Marist, Kiev swap three students, prof

by STACEY MCDONNELL
Managing Editor

Three Marist students will take classes and one professor will teach at the University of Kiev, beginning next fall, as part of an exchange program set up with the Soviet university.

The agreement, signed on March 26 by President Denis J. Murray, marks the first time students or professors from both schools will learn and teach at one another's school. Unlike the Marist Abroad Program, there is an actual exchange of personnel.

John Hartuck, assistant professor of communication arts, has been named the first Marist professor to go to Kiev. He will be exchanged for a Soviet journalism instructor, said Casimir Norkeliunas, associate professor of Russian.

"Today, we can 가장 extensively throughout the Eastern Bloc countries, speak Russian, and his work on the Baltic States appeared in the Christian Science Monitor. The students going to Kiev will be assessed at the end of the month, said Norkeliunas, who initiated the talks between the two schools while in Kiev in October. The participants can be majoring in any academic discipline, but must have a working knowledge of Russian, he said.

Students may stay for one semester or a full academic year. Professors may stay as little as one month.

The participants can be majoring in any academic discipline, but must have a working knowledge of Russian, he said. Students will pay the professors a stipend of $800 per month in 1991-92. The number of participants, the amount of pay, the stipend and the professors' course load will change each year. The new conditions will be set by Feb. 15 annually.

The purpose of the program is to establish "friendly relations and mutual understanding in the spirit of new political thinking." Marist students annually travel to the Soviet Union with Norkeliunas to tour the countries.

Spring Fever

Spring Fever

THE CIRCLE

page 12

International business gets new status set for fall

by RICHARD NASS
Staff Writer

In the wake of dramatic changes in the European market and the rise of the Asian market, the Division of Management Studies has created a new area of study to prepare students for life after graduation.

An international business concentration, designed to give students an international perspective on the business world, will be offered next fall for business students.

Students within the concentration must take "International Marketing," "International Business" and "Trade Management," along with meeting other department requirements, according to Jack Kelly, chairperson of the management studies division.

"The more we can in students an international dimension, the more the students will be prepared for the international world," said Kelly, about the concentration which was created with input from many faculty members.

Prema Nakra, the chairperson of the International Business Concentration sub-committee, developed the structure of the concentration.

Marist professors, most of which have had teaching and personal international experience, helped Nakra develop the program, according to Kelly.

Management studies administrators are working with professors in the language and history departments in hopes of creating courses which will broaden students' international flavor, according to Kelly.

Kelly led the new business administration initiative in the future, especially in Asian countries like Taiwan, China and Japan, which he said he considers the strongest market.

"This concentration will give students a better understanding of the interdependent global business environment, which is definitely needed today," said Kelly, who has received much positive reception from faculty and students.

"Marist College has finally become aware that business students have to remain open," Sullivan said.

Look optimistic (for the preschool this year, a group took classes at the University of Kiev with Norkeliunas in October. The participants can be majoring in any academic discipline, but must have a working knowledge of Russian, he said. Students will pay the professors a stipend of $800 per month in 1991-92. The number of participants, the amount of pay, the stipend and the professors' course load will change each year. The new conditions will be set by Feb. 15 annually.

The purpose of the program is to establish "friendly relations and mutual understanding in the spirit of new political thinking." Marist students annually travel to the Soviet Union with Norkeliunas to tour the countries. During Winter Intersession this year, a group took classes at the university.

The University of Kiev, with 20,000 students was established in 1823, making it the second oldest university in the Soviet Union.

VOLUME 38, NUMBER 7
MARIST COLLEGE, POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y.
APRIL 11, 1991

Charles Kuralt, CBS journalist, named ninth LT Award winner

by JEFF SIMPSON
Staff Writer

Charles Kuralt, the anchor for CBS News Sunday Morning and host of the "On the Road" features for the network, has been named as the ninth recipient of the Lowell Thomas Award.

The date and location of the award presentation have not been set said Shafter Kopeck, acting vice president for College Advancement.

The Lowell Thomas award was established in 1983 and is given annually to recognize outstanding individuals in the communications industry whose work reflects the life and work of Lowell Thomas.

Kopeck said Thomas's son, Lowell Thomas, Jr., considers Kuralt the journalist who is most like his father. Thomas, Jr., is a key figure in choosing the recipient of the award.

"She said Kuralt's work parallels Thomas's in regards to their travels and their humanistic approach to journalism. Kuralt has travelled more than a million miles doing his "On the Road" stories. Thomas travelled more than six million miles during his lifetime.

Kuralt began his career with CBS News in 1957 as a writer. He became a news correspondent in 1959. In the mid 1960s he began his critically acclaimed and awarded "On the Road" feature.

Kuralt has been awarded nine Emmy Awards, the Missouri Honor Medal for Lifetime Accomplishments in Journalism, and was named Broadcaster of the Year in 1983 by the International Radio and Television Society.

Kuralt is the author of six books, they include "To The Top of the World," "Shape of a Dream," "On the Road with Charles Kuralt," "North Carolina is My Home," and "A Life On the Road."

Kopeck said this year's award presentation was unique because most journalists could not commit to a specific date due to the Persian Gulf War.

And unlike other years, the luncheon which the recipient receives the award in will be held at the Helmsley Palace, in New York City, she said.

The recipient of the 1991 Communications Arts Alumni Internship Achievement Award has not yet been named, said Kopeck.

This year's presentation will probably begin a centennial theme that will continue throughout the year's ceremony, said Kopeck. April 6, 1992 marks the centennial of Thomas's birth.

Thomas is an honorary alumnus of Marist College. He was the keynote speaker at the 1981 commencement exercises where he was awarded the Honorary Doctor of Law degree. He died on August 29, 1981, at his home in Pawling, N.Y.

Previous recipients of the award are Eric Sevareid, Walter Cronkite, Howard K. Smith, Douglas Edwards, David Brinkley, Harry Reasoner, John Chancellor and Barbara Walters.
Latvian VP speaks about Baltic turmoil

Latvia is more than capable of defending the country on its own and doesn't need us,' Latvian President Juris V. G. Gritāns said.

"We are willing to defend our culture and traditions. The world exists only in cultures. Latvia's culture is the only culture that has survived in this part of the world."
There's an IBM PS/2 made for every student body.

Whether you need a computer to write papers or create graphics, charts and spreadsheets, there's an IBM Personal System/2™ that's right for you. The IBM PS/2™ family of computers has everything that transforms your IBM PS/2™ into pre-loaded software, a special student price and affordable loan payments." All models come with IBM DOS 4.0, Microsoft Windows 3.0, 3.5-inch diskette drive and an IBM Mouse.

Debate team wins national championship

by LYNNAE BRUST

Staff Writer

Springfield, Mass., debate coach, celebrated when his team competed in the World Debate Championship last Monday, the second time in three years the team placed.

Martin's debaters had been preparing the past two months in the classroom, back to back.

The team, a replica of the former and junior varsity teams sponsored by Springfield Public Schools and the Massachusetts Education Department, had been practicing debate techniques weekly.

Throughout the past two years, the team has placed in the top ten in the nation. This year, Martin says, they did not expect to have the opportunity.

"We never won or lost," said team captain, "that we never lost.

On March 29, however, both the junior varsity and senior team members of Springfield placed in the nation's final round. The senior team placed third.

The senior team of Frank Irwin, Michael Tillinghast, Susan Simms, and Karen Kabacoff won their match against New York University.

And the junior varsity team of Christine Damon, Shanna Young, and Mary Beth Rodwell, a sophomore from Sommerville, Mass., were their team's two national rankers.

"The Marist debating program has been on the rise in the past three years," Springston said. "This is the best team we have ever had.

Freshman debater Pam Clinton takes the razor to coach Jim Springston's head, Monday morning, after the junior varsity debating team placed seventh at Nationals.

During the match, Springston, who never entered the competition, was shaving Springston's head when the results were announced. Since the incident, no false fire alarms have been reported.

"L.A. Law," will be shooting the pilot episode in the middle of the month. The pilot will be written by David S. Epstein and directed by Günther, who wrote the pilot episode of "Universe" for the television series "The X-Files." The show will be shot in Los Angeles.

The students had to be thrown out, Springston revealed. "They were too young to make contacts and ask questions.

The students were pulled each semester. Since the crime is a criminal offense, they weren't the kind of people that they did because the offense is a personal offense.

The pulling of the alarm was done from an alarm pull station or the alarm was pulled from an alarm control panel. In both cases, alarm signals would be sent to proper authorities.

Since the incident, no false fire alarms have been made. "We pulled the alarm and called the fire department. The students could have pulled more, but they were used to pay for their children's college education.

The students are more than just

Students must take a 30 percent acceptance rate, "30 percent acceptance rate, "30 percent acceptance rate," to allow them to be used as a tool to make contacts and ask questions.

"I saw nothing but positive aspects coming out of the experience," said Scott. "I'm glad we went through it and lived with it."
Getting down to business

In keeping with current business trends, the decision to make international business a requirement within the Division of Management Studies is no surprise. With the world关 all, there is a stronger demand for international business, and this creates a strong demand for international business graduates. Propositions for international studies present essentially international studies programs and the desire to understand and function with the business world. Furthermore, the management of international business is a key component to many large companies, and Marist already has business students in the International Business Program, which will soon be renamed "Management Studies.

The management system is an important part of the college's curriculum, and it has been an important part of the college's history. The management system is an important part of the college's curriculum, and it has been an important part of the college's history. The management system is an important part of the college's curriculum, and it has been an important part of the college's history. The management system is an important part of the college's curriculum, and it has been an important part of the college's history. The management system is an important part of the college's curriculum, and it has been an important part of the college's history. The management system is an important part of the college's curriculum, and it has been an important part of the college's history. The management system is an important part of the college's curriculum, and it has been an important part of the college's history. The management system is an important part of the college's curriculum, and it has been an important part of the college's history.

Do you feel like you're not being heard at Marist?

Not being heard at Marist is a common feeling among students. Many students feel like their voices are not being heard, and this can be frustrating. However, there are ways to get your voice heard at Marist.

1. Speak up: Don't be afraid to express your opinions and concerns. If something is not right, let the administration know.
2. Get involved: Join clubs, organizations, or committees that align with your interests. This will give you a chance to have a voice in decision-making.
3. Use student support services: If you feel like you are not being heard, reach out to the Office of the President, the Vice President, or the Dean of Students. They can help you address your concerns.

Remember, your voice matters at Marist, and there are ways to make sure your concerns are heard.
What are you doing this fall?

Interns will be responsible for travel and recruiting at high schools and college fairs in the northeast. Students will earn 15 credits and also will be provided with a stipend and a company car.

Send resume, cover letter and 2 letters of recommendations to the Admissions Office in GreyStone by April 15, 1991. If you have any questions please call ext. 2926.

Prof promotes police work to local high school seniors

John Dougherty, assistant professor of criminal justice, doesn’t mind giving free advice away from the police department — to high school students who may be looking for a job in law enforcement.

"I love police work because it is very gratifying," Dougherty said. "I’d sell any student a job in police work." He discussed police work and answered questions from sophomores and juniors who attended his lectures.

DON'T HANG UP?

Tuesday, April 16, at 8pm, Donnelly 136

This will be the only expo of the year — Don’t be left out!

EVER WONDER ABOUT DOWN-UNDER?

SOPHOMORES & FRESHMEN interested in studying in AUSTRALIA in 1992

Come to an INFORMATIONAL MEETING Tuesday, April 16, at 8pm, Donnelly 136

GET READY FOR SUMMER WITH OUR "LITE BEER" SELL-A-NATION (OVER 3 BILLION CASES SOLD)

SPECIAL-WITH COUPON ONLY LITE BEER 1/2 KEG

(Regular $44.99) NOW $37.99 (LIMITED QUANTITY)

THRIFTY BEVERAGE CENTER

187 N. HAMILTON ST., POUGHKEEPSIE PHONE 454-1490

HOURS: Mon.-Tues. 9:00 am-6:00 pm
Wed. 9:00 am-9:00 pm
Thurs.-Sat. 9:00 am-9:00 pm
Sunday Noon-6 pm

Poughkeepsie's Newest Discount Beverage Center Proprietor-Jon Urban Class of 82

Diane Perreirra, director of the Office of Special Services, presents an "awareness recognition" award to adjunct professor of English, Tom Goldsough.

Office honors individuals, volunteers

The Office of Special Services and the Office of Special Services, Wednesday honored 15 individuals and several community volunteers for their contributions to students with disabilities.

At the reception in the Faculty Diner, Director of Special Services, Diane Perreirra, announced that the Office of Special Services, "We're thrilled to have this," said Diane Perreirra, Director of Special Services. "And for our dedicated volunteers this is a marvelous night."

The Office of Special Services sponsors the "Awareness Recognition Award" program for employees, students and community volunteers. The Office of Special Services, "The students attending the ceremony, made up of students and volunteers, are generally from lower income families and recently worked part time."

The students attending the ceremony, made up of students and volunteers, are generally from lower income families and recently worked part time."

"We are generally from lower income families and recently worked part time."

Diane Perreirra, director of the Office of Special Services, presents "awareness recognition award" to adjunct professor of English, Tom Goldsough.

"I guess you can return to the scene of the crime," said Dougherty, who participated in the program sponsored by the Dutchess County Chamber of Commerce. "And if you ask questions like: how many times have you been shot?"

"The students attending the ceremony, made up of students and volunteers, are generally from lower income families and recently worked part time."

"I guess you can return to the scene of the crime," said Dougherty, who participated in the program sponsored by the Dutchess County Chamber of Commerce. "And if you ask questions like: how many times have you been shot?"

PROOF IN THE PULPIT

"Most of the kids were intrigued by the excitement of the job," he said. "But will any of the students who participate in the program actually go in cycles."

"Most of the kids were intrigued by the excitement of the job," he said. "But will any of the students who participate in the program actually go in cycles."

"I guess you can return to the scene of the crime," said Dougherty, who participated in the program sponsored by the Dutchess County Chamber of Commerce. "And if you ask questions like: how many times have you been shot?"

"Most of the kids were intrigued by the excitement of the job," he said. "But will any of the students who participate in the program actually go in cycles."

Diane Perreirra, director of the Office of Special Services, presents "awareness recognition award" to adjunct professor of English, Tom Goldsough.

"I guess you can return to the scene of the crime," said Dougherty, who participated in the program sponsored by the Dutchess County Chamber of Commerce. "And if you ask questions like: how many times have you been shot?"

"Most of the kids were intrigued by the excitement of the job," he said. "But will any of the students who participate in the program actually go in cycles."

Diane Perreirra, director of the Office of Special Services, presents "awareness recognition award" to adjunct professor of English, Tom Goldsough.

"I guess you can return to the scene of the crime," said Dougherty, who participated in the program sponsored by the Dutchess County Chamber of Commerce. "And if you ask questions like: how many times have you been shot?"

"Most of the kids were intrigued by the excitement of the job," he said. "But will any of the students who participate in the program actually go in cycles."

Diane Perreirra, director of the Office of Special Services, presents "awareness recognition award" to adjunct professor of English, Tom Goldsough.

"I guess you can return to the scene of the crime," said Dougherty, who participated in the program sponsored by the Dutchess County Chamber of Commerce. "And if you ask questions like: how many times have you been shot?"

"Most of the kids were intrigued by the excitement of the job," he said. "But will any of the students who participate in the program actually go in cycles."

Diane Perreirra, director of the Office of Special Services, presents "awareness recognition award" to adjunct professor of English, Tom Goldsough.
The roots of Roots

Roots author affirms importance of family

by STEVEN SCHMITT

The news of Roots author Alex Haley's death last week

"After my grandfather died, my grandmother wrote

Roots author affirms

of family in his 70-minute speech to more than 350

You should send someone to

"It began when I was 6 years old," Haley said.

After receiving a standing ovation before he said

This is the message on Alex Haley's stationary and

The mainframe computer is

The extreme heat could have

She said the system was shut

The roots of Roots

Roots author affirms importance of family

by STEVEN SCHMITT

The news of Roots author Alex Haley's death last week

"After my grandfather died, my grandmother wrote

Roots author affirms

of family in his 70-minute speech to more than 350

You should send someone to Laxmen crush USMMA
by MIKE O'FARRELL

Tom Diehl knew his lacrosse team had the tendency to give up a lot of goals. Saturday, the Red Foxes opened their season with a 12-6 triumph over the United States Merchant Marine Academy 25-3. The win raises the Red Foxes' record to 2-7.

"It's nice to score that many," Diehl said.

Despite having the Red Foxes fast start as a key to the game, "We came out and did what we needed to do. We were able to get ahead early and that was important.

At the end of the first quarter, Marist led 5-3, and three goals in the second quarter, the Red Foxes began to play a bit differently, taking a 13-3 lead halfway through the game of the World Series is the bestow upon you my predictions for the next six seasons. The tension may result from the unwritten rule that prohibits New York Mets fans from rooting for the New York Yankees.

You'd have a better chance of seeing God than you would at getting a hit in this division, take the Expos.

National League West

I don't care what people say about the World Series to Cincinnati Reds, they are going nowhere. The Reds did nothing to help themselves in the quest to repeat as champions. Although they probably don't have the division, the San Francisco Giants went out and signed free agents Dave Drabek, Bud Black and Willie McGee.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, who acquired Brett Butler, Darryl Strawberry, Kevin Gross, Barry Bonds, and Steady Eddie Murray will hold off the Mets and the Pirates for the crown. The Los Angeles Dodgers will be the champs of the National League West.

As Spring fever hits, it's time to play 'ball

by JOHN COLANGELO

Whether the Dodgers meet the Cubs, Chicago will prevail and move on to face the Mariners in the World Series.

Unlike the American League, the post-season awards in the senior circuit will be mixed up a bit. National League newcomer Roger Clemens will become a valuable asset to the Padres as he captures the Most Valuable Player award.

I'm not saying we are at each other's throat because he is a Mets fan.

Spring Forward

About 50 people participated in a five kilometer run for the Cancer with Hope on campus Friday to raise money for the American Cancer Society.

The event, organized by Senior Mike Cooke, raised $180 to be divided between the Dutchess, Orange and Rockland County chapters.

Participants donated at least $5 to enter. Donations were also accepted from non-participants.

Tennis raises record to 3-2
by KENT RINEHART

Although the scores of the last three matches were the same, the men's tennis team came away with two victories and one loss.

Each Tuesday, Lehman College's John Favazzo defeated Wagner College by the third quarter, taking a 17-3 lead in things out through solid play. "It was nice to score that many," Diehl said.

Despite his team's tendency to give up a lot of goals, Tom Diehl knew his lacrosse team had the tendency to give up a lot of goals. Saturday, the Red Foxes opened their season with a 12-6 triumph over the United States Merchant Marine Academy 25-3. The win raises the Red Foxes' record to 2-7.

"It's nice to score that many," Diehl said.

Despite having the Red Foxes fast start as a key to the game, "We came out and did what we needed to do. We were able to get ahead early and that was important.

At the end of the first quarter, Marist led 5-3, and three goals in the second quarter, the Red Foxes began to play a bit differently, taking a 13-3 lead halfway through the game. The results will either show some of the forecasts. These were however, do not be surprised by what Jackrel said. "We played them in the fall and lost 6-3, we thought we would play them better this year. But it just didn't go our way," said Trieste.

The results will either show some of the forecasts. These were however, do not be surprised by what Jackrel said. "We played them in the fall and lost 6-3, we thought we would play them better this year. But it just didn't go our way," said Trieste.

After coming off a good win against Wagner, "I am very pleased with the results," said Diehl. "The other kids showed some of the forecasts. These were however, do not be surprised by what Jackrel said. "We played them in the fall and lost 6-3, we thought we would play them better this year. But it just didn't go our way," said Trieste.

The results will either show some of the forecasts. These were however, do not be surprised by what Jackrel said. "We played them in the fall and lost 6-3, we thought we would play them better this year. But it just didn't go our way," said Trieste.

After coming off a good win against Wagner, "I am very pleased with the results," said Diehl. "The other kids showed some of the forecasts. These were however, do not be surprised by what Jackrel said. "We played them in the fall and lost 6-3, we thought we would play them better this year. But it just didn't go our way," said Trieste.

The results will either show some of the forecasts. These were however, do not be surprised by what Jackrel said. "We played them in the fall and lost 6-3, we thought we would play them better this year. But it just didn't go our way," said Trieste.

After coming off a good win against Wagner, "I am very pleased with the results," said Diehl. "The other kids showed some of the forecasts. These were however, do not be surprised by what Jackrel said. "We played them in the fall and lost 6-3, we thought we would play them better this year. But it just didn't go our way," said Trieste.

The results will either show some of the forecasts. These were however, do not be surprised by what Jackrel said. "We played them in the fall and lost 6-3, we thought we would play them better this year. But it just didn't go our way," said Trieste.

After coming off a good win against Wagner, "I am very pleased with the results," said Diehl. "The other kids showed some of the forecasts. These were however, do not be surprised by what Jackrel said. "We played them in the fall and lost 6-3, we thought we would play them better this year. But it just didn't go our way," said Trieste.

The results will either show some of the forecasts. These were however, do not be surprised by what Jackrel said. "We played them in the fall and lost 6-3, we thought we would play them better this year. But it just didn't go our way," said Trieste.