Juniors Receive Rings in Chapel Ceremony

Dance and Festivities Highlight Evening
12 Foot Ring Featured

Symbolic of their efforts and scholastic achievements thirteen members of the junior class received their Marist rings in a solemn ceremony in Our Lady of Wisdom Chapel on February 23.

The ceremony began with a procession of the juniors into the chapel. The solemnity of the occasion was added to by the singing of "Come Holy Ghost" by the Scholastics. Father James Driscoll, chaplain of the college then gave a talk on the importance of the Catholic educator and educated. He also spoke of the importance of the ring and how it was a symbol of the process of education that was nearly completed. The ring represents the achievement of certain goals and the trials yet to come.

After the talk by Father Driscoll was completed the rings were blessed and were presented to the juniors.

The ceremony was concluded with Benediction. Present at the ceremony were relatives and friends of the participants and several members of the faculty.

In the evening the juniors and seniors got together at the Nelson House for the traditional Junior-Senior Ring Dance. Although not as well attended as had been planned the dance was a complete success. The couples danced to the music of Len Schultz and his band and the accompaniment of a female vocalist. Acting as chaperones for the affair were Brother Linus Foy, President of the college, Brother Paul Stokes, Donn, Father Aldo Pos, religion instructor, and Father James Driscoll, chaplain.

For the thirteen juniors all in all the day turned out to be a most enjoyable and rewarding one.

On February 23, 1963, the Evening Division representatives assembled for another election of the Council meeting was quick, as many matters were discussed, but I can recall almost nothing of what was said shortly after the meeting began on exceptionally attractive girls, being assigned to the table and from that point on I devoted my entire attention to her. At last she didn't come back. This has not been a complete loss however, for if you're interested, the minutes of the meeting are posted upon the Evening Division bulletin board.

An error appeared in my last column, concerning class rings for Evening Division students. It record that class rings for the night students do not require an inscription containing the year of graduation. This means that any student may order a ring. You become a junior when you have 64 credits behind you.

Last week, due to a class being cancelled, I was able to attend a new course time, one of the Wednesday evening movies, sponsored by the Evening Division Council. Out of a total of some hundred-odd marks on attendance, I was startled to find that only a few night students attended. This fact made me realize that the film, "Movie-Jean of Arc" was excellent. Those students who aren't interested in good films probably missed the one thing that they might say here, but it occurred to me that the whole class Attendance was poor as late as 5 pm on Mondays, and just as poor as late as 5 pm on Wednesdays. The time element is just right. The movie begins when the class begins and the time when the class normally ends. Admission is free. Free coffee is served after the movie so you can have a cup of coffee together before attending home. Bring some friendly young people who you would like to have in bed by 10:00 P.M., and you will learn something for nothing.

Thursdays are a little different. The next day being Ann Arbor's famous "Dine a la Carte" at the Athenaeum. One can get a free coffee at 5:30 p.m. If you can't afford anything else, you can still "dine a la carte" for the price of a coffee and an introduction to another. It's a great way to meet people.

One change was made in the marking system this year (it is now equal to 5 rather than 1), there might be room for further re-evaluation.

A = 94, B = 93

The RECORD

March 5, 1963

A recent study by the Internal Security Subcommittee showed that the Communists had established a party in every part of the country, legally or underground. Lenin when he addressed the Second Congress of the Com- munist International in 1920 said that there was no necessity to use legal and illeg- al means and also that no sphere of work could not be won by the Communities. Any means are holy and just means according to the Communist terminology. They are in many ways achieving their goal of influence for the Soviet Union each year spends $2 per free man on propaganda while the free world spends about $1 per capita.

Communist infiltration is no hap- hazard movement. It is carefully con- trolled by the activities in the political, social, economic, and religious struc- ture of a country. The Internal Security Subcommittee, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and the Communities on American Activities continue to discover instances of Communist in- filtration into the fiber of American life.

Last week, due to a class being cancelled, I was provided with an extra time, one of the Wednesday evening movies, sponsored by the Evening Division Council. Out of a total of some hundred and odd moviegoers in attendance, I was startled to find that only a few night students, I am sure, attend. The movie-Jean of Arc was excellent. Those students who aren’t interested in good films probably aren’t interested in anything that they hear, but it occurred to me that the whole student body who have a late class on evenings when a film is shown, do not even show up in attending. If you have a late class, why not bring your friends over to the Adrian Lounge—where the film is shown—and just enjoy the company.

Next month’s column will feature the history of the cinema in America, and which the students give special emphasis to the different eras at which the viewers are interested in films of America.

Religion is a key note in any society and few attempts to biology than their connection with religion or money, the life of a person. The criminal code includes many laws which make it illegal to worship any religion that does not exist within the country. We can also find the facts of existence. Levin himself said that, “the idea, or the bourgeois was impossible without a desperate war of life and death. He also said that Capitalism and socialism cannot go together in peace, and that a funeral dirge will be played over the Soviet Republic or over the capitalist world.”

Many good with the Communists. Of 52 agreements, the total of 4,500 meetings, the Communists have kept two.” said Dr. Smecker.

This and other statements show the one, “the spread of the spread in the early years the world just watched and has continued to just watch but how long can this continue?

We must take action and the time is now!

Bro. Cornelius Receives Ford Fellowship Award

On February 11th, Brother Cornelius Russell was named as a recipient of the Ford Fellowship, and was valued at approximately $1000. This fellowship will enable him to attend a seminar course at the Wharton School of Commerce in Philadelphia.

The seminar will focus on recent developments in economic models of policies and statistical data, the course will extend from June 10th until August 2nd. During the first few weeks, each of the ten members enrolled will formulate a research topic. Then the organized work of the seminar will be suspended to allow the participants to spend all their time in research and writing. During the last week or two, the seminar meetings will be devoted primarily to the discussion of problems raised by the research work of the participants.

I don't think there is anybody that attended the New Paltz game who could say that they did not see 110% effort by every member of the squad. The battered squad (via ineligibility) has been recently nicknamed "Snow Weiss and the Seven Dwarfs" for obvious reasons. Certainly they came very near to writing a fairy tale story against the "birds". It was a respectable showing by the team and one we are all proud of. I think a greater deal of credit should be given, all things considered, to both the basket ball team and its coach. This corner predicts bigger and better things for Mr. Wade and next year's club.

The crew team is now going through the long, dull, waiting period. They are waiting for the ice to break on the river but they are not standing still in the training department. At this writing they are running three miles a day, plus calisthenics, and twenty minutes on the rowing machines. There are five returning oarsmen, Jim Daly, Ed DiSanto, Bill Moran, Mario Rampollo, and John St. Denis, who look good for varsity positions. Ernie Roselle, Pete Nesteroke, Norm Christianson, Bruce LaFko, Jon Oberle, and Bill Zablic should be the top contenders for the other three spots. Coxswain Gary Smith is also returning. The crew team will open its schedule April 6th at home against St. John's and A. I. C.

It looks like the varsity club is making a great deal of preparation for the battle on the hardwoods with the faculty slated for March 9th. The faculty has expressed that they are not going to show any mercy with their high-scoring attack. There seems to be quite a bit of mudsliding going on between the two ball clubs, and the varsity club's top scorer "Bomber" Romeo has been quoted as saying: "I don't care if all my teachers do fail me I am going to see to it that a job is done!" Come out and see all the action this Saturday night.

Random Thoughts -- Kudos to Don Komosa for his 41 points in intramural basketball play -- Coach Jim Pizzano expects to start softball workouts before long -- Mickey Mantle and Willie Mays are making as much as JFK -- This corner still thinks Loyola looks good in the NCAA-- Are we going to see spring soccer? -- Word has it Brother Andrew is flying back for the varsity club-faculty game -- GO VARSITY CLUB.

Marist played host to New Paltz State and to the largest home crowd of the season. They played what many spectators consider the best game ever. You play your best but that is little consolation when you fall short, 72-66, as the Red Foxes did.

This engagement was far from being a one-man performance. Each team member had a job to do and he did it well. Such is the case when no one player can be cited as outstanding. Fred Weiss blanketed Hawk ace, Fred Sadler; Den O'Brien scored; Laffy LaForge and Wally Barisonек did the board work; Bernie Dooley and Dave Flynn did the play making. Each man knew his job and each man did it!

It was a snowy, mid-winter night and the campus was kind of quiet, so the Marist Cagers decided on a little practice session. They travelled up to Lenox, Mass., to show the country folk how the game of basketball was played. The Red Foxes came back home with, of course, a 120-76 victory in a defensive battle.

The engagement had just begun and it was over already. Fred Weiss was lukewarm. He came, he saw, he conquered! "Big Fred," to quote Dave Flynn, literally knocked over his opposition in collecting a meager total of 38 points, a record-breaking performance, along with 26 rebounds. Will the Student Council please allocate funds to play all four games in Lenox for the rest of the season? "Laffy" LaForge contributed his share of the wealth with 25 points and grabbed off 15 misfired shots as he and Weiss played Wilt's on Berkshire. So as not to be left out, Wally Barisonék chipped in 15 points to the cause as Den O'Brien and Arty Acker knocked in 13 and 12, respectively. The two scored only in the last 12 minutes of play.

The first half was close. Marist was only ahead by 18 points, 53-35, on the horseless Knights. Maybe it was those half-time oranges?

The second half was a bright spot in the dark night and that was Buddy Biron. "Rumpus Stilkansen" scored 29 points on assorted trick shots. It was later discovered that Biron had a horse shoe, rabbit's foot, and a few shamrocks in his warmups.
