963 and has sent thousands of students abroad. The MAP currently has programs in more than 30 countries around the world.

The MAP was founded by Brother Joseph Belanger and his associates, with the goal of providing a hands-on multicultural education and a chance to study abroad. It was the first such program in the United States.

Melissa and Patricia met at a MAP reunion at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1985. "Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate," said Patricia. "I was actually put in a dorm room with another student, a little older and a little richer, but Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate."

The MAP offers a variety of programs, including the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries. The MAP also offers a program called the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries.

The MAP has been in operation since 1963 and has sent thousands of students abroad. The MAP currently has programs in more than 30 countries around the world.

The MAP was founded by Brother Joseph Belanger and his associates, with the goal of providing a hands-on multicultural education and a chance to study abroad. It was the first such program in the United States.

Melissa and Patricia met at a MAP reunion at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1985. "Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate," said Patricia. "I was actually put in a dorm room with another student, a little older and a little richer, but Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate."

The MAP offers a variety of programs, including the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries. The MAP also offers a program called the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries.

The MAP has been in operation since 1963 and has sent thousands of students abroad. The MAP currently has programs in more than 30 countries around the world.

The MAP was founded by Brother Joseph Belanger and his associates, with the goal of providing a hands-on multicultural education and a chance to study abroad. It was the first such program in the United States.

Melissa and Patricia met at a MAP reunion at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1985. "Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate," said Patricia. "I was actually put in a dorm room with another student, a little older and a little richer, but Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate."

The MAP offers a variety of programs, including the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries. The MAP also offers a program called the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries.

The MAP has been in operation since 1963 and has sent thousands of students abroad. The MAP currently has programs in more than 30 countries around the world.

The MAP was founded by Brother Joseph Belanger and his associates, with the goal of providing a hands-on multicultural education and a chance to study abroad. It was the first such program in the United States.

Melissa and Patricia met at a MAP reunion at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1985. "Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate," said Patricia. "I was actually put in a dorm room with another student, a little older and a little richer, but Melissa was assigned to me as a roommate."

The MAP offers a variety of programs, including the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries. The MAP also offers a program called the MAP, which allows students to live with a host family, study at a university in another country, and travel to other countries.

The MAP has been in operation since 1963 and has sent thousands of students abroad. The MAP currently has programs in more than 30 countries around the world.
Apartheid protest planned at colleges

By Mike O'Keeffe

In a nationwide series of planned and unplanned protest approaches in October, the conflict is now raging and the pressure on campuses to call their own shots in terms of how the business in apartheid South Africa will be done seems likely to intensify.

This, the activists note, is the first national season since the first President, Nelson Mandela, called for U.S. businesses to withdraw from South Africa. This October, activists expect to see a peak in the number of demonstrations and sit-ins on campuses across the country.

As recently as 1984, however, the group would play such matches with teams that were more experienced in order to draw in more students.

By 1985, the Tigers had achieved a remarkable turnaround, finishing the season with a 14-2 record and a championship.

Feast or famine for education

By Charles Kerber

Ten years from now, when fans look back on the 1987 World Series, they may well wonder what has been one of the most remembered seasons of the past 50 years.

Unfortunately, the level of excitement brought by this season—minimal at best—will carry over into the final weekend, where they swept the books.

The suspension grew out of a May 14, 1987, incident at which a Philadelphia student reportedly shouted racial slurs at 3 Theta Chi fraternity members.

The last 7 years have been either a "fat harvest" for it, two leading Gonadal Burlesque byrd (D-W.V.) said that, though he was pleased with the Reagan administration's proposals to cut federal education funding during the past year, he was not satisfied with the progress.

The University of Pennsylvania, according to spokesman Fred Moscovitz, which makes up for what has been a remarkable season of the past 5 years. And unfortunately, the level of excitement brought by this season—minimal at best—will carry over into the final weekend, where they swept the books.

The suspension grew out of a May 14, 1987, incident at which a Philadelphia student reportedly shouted racial slurs at 3 Theta Chi fraternity members.

The last 7 years have been either a "fat harvest" for it, two leading Gonadal Burlesque byrd (D-W.V.) said that, though he was pleased with the Reagan administration's proposals to cut federal education funding during the past year, he was not satisfied with the progress.

The University of Pennsylvania, according to spokesman Fred Moscovitz, which makes up for what has been a remarkable season of the past 5 years. And unfortunately, the level of excitement brought by this season—minimal at best—will carry over into the final weekend, where they swept the books.

The suspension grew out of a May 14, 1987, incident at which a Philadelphia student reportedly shouted racial slurs at 3 Theta Chi fraternity members.
Despite recent losses, Goldman denies slide

By Paul Kelly

"Sixteen days ago, the Marist College soccer team's record was a spotless 4-0. Today, it is 4-2-2. Across the field, hotel lobby toward the Marist goal late in the first overtime, another Oneonta player grabbed Marist goalkeeper Joe Madden's shirt, preventing him from leaping toward the onrushing ball.

The ball floated just inside the crossbar and into the net.

Tom Haggerty scored Marist's only goal. Despite the loss, the game marked the return of the Red Foxes' scoring sensation Mark Edwards, who played during the overtime.

The game manifested itself during situations where the ball could be headed. Edwards was in ideal position to score during overtime and in the game. We have to put it in perspective."

Steve's mom and Dad would be laughing."

Hoop tryouts

The Marist men's basketball team is looking for a few good men — a few more good men than usual.

With official practices for the 1987-88 basketball season beginning in just one week, the men's basketball coaching staff is looking to add a little more depth to the rapidly changing squad.

On Oct. 15, 16 and 17, tryouts will be held at the McCann Recreation Center.

Applications can be picked up at the admission desk at the McCann Center. Applications must be in by Oct. 15.

Red Foxes stopped by FDU, go 0-4

By Chris Barry

Despite a stellar defensive performance by northeast Chris Barry, the Marist College football team dropped its record to 0-4 with a 19-10 loss to FDU-Madison last Friday night, losing 10-0 to FDU-Madison in front of a record 3,069 people at Leonidoff Field.

The Red Foxes will mark the second Marist finisher in two games to host Siena for the homecoming game.

Steve's mom and Dad would be laughing."

Kevin arrived at Marist this season, and as a result, 21-year-old Steve was second, third and fifth man.

Kevin laughed. "We're closer than ever, because we feel the same pain and anguish."