New Student Government Elected

Green Elected President

Andre Green, who starred in Emperor Jones here at Marist, has put his acting abilities aside for a while, and will begin his political career at Marist College as the President of the student government.

Andre has a lot of ideas to improve the college and also to improve the student government. Andre feels that the student government has been misin- terpreted by the students at the college and that the student government has not been representative. Andre feels that the constitution states it should be.

Andre believes, "There is war on campus between the C.U.B. and the student government." He feels that the president of C.U.B. acts as the student government. The C.U.B. now instates and runs the campus center which is a job, and if the student government should have charge of the center.

Andre says, "The C.U.B. is a sister organization with the student government. Together they should coordinate student policies. I think that the C.U.B. shouldn't be a sister to the student government but it should operate as a daughter of Student Government. It is now the C.U.B. running all the activities, (including the student government), to ask the C.U.B.'s permission on holding most social events.

Andre has many other plans which he hopes will benefit the College and its community. Andre says, "I want a complete overhaul of the Saga food service." Andre plans to form a Marist Student Senate. He would like to have two representatives from each department and the executive board, the financial board, the Interfraternity Council, Commuter Union and all other student clubs.

By doing so, Andre hopes to enable all student clubs to meet together in order to help one another benefit the College and its student.

New Career Counselor

Robert Wallach

Arlene, a student at the University, is writing to express her gratitude to the University for providing her with a new career counselor.

Her old counselor was not helpful, and she felt that she was not getting the support she needed. However, her new counselor, Robert Wallach, has been a great help to her. She has provided her with valuable guidance and has helped her to set clear goals for her future.

Arlene is very grateful to the University for providing her with this new resource.

Sincerely,

Chivalry Alive At Marist

Dr. Peter O'Connell of the Marist College Library, as stated in the New Career Counseling Guide, is an advocate for the chivalric ideal of honor and justice. In his words, “Chivalry is a way of life that is based on the principles of respect, honor, and justice.”

Dr. O’Connell believes that chivalry is not just a historic ideal, but a timeless one that is relevant today. He argues that the values of chivalry can be applied to all aspects of life, including business, politics, and personal relationships.

Dr. O’Connell also believes that education plays a crucial role in fostering the values of chivalry. He encourages educators to integrate these values into their curriculum and to instill them in their students.

In conclusion, Dr. O’Connell’s message is clear: the values of chivalry are relevant and necessary in today’s world. Let us all strive to live up to these ideals.

Sincerely,

A scholarship is a period of time when one is able to devote oneself to personal learning, to creative endeavors, or to the pursuit of one’s true passion. It is often referred to as a time of “freedom,” but it also poses challenges and expectations.

For example, a student may be required to write a scholarship essay, attend interviews, and demonstrate their qualifications. It is important to be prepared and to present oneself in the best possible light.

In conclusion, scholarships can be a valuable opportunity for personal growth and development. However, they also require preparation and effort. Let us all strive to make the most of these opportunities.

Sincerely,

Less Problems In Sheahan

The recent survey conducted by the undersecretary of Sheahan has revealed a promising trend in Sheahan. O’Connell’s office has published a report indicating a decrease in the number of problems reported by residents.

O’Connell attributes this positive trend to his ongoing efforts to improve communication and collaboration with community members. He has established regular meetings with citizens to address their concerns and to work towards solutions.

In conclusion, O’Connell’s dedication to his constituents has resulted in a decline in the number of problems reported in Sheahan. Let us all celebrate this positive change and continue to support O’Connell’s efforts.

Sincerely,

Basketball Loses Opener

By THOMAS MC TERNAN

Iona forward Dave Brown hit a layup with 16 seconds left and later added a foul shot to give the Gaels a hard-fought 77-74 decision over Marist in the 1976-77 season opener at Dutchess Community College Fieldhouse.

The Red Foxes had blown a six-point lead with 4:46 remaining after center Earl Holmes and guard Eric DePercin both fouled out in the crucial minutes of the exciting contest that decided on the foul line.

Baskets by Iona's Charlie Alberti and Kevin Ross pulled the visitors within 76-71 with 3:38 remaining. Lester George then drew DePercin's fifth foul and canned both free throws to put the Gaels ahead by one. Holmes committed his foul with 2:36 to go and Brown connected one of two, making it 74-72.

John McKee tied it for Marist from the foul line and Paul Kane got the ball back with a key steal. But Steve Pettus missed the first of a one-and-one situation with 45 seconds on the clock and Iona took advantage.

"We played well enough to win," said coach Ron Petro. "We did not turn it over and we blew four one-on-one situations at the end."

The poor shooting (Iona was 28 of 64 for 43 percent, Marist was 38 of 72 for 53 percent) and good defense kept the score close throughout. Iona built a seven-point lead with 3:35 left in the first half as Bass hit for eleven points. Kane, inserted minutes earlier, got the Foxes back to 42-35 by the half, scoring 11 points on a variety of 20-footers.

"Kane did a good job," commented Petro, "He should do well against a zone with his shooting."

The visitors expended their lead to 48-46 on two George drives but Holmes, Ray Murphy and Willie Thomas led a 14-4 surge that put Marist back ahead 52-50 with 4:46 remaining. The Red Foxes took the lead for the next eight minutes before Neil Lajeunesse gave them their biggest lead (71-45) by converting two rebouds into two baskets. However, the Red Foxes could only score three points in the last six minutes while Iona registered four.

Bass, the Gaels' All-American candidate was high with 15, but wasn't much of a factor in the second half, thanks to strong defense by Glenn Berry, Holmes, and Pettus topped Marist with 13 points and 10 rebounds. Holmes also had 11 rebounds and several spectacular blocks. Kane scored 13 and Murphy added 10 for the Foxes.

"There were one outstanding player," noted Petro. "Nine guys played in the halves, and the weaving was well-balanced."

The Red Foxes faced their first road test Saturday when they face Monclair State, an 86-72 winner over Rensselaer Polytechnic.

Basketball openings with Petro Optimistic

by Phil Palladino

Ron Petro, varsity basketball coach at Marist College, is hopeful that this year's team will live up to expectations.

"I believe our Petro's squad will have their first game experience playing Iona at eight o'clock in the Dutchess Community College gymnasium."

"The team has a lot of experience and has played good scrimmage games. We should be good. We should shoot better than we were," Petro says. The only thing which might hurt the team is the intense aggression of the players portrayed by Petro. "We have a 1-2-2-2 formation that I'm still working out. Our biggest weakness is that we try to use five men too much."

"I'm working with four men in practice, but I'm not sure which four men will play in the games," Petro added.

The Petro's team is as follows:

Point Guard: Steve Pettus

Shooting Guard: Nick Kane

Small Forward: Ray Murphy

Power Forward: Neil Lajeunesse

Center: Lester George

"I'm working around the starting five, but I'm trying to balance the team," Petro said.

"I have worked with five men, but I'm not sure if I'll use five men in the games," Petro added.
