Marist Enters Field of Computer Technology
by Gregory Conocchioli

A new computer has been purchased to better facilitate the operation of the computing center, faculty and students. The computer purchased from a firm in Alabama was previously used for a administrative purposes. "Basically it was purchased as an economic move" and according to President Foy "we now have more computer for less money." Purchased at a cost of $64,000 and maintenance fees, this outfit replaces several substandard things to the budget of Marist College. The previously owned computer was one that was retired from IBM at a yearly cost of about $45,000. In two years the computer will have paid for itself, plus giving the college more money to spend in other places. Thus by saving the money, we won't be spend on rental fees the college has not had to pay. The computer was the run time of a few months. With regard to the expansion of the computer center, possibly programming towards a major, President Foy has indicated "that's a plan already in Computer Science, the American student with a computer, which is far superior to the one we used in the past. This plan is related to IBM 1401, with a three disc features and tape replaced by one disc and tape computer. One of the students has an electrician, and an electronic repair, and divides the run time of 25 programs, running an average of 10 programs in a block of time.

President Foy gives the new 1401 an official welcome.

Allocations Finalized
by Tom Page

At long last, the budget allocations seem to be drawing to a close this week. All but 8 of the $800 budgets have been accepted by the Policy Board, and these are expected to be taken care of this week. Four budget recommendations were rejected by the Policy Board and have been sent back to the Financial Board for further consideration. The Intramural Program's budget of $900 was rejected, and the Financial Board has since raised this figure to $1,100. Also receiving an increase was the Class of '75 budget, which was raised from $35,250 to $36,000. However, two of the rejections by the Policy Board were sent back to the Financial Board with recommendations for a decrease. The Selective Service Program's budget was previously budgeted at $395,000, and now has received a recommended budget of $385,000. The Political Science Club also has been dropped from $215,000 to $425. These new figures made by the Financial Board are due according to the recommendations of the Policy Board and will be sent back for approval.

The budgets of the four organizations above were scheduled to be reviewed by the Policy Board on Thursday, October 16, at 4:35 in the Campus Center and then sent on to the Policy Board for final approval. The other two organizations yet to receive a budget are the Yearbook and the Styx. These budgets will hopefully be settled this week.

The following is a list of budgets which have been accepted by the Policy Board:

- Literary Magazine: $14,600
- Sociology, $37,357
- Biology, $71,305
- Theater Guild, $251,600
- Phi Alpha Theta, $217,700
- Campus Counc, $705,490
- S.A.C., $186,129
- Marist Ecological Action Club, $129,180
- Circle, $718,150
- Campus Club, $120,000
- Third World, $290,000
- Although the budget for Children's Theater for $275,500 has been accepted by the Policy Board, discussion still remains. The cost and crew of the Children's Theater are to remain on the campus for the Easter vacation, but their program extends over this period. Part of their budget (that is approximately $1,000, $5.00 per person per day) is to be used for this purpose. The question here is whether or not this sum of money shall be paid for by the Student Government.

The 1974-75 nominations from Marist College to "Who's Who Among College Students in American Universities and Colleges" were announced this week by Student Government President Jim Elliott. Nine students are nominated annually upon outstanding student leaders from approximately 1,200 universities throughout the United States. This year the nominations came from Marist, are, Adelphi, Aquinas, Cyan, Fordham, Dominican, Juan Pablo, St. John's, Columbia, and several foreign nations in North and South America.

Only college juniors, seniors, graduate students, and graduate students matriculated in four year. undergraduate programs, graduate schools are eligible for nomination to Who's Who Among American Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Nominations are submitted annually after selection by campus nominating committees. The nominations are composed of administrative faculty, the faculty and student body. Methods for judging are not available to campus nominating committees. Although there has been a growing tendency to use an objective point scale system to more fairness in selection, there are no officially recognized point scale system to more fairness in selection. At Marist, the process in which the candidates are selected was determined by a point scale system. Although this system is still in use, it has been largely the reason for purchasing our own computer.

In view of the aforementioned considerations, the decision was made to purchase the IBM 1401 Computer. The decision was made quickly in view of the fact that 1450 systems with disc drives are very small and not used in this area. This precluded a more widespread computation which would have been more desirable, the purchase was made with the intent of upgrading the computer, next year it will be replaced by a computer. This "purchase in a sense buys" the time to upgrade the computer, depending upon advancements in the technology. It should also be noted that the system will have considerable savings in two disc drives. The new computer equipment, especially the disc, can replace the old computer, and the printer may be compatible with future computers.

However, the most important thing about the purchase, will be that this computer is "hand on computer" for students, which is the number one experience for these students in the Science Courses.

Katherine Flanigan
Spelman Library has long been the main information center for the Spelman College campus. As the old library was nearing the end of its useful life, a new one was designed by the faculty in order to accommodate the rapidly growing student population. The new library was completed and opened to the public in October 1973.

"The books that are to be found are very inviting. The teachers are still interested in a solid research. The library is designed for purpose, but always with an eye to the future." - Corazon Boyd

"One of the key features of the new library is its ability to accommodate large groups. There is a reading room where students can study, and a section for quiet study. The library is open from 8 am to 10 pm every day, and offers a variety of resources for students to use.

The overall opinion is that the new library is a tremendous asset to the college. It is a place where students can study, relax, and enjoy the time spent here.

Dorm Maintenance Overhauled

by Patrick Callan

There has been a lot of press about the new dorm maintenance policy that went into effect on October 15th. However, this change is not as extensive as it may seem. The primary reason for the change is to ensure that the maintenance staff is able to clean the dormitories and hallways in a timely manner. The new policy requires the maintenance staff to clean the dormitories and hallways by 10 a.m. each day. This change is intended to ensure that the dormitories and hallways are clean and ready for students to use.

The new policy also includes a new procedure for reporting maintenance issues. Students are now required to report any maintenance issues to the dorm desk within 24 hours. This will allow the maintenance staff to address any issues in a timely manner.

Who Is Playing Games At Marist?

by Patrick Callan

With mid-term examinations coming up, there are few students who aren’t feeling the pressure. Many are already looking forward to the weekend, when they can finally relax and enjoy themselves. For some, this means playing some games at Marist.

Marist has several Gaming Clubs that meet regularly to play a variety of games. The most popular games are chess, checkers, and bridge. Some clubs also play video games.

The benefits of these games are that they help students relax, socialize, and have fun. The Gaming Clubs also provide a chance for students to meet new people and make new friends.

The Gaming Clubs meet on a regular basis, typically once a week. The meetings are open to all students, and anyone is welcome to attend.

Library Reconsidered

by Carolyn Boyd
The Cleveland Plain Dealer

The Cleveland Public Library is facing a threat of closure due to budget cuts. The library staff is calling for community support to keep the library open. The library provides a range of services, including free access to books, movies, and digital resources. The closure would affect not only the library's physical location but also the community's access to information and services. The library's closure would be a significant loss for the community, as it serves as a hub for learning and community engagement.
HEOP Invites Cultural Awakening

By Ruth Margulis

The aim of the game is true understanding and full development of the power latent in man. The game can be played only by people whose understanding of themselves and others have been broadened. It is a game of the future, a game that needs the present to create it, a game that can only be played in the future. It is a game of the future, a game that needs the present to create it, a game that can only be played in the future.

A new generation of students, whether they are rich or poor, old or young, the letter applies. For to a real understanding of ourselves and others, we need to go beyond the superficial. The HEOP program, as a tool of education, is of utmost importance. It is a tool of education, a tool of understanding, a tool of growth.

The HEOP program, like all other efforts to educate and enlighten people, is fraught with pitfalls and challenges. But it is a program that offers hope and promise for a better future.

The present situation in world affairs is a definite indication of man’s need to solve the problems of the world. The world is going through a turbulent period, a time of change and transition. The world is going through a turbulent period, a time of change and transition.

We see a change in the climate of politics for all, whether we are aware of it or not. We are all affected by the changes in the world around us. We are all affected by the changes in the world around us.

Teacher Education

The Marist College Teacher Education Program is now the most recent of the many programs offered by the college. The Teacher Education Council has been attempting to revitalize the college’s teacher education programs. The council decided to take a realistic approach to “reinvent” education in a way that is relevant and meaningful for the 21st century.

The structure of education is undergoing drastic changes all over the world. The world is going through a significant transformation. The world is going through a significant transformation.

HEOP Invites Cultural Awakening

By B. Shao

The aim of the game is true understanding and full development of the power latent in the man. The game can be played only by those whose disposition of mind and body is in harmony with the scheme of things. The aim of the game is to understand the man in the context of the whole universe, to understand the man in the context of the whole universe, to understand the man in the context of the whole universe.

Although the man is coming to understand the game, he is not yet understanding the scheme of things. He is not yet understanding the scheme of things. He is not yet understanding the scheme of things.

The HEOP, therefore, decided to invite cultural awakening among students. students. students. students.

The HEOP is not the best for the students. students. students. students.

Sports Proves No Handicap

by Kevin O'Conner

Handicapped people are trying to prove to the world, and themselves, that they can do things. There are many examples of this, including the story of Ray Leonard, a retired Marine, who is now a world-class boxer. He has proved that with hard work and determination, anyone can achieve their goals.

At last, I can report that the turkey was cooked. After eight days, my mother hung the large bird (some call it a turkey) in the refrigerator to allow it to cool. During the week, we always kept a close eye on the bird, checking it daily to ensure that it was cooling properly. I must say, I was impressed by how well my mother handled the task.

Sailing at Marist

By Jim Dennelly

The Big Red Machine was its third straight game last Saturday by stopping the powerful Providence, Rhode Island, and Fordham. The game was a thriller going down to the wire with the winner left on the line. The Marist 21 in the closing minutes of the game, thrusting the Viking lead of 191. At the interception and 50 yard return for a touchdown by Shawn Davis, the drive and put the game out of reach.

The game was a frustrating one for the Marist offense, as the defense was stymied by the defenses. The Viking offense rolled up 210 yards, with 350 yards in the air. The trouble was that the defense was still not quite good enough, but could only score 10 points. Four turnovers in Providence territory, two interceptions, and two fumbles kept the team in a role as a running back. Quarterback Ed Bennett used the shotgun offense to pick apart the Providence secondary hitting 14-37 for 390 yards, and by constantly keeping the ball in Providence territory. The "shoogon" was a wide open set up with wide receivers in both sides of the field and tight ends in both sides of the field.

Ed Sheidner from N.Y.U. had four first place finishes out of five for a total of 60 points. The way the scoring works is, the man with the lowest number of points wins. David Sheidner scored second with 11 points, and Ed Horcher scored third, but he was not able to catch the 13 points that Ed Horcher scored. Sheidner had a total of 12 points. Fourth place was taken by Andy Feissel of N.Y.U. with 11 points. Coach Reminicki said "everyone really turned in good time," and that he was pleased with the team effort.

"Ed Holowenko is the man to watch," says the coach. "Last season he took first place in both races, and in terms of regattas he did a very good job." Sheidner said that he is looking forward to the championship at Kings Point in a few weeks.

The following weekend of the 27th and 28th, Marist is hosting a regatta with Wagner College, Syracuse University, and Kings Point Academy.

High On Sports

Most of the time whenever Dr. Goldman spots a non-American in a soccer game he usually is quick to note that he is playing for the other team. But in the case of the Red Foxes Dr. Goldman has only words of praise for our own "foreigner." Of course I am speaking of Chi-Huey Wen, a senior from Kobe, Japan.

Wen is not the team's leading scorer. His philosophy is that if it is better to pass to another than to shoot. He never uses his name in the headlines but he has been a member of the Marist soccer team since his freshman year. Wen plays probably the toughest position in all of the team's lineup. Last year he has had his job without complaint or criticism. Wen is not a take-charge guy but a very quiet person and although he is a "foreigner" his first touch is love, is soccer. In his college soccer career, Wen's progress has been very substantial. Unfortunately for Wen, he has been playing behind have improved also.

You may ask yourself why write about a Japanese Mathematics major who happens to play soccer. The answer is very simple. Why not?

NAMESDROPPERS

What's in a name?

What's in a name? That which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet. Shakespeare’s famous sonnet may have been penned by the Bard himself but it is also as true as the notion-of-traditional names which many schools have adopted.

Scanning through the list of the upcoming basketball opponents and their mascots, I discovered many of the schools have imaginative and amusing names.

On the top of the list with local interest in mind is Marist College with its own mascot, the Red Fox. The Red Fox has been the Marist mascot for many a moon and has caused criticism from a few people after hearing that they were playing for a team called the Red Foxes. The dictionary defines a red fox as a little animal who possesses the quality of cleverness of a fox. You still can’t imagine what it looks like just go down to the bookstore and ask anyone working there to show you one.

BONNETT NAMED MARIST ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Bennett, a sophomore from Wappingers Falls, N.Y., has been named Marist College Athlete of the Week. Bennett is a senior on the Marist College men's soccer team.

Bennett, a football player, led the Marist in a victory over Providence College, by scoring three goals, two in the second half and one in the first. Bennett was named to the All-East first team.

The Marist Running Red Foxes put a new Marist record for most consecutive wins by a cross country team in all time. They swept the field at Fairfield University Saturday in a dual meet at the Fairfield campus. The wins put Marist at 9-0 for the season and the 117-1 victory over Fairfield in 1973 and the final win of the season last year against Hunter College. The nine victories at the beginning of the season are the most consecutive cross country wins at a season start.

The Running Red Foxes did an outstanding job as a team as they captured the first four places in the meet. Brian Costine, the first, followed freshman from Poughkeepsie, won his third consecutive race and again established a new Marist record for an opponent's course as he covered the mile. The top four runners return home for two home meets. This Saturday they take on New York Maritime College, Brooklyn College, and St. Peter's College in a 3 p.m. Homecoming Meet. Then on Tuesday, Marist will have a preview of the C.A.C.C. Championships as they will race against Pace College, and New Paltz State in a dual meet on the Marist campus. New York is definitely the toughest team in the country, and is one of the strongest in the strength of the strongest in the Marist schedule.

The glass is half full or half empty? The answer looks better if the 20 is one of the biggest days in cross country history here at Marist. At the 1970 Mid-Atlantic College Athletic Association's Annual College Hall High School Championship. There will be one freshman race, two junior varsity races, and four varsity races with 11:00. Some eighty-three trophies and medals were handed out before the end of the morning's activities. As announcer and political dignitaries as honorary starters of the meet, will be the governor of the state's top cross country team. In addition, there will be an invitational meet on the courses. Some teams will run one race on each course for breakfast and/or lunch that day.

Then at 2 p.m. Marist will host three colleges in a regular-season dual meet, in a season that tests the current team will races. The first race will be the first race of Marist's finest cross country runners ever in the First Annual Alumni Invitational meet. Another 2.5 mile race. At 10:00 a.m. the alumni and current team and special guests will gather at the Camelot Inn to present the Marist's first entries into its cross country Hall of Fame.
