$40,000 Boathouse Planned For Crew

Structure to be Completed In Time For Fall Workouts

Marist College has taken the first step towards the expansion of its facilities on the Hudson River, with the projected construction of a boat house now in the process of achieving actuality.

Since the inauguration of the rowing team here at the College, a definite need for a boat house has been apparent to all who were concerned with the sport. The facility considered most desirable was to be a Butler type construction which would be utilized for the storage of shells and also serve as a dormitory for visiting crews. During the off-season, the large dormitory area could be used for other athletic purposes, such as gymnastics, weight-lifting, wrestling, rowing practice on the machines and so forth.

Accordingly, consulting engineers were called in and a structure 65' X 70' was planned. The building included locker rooms, work rooms, offices, and storage space for small equipment. A minimum of sixteen shells can be stored in the boat house, and dormitory space for over sixty oarsmen is available. Thus regattas involving several crews can be scheduled. The structure will be approximately 16 feet high, with windows in the roof to provide light and ventilation.

The actual structure will cost in the neighborhood of $40,000, one quarter of which will be expended by the College. A steering committee has been appointed under the chairmanship of Mr. John Rinaldi, and they are presently laying plans to secure the remaining funds through the contributions of people and organizations who are interested in rowing.

The College would very much like to begin work on the building as soon as possible, so that there is some chance that it will be in use by the fall of next year. As several wrestling matches have been scheduled for next year, it is hoped that they will be held in the boat house.

The construction of this boat house should solve many of the problems now facing our oarsmen. Practice will begin earlier in the spring and continue later in the fall. Storage of shells will be more satisfactorily insured, and a higher degree of hospitality can be offered to our visitors. Furthermore, there is some discussion at present concerning the ultimate invitation of the Dad Vail regatta and the National Inter-scholastic regatta to the shores of Poughkeepsie. The new Marist boat house may bring these speculations to reality.

CREW MEETS
Sat. April 21 at AIC
Sat. April 28 at Oyster Bay
The RECORD

ALUMNI NEWS

A Poughkeepsie IBM employee said in 1981 gradient, he had been named president of the Marist College Class of 1937. The new president, John M. Lassiter of 166 Falls Street, Poughkeepsie, was elected to the post during the first organizational meeting of the college’s City Club at Adrian Lounge on the campus of the school.

An English major who graduated in 1959 and 1960, Mr. Lassiter was graduated from Rosewater High School in South Carolina and received his bachelor’s degree from the University of Miami at Coral Gables, Florida, and Fordham University in New York City before transferring to Marist.

Other officers elected included Ber- nard Matthews of Kingston, vice presi- dent; Joseph Beck of Kingston, secre- tary; and Alexander Brown of Kingston, treasurer. Mr. Brown is an employee of the IBM Corporation and his wife, Mary, is a teacher at Cardinal Hayes High School.

The election of officers was followed by a social. Tentative plans were made for a Communion breakfast at Our Lady of Wisdom Chapel on May 23rd at which time the present senior class would be invited.

Brother Daniel Kirk addressed the members citing their initiative in organizing the society. In the case of the by-laws and the drawing up of governing principles, the society met at a formal meeting. Brother Andrew Molloy is moderator of the group.

Parents’ Day Success

For Saturday, April 6th, was the date of the annual Parents’ Day at Mar- ist College which was attended by over 250 parents. This was at the opening of the day with a plenary session in the morning, the Academic and Business meeting and the open house at the university, where the students had the opportunity to show their work. The parents were addressed by several speakers, among them Mr. Paul Staeke, who spoke about the progress and plans of the group, the head of the school, and the other in the field of education.

On this occasion the group met to discuss the future of the college, the programs and the expansion of the school. The parents and guests were conducted on informational tours of the college buildings, which are now being constructed. The high point of the afternoon was the dinner at the Theatre Club’s production of "Two Blind Mice" at the college’s main auditorium. The dinner was held in the college’s city center, and the dinner itself was held with the students. The dinner was followed by a tour of the college grounds, which was be- lens to the students by John Christel, the dean of the college. The parents were invited to have a drink in the library for coffee and cake. During this informal discussion, a tour of the college buildings was held with the students. This con- densed version of the full story has been planned by John Christel, the dean of the college.

Advertistent

I would like to thank the student body that I have a free collection of re- cent newspapers. In this issue, the anticipated compliment on a front page of the library again for coffee and cake. During this informal discussion, a tour of the college buildings was held with the students. This condensation of the full story has been planned by John Christel, the dean of the college.

On Friday, April 6th, a squad of Marist College Cannot -- just declared that they had defeated the team from New York City at Marist which in scuffling the Beavers. It was Marist’s unnoticed victory on a foul with rubber, lavender colored mat, inscribed with the words, "Beavers. It’s a foul with rubber, lavender colored mat, inscribed with the words, "Beavers. It’s a foul with rubber, lavender colored mat, inscribed with the words, "Beavers. It’s a foul with rubber, lavender colored mat, inscribed with the words, "Beavers."

The game continued through the first period. Chris, a novice, be- gun wrestling at Marist this year.

Glen Foy, 176 pounds, gave a beautiful exhibition of skillful wrestling but was limited the six minutes before pinning his man. Glen, the only expe- rienced wrestler on the team, was wrestling in high school.

Bob Knight, who took his opposite down with a two-legged pick and gained the advantage on the mat only to be reversed and pinned. Den- nis’s wrestling experience consisted of one two-minute session on the previous Tuesday.

Dave Gerling, Jim Kelly and Pat Maysanoff all wrestled but were pinned. In the fury of the contest, Jim lost 6 points in a 12-second pinning situation creating obvious impediments. Ed Kressel, coming off the court, was disappointed and could not have matched accord- ing to rule. Marist would have won by forfeit if it had been an official con- test.

Pointwise, we lost the meet 15-20, but as an experience this certainly was no defeat. The final score was proven im- mensely winning the praise of Joe Basile and Basile’s son, Frank, chief of state and one of the top local high school athletic directors.

This is to say that the argument espoused by local school athletic directors that their local juris- diction is being invaded.

It is interesting to note that Dr. Wil- liam E. Guinot, President of the College, and Dr. John C. Lassiter, points out that one of the rea- sons for the growth of the school, in terms of education is the disparity of the school system in the local area, as well as the capability to the students the presence of the local school districts. School re- venue is derived from sales and proper- ties. Thus a total school district in a poor farming area like the South cannot raise the same amount of money as an industrial area in the North. I feel that the only adequate answer to this expansion of the college.

The parents and guests were conducted on informational tours of the college buildings, which are now being constructed. The high point of the afternoon was the dinner at the Theatre Club’s production of "Two Blind Mice" at the college’s main auditorium. The dinner was held in the college’s city center, and the dinner itself was held with the students. This condensation of the full story has been planned by John Christel, the dean of the college.

This is to say that the argument espoused by local school athletic directors that their local juris- diction is being invaded.

It is interesting to note that Dr. Wil- liam E. Guinot, President of the College, and Dr. John C. Lassiter, points out that one of the rea- sons for the growth of the school, in terms of education is the disparity of the school system in the local area, as well as the capability to the students the presence of the local school districts. School re- venue is derived from sales and proper- ties. Thus a total school district in a poor farming area like the South cannot raise the same amount of money as an industrial area in the North. I feel that the only adequate answer to this expansion of the college.

The parents and guests were conducted on informational tours of the college buildings, which are now being constructed. The high point of the afternoon was the dinner at the Theatre Club’s production of "Two Blind Mice" at the college’s main auditorium. The dinner was held in the college’s city center, and the dinner itself was held with the students. This condensation of the full story has been planned by John Christel, the dean of the college.
Down with Paternalism!

In the absence of a precisely defined relationship between the student and the university, there exists a traditional relationship summarized in the term paternalism. Paternalism has sometimes been erroneously equated with in loco parentis. In loco parentis refers to situations where the university provides support according to its own educational standards which in the past might not be the most favorable environment for the moral, intellectual, and social development desired by the student. From the tradition of paternalism come these concessions: the student must be directly involved in the formation of general university policy and the administration may indirectly circumvent the students' voice. In essence, the university operates within the framework of paternalism, maintaining that it is in the best interest of the student, government, student press, and other student organizations.

The university must not restrict these freedoms of thought, associations, and action which are simultaneously the prerequisites of a fully democratic social order and personal development. The vision toward which we strive is that of a democratic university in which all have certain classes of participation in matters of common concern and of freedom of inquiry, association, and development in which paternalism is replaced by fellowship in the company of scholars.

The New York–New Jersey Region of the National Federation of Catholic College Students endorses the tradition of paternalism and the distorted notion of the educational process which it justifies. This view holds that paternalism permits arbitrary and exclusive repression of student pursuits and thereby impairs the total significance of the university's purpose.

We hold that the effects of paternalism on the student are quite equally important. Paternalism in any form induces or reinforces latent inhumane, condescending, and dishonest attitudes among those who imagine, critical talent and capabilities for leadership growth should be encouraged and the opportunity for development.

The above statement is a "Rejection to Condemn Paternalism" offered by Mr. C. Christopher, a student at the University of Dayton in the morning with a dialogue Mass and presentation of the book Education Through the Lens of the Cardinal Spelman Library--where the study of student's talents were addressed by several speakers, including Paul Stanford, President of the University of Dayton, and a group, among which Mr. Donald Miller, Administration Manager at the BDH Education Center, added to the discussion. "Condemn Paternalism" was ordered by the college student, a college student fired by "the burning issues of our times," and fired for a college student to give a more adequate response to the "problems of the ages" which he has studied in the college student's talents.

The statement was presented at the University of Dayton and addressed by several speakers, including Paul Stanford, President of the University of Dayton, and a group, among which Mr. Donald Miller, Administration Manager at the BDH Education Center, added to the discussion. "Condemn Paternalism" was ordered by the college student, a college student fired by "the burning issues of our times," and fired for a college student to give a more adequate response to the "problems of the ages" which he has studied in the college student's talents.

Parents' Day Success

On Friday, April 6th, was the first annual Parents' Day at the Marist College which was attended by over 300 parents. The day began with a morning Mass and presentation of the book Education Through the Lens of the Cardinal Spelman Library--where the study of student's talents were addressed by several speakers, including Paul Stanford, President of the University of Dayton, and a group, among which Mr. Donald Miller, Administration Manager at the BDH Education Center, added to the discussion. "Condemn Paternalism" was ordered by the college student, a college student fired by "the burning issues of our times," and fired for a college student to give a more adequate response to the "problems of the ages" which he has studied in the college student's talents.

The statement was presented at the University of Dayton and addressed by several speakers, including Paul Stanford, President of the University of Dayton, and a group, among which Mr. Donald Miller, Administration Manager at the BDH Education Center, added to the discussion. "Condemn Paternalism" was ordered by the college student, a college student fired by "the burning issues of our times," and fired for a college student to give a more adequate response to the "problems of the ages" which he has studied in the college student's talents.

In a recent symposium held at the Marist College, Tarrytown, Dr. William O'Connell, Director of Counseling and Development, pointed out that the largest problem in the system of secondary education is not the lack of interest on the part of the students in education and the system of secondary education in itself, but rather as regards the disparity among local school districts in setting educational standards.

He went on to praise the Federal Government's sagacity, legislation concern- ing education, Purnama was the Na- tional Defense Act which gave and still gives incentive to students to major in Education, particularly in the field of the sciences.

Although the money is extended to the students in the form of loans, these are repayable and not to be used for the operation of the student government, student press, and other student organizations.

The university must not restrict these freedoms of thought, associations, and action which are simultaneously the prerequisites of a fully democratic social order and personal development. The vision toward which we strive is that of a democratic university in which all have certain classes of participation in matters of common concern and of freedom of inquiry, association, and development in which paternalism is replaced by fellowship in the company of scholars.

The New York–New Jersey Region of the National Federation of Catholic College Students endorses the tradition of paternalism and the distorted notion of the educational process which it justifies. This view holds that paternalism permits arbitrary and exclusive repression of student pursuits and thereby impairs the total significance of the university's purpose.

We hold that the effects of paternalism on the student are quite equally important. Paternalism in any form induces or reinforces latent inhumane, condescending, and dishonest attitudes among those who imagine, critical talent and capabilities for leadership growth should be encouraged and the opportunity for development.

The above statement is a "Rejection to Condemn Paternalism" offered by Mr. C. Christopher, a student at the University of Dayton in the morning with a dialogue Mass and presentation of the book Education Through the Lens of the Cardinal Spelman Library--where the study of student's talents were addressed by several speakers, including Paul Stanford, President of the University of Dayton, and a group, among which Mr. Donald Miller, Administration Manager at the BDH Education Center, added to the discussion. "Condemn Paternalism" was ordered by the college student, a college student fired by "the burning issues of our times," and fired for a college student to give a more adequate response to the "problems of the ages" which he has studied in the college student's talents.

The statement was presented at the University of Dayton and addressed by several speakers, including Paul Stanford, President of the University of Dayton, and a group, among which Mr. Donald Miller, Administration Manager at the BDH Education Center, added to the discussion. "Condemn Paternalism" was ordered by the college student, a college student fired by "the burning issues of our times," and fired for a college student to give a more adequate response to the "problems of the ages" which he has studied in the college student's talents.

The University must not restrict these freedoms of thought, associations, and action which are simultaneously the prerequisites of a fully democratic social order and personal development. The vision toward which we strive is that of a democratic university in which all have certain classes of participation in matters of common concern and of freedom of inquiry, association, and development in which paternalism is replaced by fellowship in the company of scholars.

The New York–New Jersey Region of the National Federation of Catholic College Students endorses the tradition of paternalism and the distorted notion of the educational process which it justifies. This view holds that paternalism permits arbitrary and exclusive repression of student pursuits and thereby impairs the total significance of the university's purpose.
Marist Varsity Crew Defeats St. Johns by 3/4 Length

by JOHN DWORAK

The Marist College crew began its 1962 season in fine style a week ago Sunday by defeating St. John’s University of Brooklyn. The Redmen put up a fine race but it was all spent in trying to catch the men from Poughkeepsie.

Marist jumped right out on the start and this proved to be too much for the Johnies. Stroke Jim Callahan held the beat at a 36 for the first forty strokes and Marist was away by a half a boat length as they began to bring the count down to the 34 beat which they maintained the rest of the race.

The Red Foxes kept increasing their lead till they led by a length and a quarter with a half mile to go. St. John’s tried to make their move at this point and brought the stroke up from the 32 they had been rowing to a 36. This closed the gap a little bit but they could not maintain the pace and soon dropped the beat again. Marist now led by a boat length.

St. John’s began their final move before Marist and started to close in. When Coxswain Gary Smith gave the order to begin the sprint, the crew responded nobly and pulled away. Marist finished three quarters of a length ahead, about 45 feet, and was pulling ahead even more as the race ended. They covered the mile and five-sixteenths in 7:18.

The junior varsity did not fare as well. They lost to a far more experienced crew by five lengths in the time of 7:38 for the same mile and five-sixteenths.

MARIST VARSITY

Str.    Jim Callahan
7.     Tony Campilii
6.     Jim Daley
5.     Walt Herbst
4.     Ed DiSanto
3.     John Does
2.     Boo Mead
Bow    Mike Chirlatti
Cox    Gary Smith

MARIST JV

Str.    J. Keith Convery
7.     Bill Moran
6.     Mario Rampollo
5.     John Quest
4.     Henry Langley
3.     John M. Laughlin
2.     John Langeloh
Box    Stan Waryas
Cox    Larry Plover

INTRAMURALS

by JAMES PIZZANI

The Intramural softball season commenced last week with Don opening the season by beating Guard by a score of 25 to 17. The Don House had to come from behind to claim their win. Going into the last inning Don House trailed by a score of 17 to 13. Don Murphy started the rally with a line drive single to left field. Other highlights of the game for the Don House were Bill Weiss and Tom Kelleher’s home runs. The winning battery was pitcher John O’Neill and catcher Bill Mcintyre. Highlighting the Guard House was the fine play of their centerfielder and Captain John Romeo.

In the other intramural game of the week Park House led by pitcher Levi Carrier and hitters Hugh Reynolds and Mike Ryan edged Hudson House by a score of 13 to 11. The game was a tight one up until the fifth inning when pitcher Terry Macken of the Hudson House suffered a case of wildness. With a seven run lead the Park House easily coasted to victory on the strong arm of their pitcher Levi Carrier.

“I must have been out of my mind to miss the paperback sale.”

“Don’t You Miss It.”

ONLY 2 MORE DAYS LEFT

the bookstore