The Circle

Volume 47, Number 4
The Student Newspaper of Marist College
October 12, 1995

Having an art attack...

Debate on tenure polarizes faculty

by MEREDITH KENNEDY
Managing Editor

Scholarship, community service and teaching make up the three characteristics of a desirable senior professor in the Marist community, according to the faculty handbook.

The Rank and Tenure Committee, made up of six tenured faculty members and Dr. Marc vanderHeiden, academic vice president, often determines the fate of its fellow faculty members. Dr. Tom Goldpaugh, assistant professor of English, is currently in a probationary period for one year after receiving tenure.

"Personally, I had a relatively easy tenure process, but the overall process has made me discouraged by the system," Goldpaugh said. "Part of it is personal, but part is because I’ve seen three or four professors in the department not get tenure."

A professor must come up for tenure after six years, and begins the process in the fall semester when the Rank and Tenure Committee reviews the applications, qualifications in the field of teaching, community service, and scholarship, according to the faculty handbook.

Goldpaugh said a major problem with the system is that it enables the committee members to have a lack of responsibility for their choices.

"I’m not blaming anyone, but the system, our tenure system, does not demand that people be accountable for their decisions," Goldpaugh said. "It enables them to just blame the system, ‘it’s not my fault, it was the system.’"

Marist guidelines say a professor’s Colloque, or work and committee meetings, and specialty work is important for tenure.

"For tenure, you have to have a Colloque, which is not necessarily just books, but you have to have some outside work," said vanderHeiden. "That’s why they have the Colloque requirement."

"VanderHeiden said the tenure process at Marist is not different than other colleges, but it could always be improved."

"I think there should be more of a role for the academic deans," said vanderHeiden. "They should have a greater voice."

"VanderHeiden holds two positions in the tenure process. He was elected into a position on the Rank and Tenure Committee, by the faculty last year. He also files a report as the academic vice president."

Please see Faculty, page 3...

Computers a requirement for admission to some colleges

by MARK ARUM
Staff Writer

Parents Weekend has come and gone, and no doubt the time honored tradition of asking Mom and Dad for a little extra spending cash to cover “hundy and book expenses” was upheld by many students.

The reason: computers.

In addition to the already soaring prices of higher education, many colleges now mandate that their students purchase computers directly from the school. Institutions that currently require their students to buy computers as part of their tuition include Dartmouth, Harvard, Stevens, Clarkson and Wake Forest.

Wake Forest will begin including the computer fees next fall and incoming freshman will see tuition jump from $14,800 to $18,500.

The $3,700 increase covers the cost of the computer (an IBM Thinkpad 360 CE 486), certain software and access to various on-line services. Printers and modems are not included. Students will have to either buy these separately or use community labs like those found at Marist.

The issue of mandatory computer purchases by college students raises many important questions as the nation, not just the Marist community, prepares to enter the 21st century.

Although computers have not become a mandatory expense at Marist, students and parents have been paying miscellaneous fees in addition to tuition and room and board for some time now.

There is the $75 “activity fee,” the $50 “room key fee,” and the lesser known $50 “graduation fee.”

While these charges add up over the course of a student’s college career, Marist students have come to accept them. But the thought of adding a $3,700 computer system fee to this list might raise some concern.

"There’s going to be a lot of extra money for students to pay. It’s going to be a strain," said Jones, a junior English major.

"I think it would be a lot of fun to see how the coverage would take place and see how much coverage it gets.""Masse said he wants the press to use Marist because of the endless amount of resources available.

"I want Marist to be involved because the staff and faculty have expertise, the students are capable of doing work and it would be a great learning experience. Marist has the technical ability to host the media because of the hi-tech facilities and equipment," Masse said.

"It would be good for the communications department to show how useful Marist can be."

Masse said that if the Academic Computing Center makes a World Wide Web site for the summit, it would give people the opportunity to call into Marist for information on the summit.

Marist is also making the site for the FDR home page, so a summit home page could be added to it.

"The summit offers the most opportunities for a great number of students and staff to help out," Masse said.

Masse said he has his own vision of what it would be like if Clinton visits.

Please see Clinton, page 3...

Marist hopes for visit from Clinton, Yeltsin

by SANDY ZELLER
Staff Writer

Marist invited President Bill Clinton and Russian President Boris Yeltsin to visit campus during their summit at the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library Oct. 23.

Tim Masse, Marist College public relations director, and President Dennis Murray have been working together on the project.

"We have Clinton & Yeltsin," Masse said. "What a summity regarding affairs in Russia."

Masse said he was supposed to have a meeting with the two leaders last month in New York, where Marist is supposed to host the summit.

"The main goal is to make Marist a media center for the summit." Masse said.

"It’s going to be like being in the White House," Masse said. "People will want to see the whole scene."
Quake reduces Mexican coastal towns to rubble

MANZANillo, Mexico (AP) — Powerful 6.4-magnitude earthquake that shook a string of coastal hotels Tuesday, leaving a trail of death and destruction, was considered by some residents of Mexico's western state to be the fiercest in years.

As many as 160 people were killed and more than 90 injured in Monday's 7.6-magnitude quake, which struck about 12 miles (20 kilometers) west of Cuernavaca. Some 500 buildings were damaged, at least 11 were destroyed and 500 people were injured.

President Vicente Fox said he would visit the area Wednesday to assess the damage.

Clinton, Yeltsin holding summit at FDR library

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton and Russian President Boris Yeltsin will meet at a New York City library on Thursday to begin a summit that could end the Cold War.

The meeting will take place at the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library in Hyde Park, N.Y., where the late president lived.

The two leaders are expected to discuss ways to improve relations between their countries.

Alvin Alley Repairs House Tuesday, October 27, 7 p.m.

Alvin Alley (212) 555-1234

A special event at the Alvin Alley home to celebrate the group's 25th anniversary. The evening will feature live music and dancing, as well as a silent auction.

On the inside looking out...

The earthquake provides a window to the new campus grove.

Bardaverian

Longstanding tradition since 1869

Urgent

Mandatory Council Meeting

When: Monday, Oct. 16
Where: Room 201
Time: 7 p.m.

Bring plenty of resumes and dress professionally

The help received from Mexico, expressing how thrilled he was that so many people helped out. He also reminded the crowd that there were more famous people than 500,000.

September 11

岗位空缺，欢迎投递简历

Career and Employer EXPO

Thursday, November 2, 1995
4:00-7:00 p.m.
Marist College
McCann Center

The help received from Mexico, expressing how thrilled he was that so many people helped out. He also reminded the crowd that there were more famous people than 500,000.
Quakes Mexican coastal towns to rubble

MANZANILLO, Mexico (AP) - A 7.7 magnitude earthquake that struck Wednesday morning killed 15 people, injured thousands and sent terrified residents into a stampede toward the sea - a collapse of a hotel Tuesday, March 28, 1995, killing four and probably more, that devastated a long stretch of Mexico's west coast.

As many as 36 people were killed and more than 90 injured in Tuesday's 7.6 magnitude quake, which struck nautical miles outside the coast of Colima.

In towns and villages, wooden houses shook, rainwater poured from broken roofs and people ran to the streets, screaming and crying.

No tsunami was reported.

MEXICO CITY (AP) - More than 36 people were killed and thousands were injured in three towns near the coast of Mexico's Pacific coast.

The quake, which was centered near the town of Miraflores, was felt across much of the country, including Mexico City.

No tsunami warning was issued.

QUAKE WATCH 24:00

On the inside looking out...

Alvin Alley

BARDINAR

Florida's 1995 tornado season started with a bang on Tuesday, March 28, when a tornado struck the town of Alvin, killing one person and injuring five others.

Alvin, a small town in Florida, was hit by a tornado that killed one person and injured five others.

The tornado, which was reported to have a wind speed of 110 miles per hour, struck the town at around 6:30 p.m. and caused widespread damage.

The National Weather Service in Miami said the tornado was rated at an EF-3, or "strong," based on the scale used to classify tornadoes.

The tornado moved through the town, damaging homes and businesses, according to the service.

No flash flooding or other life-threatening weather conditions were reported.

No damage was reported to the town's major infrastructures, including the water and sewage systems.

No injuries were reported to any of the people who were injured in the tornado.

The town of Alvin has a population of about 1,000 people and is located near the state line with Georgia.

The tornado struck the town of Alvin, killing one person and injuring five others.

Alvin, a small town in Florida, was hit by a tornado that killed one person and injured five others.

The tornado, which was reported to have a wind speed of 110 miles per hour, struck the town at around 6:30 p.m. and caused widespread damage.

The National Weather Service in Miami said the tornado was rated at an EF-3, or "strong," based on the scale used to classify tornadoes.

The tornado moved through the town, damaging homes and businesses, according to the service.

No flash flooding or other life-threatening weather conditions were reported.

No damage was reported to the town's major infrastructures, including the water and sewage systems.

No injuries were reported to any of the people who were injured in the tornado.

The town of Alvin has a population of about 1,000 people and is located near the state line with Georgia.

The tornado struck the town of Alvin, killing one person and injuring five others.

Alvin, a small town in Florida, was hit by a tornado that killed one person and injured five others.

The tornado, which was reported to have a wind speed of 110 miles per hour, struck the town at around 6:30 p.m. and caused widespread damage.

The National Weather Service in Miami said the tornado was rated at an EF-3, or "strong," based on the scale used to classify tornadoes.

The tornado moved through the town, damaging homes and businesses, according to the service.

No flash flooding or other life-threatening weather conditions were reported.

No damage was reported to the town's major infrastructures, including the water and sewage systems.

No injuries were reported to any of the people who were injured in the tornado.

The town of Alvin has a population of about 1,000 people and is located near the state line with Georgia.
Drunks, drag-queens & missing drawers masquerade in opening play

by CHARLOTTE PASHKEWITZ
Staff Writer

The Marietta College Council of Theatre chose to honor the memory of the late news director of WCET, Tony Pashkewitz, on October 5-7.

Theater, an action and the president of the MCTA, said this was a natural choice.

"It's a bit of an odd choice," Pashkewitz noted. "But it just makes sense now."

The play was performed by the students of the Theatre Production major, and the audience was reminded of the impact that Tony Pashkewitz had on the theatre program.

New Old bar seeks new look with Marius alumni as co-owner

by CAROLYN MURPHY
Staff Writer

Old Bar is set to open in a week with Marius alumni as co-owner.

The bar, which was previously owned by Marius alumni, is getting a new look and a new owner.

The new owner, who is also a Marius alumni, said he is excited to bring something new to the bar scene.

"I've always been a fan of Old Bar," he said. "I think it's a great place, and I'm excited to bring something new to the community.

The bar will be open from 4-10 pm, and will offer a variety of drinks and food options.

About 50 schools attended this year's graduate forum.

The forum was organized by the Graduate School and the Graduate Student Council, and was attended by more than 500 students from across the country.

"It was a great opportunity to connect with other students and learn about the latest research in our field," said one attendee.

The forum featured workshops, panel discussions, and keynote speeches from experts in the field.

"I really enjoyed the workshops," said another attendee. "They gave me a lot to think about and some new ideas for my research.

The forum also featured a mentorship program, in which students were paired with experienced researchers to help guide them through their academic and professional careers.

"The mentorship program was really helpful," said one student. "I was able to learn a lot from my mentor and felt more supported in my research.

The forum concluded with a networking reception, where students had the opportunity to meet and connect with other professionals in their field.

"It was a great opportunity to meet new people and learn about potential job opportunities," said one attendee.

The Graduate School and the Graduate Student Council plan to continue to host similar forums in the future.

Marquis Winter Intercession January 17-27, 1996

26 courses offered

Register early to avoid being closed out of the course (course scheduling now available)

Registration October 1-27

The School of Art and Education Deyton Center

3/4 tuition (55333) due at registration

Housing available for residential students

The Cancar, October 12, 1995

SGA News

By Scott Wilder

We are over a full month into the semester and side show areas are just a week away. The student union has received the usual rash of complaints and fix-its if I have been unsolicited through mass mailings. Fortunately, you know it's the week before you get a lot of malarkey. I'll try my best to keep you in the loop for the festivities of our family's weekend. A word of caution: we're bringing the student center for constant interest in bringing you what you ask for. Keep on looking for SGA news.

Student Life is up and moving, with a course-wide membership of 80-90%.

Students have been busy with the Student Academic Council, which is working to increase social and cultural diversity on campus.

The Student Academic Council has also been working on the library committee.

We are organizing a series of book readings and possible funding events. There are more social events in the fall and we look forward to the next semester for more activities.

StuCo is currently working on the extension of the library. We're looking for ways to make it more accessible to all students.

Sports-related events are being held to promote student engagement.

The SGA has also been involved in planning the Homecoming weekend, which is set to take place in early November.

The SGA has been busy with many other events and projects that are currently underway.

Happy Halloween from the Marquis College Bookstore

Join the campus bookstore for a monster of a party Tuesday, Oct. 31st from 10am to 2pm.

Complimentary refreshments will be served

A contest will be held for the best Halloween costume

1st Prize: $100 gift certificate
2nd Prize: Mariest College Sweatshirt
3rd Prize: Mariest College black ball pen
Drunks, drag queens & missing washers masquerade in opening play

by CHARLOTTE PARTRIDGE
Staff Writer

The Marist College Choir of Theatre Arts, under the direction of Kevin O'Connell, presented its annual fall concert on October 7.

The concert was held in the auditorium of the old campus, adjacent to the new art gallery. The audience was seated in the balcony and the orchestra pit. The performance consisted of several songs from various musicals such as "The Sound of Music," "The King and I," "My Fair Lady," and "West Side Story.

After the concert, the choir members were invited to a reception in the art gallery. During the reception, a photo booth was set up for guests to take pictures with the choir. The photos were later posted on the Marist College website.

Student Government Update

We are over a full month into the semester and side effects are just a worry away. The semester seems to be in its normal routine and students are enjoying the fall weather. However, some issues have arisen that may impact the students' experience.

The administration is currently working on finalizing the budget for the upcoming school year. This budget will help to determine the amount of funding available for various programs and initiatives. The budget process involves several steps, including discussions with faculty and staff, as well as input from students. The goal is to ensure that the budget is fair and equitable for all members of the Marist community.

In other news, the Marist College Library is conducting a survey to gather feedback from students, faculty, and staff. The survey will help to improve the library services and resources available to the Marist community. The survey can be accessed online, and all responses will be kept confidential.

HAPPY HALLOWEEN FROM THE MARIST COLLEGE BOOKSTORE

Join us at the campus bookstore for a monster of a party Wednesday, Oct. 31st from 10am to 2pm.

Complimentary refreshments will be served

A contest will be held for the best Halloween costume.

1st Prize: $100 gift certificate
2nd Prize: Marist College Sweatshirt
3rd Prize: Marist College black ball pen
Good luck on midterms!

Dear Editor:

It is very rare that Marist College is filled with so much student speakers as Mr. Bowes. However, this week’s presentation was quite impressive. My sister should be very proud of herself. Therefore, we need to do better. Specifically, I wish to express my gratitude to the many PE people who work so hard to keep the campus clean. Picking up trash is one of the most important things we can do to improve our campus environment.

As we review our work, we are beginning to see the potential impact of our efforts. As I mentioned earlier, we should be very proud of our work. However, it is also important to remember that we still have much work to do. Thank you for your efforts.

Sincerely,

[Name]

Editorial

Uprooting the past and rebuilding our reputation

Colin Powell is a dynamic, intelligent, and incredibly sincere person. His military service as a General and a Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff are an inspiration to all.

The question is, is he a good presidential candidate? I think so.

While I agree with his positions on many issues, I still believe that he does not have what it takes to become President.

General Powell would likely be overwhelming in the first week on the job because the rigid system of quick obedience that exists in the military does not exist in the Washington bureaucracy.

The point is, would General Powell decide to run, he has two options.

1. He would run as an Independent. This would require a well-planned campaign and more than adequate financial resources.

2. General Powell’s situation would be different from any other candidate.

The second option Powell would have to run as a Republican.

He could add his name to the list of prominent Republicans who are in the race for the White House.

General Powell has labeled himself a Rockefeller Republican. This term is generally used by the media because it is a more economic conservative than liberal ideologue.

The whole idea of liberal is to define the terms of authority and the terms of policy, and to set the terms of debate.

This is for the reason that I believe Powell will not run and should not run as a Republican.

The choice to run is one of the most difficult and important decisions in your life.

The main thing is, Powell will not run and should not run as a Republican.

Letters to the Editor

TV cameras did not intrude on Elders: ‘It had to be done’

Dear Editor:

It is very rare that Marist College is filled with so much student speakers as Mr. Bowes. However, this week’s presentation was quite impressive. My sister should be very proud of herself. Therefore, we need to do better. Specifically, I wish to express my gratitude to the many PE people who work so hard to keep the campus clean. Picking up trash is one of the most important things we can do to improve our campus environment.

As we review our work, we are beginning to see the potential impact of our efforts. As I mentioned earlier, we should be very proud of our work. However, it is also important to remember that we still have much work to do. Thank you for your efforts.

Sincerely,

[Name]

Editorial

Uprooting the past and rebuilding our reputation

Colin Powell is a dynamic, intelligent, and incredibly sincere person. His military service as a General and a Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff are an inspiration to all.

The question is, is he a good presidential candidate? I think so.

While I agree with his positions on many issues, I still believe that he does not have what it takes to become President.

General Powell would likely be overwhelming in the first week on the job because the rigid system of quick obedience that exists in the military does not exist in the Washington bureaucracy.

The point is, would General Powell decide to run, he has two options.

1. He would run as an Independent. This would require a well-planned campaign and more than adequate financial resources.

2. General Powell’s situation would be different from any other candidate.

The second option Powell would have to run as a Republican.

He could add his name to the list of prominent Republicans who are in the race for the White House.

General Powell has labeled himself a Rockefeller Republican. This term is generally used by the media because it is a more economic conservative than liberal ideologue.

The whole idea of liberal is to define the terms of authority and the terms of policy, and to set the terms of debate.

This is for the reason that I believe Powell will not run and should not run as a Republican.

The choice to run is one of the most difficult and important decisions in your life.

The main thing is, Powell will not run and should not run as a Republican.

Letters to the Editor

TV cameras did not intrude on Elders: ‘It had to be done’

Dear Editor:

It is very rare that Marist College is filled with so much student speakers as Mr. Bowes. However, this week’s presentation was quite impressive. My sister should be very proud of herself. Therefore, we need to do better. Specifically, I wish to express my gratitude to the many PE people who work so hard to keep the campus clean. Picking up trash is one of the most important things we can do to improve our campus environment.

As we review our work, we are beginning to see the potential impact of our efforts. As I mentioned earlier, we should be very proud of our work. However, it is also important to remember that we still have much work to do. Thank you for your efforts.

Sincerely,

[Name]
Good luck on midterms!

Letters to the Editor

TV cameras did not intrude on Elders: ‘It had to be done’

Dear Editor:

It is very true that Mount College’s visual media is rapidly changing in that more professors are involving video cameras in their classes. However, you should not be concerned as the professors are utilizing the equipment to achieve the best outcome for the students. Specifically, they are using the equipment to capture the discussions and lectures in a way that allows for a deeper understanding of the material. As a result, the students are benefiting from this new approach to learning.

Sincerely,

John Doe

Political View

General Powell would likely be overwhelmed in the first week on the job because the rigid system of quick obedience that exists in the military does not exist in the Washington bureaucracy. Powell’s appointment is a step in the right direction, but it is not the end. It is only the beginning of the long road ahead.

Michael Jackson

Aggravated student responds after losing his on-campus housing

Before I thought about writing this letter I ‘felt’ a lot of time thinking about the future of this institution and what it means for us. I think that if we are to succeed as an institution, we need to focus on the future and what it means for us. I think that if we are to succeed as an institution, we need to focus on the future and what it means for us.

Sincerely,

James Brown

Students in the ‘real world’

New Public Policy minor will enable students to gain hands-on experience in real-life situations

As a response to the growing human need and satisfaction that characterizes so much of public life, the College of Business Administration has developed a new Public Policy minor. The minor is designed to provide students with the skills and knowledge necessary to understand and contribute to the complex issues facing society today.

The minor focuses on four core areas: policy analysis, public administration, public management, and social policy. Students will have the opportunity to take courses in these areas, as well as electives tailored to their interests.

In addition to coursework, students in the minor will have the opportunity to participate in internships and other experiential learning opportunities. These experiences will provide students with real-world skills and knowledge that they can apply in their future careers.

The College of Business Administration is proud to offer this new minor, which we believe will prepare students for success in a variety of careers and further education.

Sincerely,

Jane Doe

Dean of the College of Business Administration

The Circle

The Circle Student Newspaper of more...
Karen Goldberg serves up at Cofeehouse

by ANGELE GIALANO
Staff Writer
Karen Goldberg's performance offered itself as a one-day event. Her humorous music, backed by an electric cellist, enchanted the audience and brought back good old-time for all.

The Hartford Courant Cupid's winner, a former teacher turned singer, began her career when she was a junior at Ternan State University. After graduating, she moved to Boston and has been performing at various clubs and venues around the area.

How to get to the event
Karen Goldberg’s performances are held at Cofeeshouse, located at 123 Main Street, Hartford. The event is free and open to the public. For more information, visit www.cofeeshouse.com.
Karen Goldberg serves up at Coffeeshouse

by ANGEL GUGLIELMI
Staff Writer

Karen Goldberg’s performance offered a joyful last day. Her humorous music, backed by engaging storytelling, filled the room and made the food and drink taste just a bit better.

The former City College of San Francisco student, who graduated in 1976, performed a 10-song set at the Coffeeshouse in the Mission District. The audience, consisting of friends and family, were captivated by her swinging guitar style and infectious energy.

“Karen Goldberg’s music is a delight to listen to,” said John Smith, a regular at the Coffeeshouse. “Her songs are both heartwarming and thought-provoking. It’s a shame she isn’t better known.”

Movie Review

No such good news about "Dead Presidents" by SHANNON COUSINE

The newest film from director Oliver Stone tells the story of the five presidents who were assassinated in office. The film is a series of interviews, framed by a modern-day investigator, who seeks to uncover the truth behind each murder.

The film opens with an interview with President Abraham Lincoln, who is portrayed by actor David Strathairn. Lincoln is shown as a man of great vision, but also one who is deeply troubled by the war and the death of his son.

Next up is President John F. Kennedy, who is portrayed by actor Kevin Spacey. Kennedy is shown as a charismatic leader, but also one who is deeply troubled by his relationship with his wife and by the Cuban Missile Crisis.

The film then moves on to President Ronald Reagan, who is portrayed by actor Gary Oldman. Reagan is shown as a man of great strength, but also one who is deeply troubled by the Iran-Contra affair.

Each interview is followed by a scene in which the modern-day investigator, played by actor Forest Whitaker, visits the site of the assassination and talks to the people who were there.

The film ends with an interview with President Donald Trump, who is portrayed by actor Michael Keaton. Trump is shown as a man of great wealth, but also one who is deeply troubled by the Russia investigation.

Overall, "Dead Presidents" is a well-made film, with a strong cast and a good script. However, it fails to provide a satisfying resolution to the mystery of the assassinations.

New year in Hollywood

Robert DeNiro charged with assault on cameraman

by SCOTT WYNIA
Staff Writer

Robert DeNiro, famous for his roles in films like "Taxi Driver" and "Goodfellas," was arrested on January 1, 2019 for assault on a cameraman. The incident took place on New Year’s Eve.

DeNiro was filming a scene for his new movie "The Irishman," when he became angry with the cameraman who was trying to get a better shot.

"I thought I was supposed to be the boss around here," DeNiro is reported to have said.

The cameraman, who was left with a black eye, is being held in custody pending trial.

Arts Plus

No bad preparations are already underway for the 1993 Origami Tree Project. Contact SCA for details.

Rhinebeck, New York offers a myriad of activities to do in the Hudson Valley area.

by ANNE TANNER

It’s a beautiful Sunday morning in October and my family and I have decided to take a trip to Rhinebeck, New York, to explore the town and its attractions.

Rhinebeck is a charming small town located in the Hudson Valley, New York. The town is known for its beautiful scenery, historic buildings, and outdoor activities.

If you’re looking for a place to relax and enjoy the outdoors, Rhinebeck is the perfect destination. Here are some of the activities you can do:

- Visit the Rhinebeck Inn, a historic hotel that has been in operation since 1755.
- Take a stroll through Rhinebeck, which has charming streets and beautiful parks.
- Visit the Rhinebeck Farmers’ Market, which is held every Saturday morning.
- Take a hike in the nearby Catskill Mountains.
- Visit the Rhinebeck Art Center, which is located in the historic Rhinebeck Inn.

I hope you enjoy your visit to Rhinebeck! Rhinebeck offers something for everyone, so be sure to explore and make the most of your trip.
October looks to be the men’s Renaissance

by Jason Fabego, Sport Editor

We could be witnessing the start of something here. With one month left in the regular season, it seems to have not only emerged from its slumber but have walked away with a title.

Senior Chris Riviere is being hailed by St. Francis defender over the weekend.

Baseball Network may go into extra innings

by Joan Nelson, AP Sport Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Major League Baseball Network’s talks with cable and satellite providers to extend its carriage deal are yielding results, though a final deal by the end of the week appears unlikely.

“Some agreements are in place,” said Fox Sports president Pete Wilcox, who spoke to reporters before the New York Giant’s game against the Cubs on Friday night.

Wilcox said the teams have agreed to extend their contract through 2024 for an additional $500 million per year.

The deal would give Fox exclusive rights to broadcast all games except for three per year that still remain on ESPN.

Wilcox also said that negotiations with AT&T, Dish Network and DIRECTV are ongoing.

Marist loses heartbreaker against Iona—18-14

by Marc Lesniewski, Staff Writer

The Red Foxes baseball team was dealt a heartbreaker on Saturday, falling 18-14 to the Iona Gaels.

The Gaels scored six runs in the sixth inning, four runs in the seventh inning and three runs in the eighth inning.

With the loss, Marist falls to 24-15 overall and 8-14 in Atlantic 10 play.

“I think we’re going to be a good team in the long run,” said Marist coach Gene Trani. “But right now, we’re struggling.”

Spikers enjoy thrill of victory and agony of defeat on own home court

by Marc Lesniewski, Staff Writer

It seemed like a different Marist volleyball team on Wednesday night as the Red Foxes defeated Saint Peter’s, 3-0, in a battle of first-time foes.

“The players played well and it was a good sign for the experience they’ve had,” said Marist coach Mary Lou Eltman.

“I think we’re going to be a good team in the long run,” said Marist coach Gene Trani. “But right now, we’re struggling.”

The Red Foxes are now 5-3 in Atlantic 10 play and 16-5 overall.

MCTV Program Schedule Fall ’95

12:00am to 10:00am

10:00am to 12:00pm

12:00pm to 2:00pm

2:00pm to 4:00pm

4:00pm to 6:00pm

6:00pm to 8:00pm

8:00pm to 10:00pm

10:00pm to 12:00am

12:00pm to 2:00pm

2:00pm to 4:00pm

4:00pm to 6:00pm

6:00pm to 8:00pm

8:00pm to 10:00pm

10:00pm to 12:00am
October looks to be the men’s Renaissance

by Jason Farago
Ant. Sports Editor

We could be witnessing the start of something special. With just one month left in the regular season, it seems to have not only emerged from its early-season struggles but have walked away unscathed.

Sawyer stability

The St. Francis basketball team’s offense has been clicking along nicely. The team has been shooting the ball well, and the defense has been solid. The team’s overall performance has been impressive, and they appear to be a force to be reckoned with in the league.

St. Francis Basketball Team

Senior Chris Riviera is being held by St. Francis defender over the weekend.

Baseball Network may go into extra innings

by Jean Nelson
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Major League Baseball and ESPN have reached a tentative agreement in principle on extending their existing deal through 2026. The extension will keep baseball on ESPN’s family of networks for another six seasons.

The new deal, valued at approximately $3.5 billion, would guarantee at least 150 regular-season games per year on ESPN, ABC, ESPN2 and ESPN+ from 2023 to 2026. The agreement also includes the possibility of additional games in the future.

The current deal, which began in 2019, is set to expire in 2022. Under the new agreement, ESPN will continue to be the exclusive broadcast partner for the World Series, All-Star Game and the MLB Network.

The extension is expected to be officially announced in the coming weeks. The deal is considered a major milestone for Major League Baseball, as it continues to expand its presence in the media landscape.

Spartina Cup

The Spartina Cup is an annual sailing event that takes place in South Carolina. The event brings together sailing enthusiasts from around the world to participate in a series of races and social events.

The 2023 edition of the Spartina Cup is scheduled to take place from August 18 to August 21. Participants can expect a challenging and exciting competition, as well as the opportunity to explore the beautiful coastal waters of South Carolina.

Please enjoy our coverage of the Spartina Cup, and remember to stay tuned for more updates and highlights!
Women's soccer team on a roll by winning two

by JIM DERIVAN

Staff Writer

With six minutes remaining, the women's soccer team faced a 0-1 deficit against the last Wednesday in Louisville.

Then freshman forward Nicole Bouchard scored on a pass from the left of goal from freshman midfielder Amanda Swider. Bruno stood still and sent the tying goal past the diving Saint's goalkeeper.

With three minutes remaining, junior forward Mary Walsh finalized the last minute heroes, putting the Saints away, sending the ball past the near post. Swider was again awarded the assist.

Marist continued their win streak on Saturday playing host to league opponent St. Francis (Pa.), winning with a score of 3-0 improving their record to 5-2, (2-1 in Northeast Conference play).

Sophomore Saint goalkeeper Beth Zack recorded 17 saves, only giving up one goal three minutes into the game.

"Beth had a solid game," coach Maria Piechoccki said. "She made some really great saves."

Piechoccki was impressed with many key parts of the Red Fox game.

"It was an end to end game. There was great communication, and the passing was great," Piechoccki said. "It was first time the whole team played so well, every individual contributed greatly."

Sophomore midfielder Tracey Skraska scored the first goal after what they never expected.

"They came in with a cocky attitude like they were going to walk all over us," Solomon said. "We shocked them, we really startled them."

On Saturday, the Red Foxes got early start when sophomore Stacey Sebastian scored unassisted after being left isolated inside the penalty box. Piechoccki said the Red Foxes did not play as well as they had against St. Francis.

"There were several opportunities to score for St. Francis they were just unlucky they didn't put the ball in the back of the net," she said.

"We scored they didn't that was the key to the game," she said. "It was an ugly win Piechoccki was happy to get the victory."

"The girls were not lacking polish and intensity," she said. "The communication was not there, but it's a Conference win, that's the bottom line."

With seven minutes remaining in the first half play Walsh scored, assisted by Swider.

Bruno scored her second goal in two games, kicking it past the St. Francis goalkeeper.

Swider said opponents may give the Red Foxes more respect after the upset victory over St. Francis.

"I think the beginning we were getting shrugged off because we are a first year program," Swider said. "It is our goal to show people how we can play, we never do give up."

Although faced Holy Cross yesterday, results were unavailable at press time. Next up the Red Foxes are Wagner on Saturday.

Women stave off scare at Fairfield

by PATRICK REYNOLDS

Staff Writer

Normally, if a coach sees a key member of his team forced out of competition with an injury, the best he can hope for is that someone will step up and take over.

But when Marist women's cross country coach Phil Kelly saw his junior co-captain Colleen Carson hobble off the course with a leg cramp, he could only smile and watch as Marist carry victory to the finish line.

Kelly said Carlos and coach was surprised of her return to the game.

"Melissa made a great comeback she said," Kelly said. "He said he was getting stronger every week."

Kelly held high honors for the Marist host.

"Please see Playing on page 10"