New Drug Law
Meets Marist
by Tom Page

On September 1, there began in New York State a new law aimed at eliminating drug pushers and users. This law, known as the "Drug Law," has been heralded as a major step forward in the war on drugs.

The law makes it a crime to possess, sell, or distribute any illegal drug. In addition, it establishes harsh penalties for those convicted.

The law has been met with mixed reactions. Some people believe it will be effective in reducing drug use, while others worry it will only drive drug users underground.

One of the most controversial aspects of the law is its impact on those already sentenced to prison for drug-related offenses. Critics argue that these people should not be punished further.

Despite these concerns, the law is now in effect and will be enforced by law enforcement agencies throughout the state.

S.G. Allocations

Once again, it is time for the Student Government to allocate funds to various campus organizations.

The budget for this year is approximately $14,000, but only $6,000 has been allocated for student activity fees, which will be distributed to the various organizations on campus.

The remaining $7,000 will cover salaries, books, and other expenses, subject to fundraising contingencies.

As stated in the Student Government Constitution, the Vice-President and the Treasurer, Juan Campos and Ed 'Xaling respectively, must be on site, bringing the committee representative is Marty Przezdziecki. The position is filled by 'Xaling.' Two members must be elected by the Student Government, but since last semester they failed to do so, Ann Richard was appointed by President Jim Eilenbogen.

All clubs must submit a budget and proposal for funding.

New Teacher Ed. Director Named

A replacement, Mr. Elizabeth Stevlin, has been named Acting Director for the current academic year. She will assume her new position as of the beginning of the fall semester.

The director position is crucial, as it is responsible for overseeing the educational programs and ensuring the academic success of the students.

The change in leadership marks an important moment in the school's history. It is hoped that with the new director in place, the academic programs will continue to grow and thrive.

Volunteers Needed

By Lynes Hamilton

The Student Volunteer Program has been renamed the Campus-Community Action Program (CCAP) and is now under the direction of Dr. John Englander and Lynes Hamilton. This marks the second full year of the program's existence. Its purpose is to recruit volunteers who will spend a few hours a week, and in some cases throughout the year, working with the students.

Big Brothers - are needed for children who need an extra friend and a mentor. Other programs are available for individuals who wish to make a more long-term commitment.

The program allows students to gain valuable experience in helping others and in making a positive impact on the community.

Future projects will be added and training opportunities will be provided for all volunteers. If you are interested in volunteering, please contact the volunteer coordinator.

The program is open to all students interested in the field of public health care, and an opportunity to learn through practical experience while benefiting hospital patients as well. This is especially valuable for those planning to enter related professions or to work at a hospital while in school.

In cooperation with St. Francis Hospital, the program is recognized by the Associated American Medical Students (AAMS) and the American College of Physicians (ACP).
The Future (?) for Reynard

By Mary McQuade

To be or not to be, that is the question, and the Office of the President has been struggling with it for several years. The problem: should the President accept the resignations of the staff, or should he continue to have Reynard work out the problems of the campus? The decision: the President has decided to keep Reynard on. This is what has caused such a furore.

In analyzing the money, the budget, the offices, the student body, the faculty, the administration, and the overall condition of the university, it is possible to see a number of problems. One of the main issues is the amount of money that is allocated to the campus budget. It is also important to consider the fact that the President is required to make difficult decisions about the future of the university.

The student body has been protesting the President's decision regarding the resignation of the staff. Many students feel that the President is not doing enough to address the problems on campus.

Reynard the Raven is a symbol of the university and its traditions. The President has been under pressure to make a decision about the future of this important symbol.

Ursula Freer Named Campus Center Director

By Erik Vorga

The Campus Center is being reorganized and a new director is being hired. Ursula Freer has been named the director of the Campus Center, and will oversee all administrative functions, including the administration of student affairs, community affairs, and the planning and execution of campus events.

Freer has a long history of involvement with the university, having served as a faculty member and administrator. She is well respected by the students and faculty, and is expected to bring a fresh perspective to the Campus Center.

Freer will be responsible for managing the budget and overseeing the operations of the Campus Center. She will also be responsible for developing new programs and initiatives to enhance the campus experience for students.

Disability Face Problems

By Mitchell Williams

Martial College and the Office of Disability Services have been struggling to find solutions to the problems faced by disabled students. One issue is the lack of accessible housing on campus. Another issue is the lack of accessible transportation and facilities.

The Office of Disability Services has been working with the university to develop new policies and programs to address these issues. They have also been working with the students to ensure that their needs are being met.

Disability services are essential for the success of disabled students. They help to ensure that all students have equal access to the university's resources and opportunities.

Speaking On Law, Search And Seizure

By Carie White

The Fourth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States reads as follows: "The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized."

The Fourth Amendment provides protection against unreasonable searches and seizures. It is intended to protect citizens from government intrusion into their private lives.

The provision has been interpreted to mean that the government must have probable cause to search a person or place. Probable cause must be based on specific and credible information.

The provision has been applied to searches conducted by law enforcement officers. It has also been applied to searches conducted by government officials in other contexts.

The provision has been interpreted to mean that the government must have probable cause to search a person or place. Probable cause must be based on specific and credible information.

The provision has been applied to searches conducted by law enforcement officers. It has also been applied to searches conducted by government officials in other contexts.

The provision has been interpreted to mean that the government must have probable cause to search a person or place. Probable cause must be based on specific and credible information.

The provision has been applied to searches conducted by law enforcement officers. It has also been applied to searches conducted by government officials in other contexts.
The Future (?) Reynard

By Marycase McQuade

To be or not to be, that is the question. For the student of Shakespeare, the answer is clear. But for those studying the history of the University of Marist, the questions are many and the answers are far from clear.

This week the Student Government will be conducting a poll of the student body to determine whether the University should continue to publish the yearbook. If the majority of students vote in favor of continuing the yearbook, the University will be able to print the next edition. If the vote is against continuing the yearbook, the University will be forced to make a decision on whether or not to publish the yearbook.

But the decision is not the only one that needs to be made. The University also needs to determine whether or not to continue the tradition of naming a "Reynard" as the student body president. The tradition has been in place for many years, and it is a tradition that the students take very seriously.

But the tradition is not without its critics. Some students feel that the tradition is outdated and should be discontinued. Others feel that the tradition is an important part of the University's history and should be continued.

In the end, the decision will be up to the students. The poll will be conducted this week, and the results will be announced next week.

---

Student Involvement In Academics

By Cynthia Costumers

In recent years many students have been disheartened by the lack of involvement in academics. With the rise of the Internet and the increasing amount of information available online, many students feel that they no longer need to be involved in traditional academic activities such as classes and research. However, there is a growing movement within academia to encourage more student involvement.

One of the primary goals of the Student Development Committee is to increase student involvement in academics. The SDC has developed several initiatives to encourage student involvement, including the creation of a Student Development Committee (SDC) and the establishment of a Student Development Office (SDO).

The SDC is a group of students and faculty members who meet regularly to discuss ways to increase student involvement in academics. The SDO is a new office that was created to provide support to students who are interested in academics.

The SDC and the SDO have been successful in increasing student involvement in academics. However, there is still room for improvement. The SDC and the SDO are committed to continuing to work towards increasing student involvement in academics.

---

Regents Recommend Strengthening Of New York Doctoral Programs

By John Smith

Failing to make essential changes after months of academic discussion, the New York Regents have unanimously recommended the strengthening of New York's doctoral programs.

The Regents, who oversee the state's higher education system, said that the state's doctoral programs are in need of significant improvements. The recommendations, made in a report to the board by the New York State Board of Regents, call for colleges to focus on improving the quality of their doctoral programs.

The recommendations include increasing the number of doctoral students, increasing the number of doctoral programs, and increasing the number of doctoral faculty members.

The state has 30 doctoral programs and 610 doctoral faculty members. The Regents said that there are too few doctoral students, too few doctoral programs, and too few doctoral faculty members.

---

Disabled Face Problems

By Mitchell Williams

The University's disabled students face many problems. For instance, students with disabilities often find difficulties with accessing campus resources and facilities. In addition, disabled students may encounter difficulties with their courses or professors. The problem is made worse when students are unable to receive support from the University's Disability Support Services.

The University's Disability Support Services is responsible for providing support to disabled students. However, the support is often inadequate, and the services are not always available when students need them.

For example, a student with a visual impairment may need a reader to help them with their course material. However, the reader may not be available when the student needs it.

The University's Disability Support Services needs to improve its services to ensure that all disabled students receive the support they need. The University should provide adequate funding and support to the Disability Support Services to ensure that it can provide the necessary support to disabled students.
To The Editors:

The Financial Aid and Admissions offices of the University of Michigan emphasize the importance of early application for admission and consideration for financial aid. The deadline for submission of financial aid applications is February 15. Officials at the University of Michigan have observed that many students delay applying for financial aid until after the deadline, which can result in a lower chance of receiving the necessary funds to support educational expenses.

The University of Michigan is committed to helping students finance their education through a variety of financial aid programs, including grants, scholarships, loans, and work-study opportunities. Early application allows students to be considered for a wider range of financial aid options, including merit-based scholarships and need-based aid.

We urge all students and their families to submit their financial aid applications by the February 15 deadline to ensure that they are considered for all available financial aid opportunities. Early application can make a significant difference in securing the necessary funds to support their academic goals.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Assistant Vice President for Enrollment Management

The University of Michigan

---

Circle Editorials

Drugs at Marist

On September 1, New York State put into effect a new drug law which mandates severe penalties for drug offenses. This new law is a significant step forward in the fight against drug abuse, as it sets higher standards for law enforcement and enforcement.

IBM Arrives Incognito

The Executive Board of the IBM Corporation has announced its decision to enter the market of the personal computer. This move aims to address the growing demand for affordable and accessible computing solutions.

A Question of Aesthetics

The aesthetic value of public spaces is a crucial consideration in urban planning. However, the current trend towards minimalist design often overlooks the importance of art and culture in creating a vibrant and engaging environment.

Coalition Politics

How media coverage of the American consumer is shaped by political interests at the grassroots level. This analysis highlights the influence of corporate interests in shaping public opinion and the potential consequences of this on democratic processes.
A Question of Aesthetics

The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates. It is a discipline that deals with the study of beauty and its role in human life. The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates.

The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates. It is a discipline that deals with the study of beauty and its role in human life. The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates.

The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates. It is a discipline that deals with the study of beauty and its role in human life. The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates.

The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates. It is a discipline that deals with the study of beauty and its role in human life. The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates.

The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates. It is a discipline that deals with the study of beauty and its role in human life. The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates.

The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates. It is a discipline that deals with the study of beauty and its role in human life. The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates.

The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates. It is a discipline that deals with the study of beauty and its role in human life. The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates.

The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates. It is a discipline that deals with the study of beauty and its role in human life. The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates.

The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates. It is a discipline that deals with the study of beauty and its role in human life. The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates.

The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates. It is a discipline that deals with the study of beauty and its role in human life. The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates.

The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates. It is a discipline that deals with the study of beauty and its role in human life. The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates.

The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates. It is a discipline that deals with the study of beauty and its role in human life. The Aesthetics is one of the main forms of art that has been studied for the last 100 years and is the subject of many debates.
We invited a few friends for dinner and they helped clean up the Genesee River.

With the aid of a few thousand pounds of microorganisms, we're helping to solve the water pollution problem in Rochester. Maybe the solution can help others.

What we did was to combine two procedures in a way that gives us one of the most effective, water-purifying systems private industry has ever developed.

One process is called "activated sludge," developed by a consortium of scientists who have been working on the problem. When something is isolated in the atmosphere, it is captured, filtered, and reintroduced. What this means is that for the majority of waste we can produce, there is an organism waiting somewhere that will handle it. And thrive on it.

The breakthrough came when Kodak scientists found a way to purify the activated sludge process with a trickling filter process and precipitated silver formation.

We tested our system in a pilot plant for five years. It worked. Now we're in the full-scale plant that can produce 30 million gallons of water a day.

Governor Rockefeller called this "the biggest voluntary project undertaken by private industry in support of New York's pure water program."

Our success is due to the fact that we are in the business of making money. Our business depends on it.

And our business depends on clarity. And yet, another perspective of the widely discussed art structures.

...The road to Donnelly in May, 1973.

...and the road to Donnelly in Sept., 1973.

Campus Art Being Debated

Mrs. Fisher, chairman of the art department, is being congratulated for bringing a new addition to the campus. The new nässer is a multicolored mix of materials and colors creating an entrance to the college. This marks the thirty-second piece of artwork which Mrs. Fisher has designed and placed in the garden to the east of the library. Mrs. Fisher has met with much credit from the students. Mrs. Fisher says she is especially pleased with the colors and materials that create a sense of mystery. Her goal is to bring them to a sense of joy in the secrets. Mrs. Fisher has met with much credit from the students. Mrs. Fisher says she is especially pleased with the colors and materials that create a sense of mystery. Her goal is to bring them to a sense of joy in the secrets.
We invited a few friends for dinner and they helped clean up the Genesee River.

With the aid of a few thousand pounds of microorganisms, we're helping to solve the water pollution problem in Rochester. Maybe the solution can help others.

What we did was to oxidize two pollutants in a way that didn't exist in the past. We've developed a process called "activated sludge," developed by Kodak and others to clean the pollution from the atmosphere. What this means is that the majority of water can be produced, and the process can remove 90% of the pollutants from the water. We're in the process of building a new plant to make more of this process.

Mrs. Fisher, chairman of the art department, is interested in the idea of installing a large sculpture to beautify the campus. The new sculpture was designed by a local artist and is intended to symbolize the circle of life and the circle of death. It is placed at the center of the quadrangle and is made of black marble. The sculpture is intended to help students cope with the stress of college life.

The road to Donnelly in May, 1973.

...and the road to Donnelly in Sept., 1973.

Campus Art Being Debated

Mrs. Fisher, chairman of the Art Department, is interested in the idea of installing a large sculpture to beautify the campus. The new sculpture was designed by a local artist and is intended to symbolize the circle of life and the circle of death. It is placed at the center of the quadrangle and is made of black marble. The sculpture is intended to help students cope with the stress of college life.

Mrs. Fisher has met with much disappointment among the students. She is unsure of the appropriateness of the work. She is unsure of the cost of the sculpture, and many students believe that such a piece is not appropriate for the campus. Mrs. Fisher has met with much opposition from some who believe that the sculpture is too expensive and is not in keeping with the overall aesthetic of the campus. She has met with much opposition from some who believe that the sculpture is too expensive and is not in keeping with the overall aesthetic of the campus.

A question often asked among the students is whether the sculpture will be made of glass or metal. Mrs. Fisher has met with much opposition from some who believe that the sculpture is too expensive and is not in keeping with the overall aesthetic of the campus. She has met with much opposition from some who believe that the sculpture is too expensive and is not in keeping with the overall aesthetic of the campus.

The sculpture is not expected to be completed by the end of the year, and Mrs. Fisher has met with much opposition from some who believe that the sculpture is too expensive and is not in keeping with the overall aesthetic of the campus.
Marist and Dutchess Booters battle it out.

High On Sports

by John Tkach

As the leaves begin falling and the temperature gradually drops, Henry Heimann, many of our minds turn to America's favorite pastime, football. It may be surprising to some of the newcomers here at Marist but we have always been a football oriented campus. The Marist football teams are the pride of the school. In 1973, they have compiled an amazing 3-5-1 record. The team ranked the season ranked No.3 in Club Football across the nation this year. The team is ranked No. 1 in pre-season ranking of No.1.

Marist football may not understand what club football is but that is all. All I know is, for the last year or two, everyone is talking about Marist's football. It is good football, but good solid football where the teams are not fimash because they do not want to lose. They want to win. Coach Levine usuallyPortrait to the right side of the team. A tremendous help to him in the past was his brother, Joe. Joe was a key to the Marist team. His job will be taken over by his brother, John.

Much of the credit for this tradition would have to go to a very dedicated head man, head coach Dr. Howard Goldberg. Coach Goldberg is in the Poughkeepsie area, he has spent countless afternoons and Saturdays in the bleachers watching teams out of the mass of bodies that go to your college games. Coach Levine usuallyPhoto of New Paltz and the football field. A full-sized goal post and one of the best traditions that Coach Levine and directors John Secone and Ira Effron. These men have a very good reputation for their personal lives and businesses with the team. They have been rewarded for their work with a 23-13 record, with only one loss in the last three complete seasons. The team has also played in two bowl games since 1970. In 1979, Marist made a strong showing in the Army Blue Scotch Bowl after its first undefeated season. This year Marist turned in a strong 6-2 record by losing the bowl bid to a strong Westchester Community College team.

In summary...the Marist team is back this year. They had another undefeated season, and climbed higher on the rankings. They took a bow in the bowl game to play Seton Hall College, designing the real No. 1 team in the nation. Marist lost a thriller to Seton Hall 28-13 and ended up No. 2.

With the return of many veterans from the recent freshman turn, this year promises to be a real test for the Marist team. This year they need support and you'll enjoy watching them improve. Many of them are available outside the cafeteria at $3.00.

---

Trackmen Ready To Go!

by David O'Sullivan

When speaking of activities on the Marist campus, one of the main events that come to mind is the football club. At any given time during the fall, you will find a football game and the fans of the game are always a rich source for conversation. The history of the club goes back many years to the 19th century. In those days there were a group of students organized that would play games against each other. This freedom of play and the lack of funds and good facilities while they were in college, they had to organize their team into a conference that would help them play.

The Marist Running Red Foxes begin their 1973 cross country campaign in jeopardy. The team will meet this Saturday at Van Cortland Park in the Bronx. A large and strong New York City team is expected to be tough for the Marist men and women. The Marist women are the first two opponents. Marist is 24 lifetime track meets this year and has proven to be tough for the Marist men.