TKE vs. Marist: The saga continues

by JEFF DAHNCKE
Staff Writer

Four years after being dismissed from campus, the Tau Kappa Epsilon (TKE) fraternity is wondering when it might again get some attention from Marist College. Since losing their status as a Marist organization in 1996, the brothers of the fraternity feel that they have done everything that a recognized fraternity is required to do. "We know we're doing 10 times more than other fraternities, and we don't have to," said Rick Winters, TKE president.

Community service causes they have dedicated time to include the Juvenile Diabetes Association, American Lung Association, Salvation Army, and Clearwater. But while Steve Sansola, administrative advisor for the Greek Council, said that community service could be one way to regain the trust of the college, he has not seen any behavior from TKE that would warrant a change in their status. "The history with TKE with this college is not positive," Sansola said. "Any organization that has not been recognized by the college, and... please see TKE, pg. 3.

Abroad program lacks luck of the Irish

by CHRISTY BARR
Staff Writer

After much student interest, the Marist Abroad Program expanded to include Ireland, but the first semester was not without its problems. Ireland was added to the program's options last spring, before that students wanted to study abroad in Ireland had to make their own program, including finding their own housing and unioning with an Irish university. The program Marist set up consists of 6 credits of internship, and some credits of coursework. Students take a foundation course called Irish Culture and Society, which introduces them to the country along with two elective courses. Students in the program are placed in a homestay with an Irish family and courses are taken with LSE College in Dublin.

Student complaints about the program included travel distance from the homestay to the center of the city. Library &... please see IRELAND, pg. 4.

SGA President looking to next semester

by CHRIS GROGAN
News Editor

There are some lofty goals student government is hoping to achieve within the next semester, according to Student Body President Ryan Hunter. Hunter held a State of the Campus address last Saturday to discuss his administration's accomplishments and goals for the rest of the school year. He said SGA has accomplished a "fair amount" so far this year. "One of the things we tried to do this year is really deal with issues that affect the student body, and not get tied down with the mundane things," he said.

One of the biggest things SGA has been involved with this semester is dealing with the school administration and state officials in understanding the new crosswalk. Hunter said the challenge now is in getting students in... please see HUNTER, pg. 3.
TKE: Fraternity's dismissal from campus remains unclear

Students caught in robbery attempt await punishment

BY BRENDA GUGGER

A Marist student has once again been the target of an off-campus assault and robbery attempt involving a group of students who continued to Social House after dark. The incident took place early Saturday morning.

The victim, a sophomore in the Communication Studies Department, was walking alone near the Social House at around 2 a.m. when he was approached by four young men who demanded his money and cell phone. The victim resisted, and a physical altercation ensued. He managed to escape unharmed.

According to campus security, the attempted robbery is the latest in a series of incidents involving students who have been targeted by groups of young men who have been hanging out near the Social House area.

The incident comes at a time when the Marist College administration has been working to improve safety and security on campus. The university has implemented new policies and procedures to address the issue, including increased patrols and better lighting in high-risk areas.

In response to the recent incident, the university has called for a community meeting to discuss the issue and develop strategies for preventing similar incidents in the future.

The university has also announced plans to increase the number of security officers on campus and to install additional security cameras in high-risk areas.

In response to the recent incident, the university has called for a community meeting to discuss the issue and develop strategies for preventing similar incidents in the future. The university has also announced plans to increase the number of security officers on campus and to install additional security cameras in high-risk areas.

Students and staff are urged to remain vigilant and report any suspicious activity to campus security.

The University of Marist College has been working to improve safety and security on campus, including increased patrols and better lighting in high-risk areas. The university has also announced plans to increase the number of security officers on campus and to install additional security cameras in high-risk areas.

In response to the recent incident, the university has called for a community meeting to discuss the issue and develop strategies for preventing similar incidents in the future. The university has also announced plans to increase the number of security officers on campus and to install additional security cameras in high-risk areas.

Students and staff are urged to remain vigilant and report any suspicious activity to campus security.

The University of Marist College has been working to improve safety and security on campus, including increased patrols and better lighting in high-risk areas. The university has also announced plans to increase the number of security officers on campus and to install additional security cameras in high-risk areas.

In response to the recent incident, the university has called for a community meeting to discuss the issue and develop strategies for preventing similar incidents in the future. The university has also announced plans to increase the number of security officers on campus and to install additional security cameras in high-risk areas.

Students and staff are urged to remain vigilant and report any suspicious activity to campus security.

The University of Marist College has been working to improve safety and security on campus, including increased patrols and better lighting in high-risk areas. The university has also announced plans to increase the number of security officers on campus and to install additional security cameras in high-risk areas.

In response to the recent incident, the university has called for a community meeting to discuss the issue and develop strategies for preventing similar incidents in the future. The university has also announced plans to increase the number of security officers on campus and to install additional security cameras in high-risk areas.

Students and staff are urged to remain vigilant and report any suspicious activity to campus security.
Eckerd goes fast

by KATHERINE SLAUTER

Two new buildings opened last week, to the excitement of Marist College students and the new Eckerd across the street. The library, which has been the center of criticism for not opening earlier, has only opened for reading, however. The official opening for the library will be on Friday, January 7

The new Eckerd was built in a month.

completed in a faster schedule, including Freeman, Alisha, and Mccollum.

"I'm glad that it actually opened in time for the start of this semester," said Freshman Alisha Terilli.

"I am not a student at Marist College and visiting students are looked at as students also. If I take a class for just 10 days in January!, I will attend class for just 10 days in January!," she said.

"I really enjoy coming to Eckerd on a weekly basis, and I have been doing so for the past month," said Freshman Erika Wagoner.

"I'm really glad they actually opened in time for the start of this semester," said Senior Mary Wells.

"I really enjoyed coming to Eckerd on a weekly basis, and I have been doing so for the past month," said Freshman Erika Wagoner.

"I'm really glad they actually opened in time for the start of this semester," said Senior Mary Wells.

"I really enjoyed coming to Eckerd on a weekly basis, and I have been doing so for the past month," said Freshman Erika Wagoner.

"I'm really glad they actually opened in time for the start of this semester," said Senior Mary Wells.

"I really enjoyed coming to Eckerd on a weekly basis, and I have been doing so for the past month," said Freshman Erika Wagoner.

"I'm really glad they actually opened in time for the start of this semester," said Senior Mary Wells.

"I really enjoyed coming to Eckerd on a weekly basis, and I have been doing so for the past month," said Freshman Erika Wagoner.

"I'm really glad they actually opened in time for the start of this semester," said Senior Mary Wells.

"I really enjoyed coming to Eckerd on a weekly basis, and I have been doing so for the past month," said Freshman Erika Wagoner.

"I'm really glad they actually opened in time for the start of this semester," said Senior Mary Wells.

"I really enjoyed coming to Eckerd on a weekly basis, and I have been doing so for the past month," said Freshman Erika Wagoner.

"I'm really glad they actually opened in time for the start of this semester," said Senior Mary Wells.

"I really enjoyed coming to Eckerd on a weekly basis, and I have been doing so for the past month," said Freshman Erika Wagoner.

"I'm really glad they actually opened in time for the start of this semester," said Senior Mary Wells.

"I really enjoyed coming to Eckerd on a weekly basis, and I have been doing so for the past month," said Freshman Erika Wagoner.

"I'm really glad they actually opened in time for the start of this semester," said Senior Mary Wells.

"I really enjoyed coming to Eckerd on a weekly basis, and I have been doing so for the past month," said Freshman Erika Wagoner.

"I'm really glad they actually opened in time for the start of this semester," said Senior Mary Wells.

"I really enjoyed coming to Eckerd on a weekly basis, and I have been doing so for the past month," said Freshman Erika Wagoner.

"I'm really glad they actually opened in time for the start of this semester," said Senior Mary Wells.

"I really enjoyed coming to Eckerd on a weekly basis, and I have been doing so for the past month," said Freshman Erika Wagoner.
 Pets, Pets, Pets, and more Pets

Left to right: The first one is a cat named Frisco. The other two are called Mikey and Pepsi. Mikey is a black cat and Pepsi is a tabby. Mikey loves to play with toys, while Pepsi is more of a couch potato. Mikey is also very playful and loves to chase his owners around the house.

Editor's Advice

ON STRESS
BY KATHRYN CHESNIK

Stress is a normal part of life. Everyone experiences it at some point. The key is to learn how to manage it and find ways to cope with it.

WIN FREE TEXTBOOKS

While you're getting the most cash for your used books, you can win $100 toward your new books, plus other great prizes! Get cash for your old books and pay the most cash for used books.

Recipe of the Week

Candy Cane Freezes

Ingredients:
- 4 canned applesauce (any flavor)
- 2 tablespoons rum
- 8 large candy canes

Directions:
1. In a large bowl combine the apple juice, soda, 1 pint of vanilla ice cream, and 1 teaspoon peppermint extract. Stir well.
2. Pour into a mold or a cup and freeze until solid.

AQUARIUS: It's hard to be in the future when you still have so many good ideas being ignored around you. It might be time to try something new. You need to be more independent and start thinking for yourself. Don't worry too much about what others say or do. Focus on your own goals and dreams.

ARIES: It's time to do something that will make you feel good. The weekend is a great time to do something you enjoy. Whether it's going out with friends or just relaxing at home, make sure you have a good time.

TIP: If you have any questions about how to manage your stress, please ask your doctor or a mental health professional. They can provide you with valuable advice and support.

Horoscopes

ARIES: It's time to do something good for yourself. This weekend is a great time to relax and unwind. Don't worry too much about what others think. Focus on your own needs and desires.

TIP: If you have any questions about how to manage your stress, please ask your doctor or a mental health professional. They can provide you with valuable advice and support.

ARIES: It's time to do something good for yourself. This weekend is a great time to relax and unwind. Don't worry too much about what others think. Focus on your own needs and desires.

TIP: If you have any questions about how to manage your stress, please ask your doctor or a mental health professional. They can provide you with valuable advice and support.

ARIES: It's time to do something good for yourself. This weekend is a great time to relax and unwind. Don't worry too much about what others think. Focus on your own needs and desires.

TIP: If you have any questions about how to manage your stress, please ask your doctor or a mental health professional. They can provide you with valuable advice and support.
Racist? Just call me “Johnny”

BY PATRICK WHITNEY

What you are about to read is painfully true. The names have been changed to avoid provoking the guilty.

Recently while doing a research paper I began browsing through some secondary sources on the web. I managed to stumble across an email address of the KKK Klan while doing so, and I chose to take this opportunity to tell them what they have dones already must have been a million times. However, since I have not been one of the millions of normal Americans who have told them they are being hypocritical, this chance to tell them has been pretty subtle. The Klan is a little too scarce to be ignored without making some of our more sensitive neighbors blush, but what else can you give a pretty good idea. I was white, of Irish, English, French, and German, but I was betrayed by marriage to Cape Verdean and the product of it. So you call them is not important, but I took toourn a whole lifetime to realize how few of the people I see are the same way.

Russians Troop Out Root Outh Chechen Terror

Letters to the Editor

Brenkert defends article, middle class

By Derrick A. Jones III

"I was happy to see "Marist student" and "protest" in the same sentence without my consent."

SEPTEMBER 16, 1999

The views expressed in these pages are not necessarily those of the Circle.

THE CIRCLE

Op-Ed

THE CIRCLE

Op-Ed

PAGE 8

PAGE 9

Words of Wisdom

"No one can make you feel inferior without your consent."

--Eleanor Roosevelt Political University final grades

by DERRICK JONES II Political Columnist

The Circle

In brief

All about buses

by BENJAMIN B. BRENNER

When I found Maria’s house,

she was sleeping in her car.

I knocked on the door,

but there was no answer.

I went back to my car,

and I left.

We should be talking about the poverty in our society, not about housing for the homeless.

I think we should be seeing the problems that we have, not about this one woman’s problems.

Metcalf

Metcalf fans everywhere were tormented in early

Chesapeake. The band’s debut album, “The Circle,” was released on November

23. The album is a mixture of rock and roll, blues, and country. The band performed an encore immediately after their show at The Chance

in Poughkeepsie Jan. 15.

The crowd also added to the show, much better in fact than the bands themselves, who were crowded into the halls.

The Circle

Photo courtesy Metallica online

Do I have something in my mouth?

The Circle

Photo/Doug Guarino

The circle

If you have ever wanted to start

avoiding new bands with him,

you have come to the right place.

New bands are often a source

of frustration and anger for Metallica fans. However, this is not the case with The Circle.

The Circle’s music is unique

and refreshing. It is a combination of metal and

alternative rock that is

both powerful and

thought-provoking.

The Circle

by DOUGLAS A. GARRISON Assistant Managing Editor

If you have ever wanted to start

avoiding new bands with him,

you have come to the right place.

New bands are often a source

of frustration and anger for Metallica fans. However, this is not the case with The Circle.

The Circle’s music is unique

and refreshing. It is a combination of metal and

alternative rock that is

both powerful and

thought-provoking.

The Circle

by DOUGLAS A. GARRISON Assistant Managing Editor

If you have ever wanted to start

avoiding new bands with him,

you have come to the right place.

New bands are often a source

of frustration and anger for Metallica fans. However, this is not the case with The Circle.

The Circle’s music is unique

and refreshing. It is a combination of metal and

alternative rock that is

both powerful and

thought-provoking.

The Circle

by DOUGLAS A. GARRISON Assistant Managing Editor

If you have ever wanted to start

avoiding new bands with him,

you have come to the right place.

New bands are often a source

of frustration and anger for Metallica fans. However, this is not the case with The Circle.

The Circle’s music is unique

and refreshing. It is a combination of metal and

alternative rock that is

both powerful and

thought-provoking.

The Circle

by DOUGLAS A. GARRISON Assistant Managing Editor

If you have ever wanted to start

avoiding new bands with him,

you have come to the right place.

New bands are often a source

of frustration and anger for Metallica fans. However, this is not the case with The Circle.

The Circle’s music is unique

and refreshing. It is a combination of metal and

alternative rock that is

both powerful and

thought-provoking.

The Circle

by DOUGLAS A. GARRISON Assistant Managing Editor

If you have ever wanted to start

avoiding new bands with him,

you have come to the right place.

New bands are often a source

of frustration and anger for Metallica fans. However, this is not the case with The Circle.

The Circle’s music is unique

and refreshing. It is a combination of metal and

alternative rock that is

both powerful and

thought-provoking.

The Circle

by DOUGLAS A. GARRISON Assistant Managing Editor

If you have ever wanted to start

avoiding new bands with him,

you have come to the right place.

New bands are often a source

of frustration and anger for Metallica fans. However, this is not the case with The Circle.

The Circle’s music is unique

and refreshing. It is a combination of metal and

alternative rock that is

both powerful and

thought-provoking.

The Circle

by DOUGLAS A. GARRISON Assistant Managing Editor

If you have ever wanted to start

avoiding new bands with him,

you have come to the right place.

New bands are often a source

of frustration and anger for Metallica fans. However, this is not the case with The Circle.

The Circle’s music is unique

and refreshing. It is a combination of metal and

alternative rock that is

both powerful and

thought-provoking.

The Circle

by DOUGLAS A. GARRISON Assistant Managing Editor

If you have ever wanted to start

avoiding new bands with him,

you have come to the right place.

New bands are often a source

of frustration and anger for Metallica fans. However, this is not the case with The Circle.

The Circle’s music is unique

and refreshing. It is a combination of metal and

alternative rock that is

both powerful and

thought-provoking.

The Circle

by DOUGLAS A. GARRISON Assistant Managing Editor

If you have ever wanted to start

avoiding new bands with him,

you have come to the right place.

New bands are often a source

of frustration and anger for Metallica fans. However, this is not the case with The Circle.

The Circle’s music is unique

and refreshing. It is a combination of metal and

alternative rock that is

both powerful and

thought-provoking.

The Circle

by DOUGLAS A. GARRISON Assistant Managing Editor

If you have ever wanted to start

avoiding new bands with him,

you have come to the right place.

New bands are often a source

of frustration and anger for Metallica fans. However, this is not the case with The Circle.

The Circle’s music is unique

and refreshing. It is a combination of metal and

alternative rock that is

both powerful and

thought-provoking.
The circle arts & entertainment

On TV

with Mike Thompson

Ally McBeal: Improving Improvement

"The Plot That Rocks" may not be easy viewing for all. The Marcella College radio station, but it probably does not apply to the current cast of affairs at one of the most之战.But Fox has a fairly busy schedule of their own. Every new show is introduced but often brings a range of themes. (This show is a life, Action.) One can be called attention (Ryan Coogler, "Black dearest."

The seven hour ride home was met with a lot of To Say, old songs mixed in between. The latest album, "The Kids Still Have Road Trip," sporting their oversized mohawks and liberty spikes, along with the majority of songs they played is show spots. The "show" it introduced has either squirmed or been canceled, but it has had a few bright spots. That The Show is showing incredible potential. Also conducting in ECU mensa in the fact that the comedy-drama Ally McBeal is regularly differing its highest ranking to date, despite some tough competition on its Monday Night at 9:30. Ally McBeal debuted on FOX in 1997, and was an instant hit. The title character (Calista Flockhart) works at a Boston law firm, which is headed by Richard Finch (Craig Gordon). Concerning, one of the attorneys at the firm is Ally's former boyfriend, Billy Thomas (Gil Bellows). Billy's wife, Georgia (Courteney Thorne-Smith) also works at the firm. The title character is the focus of the first season. "Ally's roommates are Ronen Reubin (Lisa Nicole Carson). Joining the cast midway through the first season is Peter MacNicol, as attorney John Cage. As the show's second season (1999-2000), two new people joined the cast: Lucy Liu, as Ling Woo, and Peri Thomas de Roos as attorney Nina Porter. The new addition to the cast did nothing to detract Ally McBeal's ratings success, and the show continued to score as one of FOX's biggest hits. In 1999, FOX added a show to the company's Monday night lineup. In Ally's opinion, another season at the beginning of the hour-long Ally McBeal episode and compensated down into a half-hour sitcom-type show. In short, Ally is nothing but a changed重复 of the original series. In late 1999, I began watching Ally McBeal. It was a small little show, and I watched it when I would have time. By the fall of 1999, the show was finally well on its way. Ally McBeal seemed fair for the show, as the quality of its "way" was beginning to grow on me. Nevertheless, I found viewing some episodes from the 1999-1999 season, and discovered that I could not watch it without a follow-up episode. It was just not very good. The characters were just not very memorable, and the show was not very enjoyable. Note, that is my opinion. Obviously, it was not something I would have enjoyed. The stories on Ally McBeal are no longer as good as they were during the 1999 season. Ally McBeal is currently going through some semblance of a mal-drama; even though it's still fairly young, and creator David E. Kelley (who writes every episode, just as he does with The Practice) has handled the show surprisingly well. The show is that Billy's choice, and his writing marriage with Georgia, is quite effective. Also, John Cage, who was quickly becoming a favorite character, is now gone. The show is now wide open for any new characters that may come along.

At those prices, it's too bad we don't sell cars.

At this time, we are offering a special deal on textbooks. For a limited time, all textbooks are discounted by 20%. This offer is valid until December 31, 2000. Offer is valid at all Varsity Books locations. Please visit our website for more details.

Apply to become an Admissions Intern

Admissions Intern

15 Credits Professional Experience Travel Opportunities

For further information about this unique and exciting opportunity, contact Chris Webb in the Admissions Office, ext. 224. Any application and applications are due by February 1, 2000.

Metallica: S&M

From page 1

Road Trip

After the success of their last album, The Kids Still Have Road Trip, the band was recently signed to Epi-
Red Foxes have strong showing at Rolex Invitational

by CLAYTON NORRIS
Staff Writer

The Marist men's team managed as outstanding fall season as the men's tennis team at the Rolex Invitational Tournament. The Marist tennis team bested several teams from Ivy League schools.

Marist tennis history was made in this most recent invitational. This invitational featured the first time the tennis team competed at the collegiate level. The Marist tennis team was one of only six teams selected to compete.

In the conference, the men's tennis team was known for its competitive nature. The Marist tennis team was noted for its strong competitive showing at the Rolex Invitational Tournament. The Marist tennis team managed to defeat several Ivy League schools.

Marist tennis history was made this fall season as the Marist tennis team competed at the collegiate level. The Marist tennis team was one of only six teams selected to compete.

In the conference, the men's tennis team was noted for its strong competitive showing at the Rolex Invitational Tournament. The Marist tennis team managed to defeat several Ivy League schools.

Marist tennis history was made this fall season as the Marist tennis team competed at the collegiate level. The Marist tennis team was one of only six teams selected to compete.

In the conference, the men's tennis team was noted for its strong competitive showing at the Rolex Invitational Tournament. The Marist tennis team managed to defeat several Ivy League schools.

Marist tennis history was made this fall season as the Marist tennis team competed at the collegiate level. The Marist tennis team was one of only six teams selected to compete.

In the conference, the men's tennis team was noted for its strong competitive showing at the Rolex Invitational Tournament. The Marist tennis team managed to defeat several Ivy League schools.

Marist tennis history was made this fall season as the Marist tennis team competed at the collegiate level. The Marist tennis team was one of only six teams selected to compete.

In the conference, the men's tennis team was noted for its strong competitive showing at the Rolex Invitational Tournament. The Marist tennis team managed to defeat several Ivy League schools.

Marist tennis history was made this fall season as the Marist tennis team competed at the collegiate level. The Marist tennis team was one of only six teams selected to compete.

In the conference, the men's tennis team was noted for its strong competitive showing at the Rolex Invitational Tournament. The Marist tennis team managed to defeat several Ivy League schools.

Marist tennis history was made this fall season as the Marist tennis team competed at the collegiate level. The Marist tennis team was one of only six teams selected to compete.

In the conference, the men's tennis team was noted for its strong competitive showing at the Rolex Invitational Tournament. The Marist tennis team managed to defeat several Ivy League schools.
All American performance guides Foxes to win

by PETER MOYLAN Staff Writer

According to the preseason evaluation of Marist issued by the "Blue Ribbon College Yearbook," this year's team lacks a strong backcourt.

With two sophomores starring in Rick Smith and Sean Kennedy, many thought that Marist would have to rely on it's big men if they were to play winning basketball. On Tuesday night against American University, however, both guards managed to silence many of their critics.

Smith lead the way for the Red Foxes with thirteen points, but it was his rebounding and penetration that helped push Marist past American for a solid 72-63 victory.

The start of the game was anything but pretty with both teams struggling to find their rhythm. Marist was playing tough interior defense and allowing few second chance opportunities for the Eagles.

On the other end, a few rushed shots and some bad bounces had the Red Foxes wondering if this was going to be one of those nights where things just don't seem to go their way.

About five minutes into the game however, both teams kicked into gear and played some tremendous back and forth basketball that produced six possessions in which both teams traded baskets.

This series was highlighted by a nice alley-oop from Kennedy to Drew Samuels on the break. As Marist began to turn up their defensive intensity, American went to a trapping zone off the inbound's pass in an attempt to rattle the Foxes.

Kennedy and Smith were able to handle the pressure and get good penetration, which allowed many good open looks. Tomasz Cielebak was able to use the time set up the offense to his advantage, as he once again showed how valuable he is to the team by showcasing a variety of moves and shots in the paint.

Once again the game saw a series of traded baskets in which American's big man of Patrick Dieter and St. Peter's-Bates Tilly seemed to find some room in the post to work, while Tim Washington began to find his shot. Second chance opportunities however, helped keep Marist in the game, with Samuels and Donald Vaile hitting the boards and getting a couple of put backs.

The second half started much like the first ended, with American making a small run, but Marist was there to answer. Tom Kenney had a huge series of plays in which he followed his own blocked shot for a lay-up, hit a big lay-up plus the foul and made a nice cut to get the pass for the open lay-up.

The highlight of the night came midway through the second half when Marist went on a five-minute run in which they looked like a fast tuned machine. It all started with a fast break that featured a nice under-handed pass from Cielebak to Smith for the huge two-handed slam.

At this point the crowd was at a fever pitch, and the Marist faithful were treated to a tremendous block by McCurdy on Doo, which lead to a running hook shot in the lane by Cielebak.

Bust swing that display was a slip pass, by the driving Kennedy to Jason Hastings for the two handed jam which sent the already hyped up crowd into a frenzy.

Women's basketball goes global on WMCR

by ED WILLIAMS Staff Writer

Have you ever wanted to leave the warm confines of your Carrolland apartment to catch the fast-paced action of Marist Women's Basketball, but are separated by a torrential downpour that will threaten your well-being if you decide to venture out into it?

Or have you ever found yourself back home for the weekend, but are curious to find out how the lady Red Foxes are faring on the hardwood?

Now there is a simple solution to these problems and others. Just sign on to the Internet and listen away.

For the first time in the school's history, Marist will be broadcasting women's basketball over the Internet. WMCR, the Marist College radio station, is in charge of the project in conjunction with the Marist Athletic Department.

Senior Mike Koller, the sports director of WMCR, is the man in charge and has been working closely with Assistant Athletic Director Sean Morrison.

The two began playing with the idea when WMCR was covering one of the volleyball games to be replayed on the radio. The Athletic Department had already taken care of having the men's basketball broadcast over the Net, so it only seemed natural to extend the idea to women's basketball games this year.

Koller was anxious to accept the challenge and quickly assembled a crew of his top workers. Along with fellow senior Julio Toreo, he had to schedule a crew to cover every single game on the women's schedule.

The main play-by-play man will be senior Ryan Maraziti, who will cover every game with the exception of one. Toreo will handle the color commentary duties, and sophomore Dan Pucherelli, sophomore Adam Sellinger and junior Mike Ferraro will also be on call to cover whenever needed.

After the crew was selected and a rough schedule was created, Morrison started to instruct the WMCR members on all things as dress codes and proper conduct.

Since WMCR was traveling with the team to away games, it was necessary that even the tiniest details be

The game was topped off with a nice pass coming from Smith to McCurdy for the two handed pump slam which put Marist up by eight and sealed all hopes of a comeback for American.

In addition to Smith's 13 point, Sean Kennedy and Cielebak also scored in double figures. Marist is now 4-2 on the season. Over the weekend, the victorious Loyola, 76-60, for their third win in a row. They then fell two days later to Iona, 85-65.

Marist's next game is tonight against Hudson Valley rival Army at 7:30 at West Point.

Women's basketball goes global on WMCR