Alternatives To Jail
by Bill Deucher

On Tuesday night at 8:30, the Marxist Community sponsored a panel discussion on prison reform within Dutchess County. Present at this meeting to discuss the problem were Jean Murphy, a member of the Dutchess County District Attorney's office, and Anthony G. Decker, a third-year law student at the Pace University Law School.

The panelists discussed various issues related to prison reform, including the need for alternative sentencing options, the importance of rehabilitation programs, and the impact of prison policies on the community. They emphasized the need for a more humane and effective approach to criminal justice.

More Food For Thought
by J. Fred Eberlein

The abundance of waste as a result of partially eaten and sometimes untouched food has in recent years been a growing concern for Saga Food Service at Dutchess Community College. Due to the increased amount of food waste in the cafeteria, Saga Food Service has been working closely with members of the student community to identify and implement strategies to reduce food waste.

In an effort to determine how bad the problem is, the Circle staff asked Saga to save all the food that goes uneaten for breakfast, lunch and dinner. Monday, October 4, was the first day under this new policy. By the end of the week, it was estimated that 30 percent of the food was non-consumable waste, while the other 70 percent was consumable.

In all, figures show that an average of 250 meals is served each day. 500 at breakfast, 750 at lunch, and 800 at dinner. Considering this statistic, it can be understood that each student on an average wastes one quarter pound of food each day.

Student Government
Ed Kissing

Last Wednesday night at 9:30 p.m., the Student Government held a meeting in room 248 in the Community Center.

The most popular topic of the evening was the increase in food prices. Bill Deucher, the student government president, said that this increase was due to the rising cost of food. He also mentioned that the student government was working with the administration to address this issue.

The next meeting is scheduled for November 1 at 9:30 p.m. in room 248.
Don't Cop Out
by Mike Ward

Ward’s Words
We are in the second month of the new academic year at MIT, and already the atmosphere is one of intense study and engagement. Our students are deeply committed to their studies and are preparing for the challenges ahead. However, it is important to remember that while we are focused on our academic pursuits, we also need to maintain a balance and prioritize self-care. Taking time to recharge and connect with others can help us maintain our mental well-being. Let us not cop out on this important aspect of our lives, and continue to strive for excellence in all that we do.

Campus Living

The OTHER COLLEGE
Frederick A. Lanker

There is no critical climate. The tone has been set by the presence of a global warming essay, "A Sliding Element," that has been circulating on campus. Some students view this as a step in the right direction, while others feel that it is not enough. However, it is important to note that this essay is not just about the environment, but also about the need to address systemic issues such as social justice and equity.

The OTHER COLLEGE is a place where students can come together to discuss and work towards creating a more inclusive and equitable community. We are committed to fostering a culture of open dialogue and active listening. Let us not cop out on this challenge, but instead work together to create a more just and sustainable future.

Recycling

By Lesli Kane

Travelogue

Did you ever walk through campus on Friday or Saturday night and see a whole lot of trash lying around? There are some great spots on campus where there is a considerable amount of trash, such as in front of the Student Center, in the first floor of the Science Library, and in the basement of the Student Union.

I was recently surprised to see that there are actually people on campus who are making efforts to recycle. At the entrance of the Science Library, there is a blue recycling bin that is often filled with bottles and cans. I was impressed to see that people were actively using this bin to recycle.

Tutors Needed

The PreK-12 Program provides tutors for students in grades K-12 who are struggling in reading, writing, or math. Tutors are available to work with students one-on-one to help them improve their skills. The program is open to all students who need extra support in these areas.

Other College

The OTHER COLLEGE is a place where students can come together to discuss and work towards creating a more inclusive and equitable community. We are committed to fostering a culture of open dialogue and active listening. Let us not cop out on this challenge, but instead work together to create a more just and sustainable future.
Don't Cop Out
by Mike Ward
We are in our second month here at The Circle. We have been surrounded by the excitement of learning and exploring, but also the challenges of transitioning to college life.

Ward's Words
by Mr. Lee Gallant

There is no tidal wave College's been hit by.

Campus Living
by Frederick A. Lankford

Recycling
by Donny Nives

Tutors Needed
by Dennis Nives

Resident Rhetoric Is No Solution
by Patrick Perigo

Untitled 101
by Dennis Nives

Do you ever walk with your head down? Friday or Saturday night you may have noticed that there are very few students walking in a straight line. Some are likely to be looking at their phones, while others are engaged in conversation or listening to music. This is why it's important to keep your eyes on the road and engage with your surroundings.

When it comes to recycling, some may think it's a hassle or unnecessary. However, it's crucial that we take responsibility and ensure that we properly dispose of our waste. Glass, aluminum, and plastic are some of the materials that can be recycled and reused.

A tutorial program is needed at the college.

There is a need for a new solution to the problem of littering and waste.

I believe that we should make an effort to be more environmentally conscious and contribute to a cleaner planet.

Don't cop out. Join the movement towards a more sustainable future.

The Poughkeepsie School has more students than it's ever had before. However, the school is also dealing with the issue of overcrowding. This has led to a new policy of having students sign up for certain courses, which has caused many students to feel frustrated.

This is a hard decision for the school to make, but it is necessary to ensure that students have access to the courses they need.

The decision to consolidate some courses is necessary to maintain the quality of education and provide a better experience for students.

The policy of consolidating courses is a necessary step to ensure that the school can continue to provide an excellent education to its students.
Residence Trends

The residents of the Marietta Community are responding to what some are calling the "Circleville effect." The trend among students and young adults is towards more urban living.

There is no doubt that the trend towards more urban living is causing a change in the way people live. For those who are new to off-campus living, the idea of being away from their usual environment can be daunting. However, for the students who have been living on campus, the move to off-campus living can be just as challenging.

The trend towards more urban living is also causing a change in the way people interact. The residents of the Marietta Community are finding that they are able to connect with people from different backgrounds and cultures. This has led to a greater sense of community and a more diverse social scene.

In conclusion, the "Circleville effect" is causing a change in the way people live and interact. The residents of the Marietta Community are finding that they are able to connect with people from different backgrounds and cultures. This has led to a greater sense of community and a more diverse social scene.

More Sex?

Dear Editor:

I read with interest your recent article on "More Sex". I believe that the article was very informative and well-written. I would like to add a few points to the discussion.

I agree with your point about the trend towards more casual relationships. I believe that this is a positive development, as it allows people to explore their sexuality without the pressure of commitment.

However, I do believe that there is a need for greater awareness and education about sexual health and safety. I believe that this is especially important for young people, who are often more vulnerable to sexual predators.

In conclusion, I believe that the trend towards more casual relationships is a positive development, but it is important that we continue to educate people about sexual health and safety.

Sincerely,

[Name]

On Urban Campus

On Campus

In view of your rather complete lack of attention to the many aspects of life in the city, I feel that I am forced to write this letter to you. I believe that the city has many things to offer, and I hope that you will consider them.

First of all, I believe that the city has a rich cultural scene. There are many museums, art galleries, and theaters that offer a wide range of entertainment options.

Secondly, I believe that the city has a vibrant food scene. There are many great restaurants that offer a variety of cuisines.

I believe that the city has many benefits, and I hope that you will consider them. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

[Name]
COLLEGE TREND TOWARDS CO-ED LIVING

Residence Trends

There is the beginning of an exodus toward off-campus living that continues to grow at the University. For students who are new living off-campus, the decision can be difficult. Some believe in the advantages of living with similar small groups at the University, while others feel that the opportunity for a regular life is not available. In either case, the opportunity to live in a residence hall is important. In both cases, the opportunity to live in a residence hall can be challenging.

The trend is for intermediate and upper-class students to grow at the University. Some believe in the advantages of living with similar small groups at the University, while others feel that the opportunity for a regular life is not available. In either case, the opportunity to live in a residence hall can be challenging.

Letters To The Editors

On Urban Campus

More Sex?

Dear Editor:

I am a returning student to The Circle. While I was recently in The Circle I came across a reference to an article that referred to the text "more sex?". I was very interested in the article and I would like to know if you could provide me with a copy of the article or a summary of the main points.

Sincerely,

[Name]

Richard Fox

On Abortion

In view of your rather complete ignorance and need to learn more about the subject of abortion, it is evident that you would not be able to teach the student in your course in philosophy at the University.

I believe that the art of the abortion is a rather abhorrent way of living, but then again I have never taken the time to find out what the student at the University is really doing.

[Name]

Birthright

Birthright is a special project set up by the Archdiocese of New York. It brings together professional doctors, nurses, and people who need help to get your child to birth. The project is run for this purpose and it is called the "Birthright" project.

[Name]

Received:

[Name]

[Date]
Circle Interview

Landlords View

The following is an interview with several landlords of student housing in the area. They were asked about their experiences with students, their rental policies, and their views on off-campus living.

1. Why did you decide to rent to students?
2. What are your most common problems with students?
3. What are your most common complaints about students?
4. What is your policy on pets?
5. What is your policy on parties?
6. What is your policy on parking?
7. What is your policy on noise?
8. What is your policy on pets in the building?
9. What is your policy on Move-In and Move-Out?
10. What is your policy on repairs?

OFF CAMPUS LIVING

Student's View

The interview with students revealed their perspectives on off-campus living. They were asked about their experiences with landlords, their rental policies, and their views on the quality of life in off-campus housing.

1. What is your experience with landlords?
2. What are your most common problems with landlords?
3. What are your most common complaints about landlords?
4. What is your policy on repairs?
5. What is your policy on Move-In and Move-Out?
6. What is your policy on parking?
7. What is your policy on noise?
8. What is your policy on pets?
9. What is your policy on Move-In and Move-Out?
10. What is your policy on repairs?

Commuter To Resident

by Charles Van Horne

Although I have not been able to live off campus, I have had the opportunity to live on campus. I think that there are many advantages to living in a dormitory. One advantage is that it is close to the library and other academic resources. Another advantage is that it is easy to meet new people and make friends. The residence halls are usually filled with students from different backgrounds and cultures, which makes it easy to make friends. Additionally, the residence halls are usually more convenient than living off campus. For example, there is usually a dining hall and laundry facilities available on campus.

Becoming Aware

by MaryAnn Baima

The African Page

by Saint Gerry

A POSTPONED PAGE...

"BROKENCYTOWN"

TWO WAYS TO GET YOUR LANDLORD TO COME TO宴会

We have too many problems with landlords. They are always late in responding to our requests and are always charging extra fees. The rent is too high and the conditions in the buildings are too poor. We are constantly worrying about our safety and security.

No Place To Be Somebody

by Frederick A. Lambert

While traditionally classified as a black woman, she has been reclassified as a white woman by society. She has to constantly feel the pressure of society to be something she is not. She is constantly having to prove that she is not different. She is constantly having to prove that she is not inferior. She is constantly having to prove that she is not a threat. She is constantly having to prove that she is not a mistake.

It’s Not For Everyone

by Mark Hobbsky

After living on campus for two years, I decided to move off campus because I wanted more space and privacy. However, I soon found that I was not the only one who felt this way. Many other students felt the same way.

On Religion

by Anonymous

There are many different religions and religious communities on campus. Each one has its own set of beliefs and practices. Some are more traditional, while others are more modern. Some are more private, while others are more public. Some are more formal, while others are more informal. Some are more structured, while others are more flexible. Some are more focused on morality, while others are more focused on spirituality.

Stay On Campus

by Bob Colley

Although there are many advantages to living off campus, there are also many disadvantages. One disadvantage is that it is more expensive. Another disadvantage is that it is more difficult to meet new people and make friends. Additionally, the residence halls are usually more convenient than living off campus. For example, there is usually a dining hall and laundry facilities available on campus.

SPEAK OUT

by Anonymous

This article is dedicated to the people who have been sexually assaulted. We are not alone. We are not weak. We are not to blame. We are strong. We are survivors. We are warriors. We are fighting. We are surviving.

On Campus

by Anonymous

This article is dedicated to the people who have been sexually assaulted. We are not alone. We are not weak. We are not to blame. We are strong. We are survivors. We are warriors. We are fighting. We are surviving.
Circle Interview

Landlords View

With the larger number of students being away, many landlords have found that their rents are very good to the point that the living room is almost as bright as a gold mine. This is due to the fact that so many people who make their living from renting to students have found that the demand is higher than ever before. Many of these landlords have found that their rents are far above the normal range. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you prefer renting to students or to other tenants?
A: Many landlords prefer renting to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you offer any discounts or special promotions to students?
A: Many landlords offer discounts or special promotions to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you require any specific background checks or references from students?
A: Many landlords require specific background checks or references from students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you prefer renting to students or to other tenants?
A: Many landlords prefer renting to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you offer any discounts or special promotions to students?
A: Many landlords offer discounts or special promotions to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you require any specific background checks or references from students?
A: Many landlords require specific background checks or references from students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you prefer renting to students or to other tenants?
A: Many landlords prefer renting to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you offer any discounts or special promotions to students?
A: Many landlords offer discounts or special promotions to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you require any specific background checks or references from students?
A: Many landlords require specific background checks or references from students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you prefer renting to students or to other tenants?
A: Many landlords prefer renting to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you offer any discounts or special promotions to students?
A: Many landlords offer discounts or special promotions to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you require any specific background checks or references from students?
A: Many landlords require specific background checks or references from students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you prefer renting to students or to other tenants?
A: Many landlords prefer renting to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you offer any discounts or special promotions to students?
A: Many landlords offer discounts or special promotions to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you require any specific background checks or references from students?
A: Many landlords require specific background checks or references from students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you prefer renting to students or to other tenants?
A: Many landlords prefer renting to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you offer any discounts or special promotions to students?
A: Many landlords offer discounts or special promotions to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you require any specific background checks or references from students?
A: Many landlords require specific background checks or references from students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you prefer renting to students or to other tenants?
A: Many landlords prefer renting to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you offer any discounts or special promotions to students?
A: Many landlords offer discounts or special promotions to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you require any specific background checks or references from students?
A: Many landlords require specific background checks or references from students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you prefer renting to students or to other tenants?
A: Many landlords prefer renting to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you offer any discounts or special promotions to students?
A: Many landlords offer discounts or special promotions to students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.

Q: Do you require any specific background checks or references from students?
A: Many landlords require specific background checks or references from students as they tend to pay higher rents compared to other tenants. However, it is important to note that landlords must still be cautious in setting their prices too high as it could lead to decreased demand and potential financial losses.
Westchester Holds Vikings Manhattan Rivalry Resumes Saturday

The Vikings, playing in what was termed as the biggest Club Football game of the past two years against a team that was the best since the team played in the state tournament last Saturday night, before two large and excited crowds. Coach Ron Levine's team was equalled the bigger, stronger, and faster Vikings in each of the time, desire, determination and skill. After nearly 90 minutes of most of the toughest football ever played by two club teams, the score stood at 7-7.

It was probably the first game in the history of the Vikings that the team was statistically beaten, yet still seemed to be in control of the game. The revamped defense sparked throughout the night by stopping more big plays than it has ever done before. After Westchester received the opening kickoff, its superior width and offensive line showed its strength as it moved the ball to the 30 yard line of Marist 30. On a second down play, linebacker Ken Vitali intercepted sit a touchdown, then rambled 50 yards down the superb Marist's defense to score, giving Marist a 7-0 lead in the first quarter. Westchester was fended and stopped a crucial fourth down play, and took the ball at 33. Against a Westchester drive was stopped as Vitali again intercepted a Polizzi pass on the Westchester 27. Viking QB Jim Wilkens then went to work. After completing a short pass, successive ground gain runs by Wilkens and Murray Milligan carried a first down on the 20. Wilkens then found sophomore end Fred Kramerpe in the end zone for his second touchdown pass of the season. Kramerpe extra point attempt was perfect, giving Marist a 7-6 lead with only a few minutes left in the quarter.

The second quarter was much like the first as the Viking defense was called on to make the "big play" at times when it looked like Viking Westchester was about to score a substantial drive. The offense looked like they were about to move for a few times but twice interceptions hurt them, once on the 40 and again later on the Westchester 35. Late in the first half Westchester mounted its only touchdown drive, and scored on a seven yard pass from Polizzi to Toby Parish with only 3 seconds remaining in the half, the extra point was good and the two teams went into the intermission tied at 7-7.

As the three quarters passed, the game continued, and the Vikings offense continued to move. On the Marist 20, Viking halfback Larry Johnson had a couple of yards, and eventually scored the winning touchdown.

The last game of the season, the Vikings received the opening kickoff, and started with a drive of their own. After nearly 500 yards of total offense, the Vikings were able to score a touchdown in the final minutes of the game, giving the Vikings a 14-7 victory over the Marist Vikings.

Booters Garner League Opener

In totaling the scores of a cross country meet, the arithmetic is more straightforward than football. First place is worth one point, second place is worth two, and so on. Low score wins. The ideal score is fifteen points, as only the first five finishers from each school can count in the scoring.

Last Thursday the cross country team almost achieved the fifteen-point perfect score against Quinnipiac College of New Haven. The team won 15-10, and the pack of 4 runners scored 30, 42, 44, and 50, a total of 126 points.

The Marist team was the second finisher, with 17 points, and the pack of 4 runners scored 30, 42, 44, and 50, a total of 126 points. The Marist team was the second finisher, with 17 points, and the pack of 4 runners scored 30, 42, 44, and 50, a total of 126 points.

On Crew

In two weeks the Mariast College Crew Team will travel to Boston to defend its "head of the Charles", Regatta Championship. From participating in the prestigious event, it will also mark the first major college competition for freshman. There are about thirty freshmen on the crew, and they are expected to be a dominant force in the competition.

The crew is divided into several crews, each consisting of four men, with each man rowing a different stroke. The crews are trained rigorously, with daily workouts and practice sessions. The crew is led by Barnabas Jarecki, who is a former Olympic rower.

The crew has been practicing hard in preparation for the competition. They have been working on technique and fitness, with a focus on developing endurance and strength.

The crew has been working hard to prepare for the competition. They have been working on technique and fitness, with a focus on developing endurance and strength.