"Blaine Won't Determine Catholic Ed"

Conclusion Reached by Panel Of Faculty and Students On Blaine Amendment

The passage or failure of the New York State Constitution this November will not provide the answer as to what the future of Catholic education will be in the state. This was the purpose of members of a recent panel discussion sponsored by the Bolognese Club of Marist in conjunction with Mount Saint Mary College of Newburgh.

The discussion, held on October 29th, was formally entitled, "The Blaine Amendment, The Future of Catholic Education." Members of the panel were from Marist, Bro. Martin Long, Mr. George Duenweg, Bro. John Hannon, and Rev. James Philip, S.J., associate professor.

The panel concluded that the Blaine Amendment as it would affect the future of Catholic education is inconclusive and that the movement would depend upon how the question would be worded.

IS SCHOOL SPIRIT DEAD?

Report From Paris After 24 Hours

The students who run the Student Center, the student newspaper, the student magazine, the student radio station, and the student television station, are the ones who make the rules and the ones who enforce them. They are the ones who decide what is important and what is not. They are the ones who have the power to change things. And that's what we need to do.

We need to fight for our rights, for our freedom. We need to make sure that our voices are heard. We need to make sure that our ideas are taken seriously. We need to make sure that our future is secure.

We need to be the ones who are in control. We need to be the ones who are making the decisions. We need to be the ones who are shaping the world.

And we can only do that if we stand together. We can only do that if we work together. We can only do that if we have each other's backs.

Together, we can make a difference. Together, we can change things. Together, we can be the ones who are in control.

American-Soviet Relations

The issues of the Berlin Wall in 1961 and the nuclear arms race are still relevant today. The Berlin Wall was built to prevent West Germans from fleeing to the East, and the nuclear arms race is a major concern for international security.

With the current tensions between the United States and the Soviet Union, it is important to remember the lessons of the past. The Berlin Wall was a symbol of the Cold War, and the nuclear arms race has led to the production of nuclear weapons. It is important to work towards a world without nuclear weapons and to promote peace and cooperation between nations.

Marist Athletes
Deserve Recognition

ports here at the M.C. don't create too much excitement - at least, they're not announced over the PA system or have a basketball-shaped, regularly scheduled segment. However, there are some good things going on in this small school spirit and team support are basically the same as they were last year and not in the Derby. On the whole, though, the feel of the crowd is rather off - on our ends and off ours, too, about how we would be playing, and how the team would do anywhere. This year we've got a lot of new faces, and I think it's a good sign. I've heard some say that we're doing something wrong, and the way we're playing - there are a lot of good points, too. But there are a few too many individual and team errors that we don't have much time to make off of - they're too well executed.

Graded, it's kinda rough. With both teams playing well, there's a lot of good points. But there are a few too many individual and team errors that we don't have much time to make off of - they're too well executed.

Sailing Team Forges Ahead

Eyes Future Championship

River gods have been giving the Sailing Team their share of problems, but it looks as if they are going to overcome these minor difficulties with a winning season.

The Freshman Team had quite a bit of difficulty in the Freshman Eliminations held on October 22. According to the coach, Mr. Hendy, "they sailed well but they battled with disqualification issues." Wins and losses are important, but the team's ability to overcome these issues is crucial for their success.

As for the Varsity, they seemed to conquer the River gods at the Rutgers Invitational, bringing in the winning team for the Varsity in Division I and the Florida Boating Invitational. In the three division races, the team won two firsts and a second, and under B Division sailing, Mark Anthony placed first in the races but did not finish the third. This made it two wins in a row for the Varsity Team.
