Survivors speak of experiences from Holocaust
by DOUGLAS DEISS
Staff Writer

The ethnic cleansing in Kosovo was a topic brought up last Tuesday by survivors of the Holocaust.

Following in the current lecture series theme of peace and understanding, the 9th annual Holocaust Remembrance Day occurred April 13. On this day, the world recognizes it as Holocaust Memorial Day. The lecture, entitled Overcoming Indifference: The Courage to Care, was sponsored by the Marist College Holocaust Remembrance Committee.

The lecture featured Frank and Emily Ullman. The Ullman's were rescued by the Dutch Reformed Church in Amsterdam.

The ideal of the lecture is to learn from the mistakes of the past and to remember the memory of the victims of the Holocaust.

As the world faces the current persecution of Ethnic Albanians, it is important to remember that this is not the first time that the world has experienced a group of people being killed for who they are.

Some of the other speakers that spoke during the lecture included Mar Peter-Raoul, assistant professor of religious studies. Her message was to "Wear the Jewish Star, with Pride." She mentioned that over one and a half million victims of the Holocaust were children.

According to Peter-Raoul, there needs to be a recommitment to human life. "We need to protect humanity wherever it is threatened."

Rabbi Daniel Polish, of Vassar Temple in Poughkeepsie, said there were many people who did care enough to hide the Jews that were being persecuted.

Polish asked whether people would do this today. "Would we do the same," he said.

In closing, he made a plea to everyone in the room to "Love..."

Marist voices their view on Kosovo conflict

Students, faculty share diverse opinions on war

By KENDRICKS
Soph Wood

NATO and U.S. troops recently consumed their air strikes on Yugoslavia, and the troops are expected to last the rest of the year. But the feeling remains that the goldfish in the tank will not be the only inhabitants.

"Religious faith from Kosovo continues to grow," said Sister Maureen Martin, and Alia Umerk, a nun at a refugee camp of 400 refugees in the town of Ljeckovac. Martin, who is a member of the Sisters of the Holy Cross, is currently on a mission in Kosovo. "It's a contradiction to be dropping bombs in the name of humanitarianism."

Colorado high school shooting kills 25

Two students in black trench coats swept through a suburban high school with guns and stepped into a hallway firing plastic pellets. Two teenagers had walked in from the parking lot, where they had each bought a weapon.

"The gun was the bloodiest in a string of school shootings that have rocked U.S. communities over the past few years."

Bammann said he enjoys being a part of the Marist College billiards league. As reported in The New York Times, the league is a group that has a lot of pool talent and enthusiasm. "It has many great players in it," he said.

"The club is not well known," he added. "It is a small club, but it has a lot of good players."

"The week allows a group to celebrate their culture on campus. It is a way to connect with others and to learn about the culture."

Scott Teabo, billiards league president, said the week is important to the league. "It is a way to bring it recognition and bring the league to the campus."

There are many campus activities that are currently taking place at Marist College. Among these activities, the most popular is the Queen of Hearts. The Queen of Hearts is a popular competition that is held on the first day of the fall semester.

"It appears to be a suicide misadventure," Assistant Dean of Student Affairs, Steve Sansola, said. "I can't wait until next year!"

WAR: Writer wages war with inner demons which run rampant like rabid Range Rovers in her mind...

In essence, I lost all self-respect...not bear to admit to anyone, not even to myself, that I was putting my life on hold. I was ready to transfer to another school.

WAR: Writer wages war with inner demons which run rampant like rabid Range Rovers in her mind...

I'm sure I am not the only one who has felt what I am trying to describe. Nearly every student who lacks the passion and performance to get ahead. Rather they wait their parents to choose three years, I am learning that is how many students who lack the passion and performance to get ahead. Rather they wait for their parents to choose.

Reversing a trend begun in the 1980s
at The Chance

by Chris Kridel

The Chance was a stark contrast to The Chance, which opened on April 10.

In 1996, the first Chance was a show with a rocky, cute, and able-bodied background. The show was interpreted as being sweet, more Now it's time again to start the show, but the only thing we can do is try to make it as good as we can. You can do this by making sure that you have everything ready for the show. Try to have the best possible background music, and make sure that the lighting and sound effects are set up correctly. If you have a special effect that you want to use, make sure that you have it ready and working. This can help to create a more immersive and enjoyable experience for the audience.

Movie Quote of the Week

"Personally, I like the University. They gave me money and facilities, but I liked everything. You've never been out of college. You don't know what it's like out there. I've worked in the private sector. I expect results."

-- Ray Stantz in &quot;Ghostbusters"

LOCK: New UK film is an unconvincing success

Although it was the main feature on the big screen, the film was not up to par. The storyline was weak, the acting was poor, and the special effects were lackluster. Overall, it was a disappointment.

"The multimillionaire's lacklustre efforts to rekindle the sagging interest in this film were evident from the very start. The film was poorly written, poorly directed, and poorly acted."

"It was a complete letdown. The characters were unlikable, the plot was uninteresting, and the special effects were inadequate."
