Sophomores and juniors spend upcoming weekend with parents

by DONNA BONSIGNORE

Parents weekend is no longer an event you offer something; February 18-20 will be filled with activities, in the form of Sophomores, juniors and their parents.

The weekend includes a concert, three one act plays, and a Winter Wonderland dance.

The Sophomore weekend for juniors will be their Ring Ceremony and a concert planned for the weekend started three months ago.

The weekend is a result of efforts both of Sophomores and Juniors, who have done the work and who came up with the idea to "allow parents to see what kids do well," according to Deborah DiCaprio, the assistant dean of student affairs.

DiCaprio also noted that February was an ideal time, with most Sophomores and Juniors away from school. Matt Gillis, junior class president, explained that the weekend was planned to limit the crowds usually found on a universal parent weekend.

In previous years, the weekends were2 crowded, with Sophomores and Juniors, creating long lines and waiting lists for planned activities.

DiCaprio and Gillis want everyone to be able to participate. Events this year include are both.

Circle non-scientific poll

In a recent survey, more than 300 Marist students were asked to respond Yes or No to the following question:

Do you intend to vote in the upcoming SGA elections?

Yes - 171
No - 138
In the name of Day-Lewis, he’s excellent

by MERRIDITH KENNEDY Staff Writer

The figures for academic excellence are in, and the word is out: Day-Lewis is excellent. The actor’s name has been tossed to the front of the line at least five times in recent months. It’s true, he is excellent. But the best way to describe his excellence may be through the simple example of his work in ‘The English Patient’ or ‘The Last of the Mohicans.’

Yet, despite the accolades, Day-Lewis has not been without controversy. His choice to step away from the limelight for a period of time has been met with mixed reviews. Some argue that his absence has been a loss for the film industry, while others believe that his decision was necessary for personal reasons.

The question then becomes: is Day-Lewis’ excellence truly worth the hype? Is he truly the best actor of his generation? These are questions that will continue to be debated for years to come.

Marist fashion dept. prepares for show

by DANNY KENNEALLY Staff Writer

The Marist fashion show is just around the corner. The department has been working hard to prepare for the event, and the students are ready to showcase their skills.

The show will feature a range of pieces designed by Marist Fashion students. The department is proud to provide a platform for students to showcase their creativity and talent.

The event is open to the public and will be held on Saturday, December 14th at 7pm in the same location as the previous years. Tickets can be purchased at the door.

The Marist fashion department is excited to present this year’s show and we hope to see you there!
No prize this week, just some valentine cheese

In the name of Day-Dewis, he's excellent

by JUSTIN SEREMET

Daniele Day-Dewis is a roll, and the only thing that can stop him is a roll. After winning the Oscar in "The Madness of King George," the actor has been seen in a number of films, including "The Mystery of the Maltese," a movie where two men are put to death by three individuals. The actor even put to death a number of citizens in the city of Maltese, known for his sailing and
riding abilities.

Daniele Day-Dewis could have easily been seen in the role of a villain in "The Madness of King George." He was also offered the part of the Alfie in "The Madness of King George,"
but turned it down.

Interestingly, Tom Hardy, who took
the part of Alfie in the film, was also
being considered to play Alfie in the upcoming adaptation of "The Madness of King George." Hardy was seen in a picture alongside Paul Tomlinson and
Tony Cruse.

Daniele Day-Dewis is a roll, and the only thing that can stop him is a roll. After winning the Oscar in "The Madness of King George," the actor has
been seen in a number of films, including "The Mystery of the Maltese," a movie where two
men are put to death by three individuals. The
actor even put to death a number of citizens in
the city of Maltese, known for his sailing and
riding abilities.

Daniele Day-Dewis could have easily been
seen in the role of a villain in "The Madness of King George." He was also offered the part of the Alfie in "The Madness of King George,"
but turned it down.

Interestingly, Tom Hardy, who took
the part of Alfie in the film, was also
being considered to play Alfie in the
upcoming adaptation of "The Madness of King George." Hardy was seen in a
picture alongside Paul Tomlinson and
Tony Cruse.

Daniele Day-Dewis is a roll, and the only thing that can stop him is a roll. After winning the Oscar in "The Madness of King George," the actor has
been seen in a number of films, including "The Mystery of the Maltese," a movie where two
men are put to death by three individuals. The
actor even put to death a number of citizens in
the city of Maltese, known for his sailing and
riding abilities.

Daniele Day-Dewis could have easily been
seen in the role of a villain in "The Madness of King George." He was also offered the part of the Alfie in "The Madness of King George,"
but turned it down.

Interestingly, Tom Hardy, who took
the part of Alfie in the film, was also
being considered to play Alfie in the
upcoming adaptation of "The Madness of King George." Hardy was seen in a
picture alongside Paul Tomlinson and
Tony Cruse.

Daniele Day-Dewis is a roll, and the only thing that can stop him is a roll. After winning the Oscar in "The Madness of King George," the actor has
been seen in a number of films, including "The Mystery of the Maltese," a movie where two
men are put to death by three individuals. The
actor even put to death a number of citizens in
the city of Maltese, known for his sailing and
riding abilities.

Daniele Day-Dewis could have easily been
seen in the role of a villain in "The Madness of King George." He was also offered the part of the Alfie in "The Madness of King George,"
but turned it down.

Interestingly, Tom Hardy, who took
the part of Alfie in the film, was also
being considered to play Alfie in the
upcoming adaptation of "The Madness of King George." Hardy was seen in a
picture alongside Paul Tomlinson and
Tony Cruse.

Daniele Day-Dewis is a roll, and the only thing that can stop him is a roll. After winning the Oscar in "The Madness of King George," the actor has
been seen in a number of films, including "The Mystery of the Maltese," a movie where two
men are put to death by three individuals. The
actor even put to death a number of citizens in
the city of Maltese, known for his sailing and
riding abilities.

Daniele Day-Dewis could have easily been
seen in the role of a villain in "The Madness of King George." He was also offered the part of the Alfie in "The Madness of King George,"
but turned it down.

Interestingly, Tom Hardy, who took
the part of Alfie in the film, was also
being considered to play Alfie in the
upcoming adaptation of "The Madness of King George." Hardy was seen in a
picture alongside Paul Tomlinson and
Tony Cruse.

Daniele Day-Dewis is a roll, and the only thing that can stop him is a roll. After winning the Oscar in "The Madness of King George," the actor has
been seen in a number of films, including "The Mystery of the Maltese," a movie where two
men are put to death by three individuals. The
actor even put to death a number of citizens in
the city of Maltese, known for his sailing and
riding abilities.

Daniele Day-Dewis could have easily been
seen in the role of a villain in "The Madness of King George." He was also offered the part of the Alfie in "The Madness of King George,"
but turned it down.

Interestingly, Tom Hardy, who took
the part of Alfie in the film, was also
being considered to play Alfie in the
upcoming adaptation of "The Madness of King George." Hardy was seen in a
picture alongside Paul Tomlinson and
Tony Cruse.

Daniele Day-Dewis is a roll, and the only thing that can stop him is a roll. After winning the Oscar in "The Madness of King George," the actor has
been seen in a number of films, including "The Mystery of the Maltese," a movie where two
men are put to death by three individuals. The
actor even put to death a number of citizens in
the city of Maltese, known for his sailing and
riding abilities.

Daniele Day-Dewis could have easily been
seen in the role of a villain in "The Madness of King George." He was also offered the part of the Alfie in "The Madness of King George,"
but turned it down.

Interestingly, Tom Hardy, who took
the part of Alfie in the film, was also
being considered to play Alfie in the
upcoming adaptation of "The Madness of King George." Hardy was seen in a
picture alongside Paul Tomlinson and
Tony Cruse.

Daniele Day-Dewis is a roll, and the only thing that can stop him is a roll. After winning the Oscar in "The Madness of King George," the actor has
been seen in a number of films, including "The Mystery of the Maltese," a movie where two
men are put to death by three individuals. The
actor even put to death a number of citizens in
the city of Maltese, known for his sailing and
riding abilities.

Daniele Day-Dewis could have easily been
seen in the role of a villain in "The Madness of King George." He was also offered the part of the Alfie in "The Madness of King George,"
but turned it down.

Interestingly, Tom Hardy, who took
the part of Alfie in the film, was also
being considered to play Alfie in the
upcoming adaptation of "The Madness of King George." Hardy was seen in a
picture alongside Paul Tomlinson and
Tony Cruse.

Daniele Day-Dewis is a roll, and the only thing that can stop him is a roll. After winning the Oscar in "The Madness of King George," the actor has
been seen in a number of films, including "The Mystery of the Maltese," a movie where two
men are put to death by three individuals. The
actor even put to death a number of citizens in
the city of Maltese, known for his sailing and
riding abilities.

Daniele Day-Dewis could have easily been
seen in the role of a villain in "The Madness of King George,"

by JENNIFER GIANDOLINE

This week I was asked to see a movie:
"Liar's Mother." It may be the last movie I see this year.

If you see it, I don't think you'll
be disappointed. Jeanette Lecèze,
who directed "Liar's Mother," is
an artist who has been
working for a long time.

The movie is about a woman
who has a child with a
womanizer. Jeanette Lecèze, who directed "Liar's Mother," is an artist who has been
working for a long time.

If you see it, I don't think you'll
be disappointed. Jeanette Lecèze,
who directed "Liar's Mother," is
an artist who has been
working for a long time.

The movie is about a woman
who has a child with a
womanizer. Jeanette Lecèze,
who directed "Liar's Mother," is
an artist who has been
working for a long time.

If you see it, I don't think you'll
be disappointed. Jeanette Lecèze,
who directed "Liar's Mother," is
an artist who has been
working for a long time.

The movie is about a woman
who has a child with a
womanizer. Jeanette Lecèze,
who directed "Liar's Mother," is
an artist who has been
working for a long time.

If you see it, I don't think you'll
be disappointed. Jeanette Lecèze,
who directed "Liar's Mother," is
an artist who has been
working for a long time.

The movie is about a woman
who has a child with a
womanizer. Jeanette Lecèze,
who directed "Liar's Mother," is
an artist who has been
working for a long time.

If you see it, I don't think you'll
be disappointed. Jeanette Lecèze,
who directed "Liar's Mother," is
an artist who has been
working for a long time.

The movie is about a woman
who has a child with a
womanizer. Jeanette Lecèze,
who directed "Liar's Mother," is
an artist who has been
working for a long time.

If you see it, I don't think you'll
be disappointed. Jeanette Lecèze,
who directed "Liar's Mother," is
an artist who has been
working for a long time.

The movie is about a woman
who has a child with a
womanizer. Jeanette Lecèze,
who directed "Liar's Mother," is
an artist who has been
working for a long time.

If you see it, I don't think you'll
be disappointed. Jeanette Lecèze,
who directed "Liar's Mother," is
an artist who has been
working for a long time.

The movie is about a woman
who has a child with a
womanizer. Jeanette Lecèze,
who directed "Liar's Mother," is
an artist who has been
working for a long time.

If you see it, I don't think you'll
be disappointed. Jeanette Lecèze,
who directed "Liar's Mother," is
an artist who has been
working for a long time.

The movie is about a woman
who has a child with a
womanizer. Jeanette Lecèze,
who directed "Liar's Mother," is
an artist who has been
working for a long time.
New applications Quiet on the set down this year

by TERRI L. STEWART

Staff Writer

Two weeks before the applications deadline, the admissions office has only received approximately 1,700 applications.

According to the President for Enrollment Planning and Administrative Services, "We have a few applicants that have received a notice, but we do not have any data that shows the number of students who have applied." When asked if there were any trends in the number of applications, "I don't have any information on that," said Wood.

"I was surprised that the numbers are so low," said a student who applied to Emerson. "I thought that the numbers would be higher because we are a selective school." When asked if there were any explanations for the low applications, "I don't know," said the student.

"It's possible that the application process has become more complicated," said Wood. "We have added a new online application this year, and that may be making it more difficult for some students." When asked if there were any plans to increase the number of applications, "We are currently reviewing our marketing strategies," said Wood.

MCTV director Jim Gogheam issues final instructions to the studio audience before the live presidential debate. Ted Hinson/Staff Photographer

One year since Clinton’s visit

by CHRISTINE RENINATO

Staff Writer

Although it’s been one year since President Clinton’s visit, it’s still quite clear in the minds of those who were there. The event was held at the College of the Holy Cross, and it was very much a celebration of the turn of the century.

The event started with a welcome address by President Clinton, followed by a keynote speech by President Bill Clinton. The event was very well attended, with thousands of people coming from all over the country to see the former president in person.

"It was a great day for the college," said President Clinton. "I was honored to be able to come and speak to you all today."

After the speech, the audience was treated to a performance by the college’s own music department. The event concluded with a fireworks display over the campus, lighting up the night sky.

"It was a truly memorable day," said a student who attended the event. "I feel like I was a part of something special." When asked if there were any lasting impressions from the event, "I’m not sure," said another student.

"It was a great day," said Wood. "We are very proud of the College of the Holy Cross, and we look forward to hosting more events like this in the future."
New applications Quiet on the set down this year

by TERI L. STEWART
Staff Writer

Two weeks before the application deadline, the admissions office has only received approximately 2,700 applications.

According to the Provost for Enrollment Planning and Administrative Affairs Harvey Wood, there are a few reasons that may have caused this decline, including the altered date in November.

In a letter to students, Wood stated, "The admissions team is not only making plans for the future, but also for the entire year, which includes the recruitment process, admissions staffing, and the overall student experience."

A week before the application deadline, the admissions office has received over 50 applications, which is significantly lower than previous years.

Wood stated that there is no indication that the decline in applications is due to a lack of interest in the college.

Another factor in the current decline, according to Wood, is the overall national trend in college enrollment.

"The college is experiencing a decline in applications and enrollment, which is a trend that is being seen across the country," Wood said.

He added that the number of high school graduates this year is at the lowest in the last 30 years.

Wood said that the entire admissions process began to phase down last year.

Despite the decline in applications this year, the number of transfer students is higher than expected.

"The number of transfer students is higher than expected, which is a positive sign," Wood said.

"In the last two weeks, we’ve reached 4,000 plus applications," Wood said.

One year since Clinton’s visit

by CHRIS RENINATO
Staff Writer

Although it’s been one year since President Clinton’s visit, the surrounding area has seen no signs of change.

On February 17, 1994, the president was in a private plane headed for Hamilton College when he made a surprise stop at Clinton’s alma mater, Hamilton College.

During his visit, Clinton addressed a group of students and faculty, speaking about the importance of education and the role of higher education in society.

In an interview with The Reporter, Clinton said, "Hamilton College is a special place because it is a place where ideas can be exchanged and where students are encouraged to think critically and pursue their passions."
The Circle: Rocking the Boat

The Circle: Editorial

The Circle: Viewpoint

NRA editorial misses target

Don’t be my Valentine

The Circle’s Production Schedule: February 17, April 14, April 28, May 5

A Hull of a goodasurer

Hockey talk is cheap

The secret is out

The Circle's Production Schedule: February 17, April 14, April 28, May 5

A Hull of a goodasurer

Hockey talk is cheap

The secret is out

The Circle's Production Schedule: February 17, April 14, April 28, May 5

A Hull of a goodasurer

Hockey talk is cheap

The secret is out

The Circle's Production Schedule: February 17, April 14, April 28, May 5

A Hull of a goodasurer

Hockey talk is cheap

The secret is out
Rogging The Boat

Only those in this entire school will want to be student body president next year.
Not too anything, considering what it takes to get most people fired up about anything on this campus.

The majority of the students who are running this year are running for an empty position. Some positions do not even have anyone running for them and will have to be appointed by the principals.

This type of apathy has been a problem at Marist. For some reason, people have no desire to run for office.

Many students out here do not even have the initiative to vote for their SGA representatives.

And finally, if there are so few candidates who want to serve them and want to work for a student vote at Marist?

Is that any surprise considering how uninvolved the students are in the school.

What about the others?

We are often_corrected that there is no one to do things, or do we, if the students.

The way the school board and the adults accept that they will do things, is a problem,

We see that the student body is the voice of the students,

The student body is the voice of the students,

The student body is the voice of the students,

The student body is the voice of the students,

The student body is the voice of the students,

The student body is the voice of the students,

The student body is the voice of the students,

The student body is the voice of the students,
Housing introduces split option application

by JENNIFER FORDE

It is nearing the time of year when home buyers must act or face bidding wars for houses. The Housing Office is therefore introducing a new split option application.

This option is beneficial for numerous reasons. First, it allows buyers to purchase a house in installments, reducing the financial burden. Second, it provides flexibility in choosing the features of the house, allowing buyers to customize according to their needs.

The Housing Office is currently accepting applications for the split option program. Interested parties are encouraged to apply as soon as possible.

Foreign films offer culture

by RON JOHNSON

The Foreign Film Program has recently introduced a series of foreign films to the community. The program aims to offer a diverse range of cinematic experiences, showcasing films from various countries and cultures.

The films are screened in the university's multipurpose hall and are open to the public. The program also includes discussions and analyses of the films, providing a deeper understanding of the cultural contexts and themes presented.

New peer counseling service offers support to students

by PETE TARTAGLIA

In response to student needs, a new peer counseling service has been developed. The service offers confidential support and guidance to students, addressing various issues such as academic stress, personal concerns, and mental health.

The service is available through appointment or drop-in sessions. Students are encouraged to utilize this resource to discuss their needs and receive support.

Hudson Valley Public Relations

by COLLEEN MURPHY

The Hudson Valley Public Relations team is responsible for managing public relations for various entities, including local businesses and non-profits.

Their role involves developing strategies, managing media relations, and coordinating events to promote the organization's mission and objectives.

The team is dedicated to maintaining a positive public image and ensuring that the organization's messages are effectively communicated to the target audience.

Debate—continued from page 1

When giving the gift of love, make sure it's wrapped properly.

For a free, full-color poster (18" x 24"), write: AIDS Poster Box, 355000, Albany, NY 12220

N.Y.S. Health Department
Housing introduces split option application

by JENNIFER FORDE

It is nearing the time of the month when all the students return to campus. In a struggle to meet the housing needs of the student body, the Housing and Residence Office has introduced a new twist.

In the past, the standard housing assignments have been made, and there has always been a lot of debate as to whether or not there should be an option for customers. Now, before Raum, director of housing, says that due to the increased student enrollment, the Housing Office will implement a new housing option.

"The goal of the new housing option is to give students more flexibility in their living arrangements," Raum said. "Students will be able to choose their own living situation, whether it be in a dormitory or in a traditional housing model." This new option will be available to all students and will provide more choices in terms of housing arrangements.

The Housing Office will offer a variety of housing options, including traditional dormitories, apartment-style living, and single rooms. Students will be able to select their preferred living arrangement based on their personal needs and preferences.

The new housing option will be available to all students, including those living in dormitories, apartments, and single rooms. This will give students more control over their living situation and allow them to choose the option that best suits their needs.

"We are excited to offer this new housing option to our students," Raum said. "We believe it will provide our students with a more comfortable and flexible living environment."
In the snow again

By KEVIN O'NEILL

Do you have all the innuendos out of your closet? Let's face it, we're in America's Lent. Ash Wednesday marks the beginning of the 40 days of Lent, and Lent has begun! Let's look at a few of the traditions and rules of our Lenten season. The season begins on the Sunday after feasts of St. Valentine.

Swimmers prepare for Metros

by TERRY L. STEWART

The swim team is in the final stages of preparing for their upcoming season. The team, which has been practicing all winter, is looking forward to their first meet against St. John's Prep.

Winter games begin in Norway

by TOM GURLANK Staff Writer

The Winter Olympics are here, and Marist students are getting gung-ho for the excitement from Lillehammer. The games are being held in a variety of locations around the country, and many students are tuning in to watch.

YEARBOOK INFORMATION

Senior Portraits

YEARBOOK PHOTOGRAPHY

Senior portrait selections must be sent to T.BROWN STUDIOS by March 1, 1994.

Swimmers expected to do well

by SCOTT TORWAGH Staff Writer

The swim team is in the final stages of preparing for their upcoming season. The team, which has been practicing all winter, is looking forward to their first meet against St. John's Prep.

Spikers fail to Siena, records drop to 3-2

by SHERRI BIRD Staff Writer

The volleyball team fell to Siena College in a three-set thriller, dropping their record to 3-2 for the season.

Intramurals

by ANDREW HOLLMAN Staff Writer

The intramural season begins today with the start of the fall season. The intramural program offers a variety of sports for students to participate in, including basketball, volleyball, and soccer.

MCTV's

One-on-One with Jay SlaCotea + Press Box

Weekdays at 12:30 p.m. on Marist Channel 12

A Whole New Perspective on Marist Sports.
In the snow again

Ash Wednesday celebrates Lent

by KEVIN O\'NEILL

Do you know all the 14 days of your current Lent? Lent begins Monday, Feb. 1

Wednesday, Lent has begun and will be held for 40 days until Ash Wednesday, April 5.

Remaining weeks of enon will be 35 days on the clock and 36 days on the liturgical calendar, where the church counts the days of Lent, starting with Ash Wednesday.

This week in the snow again... is faithful to the

The people who are not able to come from the snow have some fun during the day. People like the church members and are able to appreciate the beauty of the snow.

The people who are not able to come from the snow have some fun during the day. People like the church members and are able to appreciate the beauty of the snow.

Winter games begin in Norway

by TOM QURLAN Staff Writer

The Winter Olympics are here, and Marist students are gearing up for the excitement from Liberec.

Many Marist students are planning to head up to Liberec for the Winter Olympics.

The Winter Olympics are here, and Marist students are gearing up for the excitement from Liberec.

Many Marist students are planning to head up to Liberec for the Winter Olympics.

Marist student in area

Marist student in area

Marist student in area

YEARBOOK INFORMATION

Senior Portrait Selections

Yearbook portrait selections must be sent to TBD BROWN STUDIOS by March 1, 1994.

If you do not choose a portrait to go in the yearbook by this date, one will be chosen for you.

Swimmers prepare for Metros

by THERESA STUART

Swimmers have been going through a tough season, and it has been a difficult one for them.

The swim team is working hard to prepare for the Metros meet, and they are determined to do their best.

Metros are a tough team, and the swim team is preparing to face them with confidence.

Yearbook starts now.

Yearbook starts now.

Yearbook starts now.

Marist in area

Marist in area

Marist in area

Red Foxes fall to LIU, 61-41

by ANDREW HOLLAND Staff Writer

The Red Foxes fell to LIU, 61-41, on Thursday night.

The Red Foxes fell to LIU, 61-41, on Thursday night.

The Red Foxes fell to LIU, 61-41, on Thursday night.

Track

Track

Track

MCTV's "One-on-One with Jay LaScola" + "Press Box"

Weekdays at 12:30 p.m. on Marist Channel 12

A Whole New Perspective on Marist Sports.
There are at least 51 reasons why the Red Sox scored the most points in its last regular season game, 115-101 victory over the lowly Long Island Blackbirds on Saturday.

Senior Captain Buchanay put out in a career-high 51 points to lead Marist (12-13, 8-1 MAAC) over Columbia (8-17, 3-12), 115-101.

Buchanan’s total point new school and MAAC records.

He was also named NEC Player of the Week for the third time this season.

Marist battled second-place Monmouth yesterday at the McCann Center. Results were not available at press time.

The Red Sox seemed comfortable playing in an up-tempo style, exploiting for 115—most the opposite of a Marist team.

Head Coach Dave Magarity said the squad was prepared to play a full 40 minutes during the game.

They were prepared to be good at what we knew we could score," the coach said. "The perimeter players handled the pressure well. It turned into a complete victory.

The Red Sox had a 57-42 lead at halftime and never looked back.

Buchanan was the only Marist standout. Sophomore center Terry Johnson scored 27 points and grabbed 18 rebounds. Fellow coaches, guard Danny Addie added 16 points and six assists.

The Red Sox’s performance overshadowed Buchanan’s evening, Magarity said.

Center Robby Lynam led the Blackbirds’ charge with 28 points and 11 rebounds. With the NEC’s LIU record fails to a distal 2-21 (1-14 NEC) team.

Last Thursday, Marist defeated another NEC cellar dweller, St. Francis (NY) 69-58. Terriers (1-14-1 (1-14 NEC) are beseiged by the LIU Blackbirds, 12-18, 8-15.

Buchanan had another big game for Marist, scoring 34 points and hauling down 12 rebounds. He finished with 21 points and six rebounds despite fouling out late in the game.

The Red Sox’ last four conference games are crucial. Connecticut, Marist is in a three way tie for fourth with Wagner and Fairleigh Dickinson, who also have conference records.

There is only a two-game difference between third-place Robert Morris (10-5) and eighth-place St. Francis (Pa) 7-7. Rider is in first with a 12-5 mark, a game and a 1/2 MMH, page 11.

There are five NCAA teams in the nation that have scored 115 points in a game. The number was set by using 115 points against Columbia.

The Red Sox defeated the Monmouth Hawks, 115-101, Saturday in the homecoming game of the season for Marist College.

Buchanan, a senior guard from the University of Texas, scored the most points in a regular season game, 115, against the Long Island Blackbirds.

The Red Sox are now 12-13, 8-1 in the MAAC.

High School: This poses a new problem for the team. The team’s club’s only option would be to put direction on the promotional sign it puts up around the school.

Although this problem will be fixed by next year, it presents a new challenge to the team in its search for continued fan support. This is also a big test for the "die-hard" hockey fans.

Students and athletes

The men’s basketball team is enrolling its most successful year this late in the season in at least four years. Despite this fact, there seems to be less students at the games than in previous years.

The lack of support might still be present but because students don’t feel the same way about the basketball team because they believe the players are not working hard enough, or give special treatment.

Most basketball fans get full scholarships, but they also bring in more money to the college than the average student.

If this feeling persists, it would be in the player’s best interest to make themselves more identifiable to fellow students. The support.

In smaller Division I basketball, the fans are drawn to the underdog idea. People like to think they are helping the underdog relate to them fighting the uphill battle.

"Every year Marist is an underdog because its chances of winning the conference, or making the NCAA tournament, are slim. Sometimes, you need to have a face to the people to show they are needed and that they care.

I’ve seen a lot of these things happen," Chuck said. "We play for the fans and the people who believe in us."

Getting an autograph means a lot to a fan, especially a child.

Ted Holm Lund is The Circle’s Sports Editor.