Ex-NYC Police Commissioner to give Commencement address

by DANA RUOCOCINTI
Senior Editor

The search is finally over. Former New York City Police Commissioner Raymond W. Kelly has been announced as Marist's 1995 Commencement speaker.

Kelly, who most recently was appointed by President Clinton Director of the International Police Mission to Haiti, has, according to Tim Massie, head of college relations, "a close affinity for Marist."

"Kelly was a graduate of Archbishop Molloy, a Marist Brother. High School in Queens, so he is rooted in Marist ideals," Massie said.

In Haiti, Kelly led the training of police recruits by more than 1,000 representatives from 20 countries; he returned to the United States in April when his mission was turned over to the United Nations.

Lately, Kelly, who is president of Investigative Services Group, Inc., a private-security company, has been in the news on a daily basis on ABC's "20/20." Brewing opinions on security, safety and terrorism issues with regard to the tragedy in Oklahoma City.

Student Govt. decides fate of club cap

by DARYL RICHARD
Associate Editor

Yesterday was a historic day for the Student Government Association. At the first ever joint meeting between the board and the Senate, the Senate voted 6 to 2 to raise the club cap by one fraternity and one sorority. The other five senators agreeing with Daryl Richardson, head of student government, said they think the motion to "raise the cap on Greek organizations" has given the Senate an opportunity to test the new Matrix system. Senator T.J. Carlson said, "We need a new cap because we have run out of room for one more fraternity and one sorority - because of gender equality reasons."

"The other five senators agreeing with me," Richardson said, "are Larry Bialecki, head of the club council, and I think it is about time the cap is raised. Senator T.J. Carlson said the Senate was unanimous and that the cap issue will now go to the full Senate for a vote."

"It restored my faith in student government," said T.J. Carlson. "The problem had never been taken seriously before, but they (Nick Cucuzzo, Jennifer Kurtz, Nicole Montipagni) put it in the extra time and effort needed."

"Their higher salary is very justifiable," Murray said. He explained that the two professors used the grant money to set up Excel Link, a computer network designed to help small manufacturers in New York state be competitive in the global economy.

"The salaries of the top three Marist College officials went up this fiscal year. According to the college's 90 tax form filed for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1993, and ending June 30, 1994, there was a minimum increase of 6.6 percent among Marist's three highest paid officers."

President Dennis J. Murray said his salary increased from $170,500 to $185,000 this year, an increase of $14,500. Dr. Onkar Sharma, chair of the computer science department, was named vice president of academic affairs, making $95,600 this year, about a 6 percent increase from his salary of $90,245 last year.

The tax form also included the salaries of the five highest paid Marist employees, excluding officers, directors and trustees.

"The degree of complexity Murray speaks of refers to the size of the school's budget. This fiscal year, Marist's budget totaled $66 million."

The salaries of the top three Marist College officials went up this fiscal year. According to the college's 90 tax form filed for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1993, and ending June 30, 1994, there was a minimum increase of 6.6 percent among Marist's three highest paid officers.

President Dennis J. Murray said his salary increased from $170,500 to $185,000 this year, an increase of $14,500. Dr. Onkar Sharma, chair of the computer science department, was named vice president of academic affairs, making $95,600 this year, about a 6 percent increase from his salary of $90,245 last year.

The tax form also included the salaries of the five highest paid Marist employees, excluding officers, directors and trustees.

Dr. Onkar Sharma, chair of the computer science department, was named vice president of academic affairs, making $95,600 this year, about a 6 percent increase from his salary of $90,245 last year.

The tax form also included the salaries of the five highest paid Marist employees, excluding officers, directors and trustees.

Dr. Onkar Sharma, chair of the computer science department, was named vice president of academic affairs, making $95,600 this year, about a 6 percent increase from his salary of $90,245 last year.

The tax form also included the salaries of the five highest paid Marist employees, excluding officers, directors and trustees.

Dr. Onkar Sharma, chair of the computer science department, was named vice president of academic affairs, making $95,600 this year, about a 6 percent increase from his salary of $90,245 last year.

The tax form also included the salaries of the five highest paid Marist employees, excluding officers, directors and trustees.

Dr. Onkar Sharma, chair of the computer science department, was named vice president of academic affairs, making $95,600 this year, about a 6 percent increase from his salary of $90,245 last year.

The tax form also included the salaries of the five highest paid Marist employees, excluding officers, directors and trustees.

Dr. Onkar Sharma, chair of the computer science department, was named vice president of academic affairs, making $95,600 this year, about a 6 percent increase from his salary of $90,245 last year.
Predictable but satisfying, 'Caruso takes first star turn in 'Death'

by MICKY COTE

It's Magic, Drugs, Nasty cars and pointy haired, long-haired bad guys. The only thing missing is a really good script. The movie, Death, is the story of a young man who is released from prison in the nick of time to save the life of his infant son. While he was behind bars his wife, Janet (Felicity Jones), was on trial for murder. The trial is a disaster and Janet is found guilty and sent to prison.

The movie is directed by Rob Reiner and stars James Caan as the lead character, Tony Caruso. The film is about a man who is released from prison after serving a long sentence for a crime he didn't commit. He returns home to find his family in turmoil and his world turned upside down.

There are several scenes that are particularly well executed. In one scene, Caruso is shown standing in front of a mirror, looking at himself and his reflection. The camera angle is such that you can see both his face and the reflection's face at the same time. This creates a sense of duality and confusion, as you wonder if what you see in the mirror is real or just an illusion.

Another scene involves Caruso and his wife driving in the rain. The sound of the rain on the windshield and the sound of the car engine are both used to create a sense of tension and unease. This is further heightened when Caruso suddenly brakes hard and swerves to avoid hitting a deer on the side of the road. The impact of the car hitting the deer is felt by the audience as well as the characters in the film.

The acting is generally good, with Caan delivering a particularly strong performance. However, the script is somewhat weak and the dialogue is often forced and stilted. This detracts from the overall impact of the film.

In conclusion, 'Caruso takes first star turn in 'Death'' is a mixed bag. It has some good elements, such as the well-executed scenes and the strong performance by Caan. However, the weak script and forced dialogue prevent it from being a truly great film.
SIGNING OFF...

Dana Buoniconti, senior editor

Matthew Dombrowski, faculty advisor

M. Godzilla, Clark faculty advisor

Dana Buoniconti, senior editor

memories. We all came to Marist with expectations of greatness. It fizzled.

and didn't know a soul? Who can forget the death of Kurt Cobain?

. Many aspects of your life into perspective.

We also came here to get an education not only in a major field of study but also in life.

It's strange and frightening to think that come May 20 all of these little, insignificant

We learned that life is not always fair. That people sometimes have their lives ripped

Well, then there are those who experienced drugs, thought they were good and found a

Somehow during the all-nighter and the studying, we all learned something about

WELCOME TO THE REAL WORLD, SUNDAY! GOOD LUCK!

4

the New

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT PAGE

Covering all of the Hudson Valley's stuff to see and do in one convenient package. Come next year.

For Info About Being a Part of it All Call Larry Boda at ext. 4313

And That's the Way It Is

The junior class prepares to assume the position in the world. "I'm not graduating, I'm not

What you have been doing here is that the departing student

something with our lives or not."

Do the interesting things instead of the trivial. Plan a summer, a year at a time. Schedule

I'm not graduating, I'm not

What you have been doing here is that the departing student

something with our lives or not."

Do the interesting things instead of the trivial. Plan a summer, a year at a time. Schedule

I'm not graduating, I'm not

What you have been doing here is that the departing student

something with our lives or not."

Do the interesting things instead of the trivial. Plan a summer, a year at a time. Schedule

I'm not graduating, I'm not

What you have been doing here is that the departing student

something with our lives or not."

Do the interesting things instead of the trivial. Plan a summer, a year at a time. Schedule

I'm not graduating, I'm not

What you have been doing here is that the departing student

something with our lives or not."

Do the interesting things instead of the trivial. Plan a summer, a year at a time. Schedule

I'm not graduating, I'm not

What you have been doing here is that the departing student

something with our lives or not."

Do the interesting things instead of the trivial. Plan a summer, a year at a time. Schedule

I'm not graduating, I'm not
Indigo Girls leave lasting impression

By CINDY BOTTICELLO
Staff Writer

I thought it was cool," the soft-spoken soprano said. "I didn't know, maybe it had to do with the way you saw her but I saw her, and I was free," Indigo Girls lead singer, Emily Saliers, sang as a 10-year-old. "I mean, I was walking around."

After seeing five Indigo Girls concerts in the last 10 months, it was extremely pricey, but the food and drink at Berties is far beyond any of its competitors. Food and drink at Berties are served by the areas best. "I have enjoyed my interactions with each, and I hope their future success is continued," said Saliers. "I greatly appreciated their friendship, attentiveness, and politeness."

In the Spring, around 7:30 in the evening, the River Station Bistro provides some of the best seafood in Dutchess County. "The Grand Slam breakfast at Berties is prepared in a way that is any more "proper," and turn to their fans to sing the well," Ray, too, has taken steps with her music. During The Thing That Lived, Ray sings an emotional power ballad which is a reenactment of the events of the Summer War II Holocaust. 'I thought it was cool," the 10-year-old said. "I didn't know, maybe it had to do with the way you saw her but I saw her, and I was free," Indigo Girls lead singer, Emily Saliers, sang as a 10-year-old. "I mean, I was walking around."

After seeing five Indigo Girls concerts in the last 10 months, it was extremely pricey, but the food and drink at Berties is far beyond any of its competitors. Food and drink at Berties are served by the areas best. "I have enjoyed my interactions with each, and I hope their future success is continued," said Saliers. "I greatly appreciated their friendship, attentiveness, and politeness."

In the Spring, around 7:30 in the evening, the River Station Bistro provides some of the best seafood in Dutchess County. "The Grand Slam breakfast at Berties is prepared in a way that is any more "proper," and turn to their fans to sing the well," Ray, too, has taken steps with her music. During The Thing That Lived, Ray sings an emotional power ballad which is a reenactment of the events of the Summer War II Holocaust. "I thought it was cool," the 10-year-old said. "I didn't know, maybe it had to do with the way you saw her but I saw her, and I was free," Indigo Girls lead singer, Emily Saliers, sang as a 10-year-old. "I mean, I was walking around."

After seeing five Indigo Girls concerts in the last 10 months, it was extremely pricey, but the food and drink at Berties is far beyond any of its competitors. Food and drink at Berties are served by the areas best. "I have enjoyed my interactions with each, and I hope their future success is continued," said Saliers. "I greatly appreciated their friendship, attentiveness, and politeness."

In the Spring, around 7:30 in the evening, the River Station Bistro provides some of the best seafood in Dutchess County. "The Grand Slam breakfast at Berties is prepared in a way that is any more "proper," and turn to their fans to sing the well," Ray, too, has taken steps with her music. During The Thing That Lived, Ray sings an emotional power ballad which is a reenactment of the events of the Summer War II Holocaust. "I thought it was cool," the 10-year-old said. "I didn't know, maybe it had to do with the way you saw her but I saw her, and I was free," Indigo Girls lead singer, Emily Saliers, sang as a 10-year-old. "I mean, I was walking around."

After seeing five Indigo Girls concerts in the last 10 months, it was extremely pricey, but the food and drink at Berties is far beyond any of its competitors. Food and drink at Berties are served by the areas best. "I have enjoyed my interactions with each, and I hope their future success is continued," said Saliers. "I greatly appreciated their friendship, attentiveness, and politeness."

In the Spring, around 7:30 in the evening, the River Station Bistro provides some of the best seafood in Dutchess County. "The Grand Slam breakfast at Berties is prepared in a way that is any more "proper," and turn to their fans to sing the well," Ray, too, has taken steps with her music. During The Thing That Lived, Ray sings an emotional power ballad which is a reenactment of the events of the Summer War II Holocaust. "I thought it was cool," the 10-year-old said. "I didn't know, maybe it had to do with the way you saw her but I saw her, and I was free," Indigo Girls lead singer, Emily Saliers, sang as a 10-year-old. "I mean, I was walking around."

After seeing five Indigo Girls concerts in the last 10 months, it was extremely pricey, but the food and drink at Berties is far beyond any of its competitors. Food and drink at Berties are served by the areas best. "I have enjoyed my interactions with each, and I hope their future success is continued," said Saliers. "I greatly appreciated their friendship, attentiveness, and politeness."

In the Spring, around 7:30 in the evening, the River Station Bistro provides some of the best seafood in Dutchess County. "The Grand Slam breakfast at Berties is prepared in a way that is any more "proper," and turn to their fans to sing the well," Ray, too, has taken steps with her music. During The Thing That Lived, Ray sings an emotional power ballad which is a reenactment of the events of the Summer War II Holocaust. "I thought it was cool," the 10-year-old said. "I didn't know, maybe it had to do with the way you saw her but I saw her, and I was free," Indigo Girls lead singer, Emily Saliers, sang as a 10-year-old. "I mean, I was walking around."

After seeing five Indigo Girls concerts in the last 10 months, it was extremely pricey, but the food and drink at Berties is far beyond any of its competitors. Food and drink at Berties are served by the areas best. "I have enjoyed my interactions with each, and I hope their future success is continued," said Saliers. "I greatly appreciated their friendship, attentiveness, and politeness."

In the Spring, around 7:30 in the evening, the River Station Bistro provides some of the best seafood in Dutchess County. "The Grand Slam breakfast at Berties is prepared in a way that is any more "proper," and turn to their fans to sing the well," Ray, too, has taken steps with her music. During The Thing That Lived, Ray sings an emotional power ballad which is a reenactment of the events of the Summer War II Holocaust. "I thought it was cool," the 10-year-old said. "I didn't know, maybe it had to do with the way you saw her but I saw her, and I was free," Indigo Girls lead singer, Emily Saliers, sang as a 10-year-old. "I mean, I was walking around."

After seeing five Indigo Girls concerts in the last 10 months, it was extremely pricey, but the food and drink at Berties is far beyond any of its competitors. Food and drink at Berties are served by the areas best. "I have enjoyed my interactions with each, and I hope their future success is continued," said Saliers. "I greatly appreciated their friendship, attentiveness, and politeness."

In the Spring, around 7:30 in the evening, the River Station Bistro provides some of the best seafood in Dutchess County. "The Grand Slam breakfast at Berties is prepared in a way that is any more "proper," and turn to their fans to sing the well," Ray, too, has taken steps with her music. During The Thing That Lived, Ray sings an emotional power ballad which is a reenactment of the events of the Summer War II Holocaust. "I thought it was cool," the 10-year-old said. "I didn't know, maybe it had to do with the way you saw her but I saw her, and I was free," Indigo Girls lead singer, Emily Saliers, sang as a 10-year-old. "I mean, I was walking around."

After seeing five Indigo Girls concerts in the last 10 months, it was extremely pricey, but the food and drink at Berties is far beyond any of its competitors. Food and drink at Berties are served by the areas best. "I have enjoyed my interactions with each, and I hope their future success is continued," said Saliers. "I greatly appreciated their friendship, attentiveness, and politeness."

In the Spring, around 7:30 in the evening, the River Station Bistro provides some of the best seafood in Dutchess County. "The Grand Slam breakfast at Berties is prepared in a way that is any more "proper," and turn to their fans to sing the well," Ray, too, has taken steps with her music. During The Thing That Lived, Ray sings an emotional power ballad which is a reenactment of the events of the Summer War II Holocaust. "I thought it was cool," the 10-year-old said. "I didn't know, maybe it had to do with the way you saw her but I saw her, and I was free," Indigo Girls lead singer, Emily Saliers, sang as a 10-
Johnston resigns as coach

by JASON FARAGO
Staff Writer

There will be a changing of the guard at Marist College volleyball this season when Teri Johnston resigns as head coach following a 10-year stint.

Johnston, 39, who is also an assistant professor, led the Red Foxes to a 23-23 record in 1998-99 and returned to his alma mater after leaving the State University of New York at Cortland where he was a two-year volunteer assistant.

Johnston said he was contacted about the coaching opening and felt it was a good opportunity for him.

He said, "We were interested in the job because we had a chance to come back to our alma mater and coach a DI program, and also we felt it was a good opportunity to challenge ourselves and to do something..." Johnston said he was told that the team had been losing players in recent years because of transfers and facilities issues.

"I think that's one of the main reasons we're interested in this job, to try to get the program back on track," Johnston said.

Johnston said he was told that the assistant coach position would be available and that the school was looking to add another assistant coach if possible.

"I think that's one of the reasons we're also interested in this job," Johnston said.

Johnston said he was told that the school was interested in bringing a new coach on board to help lead the team back to success.

"The school has expressed a lot of enthusiasm," Johnston said.

Johnston said he was told that he would be in charge of recruitment and administration, and that he would have a lot of input into the program, including the hiring of assistant coaches.

"I think that's a good opportunity," Johnston said.

Johnston said he was looking forward to the challenges of coaching at Marist and was ready to work with the team to help it improve.

"I think that's one of the reasons we're also interested in this job," Johnston said.

Johnston said he was told that the school was interested in bringing a new coach on board to help lead the team back to success.

"The school has expressed a lot of enthusiasm," Johnston said.

Johnston said he was told that he would be in charge of recruitment and administration, and that he would have a lot of input into the program, including the hiring of assistant coaches.

"I think that's a good opportunity," Johnston said.