McCann Directs Physical Changes On Campus

Marist College is presently affecting physical changes in the campus areas under the direction of the McCann Foundation. These changes are to improve the college’s facilities and to benefit the college, but also to benefit the community.

According to President Louis Foy, the McCann Foundation is assisting the college in three areas. It is helping in the building of the tennis courts, the construction of the new road to the light on route 8 and a project known as "operation college." By assisting in the building of the tennis courts, the foundation hopes that the college will be able to take on the responsibility and give the surrounding community more facilities for their use. It has matched students' money put put for the courts by putting in the hot-lining and paying for labor and equipment. The total grant for this job was between twelve and fifteen thousand dollars. Twenty thousand dollars were allocated to assist in the building of the tennis courts on the east side of the campus. This new road would extend to the existing traffic light on route 9, in hopes of alleviating the problem with traffic and to make the campus more attractive as well as easier to maintain.

Marist will be assisted in another "operation college" that is needed to maintain the campus properly in the winter months as well as the rest of the year. The only stipulation is that the maintenance department be given a higher priority. This is not to say that the present department is bad, but, the problem is that they may not be reorganized to be able to handle the work. The next step will be taken when the new duties will take place for all the projects are complete.

Research Institute Earns Students College Credit

by Gary Norman

Marist students can now earn college credit by doing research for the Research Institute based in Donnelly Hall. According to Dr. Vincent Ladato, director of the institute, the institute is a non-profit organization whose purpose is to provide research opportunities for students. It has been operating for the past five years, and has two purposes for being developed. The first purpose is to train research topics that have a relevance to the local area and secondly to train outstanding undergraduates in the methods of research that is achieved by actively helping junior and senior level students to participate in the program. Students who are selected for the Research Institute Scholar and will be offered scholarships at the college.

The program is also open to freshman and sophomore students who like challenge and will be able to earn college credit. The research is done by any of the students who will cultivate a publishable thesis and shall have an opportunity to participate in research programs at the institute. Students from the Freshman Program also participate in some of the institute's programs.

Address Given; Identity Cited As Major Need

by Tim DeBono

A state of the college address was held in the theatre Tuesday, Oct. 16 by President Louis Foy, Dr. Jack Kelly, chairman of the faculty, student government President Brian Morris, and moderated by Ed Kundling. A need for the college to establish an identity was said by Foy that Marist's identity is presently in bits and pieces. There is no one factor that the college can truly be identified with, suggestions have been made by various committees to focus on the aspect of community help and interaction. Pertaining to the resources as our disposal, Foy said that saw three major areas that must be funded. The first area is personnel. This dealt with faculty for the most part, it was set aside for Kelly to explain. Facilities, the second area are being improved upon to assure maximum usage. Marist is in need of a policy of not borrowing money, to put up on raffle tickets sold in the library to Foytique is now seen as being completed by September 75. The reason for this set back was that the college would have to borrow money to complete the $50,000 dollar project. Now through donations, the school has money to make the move. Plans also in the works to construct an indoor pool and physical education center in the southern end of the campus. The original date of completion for this structure is 1978, however through a grant from the McCann Foundation, this is a good possibility that it can be begun if not well into construction by November 75.

Finally, Foy discussed finances. An estimated four million dollars would be needed to totally finish the new library. This would include extending the existing building on the site that faces the river to accommodate some 300,000 books. Eleven million dollars in endowments is sought for scholarships, etc.

Dr. Jack Kelly then spoke on the faculty. He divided his talk into three sections: a description of faculty committees, an overall evaluation of the faculty for the past 15 years, and problems facing the faculty.

The Faculty Policy Committee (FPC) is comprised of four elected faculty members. It concerns itself with financial matters, rights, salaries, and status of the faculty.

The Academic Affairs Committee (AAC) is made up of five elected faculty members. The curriculum is the responsibility of this committee.

The Computing Committee (CAC) is made up of three professors who, in conjunction with the Computing Center, are in control of computing on campus.

The Executive Committee is comprised of the chairman of the faculty and three faculty members. This year the members are Hugh J. Tucker (FPC), Dr. T. Perrote, Jr. (FPC), and Kelly.

State of College

According to Brian Morgan, Treasurer of Student Government, the state of the student government is in need of improvement.

These needs are basically the following: increasing the student leadership and decreasing the number of non-students involved in the organization. The current state of the Student Government is not a healthy one, and it is crucial to address these issues.

Increasing the student leadership will not only provide a valuable experience for those involved, but it will also lead to a more effective and efficient organization. The current leadership team is made up of non-students, which makes it difficult to get things done.

Increasing the number of non-students involved in the organization will result in a decrease in the student leadership's workload, allowing more time for student activities and initiatives.

The Student Government is an important part of the campus community and it is crucial to ensure its proper functioning. The students have a right to participate in the decision-making process and to be involved in the organization's activities.

Alcoholism

Alcoholism — a word that is often misunderstood and overlooked. It is a prevalent issue on campus, affecting students from all backgrounds and majors.

The CIRCLE has been working hard to address this issue through various initiatives and programs. The CIRCLE has organized workshops and seminars on alcohol awareness and prevention.

The CIRCLE is committed to raising awareness and providing support to those affected by alcoholism. Together, we can make a difference and create a safer campus environment.

Survey Shows Problem

The survey shows that 40% of all seventh grade girls and boys have had a drink or some other type of alcohol in the last 30 days. This is a significant increase from the previous year.

The report concludes that teenagers are more likely to consume alcohol when they are surrounded by friends and when they are in a social setting. The situation is more pressing for girls, who are more likely to consume alcohol when they are in a social setting.

The report emphasizes the importance of preventing alcohol use among young people, as it can lead to harmful consequences such as injury, death, and addiction.

Recruiting Begins

Recruiting for the upcoming academic year has begun. The CIRCLE is actively seeking new members to join our team and contribute to our mission.

The CIRCLE is looking for passionate and dedicated individuals who are committed to making a difference on campus. The CIRCLE offers a variety of opportunities for members to get involved and make a positive impact.

If you are interested in joining the CIRCLE, please contact us for more information and to schedule a meeting.

SCHOOL OF COLLEGE

Flattercious Needs

To the Editor:

I remember when we first got this college, and we were given all these new tools and equipment. We were all so excited and eager to learn how to use them. But now, it seems like we're stuck with these old, outdated tools that are practically useless.

The administration should listen to our needs and upgrade our facilities. We deserve better than this.

Sincerely yours,

They prepare the students for the realities of the world. As Dr. Frey observed, "State of College students are well-prepared for the world. They are educated, capable and ready to take on any challenge." This is a sentiment that is echoed throughout the state.

The administration is proud of the efforts made by the faculty and staff to ensure that all students are prepared for the challenges they will face in the future.

"State of College students are ready for anything," Dr. Frey said. "They are the future of the state, and we are committed to seeing them succeed."

Alcoholism

Alcoholism — a word that is often bandied about by those who are naive to its severity. Could we be more concerned with this problem? Our studies, surveys, and statistics seem to suggest that alcoholism is a serious issue.

While there is no single form of alcoholism, there are several factors that contribute to its development. These include genetic predispositions, environmental factors, and individual personality traits.

According to the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, alcoholism affects one in thirteen Americans. In fact, over one million Americans suffer from alcoholism.

The state of alcoholism is a complex one, and it is important to recognize the various factors that contribute to its development. If we are to address this issue effectively, we must be aware of the many factors that contribute to its development.

Morgan States Views of Student Government

by Jerry Pennell

According to Brian Morgan, Treasurer of Student Government, "The role of the student government is to provide a voice for the students. The student government must not be afraid to speak up for what they believe in."

Morgan believes that the student government is essential to the functioning of the university. Without the student government, students would have no way of expressing their opinions or concerns. The student government is the link between the students and the administration.

"The student government is the only voice that the students have," Morgan said. "They are the ones who represent the students, and it is their responsibility to speak up for what they believe in."

The budget for the student government is an important issue. Morgan said that the budget is a reflection of the priorities of the students. The student government must ensure that the budget is allocated in a way that will benefit the students.

"The budget is a reflection of the priorities of the students," Morgan said. "It is the responsibility of the student government to make sure that the budget is allocated in a way that will benefit the students."

In conclusion, Morgan believes that the student government is an important part of the university. The student government must be proactive in addressing the needs of the students. The student government must be ready to speak up for what they believe in.

Marist Triumphs Over Rival Mattatuck

by Tom McFerran

Quarterback Ed Bennett enjoyed his finest passing game of the season as he guided Mattatuck to a 29-19 triumph over top-ranked and perennial champion Mattatuck Community College on Saturday before a large "Homecoming Weekend" gathering at Leondoff Field. Bennett connected on 18 of 29 attempts for 236 yards and three touchdowns that ran 8 yards for the final TD in the fourth quarter of his outstanding performance. While the Vikings' defense kept their usual heavy running attack on offense, defensive lineon Marty Terwilliger and Jerry DiMenna forced the visitors to follow suit and defensive backs Bill McClain and Mike Giglia allowed the Chiefs only one completion of 20. Following a scoreless first quarter, in which Mattatuck marched 80 yards in ten plays to take a 6-0 first-quarter interception of Bennett.

By then, however, Marist had 19 points on the board (6 on a 3-yard TD of an 84-yard drive which ended with Nigel Davis finding holes in the middle for an 11-yard gain to the Chief TD, Davis fumbled to start the second quarter but Marist retained possession. The visitors told the story and their beef moved the ball to their own 7. Bennett found flanker Tim Murphy for the first of two 7-yard TD tosses of the quarter. Murphy's second TD catch of the game saw Kelly's point-after try was good and Marist led 6-0. The second Bennett-Murphy TD pass was a 23-yarder, and Marist had a 15-0 halftime lead.

The Marist defense was strong and the Creamer offense was strong as well. Kelly's extra point was good.

It was a big win for the Vikings as they remained undefeated in RCCP's "play" and "punt" over all including last week's 35-7 drubbing over Mount Vernon that saw Davis cross the goal line for the first time. It's the Bronx Saturday to face Manhattan, Sorrelle will be the line to watch in that game.

X-Country Extends Winning Streak

The Marist Running Red Foxes extended their new victory streak to seven and their Van Cortlandt Park streak to eight as they defeated four teams last Saturday in the New York City sectional. The Van Cortlandt course, as he cleared the 17:10 barrier, notched a time of 31:39. John Yost, second in the race, also topped Jay Doyle's record of 32:37 set in 1972, by one second. George McCutcheon, Marist's third man and the third man in the race, tied the school freshman record set last year by Kelly when he recorded a time of 27:26. It was the first time in Marist cross country history that the school had three men under the 35:00 mark. Varsity League of Runners finished fourth in the race, but he was followed by Marist's Long Red Line of Steve VanKeuren, Jim McGinn, Will Morrison, Tom, John VanDeventer, and Mike Sommers who matched places five through ten Marist in a demonstration of good, solid middle distance. It was a tremendous job by the runners, and the coach in all the men.

Women's Crew Becomes Permanent Activity

by Frank Schiavi

Marist College's newly formed women's crew team is on its way to becoming a permanent activity. According to William Austin, the athletic director, the enthusiasm of the members has grown steadily since the team's conception in early September. "The enthusiasm, the team itself has grown in the past two months - from 1 to 15. We have an interest in a women's crew team that is not temporary. To further indicate the team's permanence, Austin said that many high school students have expressed their interest in a women's crew team.

Initially, Austin came up with the idea for the team. He said it was an idea he'd had for a number of years, and that he wasn't able to see the idea became a reality until this year. "The time was ripe," he said, "and since it is the students' money that supports the facilities, I saw a need for a sharing of the facilities. The facilities are not just for the men"

The women, Austin said, go through the same rigorous training as the men. The team coach, Robert Creedon, has the women train during the early morning hours, while the men practice in the afternoon. The sharing of the facilities makes the "team more economically feasible. Sharing equipment eliminates the problem of purchasing new equipment, which has been delayed by the women's crew season." Presently their racing season is the fall, while the men race in the spring. According to Austin, this is the women's advantage since the river isn't as rough in the fall as it is in the spring. There are no plans to ultimately integrate the men and women into one team. Austin carefully explained that, to integrate the team would be the "wrong move" for Marist since most women are not as strong as men. The goal of the athletic director was to "foster the women's liberation movement", not to promote an all-male, efficient and winning crew team.

On October 7, the team will be competing against a number of New England schools in Boston's Charles River. For more information concerning the team's schedule, contact the athletic department.

Women in Sports at Marist-Fact or Fiction?

There has been a number of comments concerning the Women's Athletics here at Marist, some positive and others negative. Before we continue with the next edition, we'd like to look at the whole picture and find out what is available.

Intercollegiate Sports

There are currently three intercollegiate sports on campus available exclusively to women: Tennis, Women's Basketball, and 2 Tennis. Turnouts for both crew and basketball have been fantastic but initial reaction to tennis has been slight. Tennis coach Pete Pappas stated that he is very interested in starting a women's tennis team and that with the availability of the newly opened tennis courts maybe the interest will increase. "High power, low interest." This team is at the beginning stage of an upcoming season in which the need is not for an excellent player to compete but rather we are looking for women who are just average or those who are looking for an opportunity to learn the game or just to improve their skills in tennis.

Women in Intramurals

Speaking as the Intramural Director of MARIC, I must say that I am currently satisfied with the amount of women who participate in intramurals but I am always looking for improvement. It is important to point out where what is available in the way of intramural sports for women. Here is a complete list of available events for the remainder of the academic year: Mixed Basketball, Women's Basketball, Co-Ed Basketball, Co-Ed Volleyball (Spring semester), Co-Ed Softball, Women's Softball, Co-Ed Badminton, Women's Badminton, and a Women's Division in the Turkey Trot.

Every Tuesday night has been set aside for Women's night in the Gym from 7:30-9:00 p.m. Up to now the reaction to this idea has been less than enthusiastic. Lorraine Conklin, instructor of physical education at Marist, has assured me that equipment, such as volleyball or badminton nets or badminton rackets will be made available to anyone who might request them.

KOLTHAY NAMED MARIST ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Fred Kolthay, a sophomore from Newburgh, New York, has been named Marist College's Male Athlete of the Week for the week ending October 13. This marks the third time this year that Kolthay has been recipient of the award.

Kolthay, a member of the crossing-country team, finished first in a five-school meet at Van Cortlandt Park on Saturday to give Marist another group of victories.
