Elton John tribute attracts small group for quake aid

by JOHN DOUGHERTY
Staff Writer

On Friday, Feb. 25, there was a concert in the Campus Center. The concert was to benefit the victims of the Los Angeles earthquake. The show raised $50,000 for AIDS foundations.

The concert was based in Long Island, and there were many students who attended. The show was at 8:30 p.m., and the doors opened at 7:30 p.m.

The show was very successful, and many students were able to see their favorite bands perform.

The event was organized by the Campus Activities Board, and the funds raised will go towards helping those affected by the earthquake.

1:30 a.m., "It's not the best thing for your self-esteem if you lost by a landslide," said. Bob Lynch, director of safety and security.

"I can understand the rationale," said. "I think that it would be wrong to read the results of the election in the middle of the night."

The elections of 1994 are over, and the results have been posted. Not quite. The election results are currently "unofficial" because one candidate is contesting the election.

Voting for the 1994 elections took place last week. The election results are pending until the completion of the investigation of this complaint, every election that took place last week remains unofficial.

I'm out, I'm not going to contest the election. I told him at approximately 1:30 a.m.," said. "I look him in the eye, and I asked him if he was going to contest the election. He said no, and I asked him again. He said yes."

"I'm going to contest the election," said. "I'm going to contest the election."
Spock, Arnie and Wilma all in one article

by JUSTIN BEREMET

Cleveland — "Guns N' Roses!" was the rock band's victorious call of coming to a chance near you.

"I could have had three million dollars," said his father. "You'd have been famous as a 20-year-old," he continued.

Spock, Arnie and Wilma all in one article

by JUSTIN BEREMET

Cleveland — "Guns N' Roses!" was the rock band's victorious call of coming to a chance near you.

"I could have had three million dollars," said his father. "You'd have been famous as a 20-year-old," he continued.

Guest columnist provides views on G n R's "Reckoning"

by DAVID WHITEHEAD

Cleveland — "Guns N' Roses!" was the rock band's victorious call of coming to a chance near you.

"I could have had three million dollars," said his father. "You'd have been famous as a 20-year-old," he continued.

The World Out There

by ABBI NORI

Cleveland — "Guns N' Roses!" was the rock band's victorious call of coming to a chance near you.

"I could have had three million dollars," said his father. "You'd have been famous as a 20-year-old," he continued.

You CAN BE A STOCKBROKER

by JENNIFER GADZONAL

Cleveland — "Guns N' Roses!" was the rock band's victorious call of coming to a chance near you.

"I could have had three million dollars," said his father. "You'd have been famous as a 20-year-old," he continued.

Suspend cranial activity for "Nude Men"

by INTHERHEND

Cleveland — "Guns N' Roses!" was the rock band's victorious call of coming to a chance near you.

"I could have had three million dollars," said his father. "You'd have been famous as a 20-year-old," he continued.

Between the Lines

Lawrence, N.Y. — "Guns N' Roses!" was the rock band's victorious call of coming to a chance near you.

"I could have had three million dollars," said his father. "You'd have been famous as a 20-year-old," he continued.

Man rapes companion gives weapon to police

by INTHERHEND

Cleveland — "Guns N' Roses!" was the rock band's victorious call of coming to a chance near you.

"I could have had three million dollars," said his father. "You'd have been famous as a 20-year-old," he continued.
Right to know

The election is now over; however, it is important that we take the time to realize what we have accomplished as students of the Student Government Association. Although we cannot guarantee that every student is satisfied with the outcome of the election, we hope that everyone can look back on the election as a success.

Many people have great interest in the result of the election. The election is important to everyone involved. However, we must also not forget the importance of what we have accomplished as students of the Student Government Association.

The election is important to everyone involved. However, we must also not forget the importance of what we have accomplished as students of the Student Government Association. As a result, we hope that everyone can look back on the election as a success.

Right to vote

The election is now over; however, it is important that we take the time to realize what we have accomplished as students of the Student Government Association. Although we cannot guarantee that every student is satisfied with the outcome of the election, we hope that everyone can look back on the election as a success.

Many people have great interest in the result of the election. The election is important to everyone involved. However, we must also not forget the importance of what we have accomplished as students of the Student Government Association.

The election is important to everyone involved. However, we must also not forget the importance of what we have accomplished as students of the Student Government Association. As a result, we hope that everyone can look back on the election as a success.

Post-election view

When the statement was made, it was the most unfortunate thing to happen. It was the most unfortunate thing to happen. It was the most unfortunate thing to happen.

The question, while factual, should not be taken as a reason for us to take offense. We should not be taken as a reason for us to take offense.

The question, while factual, should not be taken as a reason for us to take offense. We should not be taken as a reason for us to take offense.

The question, while factual, should not be taken as a reason for us to take offense. We should not be taken as a reason for us to take offense.
Students spend a unique break

by CHRIS BERINATO

Hello

It was a pretty busier day for me today, but I still managed to get some stuff done. I'm going to try to get some work done today as well, but I'm not sure if that's going to happen.

The weather was pretty nice today, so I decided to go out for a walk. I walked around the campus for a while and then decided to stop at a nearby cafe for a cup of coffee. The coffee was pretty good, and I enjoyed the view.

Afterwards, I decided to go to the library to do some reading. I found some interesting books and spent a few hours there. I guess I should have done that earlier, but I was too busy with other things.

Overall, it was a pretty good day. I hope you had a good day too.
Basketball clinic helps local youth

by PATRICIA SMITH

Local kids were off their school interruptions and spent Tuesday shooting hoops, passing and rebounding with their favorite Marist players at the spring basketball clinic. The clinic was sponsored by the men’s and women’s basketball teams of Marist College. The goal of the clinic was to bring the Marist basketball teams closer to the local kids to basketball and introduce the young kids to their favorite basketball players.

According to Coach Phil Kelly, the clinic is a way for the players to give back to the community.

"I think it’s a great opportunity for kids. They can meet their favorite basketball players and work on their skills with the players," Kelly said.

"It’s an enjoyable day for them and something that they will always remember," former player
Kevin McNamee said.

="453-944-8000"

When you give the gift of love, make sure it’s wrapped properly.

The Long Island Advertising Club is looking for people who are looking for scholarship help.

As long as you are a student and you are a member of the Long Island Advertising Club, you are eligible to apply.

For more information, contact:

The scholarship winner will be selected by the Long Island Advertising Club and announced in the next issue of the Long Island Advertiser.

http://www.longislandadvertiser.com

To protect against AIDS and other STDs, always use latex condoms.

1994 MESSAGE FORM

NAME:_____________________

ADDRESS:__________________

MESSAGE:__________________

Phone:_____________________

The Circle, March 3, 1994

1994 ORDER FORM

NAME:_____________________

ADDRESS:__________________

MESSAGE:__________________

Phone:_____________________

Any questions about ordering a yearbook or seminar packages should be directed to the REYNARD at 212-1094.

Buchanan gets NEC Player of the Year

Buchanan was named the NEC Player of the Year.

"I’ve been working hard on my game every day," Buchanan said.

"I’ve been working hard on my
game every day," Buchanan said.

Runners solid at Seton Invite

Runners from Marist College have been solid at the recent Seton Invite.

"It was a tough meet," said
teacher.

"It was a tough meet," said
teacher.

1994 MESSAGE FORM

NAME:_____________________

ADDRESS:__________________

MESSAGE:__________________

Phone:_____________________

The Circle, March 3, 1994

1994 ORDER FORM

NAME:_____________________

ADDRESS:__________________

MESSAGE:__________________

Phone:_____________________

Any questions about ordering a yearbook or seminar packages should be directed to the REYNARD at 212-1094.

Buchanan gets NEC Player of the Year

Buchanan was named the NEC Player of the Year.

"I’ve been working hard on my
game every day," Buchanan said.

"I’ve been working hard on my
game every day," Buchanan said.

Runners solid at Seton Invite

Runners from Marist College have been solid at the recent Seton Invite.

"It was a tough meet," said
teacher.

"It was a tough meet," said
teacher.

1994 MESSAGE FORM

NAME:_____________________

ADDRESS:__________________

MESSAGE:__________________

Phone:_____________________

The Circle, March 3, 1994

1994 ORDER FORM

NAME:_____________________

ADDRESS:__________________

MESSAGE:__________________

Phone:_____________________

Any questions about ordering a yearbook or seminar packages should be directed to the REYNARD at 212-1094.
Red Foxes upset first-place Rider

BY TED HOLMLUND

Sports Editor

When a two-goal lead at 1:54 into the second period had the Red Foxes cruising up the ice like a pair of ice skaters, the next event was to be a three-goal deficit in 1:54 seconds. The game was an emotional rollercoaster that ended with the Red Foxes sitting on a 4-2 win, defeating the first-place Rider Red Hawks.

Marist was riding high after a 3-1 shutout win over Wagner Wednesday and a 3-1 road win over Hofstra the previous weekend. But things went awry when Rider scored twice in the first period to take a 2-0 lead. Rider's Andy Seiter and Chris Laws scored the goals to give Rider a 2-0 lead at 9:24 left in the opening period.

But Rider's lead was short-lived when John Lamb of the Red Foxes scored his first collegiate goal to cut the deficit to 2-1 at 10:51. The Red Foxes had been trying to get their offense going and things finally came together with Lamb's goal.

The Red Foxes continued to press for a goal and got it at 11:36 when Andy Salyer scored his second goal of the season and 12th of his career. Rider was leading 2-2 in the second period when Rider's Matt Sauer scored at 15:09 to give Rider a 3-2 lead and his fourth goal of the season. Rider was leading 3-2 when things took a turn for the worse for Rider. Rider's goalie, Brad Kamp, made a save on the Red Foxes' Christopher Sansola but gave up a rebound that was put home by John Lamb at 18:59 to tie the game at 3-3.

Lamb's goal was significant because it was the turning point of the game and set the stage for the game-winning goal. The Red Foxes continued to press and got the game-winning goal at 19:17 on a goal by Andy Salyer. Salyer's goal was the result of a Dieter Vanderschuren shot at the point that was blocked and the rebound was put home by Salyer.

The Red Foxes face Hofstra University Saturday at 3:30 p.m. at the College of Staten Island and then head to Hamilton for a game at 7 p.m. Monday night.

---

Health Services reopens gynecological clinic

BY JULAN YANUSZ

Staff Writer

After historically being held fall and spring, the gynecological clinic (GCC) has started accepting patients every Friday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. for an annual physical examination.

The clinic, located in University Hall, is open to all Marist students. Marist students must be enrolled in one of the three clinical groups to be seen. The three clinical groups are Medicine, Nursing, and Dental.

According to MD fist-year student, Anne Gormley, "It's good to have the clinic back because it provides a service for the campus. The clinic helps students get the care they need in a timely manner."
The INNER CIRCLE

OPINIONS
MARCH 3, 1994

THE INNER CIRCLE

The Circle conducted a non-science poll from Feb. 22 - March 1. Under 500 students were asked to respond to the following question:

What is your first choice for housing next year?

Gregory - 1
Benoit - 2
Champagnat - 13
Off Campus - 15
Old Townhouses - 66
Garland - 83
New Townhouses - 134
Midrise - 144

From the home office in Poughkeepsie, NY...
Committee proposal may suggest Marist split into separate schools for September.

by DANA BUONICONTI and MAURA BROUILLILTE

The Marist College Athletics Committee is currently working on a proposal that may result in Marist being split into separate schools for September.

According to Mark Sullivan, the proposal would involve creating an academic division that would allow for the separation of programs.

"We are looking at creating a separate academic division that would allow for the separation of programs," Sullivan said. "This would allow for the creation of separate schools within Marist, which would be beneficial for the students and the overall academic environment."
Red Foxes look to go over 500

by ANDREW J. HOLMLUND

The Red Wolves, with a record of 1-1 through the first two games of the season, are one of the biggest surprises in the NCAA Tournament. They have been dominating opponents with their quick defense and strong pitching.

The team was formed in 2003 and has made significant strides in its first season. Last year, they won just 30 games, but have already surpassed that total this season.

The key to their success has been a strong pitching staff, led by ace pitcher Sarah Thompson. Thompson has already set several records this season, including the most strikeouts in a single game.

Thompson has been backed by a solid defense, which has allowed the team to keep games close. With their strong pitching and solid defense, the Red Wolves are looking to make a deep run in the NCAA Tournament.

The team will be tested in the next few weeks as they face some tough opponents. They will need to continue their strong play to advance in the tournament.

Coaches and analysts are impressed with the team's progress so far. "They are playing with a lot of confidence," said one coach. "This is a team to watch in the NCAA Tournament."
Costello and Gavigan: same school of thought

by TED HOLMLUND
Sports Editor

Jay Gavigan and Daryl Costello do not go to the same pitching school. Costello is capable of throwing his fastball up to 90 mph mixing it up with hard breaking stuff. On the other hand, Gavigan likes to change speeds and depends more on control and “hitting the spots.”

However, the two have both the same mindset in one area. Both players want to contribute in any way possible to help turn the third-year program around after last year and first-year seasons, respectively.

“We can’t sit and tell the younger guys to have a better attitude, if we’re not going to,” Costello, who lives in Rodenake, N.Y., said. “If the older guys are screwing around in the bullpen, the younger guys follow. We have to set a winning example.”

“A lot of the younger guys do have good attitudes,” he added. Gavigan, who was 1-3 with a 6.92 earned run average last year, said the team to start winning ballgames.

“I don’t badly and we win, it’s alright,” he said. “If I do well and we win, it’s even better.”

Although the staff has not been assigned roles yet, head coach Art Smith said he is looking for both seniors to improve and help bolster a staff that had a 7.64 ERA last year.

“Gavigan relies on change of pace and speed and movement,” the third-year coach said. “He’s one of those crafty guys.”

Smith especially has high hopes for Costello who had a 2-1 record in his first season. Costello, a crafty guy in his own right, likes to study people and develop a repertoire of pitches.

“Jay’s a really gutsy pitcher who is a dominant pitcher in the conference,” the junior right-hander said. “Costello is our hardest thrower. When he’s on, he’s untouchable.”

Although both players are concentrating on this season, they are also planning for the future.

Gavigan, who majors in marketing, is planning to go to law school. Hofstra is his first choice where he hopes to become a resident director.

Costello, a psychology major with approximately a 3.5 grade point average, is looking to graduate school and get a Phd. in neuro science. His top three choices are New York University, the University of Connecticut and Rochester.

However, when both players take the mound, they put everything else aside and take on their respective opponents.

“It’s not about the game,” Costello said. “Even when I’m warming up in the pen or on the sidelines, it’s a different mindset. You have to concentrate on you and the batter. It’s almost a numbness of concentration,” he added.

“You need to change minds,” Costello said. “I think he has the best closer role. Costello suffered from some arm problems at the end of the year.

“Costello could be very good,” he said. “He has the talent to be a dominating pitcher in the conference. He can be as good as he wants to be.”

Junior pitcher Jeff Rose has seen a lot of Gavigan and Costello and said he feels they are primed to have good seasons.

“Jay’s a really good pitcher who has the stuff to finish it off,” the junior right-hander said. “We’re starting to heat up this year.”

On the diamond, Southworth, a senior pitcher on the Marist softball team, said they are mentally primed for the upcoming season, which starts Tuesday, March 15, in Fort Myers, Fla., as the program since its inception two years ago.

“His weakness is that he rushes (on the mound). We slowed him down, he’s looking much better now,” Costello said. “I think he has the best attitude. He’s the kind of guy who can be a good pitcher if he keeps his head on straight and has a good manager.”

Head coach Art Smith gives his players some instructions. Pictures of senior pitchers Jay Gavigan and Costello were not available at press time, breaking stuff off the team. He’s one of those guys who can help us out.”

“Daryl throws gas,” Gavigan said of his senior teammate. “He could get drafted, if he gets his mind set. He can blow people away.”

Although Smith has not assigned any roles to his pitchers, Costello has a chance to be in the starting rotation and Gavigan, an 11-7 pitcher last year, is working on a change of pace. Both are working on changing their style of pitching.

“Assistant” coach (Joe) Bruno said the baseball team was “a lot better,” Gavigan, a Brooklyn, N.Y. resident who had a 2-1 record a year ago.

Gavigan said he will pitch at any position. “It’s going to be fun.”

The versatile thrower, said she will miss college, her teammates, and the sport she has loved since 5th grade.

“I had a lot of fun last year,” the 2-6, 1-inch senior said. “Six and 29 was very exciting. I don’t know how any of us made it through that season.”

Southworth continued. “We have only nine or 10 people show up for a game.”

The John Jay High School graduate also said she has liked the way women’s varsity sports have been recognized at Marist.

“I think (the athletic administrators) are going in the right direction,” Southworth said. “I’m really happy to see a college that has so many female athletes playing organized sports.”

Playing softball is not the only pride and joy for all this right-handed hurler.

She likes to play many sports, especially softball. She also loves to go shopping.

“I am a bopping basketball,” Southworth said. “I love sports, and of course shopping. I’m a shop-a-holic. All the money I make, goes right back to the store."

As she prepares to step into the final edition of her college career, she said she sees a lot of positives for a team that ended with a 22-22 record a year ago.

“We have a solid defense and offense,” Southworth said. “In order to do well, I think we’ll have to be totally dedicated to ourselves and to the team. Put players first and then ourselves.”

The versatile thrower said she will miss college, her teammates, and the sport she has loved since 5th grade.

“After the end of the year, in a way, I just want to thank the players and coaches for all the good times we had,” Southworth said. “When I look back at college, I remember.”

Daryl Costello, a psychology major, holds a 3.5 cumulative grade-point average.

Assistant pitching coach Steve Graham said he has worked out some mechanical glitches and is poised to have a good year.

“From talking to coach, I’ll hopefully be starting on the weekends,” Costello said.

A wrist pitcher can pitch twice a week on Wednesday and Sunday.

Gavigan said he will pitch at any time—he just wants the ball. “It doesn’t matter as long as I get in there,” he said.