Berrigan Thanks His Marist Followers

Sentencing of Dan Berrigan S.J. and his eight companions took place on Nov. 8 in Baltimore. Their crime was the destroying of federal property, especially the burning of induction and draft files. The act as Father Berrigan put it, "caused evidence of our lives, to unite with the hundreds in the streets and the millions across the world, who regard their lives to death as a social method. For the nine of them it was an opportunity without parallel to catch the entire communication to the public, a very personal effort to mount support for the new left.

Catholic lawyers from various beliefs took place at Cantonville, Md. on October 7. The actual damage was the burning of 1-4A, 2-A, and 2-1 draft files of Local Board 35 in Cantonville Md.

An indirect cause of their spirited assault was the totality of war anti-ecumenical in movement. They felt that South Vietnam is a human statement, in short the anti-theological "To create man in God's image of community, decency and hope." A view which the courts of Baltimore felt as an inadequate defense.

Awaiting sentence also is a mixed bag of 14 in Milwaukee, a town a beer claimed to make famous. Presently they are out on bail after many futile efforts to retain a bondsman. Like Dan Berrigan, their crime spoke even of those whose lives were wasted in the despair of official violence, racism, war, fear of change and despair.

The only defense submitted for the "9" was this poem:

The boxes of paper ash
Weer rolled on in a dood
Heaped there like cord wood
Or children after a usual
Air strike on Hano.
I heard between heartbeat
Of Jesus and his hangman.
The children's mouth's mewing
For the breaths of murdered women.
The blackened hand beating
The box of death for breath.

After the trial of the "9" this message was received by T.A.C. from Dan Berrigan:

"Peace it man's movement; it is healing and humanizing. And in such healing is the purity of intent that even performs official crimes in order to heal the life of the world.

We thank with all our hearts those who joined our stance in Baltimore on October 7, and who moved with us."

Br. Foy Returns From Marist Chapter

Returning from a religious convention on Oct. 28 which convened in Rome 1968 Br. Linus Foy president of the college replaces acting president Dr. Sheoder.

Staying behind him in Italy was the vice-president Bro. Cashin who will remain there until Nov. 20. The convention which is a chapter constitutional convention is held every nine years. At its close in late November Bro. Cashin was named the new president. Fr. Weiss who serves as an official translator will also return with Bro. Cashin to the campus scene.

The importance of the convention has been expanded as explained by Bro. Linus is its fruitful exchange of ideas. Since the volume of proposals that came in the '67 chapter was too much another phase was created to handle all the suggestions. The second phase met near the end of the 68 summer. Over 600 representatives representing 30 different communities in French, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish and English. The final decision of the chapter was to praeem the entire constitution in the fall of 1969.

Working from two of the conventions are "Protestant Unitarian" Spies" (Joy and Hope) and "Protestant Carities." The chapter has decided that the constitution should move toward a more liberal outlook to the extent that it means to Marist is the changing role of the apostles, stressing the self-discipline of the individual over the more organized types of religious life. This idea also keeps in close design with the current trend at Christian social arts institutions to place more self reliance in student's hands by turning over more responsibility to them.

The American delegation had also become keenly aware of the serious problems handicapping other delegates in their communities. According to Bro. Linus, communities covering Africa and South America face severe economic difficulties, not to mention academic squabbling. Two elected delegates from the Brazilian region reported that their community buried over 200 children away due to starvation since the war started in May of 1967.

The communities media also became another important theme of the chapter. To Brazil the communities have begun a plan to reach the country's large population in its vast interior. By passing out radio sets to remote towns, the brothers will broadcast shows designed to bring a closer contact between the cities and inland areas. A probable central broadcasting station will be at the Marist University of Porto

T.A.C. Students Picket Poughkeepsie A & P

Tomorrow students from Marist's Thought, Action, Communication along with Vassar, Duquesch, Bard, and New Paltz College students, will demonstrate in front of the A&P on Main Street, Poughkeepsie. They will be picketing in support of the United Farm Workers Union and its boycott of grapes grown by California producers. According to student worker Floy Alwoll, "The demonstration will be more forceful than the one which took place six weeks ago.

The demonstration, which was held last Saturday, started in the late afternoon and lasted for several hours. Some of the A&P customers did in fact refuse to purchase produce they had originally intended to buy. However, the presence of the demonstrators prompted some adverse reactions. Students were bailed with cries of "You should be out working," and some shoppers even began to buy grapes at the demonstration.

At the end of the demonstration, approximately some women were buying grapes in protest. At one point a sign was placed in front of the A&P grape stand which read "Stop Communism. Buy California Grapes." Many shoppers were obviously annoyed by the presence of the demonstrators.

The manager of the Poughkeepsie A&P informed the Marist students that he was paid to sell groceries and he would continue to do just that. The students reasoned that support of the grape boycott represented a demand for the rights that "have been enjoyed by most white Americans for over thirty years," and that refusal to sell grapes would only represent an infinitesimal amount of A&P's weekly sales.

Some of the signs being made by the UFW. Union members include requests for the union, toilet and other sanitary facilities, cool drinking water, decent eating, the elimination of racial discrimination in hiring practices.

Michaelson Discusses Chemical Symbols

Last Thursday night in the large lecture room of Donnelly Hall, a lecture was given by Dr. Michaelson on the development of chemical symbols. In dealing with the subject, Michaelson went back to the earlier Greeks. The Greeks attempted to explain the makeup of matter through solid geometric forms. Some tried to show the interrelationship of earth, water, fire, and air through the similarity of these geometric figures.

Michaelson discussed some of the symbols which the chemists symbolized in the newest addition to Marist's button craze - the UNI button. UNI's sole purpose is the Student Body itself. It is not a chartered club. It does not have a budget, but it is important to become one of the most dynamic forces that any college community can be fortunate to possess.

Just what then is UNI? This is a question that prompted the Czar to attend last Monday's meeting. The answers are quite interesting. Most students' opinions as to UNI's purpose as there were students at the meeting. The most concise explanation of UNI came from the chairman of the Committee, Brother Gene Stafford. Bro. Stafford said that this transformed Religious Activities Committee is a beginning for the Spirit of Marist. The Spirit that Dean Wade and Fr. Guillemette spoke of at the first organization last September. UNI is trying to help people come to know one another. It is that spirit that is so important in the formation of a college community. The true spirit of community Marist is striving to become. This is the reason where the first a very vague and undefined idea, it becomes more tangible. Bro. Stafford explained that UNI is not "just a button"

Continued on page 4

Continued on page 7

Uni Seeks To Foster Community Spirit

Last Monday evening a group of concerned MOTUs and women met in one of the smaller classrooms of the Campus Center for a unique and unprecedented venture in human relations. This new organization has arisen out of the Phoenix of the now defunct Religious Activities Committee. The new committee bears the name "You and I" which is
Main St. Pickets

As this edition of the Circle goes to press, members of the student Action Committee are working on the final stage of a planned protest at the Main St. Picket near the College Union at 4 p.m. on Monday, November 16. The protest was initiated in response to the College Union’s decision to close the door for the night. The protest will be composed of a mass of people who will remain outside the Union throughout the night. The protest is in the wake of the recent killing of a student at the University of Michigan, and the students are calling for an end to the violence and the establishment of a climate of respect and peace. The protest is expected to begin at 4 p.m. on Monday at the Main St. Picket, and will continue throughout the night.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Disgusted Faculty

To Whom It May Concern:

Mr. Fred P. Pressing, Jr., the faculty of the Philosophy Department, has been grappling with the issue of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity and the alleged sexual harassment of the educational process. Our department has been asked to provide a statement in the upcoming edition of The Student. As a result, we have been discussing this matter extensively with our colleagues and have come to the following conclusions.

1. Phi Kappa Psi’s activities are a violation of the university’s code of conduct.
2. The Phi Kappa Psi fraternity’s activities are not in line with the values of the philosophy department.
3. We believe that the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity should be expelled from the university.

We hope that you will take these matters into consideration and act accordingly.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

[Signature]

COPS & CARS

MCR AGAIN?

Dear Sir:

I write this letter with a sense of frustration. This week, according to the police logs, there have been at least three incidents involving the police. On Monday, a suspect was arrested for possession of a stolen item. On Tuesday, a car was stolen from a residence, and on Wednesday, a police officer was involved in a car accident.

I believe that these incidents are not isolated cases, but rather part of a bigger problem. The police are constantly called to deal with situations that could be handled by other agencies. I believe that the police should be focused on their primary role of maintaining public safety.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Appalachia Needs Your Vote

by Tom Smith

Richard Nurse, president of The Appalachian Times, has stated that the vote in the upcoming election is crucial to the future of the region. Nurse emphasized the importance of the vote in ensuring that the region has a voice in the decisions made by the government.

"We are facing many challenges in the coming years," Nurse said. "From economic development to education, we need a strong voice in Washington. The vote in the coming election is the best way to ensure that we have a strong voice." Nurse encouraged all eligible voters to cast their votes on November 3rd.

Open House

Currently, as students debate the future of Appalachian, the question of the region's future is a topic of discussion. Some argue that the region is facing a crisis, while others believe that the region has a bright future. Regardless of the perspective, the region is facing many challenges, including economic development, education, and infrastructure.

The challenge of economic development is particularly acute. Many communities in the region are struggling to attract businesses and create jobs. The region's educational system is also facing challenges. Many students are not receiving the education they need to succeed in the workforce.

However, there are reasons for optimism. Many communities in the region are working together to address these challenges. For example, the region is working to attract businesses and create jobs through the development of new industries. The region's educational system is also working to improve, with many schools offering new programs and scholarships to attract students.

In conclusion, the future of Appalachian is uncertain. However, there are reasons for optimism. The region is working together to address the challenges it faces, and there are many reasons to believe that the region has a bright future.
Main St. Pickets

As an edition of the Circle goes to press, members of Thorough, Accounting, Communications, are working on the final stage of a planned protest at the Main St. Pickets. The Pickets have been nominated to be the site of a new student protest, which is currently being organized by the students. The protest is planned to take place on Wednesday, November 15.

Many of the students are concerned about the recent events on the Radio Campus. They are worried that the new administration has made it more difficult for students to express their views. As a result, they are planning a protest to call attention to these issues and to demand more freedom of expression on campus.

The protest is scheduled to begin at 2:00 PM on Wednesday, November 15, at the Main St. Pickets. The students are asking for everyone to attend and to bring signs and banners to show their support.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Edifying Disguises
To Whom It May Concern:

We feel it is necessary to point out the presence of the following individuals on campus, who are not just coincidentally visiting, but instead are undercover agents of the administration.

1. The Disguised Professor (Professor Disguised)
- Disguised as an administrative assistant at the Foundation Office
- Often seen in the halls and libraries

2. The Disguised Student (Student Disguised)
- Disguised as a janitor at the Fine Arts Building
- Frequent sightings in the stairwells

These disguises are intended to create confusion and disrupt the usual routines of the campus. We encourage our community to remain vigilant and to report any sightings of these individuals.

COPS & CARS

MCR AGAIN?

Dear Sir,

My letter is a response to a column written by you in the last issue of The Circle. In your column, you mentioned the possibility of a new edition of MCR, and you asked the readers to express their opinions on this topic.

As a member of the Circle staff, I would like to express my own opinion on this matter. I believe that the current edition of MCR is already doing a good job of covering the news and events on campus. However, I do see some room for improvement in terms of content and style.

I would like to suggest that the Circle consider incorporating more student perspectives into its reporting. This could be done by including more student-written articles and essays, as well as featuring interviews with students about their experiences on campus.

I believe that these changes would not only make the Circle more engaging and relevant to the student body, but also contribute to a more vibrant and creative campus culture.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Appalachia Needs Your Vote

by Tom Smith

Richard Nixon, president of the United States, will go to the polls tomorrow to determine whether he should continue as president. Nixon is running against Hubert Humphrey, Democrat vice president of the United States.

Nixon, in his presidential campaign, has promised to bring peace to Vietnam, to cut taxes, and to increase the production of oil and gas. Humphrey, on the other hand, has promised to continue his efforts to end the Vietnam War, to lower taxes, and to increase government spending.

Both candidates are polling closely, and the outcome of the election is uncertain. It is important for all Americans to vote, as the choice of a president can have a significant impact on the future of the country.

Open House

Currently, as residents students are pondering the fate of the upcoming basketball season. The Mountaineers are expected to have a successful year, with several returning players and new acquisitions.

One student, who requested to remain anonymous, said, "I'm excited about the season. I've heard good things about the new coach and the new players. I think we're going to do well this year."

Another student, who also requested anonymity, added, "I'm not really sure how we'll do. Last year was a bit of a letdown, but I think we have the potential to be better this year."

Finally, it is possible for students to reside in the dormitories for the fall semester. The administration is currently working on plans to accommodate all students who wish to return. Students who are interested in returning should check with their respective dormitory advisors for more information.

The Circle-End

[Signature]

Taylor S. Jackson

[Signature]
IN RACIST AMERICA?

by Vincent Bassett

"America is a racist society." concluded a commentator on ABC’s "The Beat" yesterday, "The conclusion may be expected to a conclusion and a set of facts that are..."

The commentator continued with a series of statistics and facts that support the claim of racism in America. It is not clear from the text what specific facts or figures the commentator used to make their argument. The text ends with a question: "The same is true in a..."

The Heart Is A Lonely Hunter

by Richard Conner

We build what cannot be unmade. Nothing, and this is the message of "The Heart Is A Lonely Hunter." The narrator, a naive and innocent young man, is forced to confront the harsh realities of society and the consequences of his own naivety.

The story is about a young man who is unable to adapt to the cruel and unforgiving world around him. Despite his best intentions, he is ultimately damaged by his own ignorance and lack of understanding.

In the end, the narrator comes to see that there is no escape from the harsh realities of life. He learns that the only way to survive is to accept the pain and suffering that come with it.

Oberrlin College

Academic Pressure

Oberrlin, Ohio (AP) - Students in the College of Arts and Sciences at Oberlin College say they are facing increased academic pressure this year. The increase is attributed to the new curriculum and the increased emphasis on research.

The students say that the increased pressure is making it difficult for them to balance their studies and personal lives. They are concerned about the impact of this pressure on their mental health.

The students have formed a group to address these concerns and are planning to meet with the administration to discuss their concerns.

Washington, D.C. - In a move to reduce academic pressure, the president of Oberlin College has announced that the college will be implementing a new program to support students who are experiencing stress.

The program will provide students with access to counseling services and other support resources.

Huntington, Ohio - The Huntingtob College Foundation has announced a new scholarship program to support students who are facing academic pressure.

The scholarship will provide financial assistance to students who are struggling with the demands of college.

Peace Corp Program Extended

Continued on page 4

Junior Class Ring

Orders Starting

Junior Class ring orders are due now. Rings are priced at $150 plus tax and are expected to be delivered in December. Students who wish to order a ring should complete the order form and submit it to the club's treasurer.

A group of students is planning a fundraising event to support the ring program. The event will be held on Friday, November 15, at the school cafeteria.

Peace Corp Program Extended

Continued on page 4

Janis Joplin Means A Certain Something

Continued from page 3

View a young woman with a sense of wonder and a sense of..." said the singer. "I think that's what I'm trying to convey in my music."

"I'm trying to make music that speaks to people..." she continued. "Music that makes them feel something, that makes them think..."

On stage, Janis Joplin was a force to be reckoned with. Her powerful voice and passionate delivery left the audience in awe.

Continued on page 5

Juniors Joplin is A

Continued from page 3

"I feel that music is a way to express myself..." said Janis Joplin. "I feel that it's a way to connect with people..."

"I feel that music is a way to..." she continued. "I feel that it's a way to..."

On stage, Janis Joplin was a force to be reckoned with. Her powerful voice and passionate delivery left the audience in awe.

"I feel that music is a way to..." said Janis Joplin. "I feel that it's a way to..."

"It's a way to express..."

Continued on page 5

The College of Arts and Sciences at Oberlin College has announced a new..." said the college president. "The new program is designed to..."

The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.

"The new program is designed to..." she said. "The college president continued with a series of details about the new program and its goals.
IN RACIST AMERICA?

by Vincent Baume

"America is a racist society," concluded a research associate at the Southern Regional Council. The conclusion was based on a survey of 2000 African-American families in the South and Midwest. The survey found that 80% of the families polled had experienced some form of discrimination. The survey also found that 40% of the families had been forced to leave their homes because they felt they were being discriminated against.

The students say they want their children to be free and that before they had found that children need, they heard of the "separate but equal" doctrine. They say that their children have not been treated fairly and that they feel they have been discriminated against. The students are unhappy with the current system and believe that it needs to be changed. They are determined to fight for their rights and to ensure that their children are treated fairly.

The Heart is A Lonely Hunter

by Richard Conner

"The Heart is A Lonely Hunter" is an American novel by Carson McCullers. The protagonist of the novel is a young woman named John, who is from a small town in the South. John is a outsider in her community and she feels like she doesn't belong. She meets a boy named Aubrey, who is also an outsider in his community. They start to hang out together and John learns to feel more comfortable in her own skin. The novel is a powerful exploration of the human condition and the challenges of finding one's place in the world.

JANIS JOLPIN MEANS A CERTAIN SOMETHING

by Peace Corps Program Extended

The Peace Corps Program Extended has been extended for another year. The Peace Corps is a volunteer program that sends American volunteers to work on projects abroad. The program was first established in 1961 and has since sent thousands of volunteers to work in over 140 countries. The extended Peace Corps Program is expected to continue sending volunteers overseas for another year, with a focus on projects that address global challenges such as poverty, health, and education.

UNIVERSITIES FACE OVER-ENROLLMENT

Washington, D.C. - The national universities have been facing a crisis in recent years, and the situation seems to be worsening. The number of students accepted for admission has increased by 10% in the past year, and the trend is expected to continue. Many universities are now having to turn away qualified students, which is causing concern among educators and policymakers.

Several universities have already announced plans to reduce their enrollment, but the problem is likely to persist. The high cost of a college education has made it difficult for many students to afford to attend university, and the situation is likely to become even more challenging in the future. Some policymakers are calling for reforms to reduce the cost of higher education, but others believe that the problem is too large to solve with just one approach.

The situation is particularly acute in certain regions of the country, where the cost of living is high and the job market is competitive. Many students are forced to take on large amounts of debt in order to pay for their education, and the burden of student loan debt is likely to continue to grow.

Despite the challenges, there are some positive signs. Many universities are experimenting with new models of education, such as online courses and hybrid programs, which may help to reduce costs and increase access. There are also efforts underway to increase funding for student aid, which could help to make higher education more affordable for more students.

In the meantime, universities are urged to continue to work with policymakers and educators to find solutions to this complex problem. The stakes are high, and the need for action is urgent.
Dear Sirs,

I enjoyed reading your recent issue and was particularly interested in the article about the BERMUDA trip. I am planning a trip to the BERMUDA in the near future and was wondering if you could provide me with more information about your experience there.

Thank you,

[Your Name]
JAMES JOYCE

Contrasted from page 3

A vast succession of events was the same kind that would transpire over the years of drug dealing and prostitution. Yet, in the beginning, as the drug kingpins and their clients gathered, the atmosphere was one of excitement and anticipation. The drug scene was thriving, much like the nightlife in New York City.

COMPOSITION

A column that appeared in the October 22, 1978, issue of the New York Times reported on the heroin trade in the U.S. The article stated that drug dealers were using heroin as a means of escape from their lives, and that the addiction rate was increasing.

PEACE mEaNS

A book by the famous author, John Lennon, was published in 1978. The book was titled "Imagine," and it focused on the themes of peace and love.

BITS AND PIECES

A short story by the renowned writer, William Faulkner, was published in 1978. The story was titled "A Rose for Emily." It was a tale of the lives of two sisters, Eliza and Emily, and their unfulfilled dreams.

SOCiER

A column that appeared in the October 22, 1978, issue of the New York Times reported on the soccer team's upcoming match. The team was scheduled to play against the local rival, and the crowd was anticipating an exciting game.

BOY F.OY

A column that appeared in the October 22, 1978, issue of the New York Times reported on the local boy's attempts to become a star athlete. The column highlighted his dedication and hard work, as well as his possibility of achieving his dreams.

EASTERN RUSSiA

A column that appeared in the October 22, 1978, issue of the New York Times reported on the political situation in Eastern Russia. The column discussed the ongoing political tensions and the possible outcomes of the upcoming elections.

COLLEGE WEEK

A column that appeared in the October 22, 1978, issue of the New York Times reported on the college selection process. The column highlighted the importance of choosing the right college, as well as the various factors that should be considered in the decision-making process.
SOCCER AND HARRIERS END SEASON WITH IMPRESSIVE SHOWINGS

Cross-Country
20-5 Season

Marist added three more victories to its record on Sat. Nov. 2 at Van Cortlandt Park as they defeated Brooklyn College 19-37, Queens College 21-35, and Brooklyn Poly Tech. 15-50. The unusual weather conditions that the race was run under, 75 degree temperature in the mid-day sun, caused the times to be well off proportionately in respect to everyone's previous performances. However, Phil Cappio placed first in the meet, and despite the heat, he still managed to run in the 28's. Bob Andrews ran a strong second position and he was followed in the scoring column by Greg Howe, Steve Stowsicki, and Bob Mayerhofer. Helping to place up were Joe Porcino, Jim Ambury, and Mike Bell.

On Tue. Nov. 5, The Marist' harriers travelled to Connecticut to seek their nineteenth victory of the season. The result was as easy 21-18 trouncing over Sacred Heart University. Captain Bob Andrews led the way to win the 5.2 mile race in 20:51 as he took over the first position for Phil Cappio who did not run. Bob Mayerhofer took third place in the meet and second for the team as he turned in a fine 31:59. Joe Porcino, Mike Bell, Jim Ambury, Greg Howe and Steve Stowsicki rounded out the scoring seven for Marist as they all finished before Sacred Heart's fourth man.

Vikings Bow To Friars And To Pirates

After two successive losses, to Providence and Seton Hall, the football team goes into its last game of the year, with its worst record ever. After six contests, the Vikings have a record of 1-5 and are facing their first losing campaign.

Soccer Takes 3 In A Row For .500

The Marist booters finished their season on a winning note Saturday dumping Sacred Heart University 3-1. The victory, third in a row for the Red Fox's, gave them a .500 season at 6-6-1.

Saturday Rich Mead opened the scoring with a 4-6 goal in the first quarter. The Red Fox booters kept pressure on the Broncs, holding them scoreless most of the period they were unable to recover until the second period. At 5:30 of the second quarter, Bill Kawins drove a hard shot into the goal and gave Marist a 2-0 advantage. Bill won a faceoff, avoided a whirlwash when, only 6 minutes after Kawins' shot, Sh.wood beat Bob Krenn with a well-placed shot. Dennis Vernois put the game on ice with a goal at 1:58 of the last period. Sacred Heart closed the season with a 4-7-2 record.

Only ten days before the Sacred Heart game, Dr. Goldstein's charges saw their hopes for a 500 season severely damped by Monmouth State, losing 2-0. The New Jersey powerhouse kept tremendous pressure on the Marist defense all afternoon, dominating every quarter and holding on to an unbelievable 33-4 edge in shots taken. Tremendous work by the fullbacks and especially Bob Krenn held the out-of-statemen in check until the fourth period when an exhausted Krenn, let a pair of shots slip by.

Three days later Marist closed out its home season dominating Manhattan College 6-0. Bill Kawins and Gordy Walton put on an act together combining for the first three goals. Walton booted Kawanis' pass into the net at 11:34 of the first period to open the scoring. Eight minutes later it was Kawins putting the toe on a Walton cross giving the Foxes a 2-0 quarter advantage.

After a scoreless second quarter Walton again fed Kawins at 4:48 of the third period. Danny Vernois broke up the monopoly with a well-placed boot to the goal. The Poughkeepsie players got a 4-0 quarter advantage.

Harriers Take NAIA Third

On Sat. Nov. 9, the Red Foxes topped off an excellent season by capturing third place at the Eastern District Championship of the NAIA, the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics. For the third time in a row the team, held this year at Van Cortlandt, was won by a strong contingent from Trenton State University.

The winning team placed five runners under the 20 minute mark and amassed a total of only 28 points, while Paterson Institute, with four men in the top fifteen and a weak fifth man, took the runner-up spot with 39 points.

To illustrate the type of competition that was in the race: Marist had only two medal winners. Gordon Alling placed fifth with a time of 23:50, and Bob Andrews took thirteenth in 29:12. Phil's effort was a new school record and Bob's time was his fastest yet.

The race started out at a very quick pace and the tempo was maintained all the way around the flats for the first three-quarters of a mile. At this point, as they were entering the row pots, three men moved to the front in the lead. The men pack with three Trenton runners, two Monmouth men, and the eventual winner, Tom

Turkey Trot Nov. 20

Another first is about to happen on the Marist campus - the first Turkey Trot ever run. Sponsored by the Spiked Shoe Club, this race is open to men and women. The Trot will be run on Wednesday, Nov. 20 at 4:00 p.m. The course is 5 miles long, a mixture of short, flat, and hilly terrain. The Trot is expected to attract many runners, both professionals and non-professionals alike.

Next Issue Season Preview For Basketball And Wrestling

Jim Snyder controls the ball as Ed Walters starts to move in on the play.

Continued on page 7

Continued on page 7