Black Weekend

The Black students of Marist College have been a dynamic force on the college campus since they were admitted in substantial numbers in September of 1969. Since that time they have planned a number of programs, many of which, due to the lack of sufficient funds have never been accomplished in full. One such program is Black Weekend which will this weekend become a reality.

Black weekend is designed to benefit the underprivileged people of the area, while also allowing the students of Marist College to benefit from the work that they have helped others better enjoy life. The purpose of this weekend is to better people's life style through the learning experience that will occur as a result of this contact on both sides—that of the Marist students and that of the people of the Mid-Hudson Valley.

The first item completed within the program will be a festival called A MOMENT OF TRUTH. This festival is the first time Black students have put together a program that will span a whole week-end of activities and culminate in a program held in April, 1989. This weekend will be different in the sense that it will encompass both the Campus Center and Brown Hall and that it welcomes the participation of all interested students and faculty members. The overall purpose of having a weekend such as this is to bring about a social event for the students of Marist and other groups from the area.

The weekend will allow for the hundreds of Dutchess County youths to become familiarized with Marist College and the role which the Black Community plays within the college. It will also be a great opportunity for these youths to spend an enjoyable and rewarding weekend of entertainment.

The whole Marist community is urged to participate as fully as possible in the events in order that they also may become beneficiaries of the hopefully insightful program. This weekend is an opportunity for the week-end.

"School Days" May Never End

By Michael Hulse

"Cold wind that year made teaching so hard for us," reminisced Nita Hauck, who joined the staff after 50 years. "The cold, damp, and snow years would make up to 40 inches of snow, which made it hard for students to walk to school."

According to the head of the organization, the current students are all enjoying a very good education and a result have been promoting to prepare them to get jobs in order to pay their debts from the program. "The students have been doing very well in this program," she said, "and we're very proud of them." The number of students has increased, and the program has received a lot of positive feedback from the community. "It has been our goal to provide quality education to our students," said the head of the organization, "and we're very proud of the progress we've made so far."

Marijuana Excess: A Problem

It seems to me that there has been an upsurge in the use of drugs by students, particularly marijuana. I feel that this is a serious problem that needs to be addressed. The use of marijuana has become widespread among students, and this is causing concern among parents and teachers.

In recent years, I have observed a significant increase in the use of marijuana among students. I believe that this is a very serious issue that needs to be addressed. Marijuana is a drug that is highly addictive and can have serious health consequences. I am concerned about the impact that marijuana use is having on the lives of our students.

I think that schools should be taking a more proactive role in addressing this issue. Schools should be teaching young people about the dangers of marijuana use and providing them with the resources they need to make healthy choices. I believe that schools should be encouraging students to seek help if they are struggling with substance use.

I am calling on all concerned parties to take action to address the issue of marijuana use among students. We need to work together to ensure that our young people are protected from the dangers of marijuana use. I urge all concerned parties to take action to address this issue and to work towards creating a safer and healthier environment for our students.

"School Days" May Never End

By Michael Hulse

School is almost over, as students and faculty of the University await the grading of their respective courses. The end of the semester means the end of school, and the result has been a flurry of activity on campus. The Harvard Square Coffeehouse has been particularly busy, and the students are happy to have a place to hang out and relax.

According to the head of the Harvard Square Coffeehouse, the end of school is always an occasion for celebration. "It's a great opportunity for us, as students and faculty, to come together and enjoy the excitement of the end of the semester," he said. "The students are especially happy, and the faculty is pleased to see them relax after a long term."

The students are spending as much time as possible in the coffeehouse, reminiscing about the semester and planning for the future. Many are looking forward to the summer, and others are already thinking about the next semester.

The end of the semester also means the end of the music season on campus. Many of the student-run radio stations will be wrapping up their broadcasts for the year, and the music department will be hosting a series of concerts and recitals.

Marijuana Excess: A Problem

By Karl Beecher

The issue of marijuana use on campus has become a major concern in recent years. In the past few years, there has been an increase in the number of students using marijuana, and many have become concerned about the potential dangers of this drug. Several organizations have been formed to address this issue, and some have even become involved in political campaigns to change the laws regarding marijuana.

As a result, the issue of marijuana use has become a major concern on campus. The University has taken steps to address this issue, and many students have become involved in the debate.

Gregory House

The location of Gregory House to one of my appointments will take me past it every day. Not only do I see it often, but it's a beautiful building with a rich history. Gregory House was built in the 1800s as a boarding school for boys. In the 1900s, it became a co-ed school and remained so until the 1960s. Since then, it has been used as a dormitory for women. I think it's important to preserve these historic buildings as they tell the story of the college's evolution over time.

On Elliot's Apology

Dear Editor,

I am one of the few students who support Elliot's decision to apologize. I think it's important for people to take responsibility for their actions, especially when those actions have a significant impact on others. Elliot's apology shows that he recognizes the harm he caused and is taking steps to make amends. I hope this can serve as a lesson to others about the importance of accountability.

The school day is one of the most important aspects of our education. It is where we learn the skills and knowledge that will help us succeed in life. It's also a time for us to socialize and make friends. I believe that a good school day should be a balance of learning and enjoying the experience.

Abortion Issues

By William Sears

From February 13 to February 19, the American Association of University Women held its triennial conference in Vancouver. The meeting was of considerable historical significance for several reasons. One of the most important was the issue of abortion.

The conference took place nearly 100 years after the first organized campaign for birth control was launched in the United States. Since then, the issue of abortion has been a central focus of reproductive rights activism. The conference marked a significant milestone in the movement for reproductive justice.

The American Association of University Women has a long history of advocating for women's rights. The organization was founded in 1919 and has been instrumental in advancing women's education and equality. The conference provided an opportunity to reflect on the progress that has been made and to discuss the work that still needs to be done.

Alternatives to It's a Free College

The purpose of this column is to highlight the various options available to students who are looking for higher education opportunities.

There are many alternatives to traditional college, including vocational and technical training programs, community colleges, and online courses. These options can provide students with the skills and knowledge they need to succeed in their chosen fields.

In addition, there are numerous scholarship and grant programs available to students who demonstrate financial need. These resources can provide significant financial assistance to help defray the costs of higher education.

Field House Needed

In its annual meeting of this semester, the Faculty Task Group discussed the issue of funding for the Field House. The group recommended that an endowment be established to support the construction of a new Field House.

The Field House would provide state-of-the-art facilities for athletic teams and would be a significant asset to the university. The group noted that the decline in revenue from student fees had made it difficult to fund such a project.

The proposal for the Field House is supported by a group of alumni who have expressed a strong interest in supporting the project. The group has committed to raising funds for the endowment.

Field House Construction

The Field House project is estimated to cost $50 million. The Faculty Task Group has recommended that the university allocate $10 million in the budget for the construction of the Field House.

The remaining $40 million would need to be raised through donations and grants. The group noted that the Field House project is a priority for the university and that it would provide significant benefits to the student body and the broader community.

Calendar Change

A survey was conducted to determine the reaction of the community to the proposed change. The results indicate that 85% of the respondents support the change.

The proposed change would result in a shift of the school year to July 1. This would allow students to begin their academic year with the start of the school year, rather than having to wait until September.

Debates over the proposed change have been intense. Some parents have expressed concern that a summer start would disrupt their children's schedules.

Melinda

Melinda was interviewed about her experience with the proposed change. She is a senior and has been involved in many extracurricular activities throughout her high school career.

Melinda noted that she was initially concerned about the change. However, she soon realized that it would provide her with more flexibility and opportunities to pursue her interests.

The change will also allow her to participate in more extracurricular activities and to spend more time with her family. Melinda is looking forward to the benefits that the proposed change will bring to her and her classmates.

Circle Interview

On the Athletic Complex

The University has proposed building an athletic complex, which would include a state-of-the-art gymnasium and a new stadium.

The proposal has been met with mixed reactions from the student body. Some students have expressed concern about the cost of the project, while others have welcomed the opportunity to have access to new facilities.

The project is estimated to cost $50 million. The University has proposed funding the project through a bond initiative.

If the bond initiative is approved, the University will be able to move forward with the construction of the athletic complex. The University is committed to ensuring that the project is completed in a timely and cost-effective manner.
Abortion Issues

The purpose of this column is to help students to think through the problem of abortion. This is an issue that is coming up and the term has not been used before. If you feel your money is being spent on a service that you do not feel is necessary, you should speak up. If you feel that the government is forcing you to pay this money, you should write to your congressman and let him know how you feel.

There are two groups open to the students of the Marist campus: the Pro-Life and the Pro-Choice groups. The Pro-Life group believes that abortion is morally wrong and should be illegal. The Pro-Choice group believes that abortion is a personal choice that should be made by the individual woman. Both groups have their own reasons for why they believe what they do.

The Pro-Life group believes that life begins at conception and that it is wrong to take the life of a human being. They argue that the child has a right to live and that the woman who chooses to have an abortion is making a decision that is harmful to the child. They believe that the government should have the right to prevent abortions from taking place.

The Pro-Choice group believes that the woman has the right to choose what happens to her body. They argue that the government should not have the right to interfere with a woman's decision to have an abortion. They believe that the government should not be able to force a woman to carry a child to term, even if the child is unhealthy.

The decision to have an abortion should be made by the woman and her doctor. The government should not be able to make this decision for them.
Foxes Host Siena Saturday

The Red Foxes will host the Indians of Siena College on Saturday also at 8:00 at Lourdes. The Foxes are 1-6 after two important victories against King's College (184-93) and Stonehill (98-77). The victory over King's boosted the Foxes conference mark to 7-2 and kept them in contention. Marriott simply outgunned King's College, as Freshman Mike Hartumped 30 points. On Saturday night Marriott played their best game of the season in their last game with Stonehill. Senior Ray Clarke led the Foxes with 27 points. Senior Captain Joe Scott continues to lead the Foxes in scoring (17.6 ppg.) and rebounding (19.6 rpg.). Senior Ray Clarke (14.1 ppg.) and Freshman Mike Hart are the only other players in double figures.

The Indians of Siena College came into Saturday night's game with a misleading 18.9 record. Siena has been hampered by injuries all season long and will probably be operating at full strength. The Indians are led by 6'10 Sophomore center Eric Styles (17.9 ppg.) and forwards Fred Shear, a Junior (10.3) and averaging 8.9 ppg and 6.9 rebounds Dave Wirth. The Indian backcourt is made up of 6'4 Sophomore Red Brooks (16.7 ppg.) and 6'3 Junior Chris Rutlin. Siena will have the difficult faces to defeat the Foxes by 77-72 margin at Lourdes.

On Monday night, February 21, the Kingsmen of Brooklyn College will battle Marriott at Dutchess County Community College at 9:00. Brooklyn College comes into the game with a 7-12 record but has given the Red Foxes a difficult time. Brooklyn employs a three forward offense led by Juniors Hyman Lasser and Jim Mitchell and Freshman Clarence Pugh. Round out the starting lineup are Guarini George, Seabrook (6'6) and Eustacio Wainsome (5'10).

The Seasons Change and So Do I

by John Redmond

There is no hiding now, they didn't drop the pass or miss the block. There is no one to blame this one on one competition with everyone watching. This is Wrestling. At present there are very few sports which call for the dedication that wrestling demands, and demand it does every wrestler has to starve, dehydrate and condition harder than the next guy. The reasons for this being a wrestling responsibility is first to himself and secondly to the team. No one can do this job for himself or as personally emotional as wrestling does. The hunger, the drive, the every desire, skill and strength that any individual can command and success is not measured in winning, but in knowing that there was nothing more to give. Such are the rigors of the sport. In the true, basic and gruelling, yet in essence they parallel the demands of life itself. It's no different for the man in the street or the nurse or the writer or the lawyer or everyone else for that matter. The way wrestling, with its match of ideals to match of ideals, is a true test. As for their accomplishments, they will be remembered in this season, save the district championships, this weekend. For the most part, the Foxes are on their own this season. The tournaments that have been run and many others have been run by Marriott. At this point only master was unable to finish a complete team, and for a team total foreclosed 136 points. Of the two teams, many efforts were put forth with title or no wrestling experience, among the many famous of the do or die which Marriott did not have. Marriott were the Embruns of the state. This Saturday, February 18 the Marriott College Indoor Track Team travels to Queens College to take on both Kings and Queens Point in a double dual. Queens and Kings Point will be the meet Kings and Queens Point sport strong and large and inside Queens. Both did exceptionally well in the CTC Indoor Relay Carnival two weeks ago.

Kings and Vassar Defeated

Last Saturday the Marriott freshman basketball team defeated the Kings college freshman team 76-60. The game was all Marriott as the little Red Foxes went out to an early seventeen point lead at 22-5. As the half progressed so did the Marriott lead. The excellent shooting and good team work gave the Foxes a 31 to 31 half time lead. In the second half the Cross continued the good shooting and their lead ballooned to 74 to 44 with about 14 minutes remaining. From there both teams played out the game and emptied their benches.

The high scorers for Marriott were Joe Crisalli with a game high 33 points. Crisalli shot a fantastic 12 for 18 and also pulled down 15 rebounds. Al Fairhurst had 29, Greg Wojciechowicz had 15 and Tim Murphy had 10. The high scorers for Kings were Dave Walton with 28, Steve Strumbeck with 17 and Ray Eibgen with 11. Last Saturday the Foxes played a very strong first half, but Kings put a 37-21 lead in the first half, but Kings put a 37-21 lead in the first half. The little Red foxes came on top by the score of 61 to 58.

The first half was dominated by sloppy play by both teams and Vassar lead for a good part of the first half. Marriott then caught the hot hand with about five minutes to go. The little red foxes led 25 to 16 at the half.

In the second half. Marriott dominated play as they put on a 21-9 burst to lead by a score of 64 to 42 with about six minutes gone in the second half. The Foxes then played for the last 6 minutes and took the clock.

The high scorers for Marriott were Joe Crisalli with a game high 19, Tim Murphy had 18 and Al Fairhurst had 16. The high performers for Vassar were 15. Garsten with 12 and John Sprodel with 11.

The freshman team record of 7-10. The next game for the freshman team will be against Union College. The game is on Saturday, Feb. 13 and is at the Our Lady of Lourdes High School. The game starts at 6:00 p.m.
