President Dennis Murray earned $120,000 for the fiscal year 1987-88, down from $145,500 the previous year, according to the college's Internal Revenue Service filings.

Murray, in an interview this week, would not explain why his salary dropped 16 percent in 1987-88 after it jumped 34 percent between 1982-83 and 1986-87. Murray earned $107,000 in 1986.

Murray's salary is determined by the board of trustees in consultation with the college's compensation expert. Because Marist is a non-profit institution, its tax documents are available to the public. The IRS Form 990 contains the salaries of the college's highest-paid employees, including the president, for the year pertaining to college finances. The 1987-88 form was the latest available.

The salaries of Marist administrators are far above the national average for all four-year colleges but come closer to the averages of salaries at colleges with budgets comparable to Marist, surveys show. Murray's salary in 1987-88 was 64 percent higher than the national average for presidents of four-year colleges, $73,326. The national average was obtained through a survey by the College and University Personnel Association.

However, another CUPA survey of private universities with budgets of $34.1 million to $83 million lists the average salary for college presidents at $110,000. Murray's salary is 9 percent higher.

The college's total expenses for 1987-88 were about $36.9 million, according to the IRS Form 990. Faculty salaries at Marist have remained higher than average faculty salaries at comparable schools but have increased at a much slower rate than those for senior Marist administrators. Salary increases for top administrators have varied from 9 percent to 17 percent annually in recent years, according to the IRS documents, while faculty salaries have increased 3 percent to 7 percent on average.

Full professors at Marist earned an average of $43,300 in 1987-88, 2 percent higher than average at a private four-year institution, according to a survey by the American Association of University Professors. Marist professors earned 3 percent more than the average.

Marist associate professors earned an average of $37,500 last year, 10 percent higher than average and 6 percent more than the previous year, according to the survey. The college's associate professor at Marist earned $28,200 last year, 6 percent more than the previous year.

The generally enthusiastic audience chanted, "We want the money."

Bello said. "Now I can become a song writer — it was also an opportunity to win $200 by guessing at Temple University, gave his audience of 100 people more than he was happy with the turnout and how the show went.

The Judicial Board will meet tomorrow to hear arguments from TKE representatives and CSL President Jeff Ferony. The hearing will focus on whether TKE charged bias on the part of several CSL members.

The Judicial Board is also a member of the board and has recommended that he should not participate in the hearing. Jim Springinger, director of debate and faculty advisor to Sigma Phi Epsilon, another fraternity on campus, is another member of the board and has said that he will not participate in the hearing.

The Judicial Board unanimously Continued on page 2

Service program faces fund cuts by Denise DeCicco

Faced with losing half its funding next year, the Marist community service program is trying to find other sources to fund the program that grants tuition credits to students who perform community service.

For the past two years, the program has received $38,000 from the Department of Education grants of $35,500 to $38,000, according to the program coordinator, Phil Koshkin.

The Fund for the Improvement of Post Secondary Education was designed to get the program off the ground and is not renewable after the second year.

In addition to the FIPSE grant, the program received $13,500 from Marist and $10,000 from the Gannett Foundation this year, bringing a budget of about $61,500.

The program's annual budget also has $50,000 in tuition credits and $3,000 for transportation to the site, Koshkin said. The rest of the money goes to administrative fees, mostly salaries for the program's organizers, he said.

Students who qualify for financial aid can receive tuition credits of up to $500 per semester, or up to $1,000 per year, for 10 to 15 hours a week in the community service program.

This year 45 students earned tuition credits in 70 placements, according to Koshkin. Some students worked both semesters and three students worked all four semesters.

The program will receive $13,000 for aid voluntarily. Students who do not work the full-time schedule of 10 hours per week will receive credit accordingly.

Koshkin has said fewer students will be able to participate next year because of the smaller budget.

Only 40 placements can be offered with the funding that is now available for next year, Koshkin said. The college is pledged to contribute $13,000 to the program this year, and he expects the Gannett Foundation's $10,000 grant will be available next year.

The grants office is trying to secure funding from other sources to replace the government money, he said.

Water main break leaves Champagnat high and dry by Chris Landry

A break in a water main outside Champagnat Village Monday morning prompted a five-hour shutdown of water on the South End of campus, according to Charles Hall, Sheahan Hall's residence director.

Students in Champagnat, Sheahan, Leo and Marian halls went without water from about 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. last Monday, Hall said.

The problem began when a water main south of Champagnat burst at about 2:30 a.m., creating a small geyser.

Maintenance workers from the Office of Physical Plant decided to wait until later that morning to turn off the water and fix the pipe, Hall said.

Students were able to shower at the MacCann Center. Officials from Physical Plant were unavailable for comment this week.
Coppola’s Restaurant
10% discount for Parent’s Weekend
April 28 - 30
Limit one per ticket
Good for lunch or dinner
2 minutes North of
Hyde Park Shop Rite
229-9113

Exiting Procedures For Spring 1989 Semester
Please be advised that the residence halls will close at 6 p.m. on Thursday, May 11, 1989 to pick-up the refrigerator. You can return it from 9:30 a.m.-11:00 a.m. in front of Leo Hall and from 1:00 p.m.-3:00 p.m. outside of the Physical Education Building.

Kids leave their mark on students
For some, Marist isn't just an alma mater but a family. "I was close to my professors, and all the kids that I worked with," Delgiorno said. "Some of them were my students, some were my children."}

TKE
Continued from page 1
I was president of the Businessmen's Association and my brother was a member of TKE. We were both in the business program at Marist, and we were pretty good friends.

TKE was founded in 1910, and it was the first fraternity on campus. It was originally called the "Three Kings" because there were three members who helped start the fraternity. The name was changed to TKE in 1915.

TKE's current activities include a benefit concert, which is the biggest event of the year. The proceeds from the concert are used to support the scholarships of TKE members. In addition, TKE members are involved in community service projects, such as volunteering at local hospitals and food banks.

For more information on TKE, you can visit the TKE website at tke.org or contact the TKE chapter at Marist College.
College makes long-distance switch

by Stacy Mc oversees

Callers must dial the prefix 1-901 before making the number they wish to call. Students have had to use the prefix since Marist College decided to switch to Long Distance service for its campus earlier this year. All students are welcome to attend this event and are encouraged to bring their parents.

VHF and UHF on-campus stations are working on a limited number of placements will be available. Applications are now being accepted for Community Service Program fall semester placements. Hurry! only a limited number of placements will be available!

The Canterbury Jam to rock park this weekend

by Mike Valens

The Canterbury Jam will be held at Drunker Rock field on Thursday, 9-26 from 6:00 p.m. featuring live music. The concert, held in the university's main athletic field, is sponsored by the Canterbury Jam committee. The campus community is welcome to attend.

The Canterbury Jam is designed to give Canterbury students an opportunity to perform for Canterbury Jam committee and other campus organizations.

The annual event features live music, food, and games in addition to the main event, the Canterbury Jam. All proceeds from the event will go towards the advancement of the Canterbury Jam committee and other campus organizations.

The Canterbury Jam committee is looking for volunteers to help with the event. If you are interested, please contact the Canterbury Jam committee at 585-352-3000 or by email at canterburyjam@marist.edu.

The Campus Crossword

by Carolyn Kirkpatrick

If you are receiving an education loan, you may be able to get in tuition credit next semester in return for helping local non-profit organizations.

$500

Your assistance is needed in the areas of:

- Data Processing
- Childcare
- Education
- Public Relations
- the Homeless
- the Elderly
- Cultural Events
- Hospital Services
- ... and much more!

Applications are now being accepted for Community Service Program fall semester placements. Hurry! only a limited number of placements will be available!

Call: Phil Kosnik
Byrne Residence
Ext. 201

CSL honors college at annual ceremony

by June Yonk

The Council of Student Leaders awarded several organizations with awards at the annual ceremony held last Saturday in the Fireside Lounge. The ceremony is held to recognize the hard work and dedication of the organizations throughout the academic year.

The Council of Student Leaders consists of representatives from various student organizations on campus, including the Student Government Association, the Associated Student Body, the Greek Council, and the Alumni Association. The ceremony is a way to recognize the hard work and dedication of the organizations throughout the academic year.

The Council of Student Leaders awards are given to organizations based on their contributions to the campus community and their success in achieving their goals. The awards are presented in various categories, including community service, leadership, and academic achievement.

The ceremony is a way for the university to recognize the hard work and dedication of the organizations throughout the academic year. The awards are presented to organizations based on their contributions to the campus community and their success in achieving their goals.
Radio station WMCR, Marist College Television or The Circle — community that its decision is impartial, fair and well thought out. Access to the meeting, the board could assure the college community that its decision is impartial, fair and well thought out.

Kappa Epsilon for alleged violations. TKE by deliberating on the appeal if it does not allow the fraternity to hold a debate on the appeal. The practice of briefing a reporter rather than allowing him to participate in the debate is totally misleading. The condom distribution program is not suitable for children. That is unacceptable.

If Rakolta is concerned with the health of the students, he has no truck with education, least of all moral fraud at Marist. Such defeatism has its roots in a lack of understanding of the moral argument. It is impossible for a parent to teach his child about the moral aspects of life if there is no moral debate about it. We must be blunt, AIDS and pro-choice will not go away. We must face these realities and deal with them.

The student body is a community that its decision is impartial, fair and well thought out. The members of the student body should have a say in the deliberations. They should be allowed to speak their minds on the issue.

The tour to end all tours by Mark Miller

O.K., so it was River City Hotel in the City. Jack Diamond and the Dallas Cowboys Jackson 5— $15.00 a ticket. The two hotels were filled. More people attended the show, making the band's first-ever appearance in New York a resounding success. There were several reasons why this concert wasn't as successful as it could have been. The contract for the concert had been made with local radio advertisers, and the price range was $10.00 per ticket. The price was valid, but we allow all students at Marist the right to participate in that kind of moneymaking. However, we try to avoid giving the same information to more than one person.

Every year students criticize CUB on their choice of a concert. After all, our student leaders assume the same positions of responsibility in Student Leadership. If our student leaders presume to do the job properly, we must open the debate in the student community. The students are the ones who do the job, and they must be allowed to speak their minds on the issue.

If Rakolta is concerned with the health of the students, he has no truck with education, least of all moral fraud at Marist. Such defeatism has its roots in a lack of understanding of the moral argument. It is impossible for a parent to teach his child about the moral aspects of life if there is no moral debate about it. We must be blunt, AIDS and pro-choice will not go away. We must face these realities and deal with them.

The student body is a community that its decision is impartial, fair and well thought out. The members of the student body should have a say in the deliberations. They should be allowed to speak their minds on the issue. How can we blame our students? The students are the ones who do the job, and they must be allowed to speak their minds on the issue.

If Rakolta is concerned with the health of the students, he has no truck with education, least of all moral fraud at Marist. Such defeatism has its roots in a lack of understanding of the moral argument. It is impossible for a parent to teach his child about the moral aspects of life if there is no moral debate about it. We must be blunt, AIDS and pro-choice will not go away. We must face these realities and deal with them.

The student body is a community that its decision is impartial, fair and well thought out. The members of the student body should have a say in the deliberations. They should be allowed to speak their minds on the issue. How can we blame our students? The students are the ones who do the job, and they must be allowed to speak their minds on the issue.
Beantown vs. Big Apple

How Bostonians look at New York...

...And how New Yorkers feel about 'up north'

by Michael DeCesare

If interested, please call Ext. 517, or sign up in Room 266 Campus Center

Preparing for an add/drop campusout

by Jo-Anne Prokopowicz

LETTERS

In response to a recently published letter, "It's time for our generation to wake up!" I want to raise the following questions: Who is responsible for not blowing smoke rings — now more than ever? Are you dumb? — referring to the local pride that Bostonians can have in their city.

Miss Jett issued a challenge to her loyal fans at the Marchello — an up and coming local club. Some 467 people were at the show.

As the music faded, the audience recollected the performance of a lifetime. The energy was high, and there was no letup in the excitement. Miss Jett's performance was, without a doubt, one of the most memorable of the year.
"I don't want a lot of hype. I just want something I can count on."
Netters rally past Pace

by Mike O'Reilly

The men's tennis team rallied from a 3-1 deficit on Monday to defeat Pace University, 4-3. Marist fell behind early in the match before No. 4 player Chris Trieste won the final three-set tie to match the 3-3 count. The women's varsity-four also won at Pace.

Crew nearly blanked at LaSalle Invitational

by David Bloodia

Despite qualifying for every final but one, the Marist crew team came away with only one win, under less than ideal conditions, at the LaSalle Invitational last Saturday on the Delaware and Raritan Canal, N.J.

"Some races we did well, others we did bad and some we just sort of fell apart," said Marist Coach Larry Davis. "A win is a win, you know," said Davis. "But, of course, we think we could have done better."

Davis, who is heading back down to the dark, said the races were rushed in order to get them run before the Marist crew never looked back, rolling on to the 18-game victory.

Crew broke the record of Lou Corsetti who played football and lacrosse for Marist from 1978-1982.

"Crew is a great player for us for four years," said Maff. "It's a fitting tribute to his ability."

The lightweight-octuple despite the stalling offense as so not to run up the score. The Red Foxes fired 49 shots on the net of Dowling's 10.

"I've been on the other side," said Maff. "There was nothing to be gained by doing that (running up the score)."

Del Ross led Dowling's offense, taking six of his team's 10 shots and scoring its only goal just 1:23 into the game.

Against Siena last Thursday, the Red Foxes came back from a one-goal deficit and outscored the Saints 4-2 in the third quarter and 5-0 in the fourth to win the victory.

"It was a great step for the program," Maff said. "We knew if we played a good game we could beat them."

The most important thing was that they (Marist) didn't get frustrated when we were up by one and (Siena) came back and went up by two. We stayed in our offense and ran the way we planned."

Despite trailing 7-6 at the half, Maff said the team kept up its confidence.

"The kids played the game to perfection," he said. "They ran the offense patiently and played great defense."

The five-goal fourth quarter ended a fourth quarter scoring drought that had seen Marist score only two goals in the last quarter this season.

Greg Kovacic and Christian King led the offense for the Saints with four points each in the loss.

For cycling, head to hills

For cycling, head to hills

By Bob Davis

The rides may be done on the back of a tour bus or your own bike. But the response is always the same: The people who take part are happy they did.

"I've been on the other side," said Davis. "It is an important game for us. We need to play our best."

"I'm sure the fans will be happy," said Davis. "We played well and came away with the win."

"The fans were great," said Davis. "They were cheering us on from the stands."

Netter's rally past Pace

by Rich Donnelly

More and more bicycles are appearing on the roadways in and around campus, especially now that the spring weather has arrived.

With the ever dangerous Route 9 looming as a deathtrap for cyclists, if you're looking to do some serious or not so serious riding in a safe way, you might want to check out the Mid-Hudson Bicycle Club.

The only cycling club in the immediate area, the club has more than 260 members and is always looking for more, according to Erna S. Wilcox who along with her husband Bill have been in charge of the club's membership since 1979.

"We ride all over Dutchess County," said Mrs. Wilcox, "and we have weekends away in Vermont and the Adirondacks."

"It's really a great riding group. We had 300 members last year, but we live in an area where a lot of people transfer. We have BMXers, teachers, doctors ... we have a variety of people who belong to the club."

Anyone over the age of 18 may join. The annual membership fee is $10 (for a single, or family) and covers the cost of the club's newsletter which is published every month except January.

After that, all rides — held every weekend and some Wednesday evenings during the spring, summer and fall — are free of charge except for the club's annual Century Ride — the club's big event.

The 1989 Century Ride — which up until five years ago used Marist as its starting location — is scheduled for Sept. 17. It offers rides of 25-, 50-, 65-, 125- and 150-miles and starts at SUNY New Paltz.

The rides may be done on multiple speed racing cycles or mountain bikes which have become increasingly popular during the past five years. The ride leader determines the difficulty and length of the ride, and a sag leader brings up the rear of the group. Helmets, water bottles and biking gloves are recommended for all rides. Paniers, packs that hang over the rear tire, or bedrolls are suggested if you plan to pack a lunch.

Rides are held at various levels, from A to D, with A being the fastest and longest and D the slowest and shortest.

An A ride would cover 100 miles or more, travel at a rate of 17 to 20 miles per hour, and have one rest stop at about the 50-mile mark. A B ride covers anywhere from 30 to 40 miles, moves along at 15 to 15 mph, and has rest stops every 20 miles or so.

A C ride usually covers 15 to 30 miles, moves along at 10 mph and has rest stops every 10 miles. A D ride covers anywhere from 20 to 30 miles, moves along at 10 mph, and has rest stops every 15 miles or so.

To join, make the $10 membership check payable to MHBC and send it with your name (spouse, if any), address, nine-digit zip code, and phone number to Erna S. Wilcox, 12 Hudon Drive, Hyde Park, NY 12538-2015 or call 229-5168.