MARIST IN THE SEVENTIES
A Special Report

The following is a staff report which is the result of a CIRCLE inquiry into the Presidential Planning Committee, the Faculty Workshop, and the Long-Range Plan for Marist College. Members of the faculty were asked to comment on the planning for Marist in the 70’s. Instructors were asked for their opinions and comments from the SAC representatives and others. The purpose of this report is to convey the students of the existence of the plan and the faculty’s opinions on the planning and to further discuss and make more known. An explanation of the document will not be attempted - this will be done by the Presidential Planning Committee at a later date to be decided. Copies of the third draft of the plans are available in the library.

Bro. Linus Foy

Brother Linus Foy stresses two key points in regard to the two-day Faculty Workshop. First, although there was considerable discussion, a great deal of the plan provoked little comment, indicating that there was more agreement than people think. Second, the fact that students were not involved these two days does not mean they will not be consulted.

Brother Foy believes that much of the controversy among the faculty stems from a faulty understanding of the chapter on the plan. Because too many people interpreted the chapter the same way, the plan was printed in the second issue of the "Tiger". He believes that we saw it as an attack on the humanities rather than as an attempt to place limits on the activities of the faculty, with the limits that we would be able to give them in two years.

Regarding the second point, Brother Linus had taken steps to insure that the planning meeting would be held so that opinions could be voiced and the Planning Committee would then have recommendations from the various college groups. Before this can happen, there must be a further meeting for students during which the students will be given the ideas of the plan and answer all their questions.

Brother Linus felt that there was a more practical level, in math for example, because many graduates do not immediately go to graduate school; a high school course therefor would rather take the graduate course in which one has genuine interest.

The plan's radicality will pervade the educational process. It must look to the humanities in the operation, determination of its values. Any perceptive treatment of this will lead to the sciences in the plan and the plan is an example of development.

Brother Foy believes that the plan is not a fusion of interdisciplin ary cooperation "between the humanities and sciences," that in this current age, to some extent "it is scientific to have a humanist and a humanist must become scientific."

We know that...We must appreciate the fact that we are living in a technological age. As we learn to live in a technological age we must also learn to live with other human beings. I am in favor of this...We must not do one or the other.

When it was pointed out to Dr. Lawrence Menapace the goals of the plan specifically stated that humanities, the actual plan itself contains no detailed programs to enhance the humanities he commented that "I would agree that the goal has not been addressed how to make our humanities program more vital. In my opinion the programs in the humanities are best handled by the people in the humanities." He also pointed out that the proposed Environmental Science program is a program designed to make science more meaningful to someone concerned with his fellow man. In a manner of speaking it can be called a humanitarian science.

Dr. Menapace then continued to express his opinions on the necessity of student participation at faculty meetings. "I want to make it clear that student opinion is valuable," commented Menapace, "I object to pitting students against faculty in a game in which one side wins...I think it should be a community action."

This particular point is not general for the recent faculty workshop where the administration felt that the administration was the best one in its field for student opinion. "I definitely feel there is a definite need and have been represented. It was my impression that SAC were the group of representatives. I feel satisfied that we did have..."

Dr. M. Tichman

Doctor Milton Tichman, Chairman of the Faculty, was asked to comment on the workshop held this past October 24th and 25th. Doctor Tichman, a professor dedicated to the achievement of the individual in the humanities in particular, has a certain set of values reflected in this opinion on the workshop.

In response to a question concerning student participation in the workshop, Doctor Tichman expressed the view that students could have been involved in the early planning stages, such as student participation on the Planning Committee itself. However, Doctor Tichman did state that students from the SAC were present at the meeting. Asked for comment on Faculty response to the document of the Planning Committee, Doctor Tichman observed that a large portion of the faculty wishes to see a stronger humanistic emphasis in the statement.

Doctor Tichman offered the following personal views regarding the Planning Committee document: 1) The document does not take sufficient account of the social problems and social revolutions of our times: the alienation of youth, their search for an expanded and richer consciousness, the "new morality," racial strife, the poverty problem, the anti-war movement, etc. 2) The program should include a study of the role of man in society.

Cont. on 4

Dr. Gerard Weiss

Concerning the work of the planning committee, Doctor Weiss is aware that it has published a long-range projection for Marist College. It should be kept in mind, however, that this report is a statement of goals and desired outcomes. Rather than being a fait accompli, it is something that is subject to revision. The committee, in its entirety it represents a stabilization of a dynamic, but in each of its component parts it is subject to change, evaluation and approval or rejection by the various sections of the college community. Also, many things which are thought of in a long-range projection are put there primarily because such directions have already been indicated by what is happening at the institution.

A case in point, and one with which I am closely involved, is the core curriculum. The entire college community is aware that a study of the core curriculum is in progress. Initiated by the Academic Policy Committee last semester, it has been the proper concern of every segment of the community. Phase one consisted of the members of the core committee which took place in the dormitory halls during the first part of the semester last spring. Phase two was the self-evaluations recently completed by the various sections of the department. Phase three will be a report to the academic and academic offices of the college. In view of this, the long-range projection makes no statement relative to the core curriculum, namely, that the next year and a half should be a time of experimentation and minor revisions within the framework of the existing core and that the 1971 revision of the core curriculum should be initiated. These two statements are predicated on the fact that evaluation and study of the core have already been undertaken.

The second point that I would like to make concern the dissemination of the work of the planning commission, to the college community. The Academic Policy Committee workshop this semester, so that the faculty could discuss the details of the reports and the problems of core curriculum. The Student Academic Council should work with the Academic Policy Committee this semester that a discussion of the documents and the core curriculum would be impossible without some influence of the implications contained in the..."
Ron Gagnon Speaks

By Ron Gagnon, P.M.S.

At 7:15 p.m. on Thursday evening, November 19, a meeting of the new Academic Policy Committee was held at the Faculty Club. The meeting was held in order to discuss the new Academic Policy Committee and to consider the work of the faculty on the Committee. The meeting was attended by a number of faculty members and students, including Dr. Stephen Cox, Mr. Louis Alpert, Mr. Dr. Gagnon, and Mr. J. D. L. L. Smith.

Dr. Gagnon, who is the chair of the Academic Policy Committee, opened the meeting by introducing the new Academic Policy Committee. He stated that the purpose of the Committee is to review and make recommendations on academic policies and procedures. He also stated that the Committee will review the existing academic policies and procedures and make recommendations for changes.

Mr. Louis Alpert, who is the vice-chair of the Academic Policy Committee, stated that the Committee will review the existing academic policies and procedures and make recommendations for changes. He also stated that the Committee will review the existing academic policies and procedures and make recommendations for changes.

Mr. J. D. L. L. Smith, who is the secretary of the Academic Policy Committee, stated that the Committee will review the existing academic policies and procedures and make recommendations for changes. He also stated that the Committee will review the existing academic policies and procedures and make recommendations for changes.

The meeting ended with the approval of the minutes of the previous meeting and the adjournment of the meeting.

Dr. Gagnon stated that the Committee will review the existing academic policies and procedures and make recommendations for changes. He also stated that the Committee will review the existing academic policies and procedures and make recommendations for changes.

The next meeting of the Academic Policy Committee will be held on Monday, November 23, at 7:15 p.m. in the Faculty Club.
The Fall is a beautiful page of the year. The leaves are changing color and falling to the ground. When it rains, puddles form on the ground, creating perfect spots for children to play and for mud to grow. For some, it may also mean the start of a new season of sports and outdoor activities.

The Realization of Events

By Stephen J.T. Sweeney

Many things have happened since the school year began and I will try to give you some of them. Before I begin, I want to make a point. That is, if you want to get the most out of your school year, you need to keep your mind open to new experiences and be willing to try new things. That is why I encourage you to take advantage of the opportunities that are presented to you.

The Fall Bank

Barking Up a Tree

By George Zepos

The tree is a wonderful place to hang out. You can climb it, swing from it, and even have a picnic. It’s a great place to escape the world and just be.

The Calendar of Events

CALENDAR OF EVENTS FOR THE WEEK OF NOVEMBER 10, 1980

11:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m. – "INSURANCE AT VICTOR" by Arthur Miller, COLLEGE THEATER, CAMPUS CENTER

12:00 p.m. – "NORCOTT" by John O’Hara, COLLEGE THEATER, CAMPUS CENTER

1:00 p.m. – "THE BIRTH OF A NATION" by David Wark Griffith, FILM SOCIETY, CAMPUS CENTER

2:00 p.m. – "THE MAN WHO SHOOK HIS FIST" by John Galsworthy, COLLEGE THEATER, CAMPUS CENTER

3:00 p.m. – "THE PILGRIM'S PROGRESS" by John Bunyan, FILM SOCIETY, CAMPUS CENTER

4:00 p.m. – "THE BURIAL OF THE Pixels" by James Agee and Al Neufeld, FILM SOCIETY, CAMPUS CENTER

5:00 p.m. – "THE BURIAL OF THE Pixels" by James Agee and Al Neufeld, FILM SOCIETY, CAMPUS CENTER

6:00 p.m. – "THE BURIAL OF THE Pixels" by James Agee and Al Neufeld, FILM SOCIETY, CAMPUS CENTER

7:00 p.m. – "THE BURIAL OF THE Pixels" by James Agee and Al Neufeld, FILM SOCIETY, CAMPUS CENTER

8:00 p.m. – "THE BURIAL OF THE Pixels" by James Agee and Al Neufeld, FILM SOCIETY, CAMPUS CENTER

9:00 p.m. – "THE BURIAL OF THE Pixels" by James Agee and Al Neufeld, FILM SOCIETY, CAMPUS CENTER

10:00 p.m. – "THE BURIAL OF THE Pixels" by James Agee and Al Neufeld, FILM SOCIETY, CAMPUS CENTER

11:00 p.m. – "THE BURIAL OF THE Pixels" by James Agee and Al Neufeld, FILM SOCIETY, CAMPUS CENTER

The Fates of The Human Race

The battle is on, as Civil Rights groups are fighting for their rights. The Civil Rights Act of 1964 banned discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, or national origin, and it was a significant step towards equality for all Americans. The Civil Rights Movement of the 1950s and 1960s was a pivotal period in American history, and it continues to be relevant today.

The Final Call

The final call of the day is a beautiful moment. It’s a time to reflect on what you’ve accomplished and what you still need to work on. It’s also a time to get ready for the new day and to set your intentions for the future.

Editorial

The Fates of The Human Race

The battle is on, as Civil Rights groups are fighting for their rights. The Civil Rights Act of 1964 banned discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, or national origin, and it was a significant step towards equality for all Americans. The Civil Rights Movement of the 1950s and 1960s was a pivotal period in American history, and it continues to be relevant today.

The Final Call

The final call of the day is a beautiful moment. It’s a time to reflect on what you’ve accomplished and what you still need to work on. It’s also a time to get ready for the new day and to set your intentions for the future.

Editorial

The Fates of The Human Race

The battle is on, as Civil Rights groups are fighting for their rights. The Civil Rights Act of 1964 banned discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, or national origin, and it was a significant step towards equality for all Americans. The Civil Rights Movement of the 1950s and 1960s was a pivotal period in American history, and it continues to be relevant today.

The Final Call

The final call of the day is a beautiful moment. It’s a time to reflect on what you’ve accomplished and what you still need to work on. It’s also a time to get ready for the new day and to set your intentions for the future.

Editorial

The Fates of The Human Race

The battle is on, as Civil Rights groups are fighting for their rights. The Civil Rights Act of 1964 banned discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, or national origin, and it was a significant step towards equality for all Americans. The Civil Rights Movement of the 1950s and 1960s was a pivotal period in American history, and it continues to be relevant today.

The Final Call

The final call of the day is a beautiful moment. It’s a time to reflect on what you’ve accomplished and what you still need to work on. It’s also a time to get ready for the new day and to set your intentions for the future.
The Fall
By George Page

The Fall is a beautiful piece of work. The story of two people who are trying to find their way in the world. The lead character is a young woman named Sarah who is trying to navigate her way through life after a traumatic event. She is depicted as being strong, resilient, and determined. The supporting character is her friend, John, who is also dealing with his own set of challenges.

Barking Up a Tree
By Nancy Borek

Nancy Borek's article on the importance of personal space and boundaries is thought-provoking. She argues that in today's world, with constant connectivity and social media, we are often invaded by others and it can be overwhelming. She suggests creating a buffer zone to protect our personal space, and how this can improve our mental health.

The Realization of Events
By Stephen T.J. Sawicki

Stephen T.J. Sawicki's article discusses the concept of personal responsibility and how it applies to our daily lives. He argues that we are all responsible for our own actions and the choices we make. He cites examples from history and current events to illustrate his points and encourages readers to take ownership of their lives and decisions.

Calendar of Events

- November 17th: Meet the Candidates Night at City Hall
- November 18th: Art Exhibit Opening at the MUSEUM OF CONTEMPORARY ART
- November 19th: Film Screening of "The Social Dilemma"
- November 20th: Community Service Day at the Local Food Bank
- November 21st: Thanksgiving Feast at the Senior Center

Letters
Dear Editor,

I was very disappointed to read your recent article on the state of our local government. The issues you highlighted are serious and need to be addressed immediately. I urge the city council to take action and make the necessary changes.

Sincerely,
[Name]

Editor's Note
The editorial team is committed to providing a platform for readers to express their opinions and engage in meaningful discussions. We welcome letters and guest columns that address important issues and contribute to our understanding of current events.

Opinion

"The Fortunes of The Human Race"

The editorial page is dedicated to opinion pieces on a wide range of topics. This week, we feature an essay by a local author on the topic of human evolution and its implications for modern society. The essay is thought-provoking and encourages readers to think critically about the role of humans in the natural world.

The Test Schedule

- Monday, December 12th:
  - 8:00 AM: Math Exam
  - 10:00 AM: English Exam
  - 1:00 PM: Science Exam

- Tuesday, December 13th:
  - 8:00 AM: History Exam
  - 10:00 AM: Social Studies Exam
  - 1:00 PM: Art Exam

- Wednesday, December 14th:
  - 8:00 AM: Physical Education Exam
  - 10:00 AM: Music Exam
  - 1:00 PM: Spanish Exam

- Thursday, December 15th:
  - 8:00 AM: Computer Science Exam
  - 10:00 AM: German Exam
  - 1:00 PM: French Exam
In Perspective

John Hurley

Frosh Crush Columbia Crew

By Peter Mastromarino

Why?

Why is Martin still a star? What is the secret of student participation in the television program that appears on the Columbia University News? To find out, we asked Martin, a sophomore majoring in French, who is one of the most active players in the program. Martin has been involved in several television productions and is currently a student member of the

Why is Martin still a star? What is the secret of student participation in the television program that appears on the Columbia University News? To find out, we asked Martin, a sophomore majoring in French, who is one of the most active players in the program. Martin has been involved in several television productions and is currently a student member of the Columbia University News. The secret is in the program's ability to attract attention and interest from students. Martin says, "We try to make our shows as entertaining and informative as possible, and we always try to include some humor in our productions." The program's success is also due to the dedication of the crew members, who work tirelessly to ensure that each episode is a success. Martin adds, "We are always looking for new ideas and ways to improve our shows, and we are constantly learning from our experiences."

Frosh Crush Columbia Crew

On Saturday, September 24, the Columbia University Crew defeated Columbia University 21-14 in a thrilling game at the Columbia University Stadium. The Crew's victory was due in large part to the outstanding performance of its star players, including linebacker John Martin, who intercepted a pass and scored a touchdown in the second quarter. The Crew's success on the field was also due to the hard work and dedication of the coaching staff, led by Coach James Johnson. Johnson praised his team's performance, saying, "We are very proud of our players and their hard work. They have worked very hard to get to this point and we are confident that they will continue to improve." The Crew's next game is scheduled for October 1, when they will face off against the University of Pennsylvania. The game is expected to be a tough one, but the Crew is looking forward to the challenge. Coach Johnson said, "We are excited about the upcoming game and we are ready to take on the Penn team." The Crew is currently ranked 15th in the nation and is looking to continue their winning streak.

Peas and Carrots

by Joe McEachern

Turkey Trot (see them run)

You might say the football team was a little bit stalled last Saturday, but the football crowd at the Turkey Trot was buzzing with excitement. It was a beautiful day for football, and the fans were ready to support their favorite team. The game was held at the Columbia University Stadium, and the crowd was packed with cheering fans. The Columbia University Tigers took on the University of Pennsylvania Quakers, and the game was filled with action from start to finish. The Tigers were able to edge out the Quakers with a final score of 17-10, and the fans were thrilled with the outcome. The atmosphere was electric, and the fans were ready to cheer on their team to victory. It was a great day for football, and the fans were looking forward to the next game on the schedule.
John Hurley

Frosh Crush Columbia Crew

By Greg McLoughlin and Jack Barry

On Saturday, November 23, the Penn football team defeated Columbia, 21-0, in the University's annual homecoming game. The win was the third straight for the Quakers, who have not lost a home game since September 18.

The Penn defense was led by the play of Mike Hannon, who had a total of 12 tackles, including a fumble recovery. Hannon was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

The offense was led by the running of Billy Belemez, who had 111 yards and two touchdowns. Belemez was named the game's Most Valuable Offensive Player.

The Penn defense also had a strong performance, led by the play of Brian Hazen, who had seven tackles and an interception.

The game was played in front of a packed audience at Franklin Field, with the support of the homecoming crowd.

Peas and Carrots

Joe Mckinley

You might say the football team was a little paintered last week, but for their game this Saturday, Nov. 23, the team wants to stay in the black and show some moves with the ball. The Quakers will be playing against Columbia at Franklin Field.

The team is looking forward to the game and is already practicing hard to prepare for it. The players are excited about the game and are ready to show their skills on the field.

In Perspective

Isidore Sabeta

Matsudaira's second and third touchdowns largely defeated Columbia on the water's Benedetto last Saturday with 12 seconds left.

DAVEGA

from 8

type with a tough defense and a calm going to the field, Denver was able to gain an early lead and hold it through the first quarter.

The defense was led by Donny Neubauer, who had 10 tackles and an interception.

The offense was led by the running of Matt Johnson, who had 110 yards and two touchdowns. Johnson was named the game's Most Valuable Offensive Player.

The game was played in front of a packed audience at Franklin Field, with the support of the homecoming crowd.

In Perspective

Isidore Sabeta

Matsudaira's second and third touchdowns largely defeated Columbia on the water's Benedetto last Saturday with 12 seconds left.
The Vikings, led by Ron Vay at quarterback, beat a strong Siena team last Saturday at Ricker Stadium in Albany by a score of 27-13. It was the third win for the Vikings which brings their season mark to 3 and 3 with two games left to play.

The Siena team ranked eighth last week could not get going as the strong defense of the Vikings held them time and time again. Henry Blum, Marty Keely, Bill Leber, Jack McDonnell, and Tom Ronchi all turned in fine performances in holding the Indians to only 13 points. Their season scoring average was 27 points per game. Jack McDonnell added to his interception total by picking off three Siena passes.

The offense kept rolling as Vay's passing and Hasbrook's running proved too much for the Siena defense. Vay scored a TD for 9 and 23 in the first and 27 yards while Hasbrook gained 13 yards rushing. The Vikings offensive line consisting of Mike Townes, Mike Cahill, Bennie Cooke, Bill McGarr and Frank Attavino did a fine job in protecting Vay and also in enabling Hasbrook to gain 113 yards. Mark Rowinski replacing injury-filled Bill McGarr was in great form as his strong performance.

Siena kicked off early in the first quarter. Siena received the opening kickoff taking the ball deep into Viking territory before being caught from behind by Bill Roncy. On the following play Brad Spring went off tackle for 12 yards and the score. The PAT was good and Siena led 7-0.

On the second drive of the game the Vikings had a chance to add points when Bill Roncy kicked off on the 45 yard line. From there Joe Grasso on a halfback option threw a pass to Mike Schonger, who took the ball deep into Viking territory before being caught from behind by Bill Roncy. On the following play Brad Spring went off tackle for 12 yards and the score. The PAT was good and Siena led 7-0.

The Vikings wasted no time as Tom Cook took the kickoff and went 65 yards down the sideline for the touchdown. The PAT was good and with only a few seconds gone by in the first quarter the score was tied at 7.

The second half started with the Vikings driving to the Siena 20 yard line. Bill Roncy kicked off and with only a few seconds gone by in the first quarter the score was tied at 7.

The second half started with the Vikings driving to the Siena 20 yard line. Bill Roncy kicked off and with only a few seconds gone by in the first quarter the score was tied at 7.