Don Crawford came... And Sang of Love and War

by Bob Smith

The Black Afro-American Brotherhood Association and the Sophomore Class (The Executive Board) have initiated a campaign which will attempt to inform the members of the Marist Community concerning BABA's store front program. Meetings between BABA and the Class of 72 took place on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week with the exchange of ideas to result in some future endeavors of student help for the program.

Prior to the meetings between the Executive Board and BABA, the storefront proposal had Student Government endorsement. The Student Government has allowed the program the sum of $2,000. The College faculty have also endorsed the plan and their commitment to the project will be announced before the end of this semester. The King Committee is expected to announce the portion of its yearly budget to the storefront - this to be announced before the beginning of the semester.

The Sophos hope that this campaign will help to enlighten the student body regarding the aims and purposes of the program, the monetary funding of the project, and the role of the Poughkeepsie community.

The Executive Board feels that the storefront could become an invaluable means of involvement in the community - and the broadening of the college experience.

The storefront ideally would be a center of cultural and educational activity, combining a sensitized tutorial program with a workshop in Black History and Heritage.

BABA has previously stated, with college and community backing, that its basic goal is to stimulate culture and education within the Black Community. The Sophomore Class hopes to stimulate participation in the program through a wide variety of activities and contributions to BABA in that fashion.

The possibilities of concern, drives, and activities will be explored by the Sophos in an attempt to contribute monetarily to the project.

Marist students would be interested in finding new roles in which the success of the program depends on the Black Community's ability to serve the Black Community's needs, once they have enlisted their services. When BABA has sufficiently organized the program (and this is currently taking place) student financial and other support is hoped that the community can contribute to supervise the program. The ultimate goal of BABA is to have the community assume control and to have the storefront function autonomously.

Carolann Zuccarello Report

on Curriculum Institute

On October 26 to October 28, Mr. Louis Zuccarello and Mrs. Kevin Zuccarello, representatives of Marist College, attended an Institute on Curriculum Planning and Innovation in Private Institutions of Higher Education sponsored by Higher Education Environments. At this Institute followed the planning seminar on Marist in the '70s. The participants had the opportunity to compare impressions of both events. It is this exchange that is the result of the Marist College participation.

The purpose of the Institute was to make the participating institutions aware of the problems inherent in any curriculum innovation and to provide these institutions with a sense of direction.

Curricular innovation is difficult as it causes changes which are detrimental for those who value the security and certitude of the status quo. Opposition frequently develops to innovations because people are wary of the changes and feel threatened by its consequences.

Another difficulty in any curriculum innovation is the democratic process itself. Experience at other institutions indicates that the majority is orderly conservative and that this majority prevents an innovative minority from contending.

Who's Who Selects Twenty-Three Seniors

The names of twenty three Marist College students will appear in the 1970 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, as being among the country's outstanding campus leaders.

This honor is conferred annually upon outstanding student-leaders from more than one thousand institutions of higher learning throughout the United States. In selecting candidates, campus nominating committees are "instructed to choose those students whose academic standing, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities, and future possibilities reflect the standard of excellence above average."

A special Honors Certificate of this honor and in recognition of the student-leader's accomplishments, a certificate will be presented to each nominee on campus in May. In addition, nominees are invited to participate in a special reference and placement program maintained to assist them in selecting post-graduate employment, fellowships, internships, and other significant programs. Marist's nomination quota, based on enrollment, was twenty three.

You And The Draft

By J. Michelson

The above is an answer to an interesting question put to me by a reader of The Circle. The question asked whether I thought the Draft Would be abolished. I am afraid I do. However, I think that the Draft would be changed to a selective service system. This would mean that only men who volunteered would be drafted. This would help to reduce the burden on society and make it easier for men to serve in the military. In addition, I believe that the Draft would be abolished in order to make the military more efficient and to reduce the costs of maintaining a large standing army. I also think that the Draft would be abolished in order to make the military more democratic and to reduce the possibility of military interference in politics. In conclusion, I believe that the Draft would be abolished in order to make the military more effective and to reduce the burden on society.

Letters

To the editor: I have a question about the Draft. Is it true that the Draft is being abolished? If so, when will it be abolished and what will replace it? Can you please provide more information on this topic? I am interested in learning more about the Draft and its potential replacement. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Foxes Cop Opener

The Varsity hoopsters opened their season with a 73-62 win over the opposite Friday night before a small crowd at the Brownes High School Gym in Oswego.

The first half was all Marist as Malia and Bill Douds took control and they held a 42-24 advantage at half time.

Youseushia’s 1-2-2 zone defense, the team played desperately well in the first half, shot 49% from the floor, and worked the fast break to their advantage.

In the second half, Youseushia, was a coast coach Red Sarcheck put a total in a man-to-man defense and Marist turned it around.

The Foxes’ shooting fell off considerably, but Youseushia couldn’t catch back up. Sarcheck put his point in the second half and Youseushia closed to within 4 pts at 62-58 with about 4 minutes to go. Mr. Peet then called a timeout to regroup his forces. The starting five upped their lead with two quick points and then with 2:30 to go, Ray Manning missed the game with 3-point play.

High scorer for Marist was Joe Zacharias with 19 points. Bill Douds led in rebounds with 17. The Foxes were lead by seven men with Ray Clarke and Ray Clifton each scoring 14 points. Bob Ullich added 10. Bob Ullich added 7 from his important role as sixth man.

The game was played Tuesday night at 8 p.m. If the Marching Band of 500 needs to make a last-minute grazing at the starting line for Marist.

Frosh Bowl to Jaspers

by J.T. as told to J.C.

The Froshsman basketball team was foiled in its debut Monday night by a strong quintet from Marist. Pitty Pitty Manhattan held a 48-30 advantage at halftime.

Marist’s leading scorer was John Zacharias with 36 points, while Ed Reilly, who was taken out of the game in the first half because he sustained an injury, was second with 26 points. Marist had the first eleven points for the Red Foxes.

Peas And Carrots

by Joe McMahon

The intramural soccer playoffs put finishing touches on good ole Leodiloo. Next year it should be newly “crownsed” and ready for any kind of push I may have on it.

The final game, against Des Moines, played to a 1-1 tie, with Des Moines edging 1 point on a penalty kick in the 80th minute.

This year’s tournament was an impressive one. I think we should keep the same eligibility rules, with no new videotapes of the game in the fall and spring once the program gets off its feet.

New Pact, however, if the Mid-Hudson valley, could be a ideal place for play. The biggest obstacles are coach of the coaches and the problem of play, or you just want to help out, be sure to attend the next meeting.

Next week’s Intramural will feature the Vikings! two outstanding co-captains, Bill McGarry and Don Ronchi.

BITS-N-PIECES

By the time you read this, the red Foxes will be in full swing. This could be the year that basketball and Marist made the big swing toward the N.C.A.A. bowl. The future looks bright, and success should shine on the Big Red Fox a NCAA and a NCAA bid could come at any time.

Don’t let the first test. Bill O’Reilly takes his turn at swimming the channel. With a bit of luck, Bill may find himself in one of our next games.

As an added attraction this year, Bronze medals, commemorating the one hundredth year of college athletics, were presented to Bill McGarry, Bill Iacoballa and Don Ronchi. Bill Douds and Coach Ron Levine were awarded silver medals, and John Zacharias was presented with a gold medal.
