'Concentration' Major to be Offered in Fall

Four Social Science Courses Planned for September

Four courses in Sociology and Anthropology are planned for the Fall semester of 1962, announced Brother William Murphy last week. The courses are the start of the new education program which fosters a concentrated study in the humanities, for the training of social studies teachers.

The courses to be offered include: Man and Society, American Social Theory, Applied and General Anthropology. Although the courses are designed for the students enrolled in the education program, they may also be taken as electives.

It was also announced that a project in conjunction with the History Department, involving courses in Far East studies, was in the planning stages.

Math & Natural Science, Humanities, and Social Sciences Fields to be Opened to Teacher Certification Students

Beginning in the fall of 1962, it will be possible for a student in the Teacher Certification Program to major in one of three Concentrations, in lieu of a major in one of the presently existing Departments. The plan, to be opened to those who are presently sophomores, and to all succeeding classes, would allow a student to select a wide range of courses in either the concentration fields of Humanities, Social Sciences, or Mathematics and Natural Sciences.

The Areas of English, French, and Spanish, and possibly other languages in future years, are included in the Humanities Concentration. In this new setup a student would be able to take up to 24 hours work in each of two languages.

The Social Sciences Concentration will be subdivided into the Areas of History, Economics, Sociology, and Anthropology, with the initiation of courses in these areas to begin next year also. (See Column One.) History, especially history other than American and European, will be stressed by those electing to major in this concentration.

The area of Earth Science will be added to the existing ones of Mathematics, Physics, Biology, and Chemistry to comprise the Mathematics and Natural Sciences concentration. Courses in Earth Science, however, will not be offered next year, but the opportunity of specialization in one or two sciences without the intensity of major field work will be made available.

Brother William emphasized that, according to present arrangements, at least, the "concentration" plan will be offered only to students qualifying for the Teacher Certification Program, and that the greater part of the graduates will obtain their B.A.'s with a major in one of the presently existing Departments. He also pointed out that the ideas behind this concentration plan can be just as easily applied to plans for majors in pre-medicine, pre-law, and pre-engineering.

Inquiries concerning this program can be directed to Brother William, Education Department head, and to the Supervisors of the three Concentrations, whose names will be announced shortly.

Faculty Members Compose Fight Song

Although not yet complete the faculty has started the ball rolling on a school victory song. We would like to extend an invitation to the students to add to what we hope will be part of our tradition. Here is the first stanza:

Stand for the Crimson and White
Up men of Marist and Fight
Forward Banners and onto the Fray
Bring up the Mighty Standards
In Triumphant Array
Faithful to the College we Love
We will always be
Till the Hudson Runs dry
We will Thunder our cry
Marist Men Go onto Victory

Anyone who has any ideas about adding to the song please contact Brother William Murphy.
The
to
The Editor:

Recently, a student here at Marist College was stricken with a serious illness. All Williams, a senior, was recovering from major surgery. To help him on the road to recovery, the members of the Student Senate, Mr. John Gracey, and I, set up the Al Williams Fund. Each member of the fund will donate a dollar a week. We hope that this initial impetus will set the example for the entire student body. Since much surgery will be necessary to pull him through, we know Al can use all the help we can give him.

In order that all who wish to give to this worthy cause, there will be envelopes available in the Student Lounge Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The envelopes may be returned in the Student Senate, Mr. Gracey's office. All contributions will be gratefully accepted. Al Williams needs our help and the fund will be dedicated to his recovery.

The editor continues by describing the mental anguish suffered by the student and suggests, as she does, most resolutions of the child's anxiety. But all that she prescribes is meaningless, for her mentality and perspective, eroding the last sentence quoted, indicate that she is speaking of the incompetent.

The assistant of the author that he is competent, for the not-so-much-caring that the two in our increasingly isometric society are being more frequently expected of one who can display the great "in -tride" shield in itself instilled in the normal person experiencing the normal reactions to normal situations and emotional reaction that his realizations do mark him as an incompetent.

But the fact that Dorothy Barclay is contributing to terrible, terrible traumas which she is so nobly seeking to soothe is of little importance to those capable of the multitude of the nature of tests. Instead of leading a crusade against the forces of evil who are trying to bring the righteous, exalted, and true the student of the Department.

Facing page 53

The Marist College basketball team was beaten by a very strong Danbury State club, 62-57 last week in the early part of the season, and built up a 28-point lead. The Friars put up a corer later in the half and the game was over. Big Fred Weiss, Tom Trojanowski, and John Edward were all over the board the whole time.

The Marist College basketball team was beaten by a very strong Danbury State club, 62-57 last week in the early part of the season, and built up a 28-point lead. The Friars put up a corer later in the half and the game was over. Big Fred Weiss, Tom Trojanowski, and John Edward were all over the board the whole time.

The Marist College basketball team was beaten by a very strong Danbury State club, 62-57 last week in the early part of the season, and built up a 28-point lead. The Friars put up a corer later in the half and the game was over. Big Fred Weiss, Tom Trojanowski, and John Edward were all over the board the whole time.

The Marist College basketball team was beaten by a very strong Danbury State club, 62-57 last week in the early part of the season, and built up a 28-point lead. The Friars put up a corer later in the half and the game was over. Big Fred Weiss, Tom Trojanowski, and John Edward were all over the board the whole time.

The Marist College basketball team was beaten by a very strong Danbury State club, 62-57 last week in the early part of the season, and built up a 28-point lead. The Friars put up a corer later in the half and the game was over. Big Fred Weiss, Tom Trojanowski, and John Edward were all over the board the whole time.
The Record

Editor: James Callahan
Asst. Editor: James Moloney
Advisor: Dr. Cornelius Russell

Foundations

The following is the introduction to an article by Barbara Corynski appearing in The New York Times magazine section for January 7th. To many a home, school-age children usually the excitement of year-end holidays has no sooner abated than a new kind of madness erupts, the madness of term-end "wriggle-up" time. Suddenly, the heretofore mild-mannered young researcher begins to be tracked down and completed, notebooks to be put in order, science projects finished, and the like.

"Some--mainly the competent or the not-too-rough-caring--are out of it. But others, many others show unmistakable signs of tension." The author continues by describing the mental anguish suffered by the student and suggests, as she most, various resolutions of the child's anxiety. But all that she prescribes is meaningless, for her mentality and perspective, eroding is the lasting sentence quoted indicate that she is speaking of the incompetent. The asseurance of the author that it is the competent, that of course, not the too-much-caring--the two in our increasingly insatiable society are being more frequently expected who is able to take the test "in stride" should in itself instill in the normal person experiencing the normal reactions to normal conditions an irrational fear that his reactions do mark him as an incompetent.

But the fact that Dorothy Balsley is contributing to terrible, terrible traumas which she is so nobly seeking to soothe is of little importance when we think of the nature of the tests. Instead of leading a crusade against the forces of evil who are trying to baffle, irritate, mystify, and crush the child who is powerless against such conditions, the child the Indiana..." regard, here understanding and presentation of tests as first, a factor of a much larger type of education, that as a challenge to be met and conquered.

Those who would attempt to counsel others without manifesting a deep understanding of the fundamentals of such a problem, Today reasons have become obscure as we have received in time from the origination of concepts. To many man-made exists to be organized--the State is master of man--and understanding of the reason for the State has been lost, through an increasing totalitarian tendencies of causes. On this campus sense of our the cause of law governing us is last sight of; that the ultimate primacy of the State is considered in all directions given to the college and himself.

It is a matter of man that reeks the certain sympathy of the Dorothy Balsley, for it is a man fundamentally unable to conquer himself or his exterior that they see.

To the Editor:

Young Republican Club Organized on Campus

by Joseph Mitchell

A young Republican Club was chartered last Wednesday on the campus, which marks the beginning of a chapter of one of the most effective American organizations in the United States. The club, whose members consist of a young group of twelve members is eagerly looking forward to the coming elections, with many academic as well as social events with other political groups. At their first meeting, conducted by the Club moderator, Mr. E. B. Letch, Tuesday, January 9th, the following officers were elected: President, Peter Hanley; Vice-President, Jack Carey; and Secretary-Treasurer, Joseph Mitchell. The club, which is already large in numbers, has the Y.R.C. has the following purpose "as outlined in the constitution: to enable students of Republican convictions to engage in political activity in support of the candidates and the party of their choice; to enable the members to obtain a deeper insight into the workings of their government and the important political issues of the day and to deepen and broaden the political awareness of the student body at Mariest College generally."

The club proposes to accomplish these aims by carrying on its activities in the following areas:

A. Educational debates and forums conducted by the members, talks by qualified professors, and other measures to prepare carefully researched statements on political issues.

B. The publication of a bulletin including reports of students' activities in the issues and mechanics of the Republican Clubs.

C. Publicity campaigns in the campaigns of all Republican candidates on both the state and national level.

D. Various Activities--this section includes activities other than those prescribed above. Many of these activities may be carried out, for a clerk's time by a two-thirds vote of all members who have paid their dues.

TO THE EDITOR: (cont. from p. 2)

The girls of Aeterna Sorority would like to take this opportunity to thank the men of Mariest for a wonderful evening. With their approval we would like to request that the girls of Aeterna Sorority in the next semester for another good time.

We hope to see again.

Frank Berardi
Secretary

Marist Lose 72-53 To Danbury State by Terence Mckenzie

Marist College basketball team was beaten by a very strong Danbury State club last week in the easy part and built up a 28-point lead. The Red Foxes put a press later on in the half and put the game out of reach. Big Fred Weiss, Tom Trojanowski, and John Crooke did a lot of the work. The club's Danbury State proved to be a very good team this year both as to control as to control they controlled the board and when Marist did begin to hit the beat they could do just match the Indians and the half-time score read Danbury 38 and Marist 20.

Seniors Elected to Varsity Club

The Mariest College Varsity Club announced today the election of five seniors into the Club. Ordinarily, membership is exclusive to students who have played a varsity sport. Given this prerequisite they are not eligible to join the Varsity Club. In this instance, however, the Club elected five seniors that the senior class had no real opportunity to participate in intercollegiate athletics even though they were instrumental in bringing intercollegiate athletics to the Mariest College generally.

The general consensus of members was that Mariest could do without intercollegiate athletes at this time with the enthusiasm generated by the senior.

These nominated were: Frank Swartz, James Callahan, Charles Cless, Anthony Livio, Michael Lemanek and Thomas McAndrew.

Contour Map Drawn Up

American army engineers have completed a contour map of the Pittsburgh, Penn., has recently received a mental survey of the College and a large contour map of the campus. The map in the area may not only the positions and the building that make up the descending and the various elevations of the ground, it shows plans for the primary purpose of the map is to aid in planning the future construction and development on campus. The map presents the major uses of the map is in determining the most suitable site for the new athletic field which will consist of a quarter-mile track surrounding a soccer field. Construction work on the field will begin this spring approximately 100 yards south of Donnelly Hall. It will be available for football intramurals and soccer during the next season.

It is as yet undetermined whether it will run in a south-north or east-west direction and the center line will be the middle line which will be the quarter-mile being the most suitable and the most suitable area of the map.

Marist (53)

Weiss 4 15

Weiss 4 13

Winter 1 10

Crooke 1 9

Murphy 1 8

Callahan 1 7

Elkins 1 6

Trench 1 2

Faver 1 1

49 15 3 Total

Danbury State (71)

FG FT T

Gregory 3 8 14

Trench 3 3 7

Rupp 4 8 16

Freeman 3 3 7

Brooks 0 3 3

Dekoninck 0 2 12

Irwin 0 3 12

Edwards 2 2 7 Total

27 7 1 Total
REMEMBER
A
MARISTER

WHEN REMEMBERANCE
MEANS THE MOST

SUPPORT
THE

AL WILLIAMS FUND

The Bookstore