Volunteers Support Vikings

By Fred Kolbry

"It really started with the work of the managers, the football club wouldn't exist," says Valerie "Pinkie" Bellovera, president of the football club here at Marist. According to Valerie, Football Manager Chris Smeaton and his assistant Betty Siri, Kathy Calahan, Regina Clark, Marv Elston, Pernier, Lisa Polkemaker, Julie Schott, and Karen Thomas, do quite a lot of work that goes unrecognized. Valerie thinks that every parent and every student is a volunteer.

The managers attend all football meetings, all practices, where they spend about an hour setting up the equipment and putting it away again, and they provide water and orange juice for the players at all Viking games.

Besides the managers and the club president, John Seconse works behind the football scene as director of the football club. This is Mr. Seconse's twelfth year with the Marist Vikings. He is in charge of financing the team, which includes renting Leondoff Field, transportation to away games, and health insurance.

Mr. Seconse sells ads for the football programs and tickets at the game during home games to raise funds for the team.

Campus Flooded

By Larry Stiegel

Last week's five day storm, which left six inches of rain on the East Coast caused unusual flooding on the Marist Campus. The flooded areas were the mall in front of Champlain Hall, adjacent to the gym, the parking lot in front of Donnell Hall, and the Peter's field in front of the chapel. The water reached levels of six inches in some places, covering the courtyards, walkways and causing inconvenience to students, staff members and visitors. However, no buildings were affected.

The flooding was caused by the insufficient drainage system now used on campus. The present system consists of a group which carries both rainwater and sewage to the public sewage plant.

According to Mr. Andrew Pavelko, the Physical Plant Director, a new system is now under construction which will prevent any more flooding problems. The new pipelines will run from E. Findlay around Fontaine Hall, and down to the garage. The rainfall water and rainwater will be separated; the sewage being pumped to a sewage treatment plant and instead of being drained into the river.

"This is the major project of the college right now," Mr. Pavelko explained, "after this there will be a vast improvement in drainage of rainwater." The new system will be completed by the end of next week's type of flooding and thus will help improve the Marist Campus.

Marist Hosts Concert

Classical guitarist Jose Franco will present a bicentennial program at Marist College on "The Secret of the Discovery" on Tuesday, Oct. 7 at 8 p.m. in the Cultural Center.

A native of Spain, Franco has been featured in the College Daily and has been performing and teaching in the United States at the request of the Department of State to promote the classical guitar in America.

The program is open to the public by reservation, and is part of the "Marist College Modern Languages Department, the Spanish Club and the College." A "Secret of the Discovery" is a presentation of slides, narration (in English) and classical guitar music to commemorate the
"Are They Students?"

In two separate instances this week, students with a problem ("I’m not a graduate student, but I’m going to test the limits of this registration procedure") voluntarily submitted registers and requested that they be allowed to register for a course that was not available to them. Part of the problem seems to be that they are not students, in the sense that they are not registered for the course.

Volunteer Please!

To the Marist Community:
A student service offered to members of a college community can only be as good as the service the college provides. At the same time, the quality of the service the college provides can only be as good as the service the college receives. The better the service the college receives, the better the service the college provides. The better the service the college provides, the better the service the college receives.

Vikings Lose

By Thomas M. Terrance

Brooklyn built Marist to its own game in the second half last Friday and went on to a 29-14 victory over the Vikings. Using an effective triple-triple attack, the Kingsmen outscored Marist 23-13 in the second half, and they led 14-13 at the half.

The game was the first of Brooklyn’s new $4 million Astro Turf field, the biggest in the Vikings would like to forget but probably will not.

Frequent rains hampered the Vikings, now 1-3-1 on the season. They committed 17 fumbles to bring their two-game total to 13. Coach Ron Levinson moaned, “Maybe the artificial surface had something to do with it, so our backs weren’t used to the bounce out there.” But he added, “I don’t know. Normally things don’t happen.”

Brooklyn scored first when Marist punter Mike Laffin, waiting in the end zone, dropped the snap for a safety. Tackle Al Baamonde had recovered a Brooklyn fumble on the kickoff, and the Kingsmen drove deep into Viking territory on their first possession. Leading 2-0, Brooklyn returned the ensuing kickoff to its 34.

Laffin then intercepted quarterback Bill DeMartino’s first pass and ran it to the home 28. That threat was ended five plays later when Nick Macrilli fumbled and Brooklyn took over on their own 18. The Kingsmen used six running plays and advanced to the 22 at the quarter ended.

On the first play of the second quarter, linebacker Ron Clarke intercepted公社 following pass at the 36 and went all the way for the TD. The TD tying the score was converted and Marist was ahead 7-2.

The lead was short—lived however. On the next series, Brooklyn drove 92 yards in 11 plays with running back Everett Branch carrying the last six. The extra point was wide but Brooklyn retained an 8-7 halftime lead when the Vikings lost two more fumbles in the closing minutes of the half.

The turning point came at the start of the third period. Following the kickoff, Marist ran the ball from their 34 to the home 22, where they were faced with a fourth- and- two situation. They elected to try for the first down but Mike Allamore, who led the defense, was timed out at the home 8. The running back rushing was stopped for no gain. The Kingsmen came back on a 71-yard drive with Branch scoring from the 15.

Brooklyn scored twice more in the final quarter. Ed Corrigan followed a 42-yard punt return with a two-yard burst. and Jerry Butler kicked the extra point to give the Kingsmen a 26-7 lead. Brooklyn outgunned Marist 13-1 in that final period.

Levinson blamed the loss on the “combination of things.”

“Once you are behind in this ride resulting in a 2-0 record, it’s a disaster. It’s a disaster and had to have some effect on us. However, I don’t know if we could have ruined them on a sunny day. Brooklyn is a very, very good ball team. They were bigger than us. We were soundly outcoached, outthunked.”

They lost both defensive tackles (Jerry Dinenna and Baamonde) and two offensive lineman (Bill Brusino and Masciuto).”

He continued, “We’re young and it’ll take a while to reach our potential. Having a few 240-pound tackles wouldn’t hurt, either.”

The team travels to Lebanon Saturday to face Stena at 2 p.m. The Indians aren’t a strong team, Coach Levinson said, “We don’t play better football. It doesn’t matter who we play.”

X-Country Streaks

The Running Red Foxes and the Silver Foxes cut through three top teams and putting their 1975 winning streak at stake against the third-place opponents in the two meets. First on the track—runners steady downpour on the home course, they faced a challenge and the teams that had defeated them last year.

Marist, the Marist and Fairleigh Dickinson, finished first in the meet last year.

The Red Line came through on Wednesday with new men Tom Pettit and Bob Conley placed 4th, 5th, and 4th respectively to help shore up the winners’ score.

B. J. Blanchard, Steve VanKuuren, and George McNeil became three more Marist’s scoring and displacement with 11th, 12th, and 13th. The course was in flooded condition in the grass areas and the rain poured down Eric Kolyhay was within seven seconds of first place, while Mark Kohnstamm was second, and the field run of 20:50 by only five seconds.

—Saturday, The Big Red Running Machine traveled to New Haven Connecticut to take on an always-tough E. Conn. State on their home course along with the University of Hartford and Fairfield University. At the three mile mark, things looked great for the Foxes as Kohnstamm and Luke had 1-2 over E. Conn. A top run was followed by two more Marist runners, Conley and Kolyhay, trying to win his fourth race in a row, had suffered a bad cramp at the three mile mark and placed 21st in the meet and was Marist’s sixth. About half of Maris’s infield in the meet suffered either sickness and extreme tiredness during the race. Coach Stevens attributed the problems to the team’s race Wednesday in the rain and the colds which resulted from this. Despite these problems, Marist was still able to beat E. Conn. State 28-30 due to its tremendous depth. “We feel this was a big win because it was our best performance to help out anyone personnel to help out when someone is injured, days as will happen occasionally,” resumed Coach Stevens. “Within the Foxes, Luke prevented the 1-2 automatic win situation with its fourth place finish while Bob Conley placed right behind him. Brian Cornett was 7th and Jeff Blanchard 6th, Rich Bond 11th, Fred Kolyhay 12th, and George McNeil 15th for Marist’s scoring and displacement. Regis and Fairfield 22-28 and the University of Hartford 146-77.

Following their win, they have their JV’s meet at St. Francis College Wednesday night. New York City on the home course yesterday and the varsity top four will travel for an invitational meet at North Dartmouth, Massachusetts for the fourth annual Southeastern Massachusetts Invitational on Saturday. Marist placed third last year and is hoping to finish third this year despite the tough field expected.

Frank Davis, former coach at New Palisades High School, has been named to replace Bob Hildrew as assistant basketball coach. Hildrew will coach the junior varsity squad this winter.

Davis, a three-letterman at Bluefield College (West Virginia) who received his masters from East Tennessee State, said, “This is a definite step up because of the winning tradition and program. I always look forward to moving on and will be doubly challenging.”

Red Fox head coach Jim Pietro noted, “We are glad to have someone with such a wide background in basketball assisting us this year. Frank should provide much input and new ideas for our program as well as our nonconference player recruiting.”

A resident of New Palisades, Davis compiled a 192-59 record in 13 years at New Palisades. He is currently teaching Social Studies.
