College moves forth with plan for new dorm

by JULIE MARTIN
Associate Editor

The college is planning for the construction of a new dormitory addition to the campus, including a new hightower, dormitories which will be situated on the current site of Benoit House and Gregory House, and additional dining and library facilities, according to Mark Sullivan, executive vice president.

The new dorm, which will be located northeast of the campus center, will house up to 300 students in a room, according to Sullivan.

We want to improve student services like the library and dining, said Sullivan. Basically, we want to improve all aspects of student life at the end of campus.

There were plans to build new townhouses around the current townhouses; however, Sullivan said soil tests determined that site less than desirable.

Now, according to Sullivan, the plan is to knock down Benoit and Gregory Houses, and replace them with three-townhouses on that site.

These new townhouses will be designed to hold 210 students, he said.

With these new additions, Sullivan said the plan is eventually get all students out of Canisius and back on campus.

"It has always been a long-standing goal to bring Marist students back on campus," he said.

Sullivan said freshmen and sophomores would stay in Leo Hall and Shannon Hall; sophomores and juniors would live in Chavasse Hall and the Hebrew; juniors and seniors would then get Garland and the townhouses.

The date for completion of the highestrise is being projected for September '94, while builders are aiming for a September '93 date for the townhouses.

Patrick Dolan, a freshman from Wakefield, Mass., said he is in favor of the plan to build new dorms.

"If everybody eventually ends up on campus, then it will be better in the long run," said Dolan. "You won't have to spend a lot of time going back and forth from your classes.

Craig Chandler, a freshman from Woodstock, Conn., said he would like the idea of adding new buildings if he didn't think the campus wasn't becoming so crowded.

"Add a few more people... maybe a couple of buildings," he said. "This campus should add more land if it keeps building."

Personally, I like this idea, said a freshman from New Hartford, Conn., 'I'm on crew, and having to go back and forth is too much."

Jenna Shannon, a sophomore from Rochester, N.Y., said she would like to see Canterbury remain an option.

"I would personally like to stay on campus," she said, "but some people like the independence of being in downtown.

Other additions to the campus will include resetting Chamoeau parking lot with a green quadrangle.

In response to student concerns about parking, Sullivan said that parking would be relocated to where the current lots are now, as well as in the river lot.

Not all the parking places we have now are being utilized, said Sullivan. We want to keep the heart of the campus for students, and build a parking lot that will provide access for all that need them.

The tennis courts would then be moved down next to McCann, according to Sullivan.

"It think is would be nice to have a place to play sports and stuff," said Fogarty, especially when it gets warm.

Personally, Sullivan said he hopes to eventually add either to the library or build a new one.

The dorms have to come first because the money has to be built, and that has to be in the ground, according to Sullivan.

"We don't want to build a dorm in the middle of the library and then find out that the library is not big enough," said Sullivan. Therefore, we want to build the dorms first and then build the library.
Wayne’s World’ a disappointment for fans - not!

It’s hosted by two very strange guys named Mike Myers and Dana Carvey who broadcast from Wayne’s basement in Toronto. It’s a sketch comedy show featuring a wide variety of characters, parodies, and musical performances.

No new releases, so here’s a reprint of a review on Mr. Big's big score: "Tina Brown"

At the beginning of March, Mike Myers and Dana Carvey left their Toronto basement for the Big Apple to shoot the first two episodes of Wayne’s World on the NBC network.

Speaking of origins, for a movie that had its origins in the basement of an embalmer’s shop, Wayne’s World is a real movie. It’s a real movie for the people who made it.

Teen with AIDS embraces living

By JENNIFER CHANDLER

For Mike Myers, success is sweet. "My Life as a Teenage甲方 first appeared on the big screen in 1993, and since then has been a staple of the American comedy scene.

African-American Week praised, questioned

By JOSEPH T. GRAY

Weekly is a weekly entertainment magazine that covers movies, music, and other forms of popular culture. It is known for its in-depth interviews with celebrities and its coverage of the film and music industries.

Communications alumni to discuss careers

By DOMINICK E. FONTANA

The Communications Arts Society is a professional organization that serves the communications industry. It is known for its events, seminars, and networking opportunities.

AFRICAN-AMERICAN WEEK Praised, Questioned

The African-American Week is a series of events and lectures that celebrate the history, culture, and contributions of African Americans. It is sponsored by the Office of Student Affairs and the Office of Multicultural Affairs.

For the future, Nicols said he hopes to move on to college and become an AIDS counselor/patient advocate. He also wants to open a shelter for kids in the same situation as himself. Nicols said he plans to continue his education and work on his degree.

For the future, Nicols said he hopes to move on to college and become an AIDS counselor/patient advocate. He also wants to open a shelter for kids in the same situation as himself. Nicols said he plans to continue his education and work on his degree.

For the future, Nicols said he hopes to move on to college and become an AIDS counselor/patient advocate. He also wants to open a shelter for kids in the same situation as himself. Nicols said he plans to continue his education and work on his degree.
Panel says hard times still to come

by DONNA SICLARI

In light of the tremendous cost of living and the recent cutbacks in student aid, the Student Government elections this spring could have a big impact on how students financially prepare for the next school year.

"There were several students who were already worried about finances," said Angela Cullen, SGA vice president. "When the cuts were announced, that was the first thing everyone thought about."

According to Cullen, there is a lot of discussion about how to fix the student government's current financial situation.

"SGA has the power to make changes in the student body's financial situation," said Cullen. "But I don't think that we can make these changes on our own. We need to work with the administration to find a solution."

The problem of student aid has been a growing concern for some time.

"The cost of living has been rising, and the amount of student aid has been decreasing," said Cullen. "We need to find a way to balance these two things and make sure that students have the resources they need to succeed."
A Part of Growing Up

The AIDS virus is serious about killing college students. But are we serious about AIDS?

More than 120,000 people have died of Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, AIDS, in this country and 2 million more have been infected with the HIV-virus. In 1990, the number of sick and young people running around who are considered AIDS patients was 34,000. And by the end of 1991, the number has jumped to 58,000, according to the New York Times.

There is a group in the country is 16-25 year-olds. One in 200 college students is infected with the HIV-virus. An increasing number of these students are acknowledged. No one is immune to getting AIDS. Almost everyone in the theater said the person would not be convicted of a particularly vicious or grotesque crime, but about the American legal system. The true beauty of this defense is that the defendant believed he was not guilty beyond a reasonable doubt, because of the ex-heavyweight champ Tyson could not have committed the crime, so he did not do the time. Sure, he could get counseling first, then go to prison, but there is no way a person could avoid punishment for such monstrous crimes. Personally, convicted criminals are sent to prison for the first time one was in reform school.

AIDS is here to stay and it is about time the Marist community, why doesn't Marist have an AIDS-committee,STD workshops and the Culinary Institute of America.

Dahmer’s should be punished not by life imprisonment, but by other students. If one believes murder, or any major crime, is abnormal behavior, then one could argue, that any instance in which someone commits a crime is out of sympathy.
Tours: Welcome to the real Marist

By Peter Timpane
Staff Writer

Anne Ayotte couldn't figure out what had her mother laughing the other day, when her group was touring the campus of Marist College last year.

"I was very embarrassed," said Ayotte, a junior from Westfield, Mass., said she had been talking to a group of six or seven students when her mother turned around and saw a poster of vibrators hanging on the wall behind her.

"I was very embarrassed," said Ayotte, a junior from Westfield, Mass., said she had been talking to a group of six or seven students when her mother turned around and saw a poster of vibrators hanging on the wall behind her.

"I was very embarrassed," said Ayotte, a junior from Westfield, Mass., said she had been talking to a group of six or seven students when her mother turned around and saw a poster of vibrators hanging on the wall behind her.

"I was very embarrassed," said Ayotte, a junior from Westfield, Mass., said she had been talking to a group of six or seven students when her mother turned around and saw a poster of vibrators hanging on the wall behind her.

"I was very embarrassed," said Ayotte, a junior from Westfield, Mass., said she had been talking to a group of six or seven students when her mother turned around and saw a poster of vibrators hanging on the wall behind her.

"I was very embarrassed," said Ayotte, a junior from Westfield, Mass., said she had been talking to a group of six or seven students when her mother turned around and saw a poster of vibrators hanging on the wall behind her.

"I was very embarrassed," said Ayotte, a junior from Westfield, Mass., said she had been talking to a group of six or seven students when her mother turned around and saw a poster of vibrators hanging on the wall behind her.

"I was very embarrassed," said Ayotte, a junior from Westfield, Mass., said she had been talking to a group of six or seven students when her mother turned around and saw a poster of vibrators hanging on the wall behind her.

"I was very embarrassed," said Ayotte, a junior from Westfield, Mass., said she had been talking to a group of six or seven students when her mother turned around and saw a poster of vibrators hanging on the wall behind her.

"I was very embarrassed," said Ayotte, a junior from Westfield, Mass., said she had been talking to a group of six or seven students when her mother turned around and saw a poster of vibrators hanging on the wall behind her.

"I was very embarrassed," said Ayotte, a junior from Westfield, Mass., said she had been talking to a group of six or seven students when her mother turned around and saw a poster of vibrators hanging on the wall behind her.

"I was very embarrassed," said Ayotte, a junior from Westfield, Mass., said she had been talking to a group of six or seven students when her mother turned around and saw a poster of vibrators hanging on the wall behind her.
Three-sport athlete adjusts to hectic schedule every season

BY JAY KRESC

On a chest shrug in Townhouse C or a snap, rolled sleeves, "The reason for missing having anything to do with sports is the time involved," Johnson explains. "I don't know to be with friends or family and the time available to my plans." Johnson offers plans to this point in his sport, why is "I enjoy participating in sports, but I don't get to go for the 3.5 grade point average." Johnson said he is the Martz because of his contributions after the University win. Johnson said other places is also "We played together and practiced every day, so we had to get these wins against the University." Marist said the school record against the University of 175 points. "I thought our team was better against those kids," she said. "We got to confident and losing two of three matches last weekend."

 "I know I'll never be the best, but as long as I'm improving, so for myself, I'll be happy," he said.

Ladies lose to Brooklyn; host key NEC tilt tonight

As J.W. STEWART
Staff Writer

After losing to eventual conference champ Brooklyn, the Red Foxes dropped to 4-5 in the Northeast Conference. Tonight, Marist will host St. Francis (NY) in NEC action.

The women lost Monday night by 15-8, 2-15, 15-7.

The Red Foxes started the game with a 5-1 lead, but couldn't hold onto the ball last Thursday, as well, as Brooklyn won the second set 15-13, 15-11.

After winning three straight games, "I think our team is ready for an upset. We've been losing a lot of matches, and we're ready to turn this around," said Larry VanWagner, head coach. "He gains a lot of confidence when he will attend two swimming practices."

Johnson said he is the Martz because of his contributions after the University win. Johnson said other places is also "We played together and practiced every day, so we had to get these wins against the University." Marist said the school record against the University of 175 points. "I thought our team was better against those kids," she said. "We got to confident and losing two of three matches last weekend."

 "I know I'll never be the best, but as long as I'm improving, so for myself, I'll be happy," he said.

Athletes of the Week

DETT BUCHANAN
Basketball Forward

Buchanan's 18 points and 45 points in a Red Fox victory over Siena are reasons why he is the athlete of the week. Buchanan's components included 31 points and 12 rebounds and 12 percent from the field. In addition, he averaged 5 points and 12 rebounds in three Marist victories.

CLARK BROWN
Women's Basketball Forward

Clark Brown continued to make steady progress for the Red Foxes as she scored a team-high 15 points in Monday's game. She led all scorers with 38 points and 12 rebounds in three Marist victories.

O'BRIEN LEADS RED FOXES TO 4-5

COACH BABBINEAU

"We got to confident and losing two of three matches last weekend."

"I know I'll never be the best, but as long as I'm improving, so for myself, I'll be happy," he said.
The Red Foxes return home tonight — finally

by MIKE O'FARRELL

Sports Editor

It has been three weeks since the men’s basketball team has played a game in the James J. McAnn Recreation Center.

Three long weeks.

The Red Foxes will host the McCann Center with a 7-11 mark. They return after a grueling five-game roadtrip with an 8-15 record, while posting a 6-6 mark in the Northeast Conference.

Tonight, Marist will open a pivotal home game against St. Francis (N.Y.). Tipoff is 8:00 p.m.

Saturday, the Red Foxes will host Long Island University.erness will also yield victories for Henderson and Tom Fitzsimons.

Currently in fifth place in the NEC, Marist has one more game on their season on the road against Wagner.

If the Red Foxes finish the regular season in the top four of the conference, they will host a first-round playoff game.

Head Coach Dave Magarity said he knows his team controls its own destiny. "The team is in the race," he said. "We control our own destiny as long as we win. We need to go right now to finish in the top four and get a first-round home game."

"But, we have to win these two home games in order to put ourselves in that position," he said. "I hope we understand the position we are in and can focus on the next two before we look ahead to anything else."

Marist beat St. Francis and Long Island in the road earlier this season.

Last Thursday, the Red Foxes salvaged the grueling roadtrip with a 96-84 win over Mount St. Mary's in Emmitsburg, Md.

Magarity acknowledged the win was an important one.

"We played well against FDU (a one point loss) and Robert Morris, it was important that we came away with this win," he said.

The Red Foxes were led by sophomore forward Izett Buchanan who tied the school scoring record with 45 points. Buchanan, who had had the top two individual outings in the NEC this season with 45 and 36 points scored in his career, was named to the NEC's all conference team.

"He made outstanding plays, it was a terrific individual performance," said Magarity. "We kept pushing the ball up the court and he was really finishing strong." For Buchanan, it was another sign of good things to come.

"He's shown flashes of brilliance," said Magarity. "Now, he is showing them more often. The big key with Izett is that he can be consistent."

Originally, the sophomore from nearby Galloway, N.J., was credited with 43 points, but five times, as suggested, he made outstanding plays.

Buchanan was not just a scorer for the Red Foxes.

"Dexter and Henderson deserve a lot of credit as well," said Magarity. "Dexter and Henderson deserve a lot of credit as well.

"Point-guard Dexter Dunbar also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.

Point-guard Davor Dushef also continued his fine play. Despite turning the ball over six times, the sophomore added 11 points, six rebounds, two steals and eight assists.